German Cabinet Plans Strong Reform Measures—Prosecution of Hitler Impends.

WAGE CUTS ARE PROPOSED

Chancellor Bruening Will Call All Parties to Unite to Save Treasury From Collapse.

GENEVA FOR ARMS PARLEY

Assembly Approves Meeting "as Early as Possible," but Refrains From Setting Date.

While the German Government endeavors to construct a strong program comprising economic and political reforms, to be presented to a possibly hostile Reichstag, that nation's internal troubles with Fascism and other disquieting incidents in Europe continue to absorb the interests of the nations individually and the League of Nations at Geneva.

In Geneva the League of Nations Assembly declared in favor of calling a General Disarmament Conference, but refrained from instructing the Council to summon it for next year. A spirit of uneasiness was manifest among the delegates, and most of them opposed hasty action.

Paris is disturbed by the fall of the Schober Cabinet in Austria, as well as by the Hitler outburst at Leipzig, and fears a turn to reactionary rule in Vienna.

In Paris, also, the newspaper La Volonté makes a plea for revision of the Versailles peace treaties, the first French publication ever to make such a suggestion. The paper asserts Poincaré has changed his mind as to who started the war, and will so declare in a new book.

At the trial of an Italian at Brussels for attempting to kill Crown Prince Humbert a Belgian Senator asserted that Italy was preparing to make war on two fronts. The Senator is president of the Aviation Commission of the League of Nations.

BRUENING DRAFTS REFORMS.

By GUIDO ENDERIS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—The conscription of labor probably will replace the system of unemployment doles in the government's new program of financial reforms, and it will be only one of several innovations to which recourse will be taken in a final attempt to prevent the collapse of Germany's financial structure. The new program, which has been secretly discussed for the past three days, will be made public tomorrow.

If the forced labor scheme can be put into operation, it will relieve the government of the tremendous sums now paid to jobless men and women. It is hoped the emergency work thus provided will contribute to improvement of the nation's economy.

The government's plans include also an increase in the number of indirect taxes in the move to reduce direct imposts. Civil service employes will be asked to accept a 10 per cent salary cut. In keeping with its scheme for cuts in production costs and retail prices, the government intends to reach an agreement with the trade unions providing for a reduction of 10 per cent in wages.

Hopes for Political Truce.

The realization that it is confronted with the imperative need of adopting drastic immediate measures to protect the solvency of the nation has brought the Bruening Government to decide to inform the Reichstag parties that for the time being the question of safeguarding the nation's financial integrity transcends in urgency all other issues, and that it proposes to allow them to choose between national duty and party expedients. Chancellor Bruening evidently is convinced that after the state of the nation's finances is frankly revealed political barter will give way to much-needed solidarity.

An indication that the government will be forced to exhaust every available source for new revenues without imperiling the nation's economy is given in unofficial references to the steady and appalling decline in the financial condition of the various States, communes and municipalities. With the fiscal year still six months to run, the budget income already is $200,000,000 behind, and a continued slump in revenues keeps the deficit increasing.

Among the federated States there is complaint over the failure of the Federal Government to make prompt returns on their 75 per cent share in the national income tax, on which the central government is already $20,000,000 in arrears.

The League of German Municipalities, meeting at Dresden, adopted a resolution today demanding that the Reich assume responsibility for local unemployment doles and social relief because the municipalities could no longer carry them.

Auburn Prison Murderer Suicide in Sing Sing; Strangled by Towel, With Sentinel Near By

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Anthony Mortelito, under sentence of death for the murder of Edward L. Beckwith, head keeper at Auburn Prison, committed suicide tonight in the Sing Sing death house here. He strangled himself by tying a short washtowel around his neck and pulling it into a tight knot.

This method of committing suicide had apparently been carefully planned. A prison guard patrols before the barred death house cells constantly day and night with the main purpose of preventing suicides. Mortelito was the fourth man in thirty-nine years to succeed in killing himself despite the patrol.

At 7:30 o'clock he was pacing about in his cell. Some time after that he lay down on his cot with his face to the wall and the towel wound firmly about his neck. Although a guard passed his cell door every two minutes while he was strangling to death no sound came from Mortelito's cell, nor was any untoward movement noted.

At 9 o'clock Anthony Billucise, a murderer in the next cell, called to Mortelito and got no answer. He told Keeper Bernard Smith, who found Mortelito dead.

A note in Italian found in the cell read, "I am going to die." It was a kind of affirmation of the only statement made by him at the time of his arrest for the murder of Beckwith. Then he had said, "I want to die."

The dead man had been in prison for ten years. He was originally sentenced for from twenty years to life for a murder in White Plains and sent to Auburn.

There he gained a reputation for being stubborn, unruly and morose. He was several times disciplined and for one four-month term in solitary confinement he felt that he had been unfairly treated by Beckwith, then one of the Auburn prison keepers.

On last March 5 he stabbed and killed Beckwith in the Auburn prison mess hall. Less than three weeks later he was on trial for the murder, was found guilty after only forty minutes' deliberation by the jury, and sentenced to die in the electric chair. The execution was delayed, however, pending an appeal.

Mortelito was a short man, weighing about 115 pounds, and was 32 years old. He never could be made to tell anything of his life history before his sentence to prison.

CHICAGO PIT BARS SOVIET SHORT SALES

ACT AGAINST BEAR RAIDS

Wheat Prices Are Down in Wild Trading, September Reaching Lowest Mark in 25 Years.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Steps to end the "objectionable" short selling of grain in the United States by Russian Government agencies were taken today by the Chicago Board of Trade, the world's largest grain market, after a session of wild trading in the wheat pit in which prices for all futures dropped 2 to 2½ cents a bushel. The September option reached the lowest in twenty-five years.

The directors of the board, after hearing a report from a committee which had just returned from a conference in Washington on the Russian activities, passed a resolution in which it was stated:

"The board wishes to show every effort of cooperation in the protection of the American farmer in the free grain markets. It is the conclusion of the board that the selling of futures upon our exchanges by any foreign government is a new development of commerce of seriously objectionable character, and it must be brought to an end."

Directed at the Soviet.

As the Soviet Government is the only one which, through recognized agencies, has ever engaged in the practice of short selling, the resolution at present applies to it only. It is broad enough, however, to be invoked against any other nation attempting such operations.

"The board through its business conduct committee," the resolution added, "has always discountenanced bear raids and manipulation of prices, and it again instructs that committee to take particularly vigorous measures to prevent such activities. In formulating their judgment as to such activities, unduly large short selling as distinguished from hedging may be considered as evidence."

Traders said the resolution made it plain that henceforth no brokerage house could ethically accept a short sale order from the Soviet Government or its agents. In fact, it was added, this was sufficient in itself to guarantee that no more such transactions would occur.

A telegram announcing the action was forwarded to Secretary Hyde by John A. Bunnell, president of the Board of Trade. Mr. Bunnell again assured the Secretary of a complete desire to cooperate "in protecting the interests of our people or our country, and in furthering maintenance of the principles of our government."

Committee Presses Inquiry.

The business conduct committee of the Board of Trade, headed by Joseph W. Badenoch, is carrying on its investigation of the Russian short selling. It was understood that all but one firm which sold had turned over full information. The report of the committee may not be ready before Tuesday.

The general impression was that nothing would be found either illegal or unethical in the conduct of the brokers who did not knowingly aid in an effort to depress the market. The directorate's action in arbitrarily classifying the Russians as undesirable selling customers, it was pointed out, changes the situation.

Nothing was given out concerning the report of the committee which conferred in Washington yesterday with Secretary Hyde, Secretary Lamont and Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board. It is under-

JONES GAINS FINAL, BEATING SWEETSER

AIMS FOR WORLD RECORD

Victory Will Give Him Sweep of Four Major Crowns—Seaver Loses, 1 Up.

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

Special to The New York Times.

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 26.—Things have reached such a pass in the national amateur golf championship at Merion that there is only one person in this whole wide world who can prevent Bobby Jones from winning his fourth major title since May, to hang up a record that may last through all time.

Today the machine-like Georgian, by all odds the greatest golfer the world has yet seen, won his way to his seventh final round in the championship by defeating Jess Sweetser of Siwanoy, his conqueror at Brookline in 1922. The match was of short duration, lasting only twenty-eight holes, with Bobby the victor by the score of 9 up and 8 to go.

The other victor in today's semi-final round was Gene Homans, bespectacled New Jersey youth, whose ability to hit the ball belies his slight build. Starting out to play his last eighteen holes with Charley Seaver, powerfully constructed 19-year-old Californian, carrying a five-hole deficit on his shoulders, Homans fought one of the most courageous uphill fights ever witnessed in the championship, finally winning on the last green after being two down and four to play.

By reason of his splendid victory, gained after one of the most stirring matches in the history of golf, Homans survived to meet Jones tomorrow in the final, which will determine whether or not Bobby can add the national amateur title to the three he has already gained this year in the British amateur and open and the American open and thus acquire a record no one ever dreamed was possible. He also has a chance tomorrow to surpass the mark now jointly held by himself and Jerry Travers of having won four amateur titles.

Jones's Game Machine-Like.

After watching Bobby crush Sweetser the way he did today, especially in the afternoon, when his game was clicking in a machine-like manner and when his putter was more than earning its board in his golf bag, we don't know whether we'd be particularly elated to be in Homans's shoes as the only barrier between Bobby and the attainment of what must be his greatest ambition.

Jones certainly gave Sweetser a convincing defeat, especially after he had permitted Jess to get back to 1 down at the tenth after losing four out of the first five holes. When that happened, as it did when Jones struck a bad patch of golf between the seventh and twelfth holes this morning, people began wondering if Sweetser was going to repeat what he did at Brookline when he beat Bobby, 8 up and 7 to play, in the semi-final round, and then went on to win the championship at the expense of Chick Evans.

But eight years have elapsed since then, and in those eight years Jones has come on while Jess has gone back. There can be no question but that he has gone back. Nor is it surprising that he has, considering that he was a very ill young man for more than a year after he won the British amateur in 1926 and that he is now a business man with a business man's cares. Golf is to him now only a diversion, to be followed on Saturdays and Sundays.

Yet even if Sweetser had been able to turn the hands of time back to

WALKER WILL ASK NEW MAGISTRATES IF THEY BOUGHT JOBS

Puts Question for First Time to Mogilesky, Sworn In for a Thirty-Day Term.

WILL CONTINUE THE POLICY

Mayor Says He Expects High Court to Remove Any Judge Who Misleads Him.

9 MORE LEADERS DEFIANT

Ewald Grand Jury Said to Suspect Prearranged Plan in Refusal of Tammany Men to Waive Immunity.

Mayor Walker started a new policy of asking prospective magistrates whether they bought their appointments before swearing them in yesterday as the extraordinary grand jury, seeking light on the Tammany system of office-filling, met with the refusal of nine more district leaders to lay aside the technical immunity the law gives them if they testify.

Fifteen divisional chiefs of Tammany Hall have refused to waive immunity since John F. Curry, leader of the organization, set the example on Wednesday. They have acted with such unanimity that the grand jury, it was learned yesterday, has begun to suspect the existence of a prearranged plan.

Whether any punitive action is contemplated could not be ascertained, but it is regarded as certain that the attitude of the Tammany leaders will stiffen the determination of the special grand jury which indicted George F. Ewald, his wife, Mrs. Bertha E. Ewald; Martin J. Healy, a district leader, and Thomas T. Tommaney for buying and selling public office, to delve more deeply into other suspected cases of similar nature. On Monday the grand jury is expected to ask Supreme Court Justice McCook to define its powers specifically with regard to a broader inquiry.

Mayor Warns Bench Aspirants.

The new policy relative to the swearing in of magistrates was revealed by Mayor Walker before he made what he termed "another splendid contribution to the magistrates' bench" by administering the oath to Bernard Mogilesky, an Assistant District Attorney of the Bronx, who has been appointed for a thirty-day term to substitute for Magistrate Abraham Rosenbluth during the latter's illness.

With the recently appointed magistrate before him in his office, the Mayor said:

"In view of some recent occurrences, I find it advisable if not necessary to follow a practice which I shall employ before I swear you in.

"Have you given any one or promised any one, directly or indirectly, any money or other consideration for acting favorably upon your recommendation for appointment or for any other assistance?"

Mr. Mogilesky asserted that he had not done so and added that he understood his appointment was recommended by District Attorney Charles McLaughlin of the Bronx.

"Yes," said the Mayor,, "and by his illustrious predecessor, now Supreme Court Justice John E. McGeehan, who both recommended you highly and told of your splendid work as an Assistant District Attorney and what an able prosecutor you are.

"But let me say to you frankly that if you have promised anybody anything to help you in this appointment you haven't the brains to be a magistrate, because that isn't necessary."

The Mayor after outlining the qualifications which in his opinion make a good magistrate—knowledge of the criminal law and an under-

Broun Arrested as Fifth Av. Strike Picket; Quickly Freed as Brodsky, Rival, Intercedes

The arrest yesterday of Heywood Broun, Socialist candidate for Congress, for disorderly conduct while picketing, was a feature of the general strike of Fifth Avenue dressmakers, which, according to reports, has crippled the tailoring departments of seven exclusive shops, members of the Couturiers' Association.

The arrest of Mr. Broun came as a climax to a mass demonstration of about 1,500 pickets, which began at 11:30 A. M. at Bryant Hall, Sixth Avenue and Forty-second Street, and marched through the exclusive shopping district, which reaches to Fifty-ninth Street from Madison to Sixth Avenues. At each dressmaking establishment they shouted encouragement to pickets or called upon non-union workers to join the strike.

On the return march to the hall, about 1 P. M., Patrolman Robert A. Wilson stopped Mr. Broun, who was at the rear of the procession at Fifth Avenue and Forty-fourth Street, and ordered the pickets with Mr. Broun to disperse. When they did not do so at once Patrolman Wilson threatened to arrest them. Mr. Broun interceded.

"Never mind, then," he said. "Arrest me." Wilson did.

Mr. Broun invited the policeman to ride with him in a taxi to the station house and was booked and later appeared before Magistrate Michael Ford in Yorkville court on the disorderly conduct charge.

Mr. Broun admitted the truth of the policeman's story, but insisted on the right to picket. At Mr. Broun's headquarters it was said that Magistrate Louis Brodsky, Mr. Broun's Democratic rival for Congress in the Seventeenth District, sent word up to Yorkville court asking that Mr. Broun receive every courtesy.

The charge against the Socialist candidate was dismissed and he shook hands with the arresting officer. Later Mr. Broun said he had enjoyed his experience.

Tuttle Calls Party to Battle Solely Upon Tammany's Defiance "in Last 48 Hours."

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Immediately after his nomination for Governor today Charles H. Tuttle, in a speech to the Republican State Convention, began his campaign for election, threw down the gauntlet to Tammany, declared that the chief issue of the campaign was whether or not the State was to have a Governor that was bigger than Tammany Hall, and put this issue squarely up to Governor Roosevelt.

Mr. Tuttle declared that John F. Curry and lesser leaders of Tammany had made this issue by claiming to be insulted when asked to sign waivers of immunity before testifying before a grand jury called into existence to inquire into the sale of judgeships.

He asserted that, if elected Governor, he would remove any public official who refused to give an accounting of his public trust to any duly constituted authority.

Throughout the speech Mr. Tuttle made no mention of the prohibition question, which had dominated all others in the framing of the platform, but centred entirely upon the issue of Tammany's conflict with the Executive authority and epitomizing it in these words:

"Are we to have a Governor that is bigger than Tammany Hall or not?"

"Blowing Bugle for Battle."

Beginning his speech at the conclusion of the convention's tumultuous ovation to him, Mr. Tuttle said:

"Mr. Chairman and ladies and gentlemen of the convention:

"No one could fail to be profoundly moved by such a demonstration. No one could fail to regard this nomination not as any personal tribute or honor, but as a high calling to a service which permits no denial.

"I accept this nomination. I accept it with the purpose to give to it the best that is in me. I accept it with the conviction that you, the leaders, and the workers of the party, are putting behind it the will to win. I accept it in the faith that with your cooperation the cause for which we stand, the principles which we maintain, deserve and will receive victory.

"There is an interesting political tradition that every one knows about the nomination except the candidate, and that he is kept in complete ignorance of the honor which is being tendered to him until some happy day when a surprise party in the form of an informatory committee calls upon him, and that then the campaign begins.

"But I ask you today, 'Why should we delay in the beginning of this campaign?' What moment could be more auspicious than this moment, in the presence of this great convention representing the Republican party of the Empire State, here and

WASHINGTON SEES NATION-WIDE BATTLE

COMPROMISE HOPES WANE

Dry Leaders Discount Albany Platform, Saying the State Always Was Wet.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—While no word came from the White House today on the action of the New York State Republican Convention in declaring for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, some of the party's national leaders viewed the platform as meaning that there will be an intense fight over the prohibition question in the next national convention because of the encouragement given to the wets in all parts of the country.

The administration's attitude is understood to be that the action of the New York Republicans is a local affair and cannot be interpreted as showing a decisive trend against the Eighteenth Amendment. Nevertheless, those close to the administration had been hopeful that a compromise plank would be adopted placing New York in less positive opposition to the party national position on the issue.

President Hoover will accept the resignation of Charles H. Tuttle as United States Attorney forthwith. It was sent here the day Mr. Tuttle declared in favor of repeal.

Fess and Lucas Silent.

In keeping with the administration's policy of neutrality, Senator Fess, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Robert H. Lucas, Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee, declined to discuss the significance, nationally, of New York's breakaway. Neither would comment on the report that President Hoover might seek renominaiton on a strict enforcement platform.

Some of the Republican leaders privately indicated that the party faces a problem in 1932 unless the wets should fail to make gains in the November election. One leader, regarded as an administration mouthpiece, gave it as his opinion that the Democratic party would strongly favor repeal in 1932, while the Republicans would be divided. This, he thought, would influence the Republicans to adopt a plank on prohibition calling for strict enforcement. Other leaders quite frankly express the fear that the wets may become so strong as to split the party in 1932.

A wet bloc from the Eastern seaboard and New England States in the next national convention is ex-

DRYS CALL VOTERS TO FORSAKE TUTTLE

"WORST ELEMENTS RULE"

Anti-Wets Will Nominate Only for Governorship—Expected to Name Choice Here Monday.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 26.—Embittered by the action of the Republican party of New York State taking a stand for repeal, the independent dry forces conferred here tonight after the convention adjourned for the purpose of discussing immediate plans for their campaign to run a prohibition candidate for Governor.

At a long meeting of the representatives of the militant dry organization no candidate was named, but it was made known that several prominent prohibitionists were under consideration for the nomination. No choice is expected until Monday, when the same group will meet in New York City.

The conference limited itself to the issuance of a statement criticizing the "insincerity" of the Republican organization and urging the voters "who would defend the Constitution as it is to vote for the independent dry candidate for Governor."

"The platform adopted and the candidate nominated by the Republican State Convention make it impossible for the dry forces to support the ticket," the statement read.

"Both the platform and the candidate, by declaring for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, have rejected the principles contained in the national Republican platform of 1928. This will make more difficult the task of prohibition enforcement so splendidly undertaken by President Hoover.

Deplores Victory for Wets.

"This action brings victory to the wets and places in the ascendency the worst elements in the party. To assume that such forces are qualified to reform the State Government and to purify politics is ridiculous.

"The pretense that the party favors enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment until it is repealed is manifestly insincere inasmuch as the convention refused to commit the party to the enactment of a State enforcement law, the only way by which the State can effectively enforce prohibition."

Those attending the conference, which was held in the Albany headquarters of the Anti-Saloon League, were Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, New York State president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union; Fred A. Victor, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League; Canon William Sheafe Chase, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, and president of the New York Civic League, and Dr. M. C. Gause, Albany superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League.

Other organizations which have promised to support the independent dry candidate, according to Mrs.

State Ticket Nominated By Republican Convention

Special to The New York Times.

For Governor—Charles H. Tuttle, of New York.

For Controller—Daniel H. Conway, of Oswego.

For Attorney General—Isadore Brookstein, of Albany.

By W. A. WARN.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 26.—On his own terms and amid scenes of enthusiasm not paralleled at any State Republican gathering of its kind in recent years, Charles H. Tuttle, United States Attorney, was nominated for Governor by acclamation at the State Convention this afternoon.

There were three demonstrations. One lasted eighteen minutes, after Mr. Tuttle's name had been placed before the delegates by General James G. Harbord, chairman of the advisory committee of the New York County Committee; another, of five minutes' duration, when the candidate entered the hall and, making his way to the rostrum amid cheers, was presented to the convention.

The third came in his speech of acceptance when he hurled a bold challenge at Tammany Hall and Governor Roosevelt, who will be his opponent.

Mr. Tuttle sent a letter tonight to President Hoover, requesting that his resignation as United States Attorney become effective at once, so as to leave him free for the campaign. It is understood that his place will be filled until after election by his chief assistant, Robert O. Manley.

Only Vote on Wet Plank.

The nomination of Mr. Tuttle and the other candidates followed the adoption of a platform containing a prohibition plank declaring for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and hewing so closely to the recent statement issued by the candidate that he might have written it himself. All of the platform, with the exception of the prohibition plank, was adopted by unanimous vote.

The prohibition plank was presented as a separate proposition and was adopted by a vote of 733 to 258 in which, generally speaking, the large cities were arrayed against the rural sections. The committee on resolutions reported a rule limiting debate on this plank to two hours, one hour for each side, and this was adopted. But the fight on the floor which had hung as a threat over the convention did not materialize.

In any event, there would not have been a fight of drys against wets, but a conflict launched by an extreme wet element, led by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, which favored a repeal plank shorn of all the trimmings finally adopted to make it fit the candidacy of Mr. Tuttle.

Mr. Tuttle, in his speech of acceptance, made no reference to prohibition. His silence on this subject was a disappointment to some of the leaders and delegates who had hoped that, in order to reconcile dry delegates to his stand on prohibition, he would reaffirm what he had said in his statement about law observance and enforcement under the public nuisance law to check the illicit traffic in liquor.

It is understood that Mr. Tuttle will let his statement speak for itself and say no more than he can help on prohibition during the campaign.

"Tuttle, Man of the Hour," and "Tuttle, the Tiger-Tamer," were among the legends on banners, carried in the boisterous parade through the aisles of bands and delegates as the candidate stood on the rostrum waiting to address the convention. He gazed at them reflectively. When the din of cheering subsided and he could make himself heard he announced his acceptance of the nomination and declared that the bugle call to battle must be sounded at once.

The issue, he added, had been put before the Republicans in the last forty-eight hours through the refusal of Mr. Curry, Charles L. Kohler, budget director, and other Tammany leaders to sign waivers of immunity and testify before Governor Roosevelt's extraordinary grand jury in the investigation of alleged sales of judgeships.

"Will the Governor accept the challenge which the leaders of Tammany Hall have thrown down to him?" exclaimed Mr. Tuttle. "Will he stand by his own grand jury or will he stand by Tammany Hall? Will he stand for a policy of open disclosure or will he side with a policy of concealment and silence?

"I say to you that the issue of this campaign is, are we to have a Governor that is bigger than Tammany Hall or not?"

Mr. Tuttle pledged himself, if elected, to remove within twenty-four hours any public official who refused to give an accounting of his public trust to the duly constituted authorities under a waiver of immunity.

Convention Rises to Cheer.

There was frequent interruption of his speech by applause and cheering. The convention arose and cheered vociferously when he predicted victory and asked the party workers to put behind the ticket the will to win.

Elation was in the air when the delegates got together this morning for the final session. Clouds and the drizzle of yesterday had vanished overnight and been succeeded by blue skies and bright sunshine, and in the Armory the changed mood of Nature was reflected.

Spontaneous applause greeted Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies when he appeared on the rostrum to take over the gavel from Secretary Stimson as permanent chairman. Mention of President Hoover's name, which yesterday evoked little or no enthusiasm, called forth a volley of applause early in the session.

Another feature which contributed to the happy mood was the assurance that a wet and dry battle on the floor had been averted. The roll-call on the prohibition plank, reported by the resolutions committee, however, as it progressed gave increasing evidence that party leaders and workers in dry rural sections were anything but satisfied with the repeal pledge. New York City and up-State counties with big cities within their boundaries, with the large delegations they sent to the convention, carried the day for the wet program.

Dry Delegates Are Glum.

Delegates from the rural counties sat with contracted brows as the vote on the prohibition plank was taken. Even during the eulogistic speech of General Harbord placing Mr. Tuttle's name before the convention, they did not join in the applause. The banners of the dry counties were borne in the parade during the eighteen minutes' demonstration that carried the wet wing off its feet, but the dry delegates remained in their seats.

Nor did the speech of Mr. Tuttle appear to affect them to any degree. There was polite applause from the middle section but the cheering and the racket from all sorts of noise-making devices came chiefly from the urban delegations.

Republican leaders, surveying the situation tonight, said it would require effort to hold some of the drys in line but professed confidence that Mr. Tuttle would win them over.

Counties voting in the negative on the prohibition plank were: Allegany, Broome, Cattaraugus, Chatauqua, Chemung, Chenango, Cortland, Delaware, Fulton-Hamilton, Genessee, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Madison, Montgomery, Ontario, Orleans, Oswego, Schoharie, Schuyler, Seneca, Steuben, Tioga, Tompkins, Washington, Wayne, Wyoming, Yates.

Speaker McGinnies, on taking up the gavel, spoke of the "inefficiency, waste and corruption" in the Democratic State Administration and exclaimed:

"In New York City, graft and corruption unparalleled since the days of the Tweed régime have been disclosed."

"I am proud to say that the up-State inquiries in not a single instance have resulted in any Republican official being caught in official wrongdoing," he said further.

The platform contained no surprises. Interest centred wholly in the prohibition plank and that arraigning the Tammany régime in New York City.

Knight Reads Platform.

After Secretary Stimson, temporary chairman, had called the convention to order at 11 o'clock, Matthew A. Henkel, chairman of the committee on permanent organization, presented his report, nominating Speaker McGinnies for permanent chairman, Lafayette B. Gleason for permanent secretary and a long list of honorary vice chairmen, one from each of the 150 Assembly Districts in the State. Secretary Stimson appointed W. Kingsland Macy of Suffolk County, Miss Jane Todd of Westchester, Representative Frederick M. Davenport of Oneida and Mrs. Annette C. Jones of St. Lawrence, a committee to escort Mr. McGinnies to the chair.

After delivering his attack on the State and New York City Democratic administrations, Speaker McGinnies called for the report of the committee on resolutions and Senator John Knight, its chairman, read the proposed platform.

This commended the administration of President Hoover, praised the Republican majorities in the Legislatures of 1929 and 1930, condemned the Democratic Administration for general inefficiency and waste and a break-down in four departments, charged that the Roosevelt Administration had taken no steps to deal adequately with the prison situation and promised a speedy solution of the water power problem.

Governor Roosevelt was charged with failing to order a general investigation to expose Tammany corruption in New York City and ignoring a break-down of the tax and collection system in Albany. The platform, like Mr. Tuttle, pledged the party to enact a law to end the term of any public official who refused to testify concerning his official act by invoking his constitutional privilege of refusing to answer.

Other planks in the platform dealt with public utilities, unemployment, labor, State hospitals, public buildings, agriculture, public highways, parks, reforestation, taxation, civil service, public health and education, election and law reform, aviation and welfare legislation.

One plank pledged the cooperation of the Republican party in the solution of New York City's transit problem and charged the City Administration with insincerity in dealing with this question so as to gain political advantage.

Applause Greets Repeal Plank.

The prohibition plank, the only controversial one in the platform, was read last. Mild applause from the drys followed the denunciation of the saloon system, and louder applause from the wets greeted the declaration for the restoration to each State of authority to deal with the liquor problem in its own way.

Prolonged applause came with the declaration for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Senator Knight had to suspend reading for several minutes while the majority of the delegates indulged in a jubilation over the wet victory.

When Senator Knight ended, Chairman McGinnies recognized Meier Steinbrink, the Brooklyn leader, who urged that the prohibition plank be separated from the rest of the proposed platform and voted on separately.

"I come here to speak for the resolutions committee and to say that our work was characterized by a spirit of forbearance and good-will among the various factions contending sincerely for what they believed," Mr. Steinbrink said. "Let us do likewise. Let us not deny to those who disagree with us an opportunity to record their votes so that when we leave this convention hall we can do so with our opinions fully expressed.

"Under the rules of the convention, as you know, we could stifle discussion. Let us, however, work with that same spirit of forbearance and give and take and recognize the honest opinions held by others. To that end I ask for unanimous consent so that the last section of the platform, that dealing with prohibition, be separately voted on."

Separate Vote on Prohibition.

Mr. Steinbrink's suggestion was applauded, unanimous consent for a separate vote was given and the platform otherwise was adopted unanimously on motion of William M. Calder, former United States Senator, of Brooklyn.

Chairman McGinnies then asked the pleasure of the convention regarding the prohibition plank. No minority report was submitted by the dry members of the resolutions committee, thus averting debate on the floor.

Representative Davenport called for a slow roll-call so as to give each dry delegate an opportunity to declare himself against the repeal plank.

Chairman McGinnies directed a roll-call by counties, with the proviso that any delegate might demand an individual poll of his Assembly district delegation. The proviso proved to be unnecessary for there was no challenge when the roll was read by Secretary Gleason.

The roll-call was interrupted frequently by applause, most of it coming from the wets. The greatest outbursts of cheering came on Mr. Steinbrink's announcement that the Kings County delegation, the largest in the convention, voted 129 votes for the repeal plank, when County Chairman Koenig reported that New York County's 98 votes were solidly for repeal and when William L. Ward, veteran Westchester leader, heretofore classed as a dry, announced that all of Westchester's 45 votes were for the repeal plank.

There also was applause for Harry J. Bareham, Monroe County chairman, and Clarence B. King, Onondaga County leader, who have been among the foremost wet leaders.

More cheering followed announcement of the vote of 733 for the plank and 258 against it by Secretary Gleason. The convention then took a recess until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Harbord Nominates Tuttle.

All the delegates had returned to the armory by 2:45 when Chairman McGinnies convened the afternoon session and announced that nominations for Governor were in order and directed a roll call of counties. Mrs. Miriam A. Schindler, co-leader of Albany County, said:

"Albany yields to New York."

General Harbord then took the platform to nominate Mr. Tuttle.

"Three cheers for General Harbord," shouted a New York delegate. The cheers were given as General Harbord stepped before the microphone on the speakers' platform. He won the attention of the delegates at the outset.

"In appearing before this grand jury, I desire to waive immunity as to what I may say," he began.

This sarcastic reference to the refusal of Tammany leaders to testify in the Ewald case brought a roar of laughter from the convention. General Harbord continued:

"In this State today we are facing an emergency which demands a leader, a crisis which calls for a statesman," General Harbord said. "Great problems wait for solution. Shall the ownership of utilities be private or public? Shall balance sheets be abolished in such properties and the taxpayers foot the bills? Shall the American spirit of individualism yield control and management to government ownership?

"Shall there be restored to our State its lost sovereignty in powers originally reserved to it in the Federal Constitution? Shall corruption, crime and criminal waste, as well as larceny, both petty and grand, continue to stain the fair name of our metropolitan New York? Shall judgeships be bought and sold in the chief city of America, and justice itself be quoted at a price in the halls and high councils of Tammany?

"Shall 'standing by your friends' be stretched enough to include the granting of special privilege, immunity from taxation and license to the underworld? Does the Tiger prey upon everything except his own kind? Is there nothing high enough to be sacred, nothing low enough to be safe?"

General Harbord then sketched the life and career of Mr. Tuttle, saying that as Federal Attorney he had scotched the bucket-shop evil and "made such a complete house-cleaning of the bankruptcy scandals in New York City that one Federal judge resigned, the official auctioneer was indicted, a clerk in the District Court dismissed and six lawyers prominent in bankruptcy matters either resigned or were disbarred. He put an end to the notorious Albany baseball pool, which under the protection of Democratic State politicians had grown into the largest lottery in all America."

Explains Tuttle's Wet Views.

After referring to Mr. Tuttle's part in the conviction of a county judge and the indictments in the Ewald and Healy cases and of certain persons connected with the Board of Standards and Appeals, and saying "he has cleaned house in New York City as it has not been cleaned in fifty years," General Harbord took up Mr. Tuttle's views on prohibition.

"His own strong religious convictions and chairmanship of the interfaith committee in New York City align him with temperance and enforcement of law," the speaker said. "He firmly stands for the enforcement of law but his years as District Attorney, with unrivaled opportunity to study the demonstration of prohibition under the Eighteenth Amendment, have convinced him that there must be a constructive replacement which will conserve the good that prohibition has brought and suppress the evils which it has produced. A few days ago he was big enough and brave enough to declare this belief when political expediency might perhaps have called for silence.

"Nominate him for Governor and you will see New York City roll up the biggest Republican vote in many years.

"Nominate him for Governor and you will see the up-State counties fall in solidly behind him, for they know character when they see it, and they love a fighter.

"Ladies and gentlemen of the convention, it is my privilege to present to you the man of the hour in the Empire State and the next Governor of New York—Charles H. Tuttle."

New York Leads Parade.

The demonstration that followed General Harbord's presentation of Mr. Tuttle lasted eighteen minutes amid a storm of cheers. The delegates from New York County started the demonstration. Led by County Chairman Koenig, they marched to the tune of the University of Maine "Stein Song," round the hall, followed by other delegations from Brooklyn, the Bronx, Queens and Richmond, and by those from the suburban counties, Westchester, Nassau, Suffolk and Rockland.

Delaware was the first dry county delegation to get into line. Then followed the counties of the Northern Tier, St. Lawrence, Franklin, Clinton and Essex. Montgomery and Herkimer fell into line, as did the counties of the Southern Tier, and a loud cheer went up when the standard of Erie County, home of Attorney General Ward, Mr. Tuttle's only serious rival, was raised and the delegates, led by Chairman Fred A. Bradley, joined the procession.

There were more cheers when Chautauqua County, home of Chairman McGinnies, and Wyoming County, home of Senator Knight, joined in the demonstration. Finally only Schoharie, Orleans and Schuyler Counties were left unrepresented in the Tuttle parade.

The delegates from these counties remained seated for nearly half the period of the demonstration. Finally their standards were lifted, in one instance at least, by a person not a member of the delegation, and then the standards of each of the sixty-one counties of the State were in the parade.

Tuttle Portrait Heads Parade.

As a forerunner of the withdrawal of Attorney General Ward from the contest for the Gubernatorial nomination, the Martha Washington Drum Corps of Buffalo joined in the procession and added to the tumult, as many of the delegates produced horns, bells, rattles and other noise-producing instruments to add to the din.

Many of the parading delegates carried small American flags. Others bore placards, which appeared suddenly in large numbers, and a large portrait of Mr. Tuttle was carried in the front of the parade. Some of the placards read:

"Tuttle is the man of the hour."
"Tammany trembles at Tuttle."
"From farm boy to Governor."
"I refuse to answer; it's incriminating Tammany."
"East, South, North, West: All agree that Tuttle is best."

After the demonstration had been in progress for thirteen minutes Chairman McGinnies called for order, but it was not until five minutes later that the delegates returned to their seats.

Then Mr. McGinnies continued calling the roll for further nominations and when he reached Erie, District Attorney Guy B. Moore of Buffalo stepped to the platform.

"It looks as though the people are ready to vote right now and vote right," he said. The delegates cheered and there was a flurry of surprise as he announced that the Erie delegates desired to offer the name of Attorney General Ward. A moment later he cleared this up by saying:

"However, at the request of Mr. Ward, I wish to say that he does not desire to have his name presented to the convention, but expresses his thanks to the delegates who were ready to vote for him.

"Mr. Ward recognizes that party success and harmony are superior to personal ambition. Mr. Ward and his friends will enthusiastically join in the fight to the end that they can take part in the jubilant celebration of the election of Charles H. Tuttle."

Mr. Moore then seconded the nomination of Mr. Tuttle, as did Eugene Dwyer of Monroe County, Mrs. Miriam A. Schindler, vice chairman of the Albany County committee; Mr. Steinbrink and Mrs. George Purcell of Seneca.

Nominated by Acclamation.

"All those in favor of the nomination of Charles H. Tuttle for Governor will signify by saying aye," shouted Chairman McGinnies as the completion of the roll-call showed there were no other nominations.

A roar swept through the building. Mr. McGinnies, quieting it, went on to announce:

"It is unanimously carried, and I declare Charles H. Tuttle duly nominated as the Republican candidate for Governor of the State of New York in 1930."

Hardly had the chairman ended when the advance guard of those escorting Mr. Tuttle, who had arrived from New York a short time before, entered the armory. As the delegates saw the candidate walking beside State Chairman Maier under a large banner bearing his picture the uproar began anew.

Down the centre aisle Mr. Tuttle pushed his way, with the crowd cheering and many pushing forward to shake his hand. The band blared and the delegates continued their cheers as Mr. Tuttle was escorted to the platform.

He stood there while the demonstration went on, smiling and greeting Mr. McGinnies, Charles D. Hillies, National Committeeman, and other party leaders on the platform. There were five minutes more of noise before Chairman McGinnies could restore order. To a new burst of greeting, he presented the candidate to the convention.

Mr. Tuttle lost no time in starting his campaign by attacking Tammany and declaring that the issue was whether or not there should be a Governor who would be bigger than Tammany Hall.

Mr. Tuttle received another ovation when he finished and left the armory to resounding cheers. Mr. McGinnies then opened nominations for Lieutenant Governor. J. D. Wilsonson of Orange County presented the name of State Senator Caleb H. Baumes, pointing to his achievements in the Legislature.

Representative Frank Crowther of Schenectady and Mrs. J. Nicholson Clark of Albany seconded the nomination and Mr. Baumes was nominated by acclamation.

Representative Francis D. Culkin of Oswego offered the name of Mayor Conway of Oswego for controller. He depicted Mr. Conway's successful career as a manufacturer and as city official. Mayor Conway was nominated by acclamation after Mayor Roland B. Marvin of Syracuse, former Mayor Harry L. Clinton and Sol Ullman of New York City made seconding speeches.

Text of Platform Adopted by State Republicans

Special to The New York Times.

The Republican party in the State of New York appeals to the people in support of its policies and candidates:

NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION.

We endorse the Federal Administration of President Herbert Hoover. We particularly commend it for the action taken to minimize the results of worldwide economic depression; for carrying to ratification the London treaty; for reducing taxes; for the enactment of a tariff bill designed to afford greater protection from foreign competition for the American farmer and wage earner and containing a workable and flexible feature; for the establishment of a farm board; for the promotion of cooperative marketing of farm products; for the additional relief extended to war veterans; for building up the American merchant marine and the retirement of government from the shipping business; for the development of waterways and for other measures of like importance.

LEGISLATURE.

We commend the Republican majorities of the Legislatures of 1929 and 1930. They initiated and passed more measures of major importance than were passed in any like period in the last quarter of a century. With clear foresight preceding each session, they wrote a program of matters proposed to be considered, and with minor, if any, exceptions such program was carried out.

DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION.

The present Democratic Administration of the State Government has been marked by inefficiency and waste. Four important departments in particular have broken down during the past two years: the Department of Banking, the Department of Public Works, the Department of Corrections, which has oversight of the prisons of the State, and the Department of Public Service, which deals with the operation of public utilities. We promise prompt correction of these administrative weaknesses and shall insist that the State receive a dollar's value for each dollar spent.

STATE PRISONS.

Three prison riots which took a toll of fourteen lives and the assassination of two prison officials is part of the Democratic record in prison administration.

We propose to deal with the prison problem and the administration of the criminal law promptly, thoroughly and in accordance with the dictates of a humane, enlightened and thoroughly modern policy.

No effort whatever has been made by the present administration to deal adequately with this subject, despite the fact that the State must, in the near future, spend many millions of dollars for construction and reconstruction of prisons, and that riots, organized and controlled by desperate bands of criminals, have astounded and alarmed the public.

NEW YORK CITY CONDITIONS.

Recent disclosures of conditions affecting the administration of public business in the city of New York, including, unfortunately, the courts of justice, have aroused public indignation, not only throughout the State, but in the country at large.

Nothing has so shocked the public as the recently exposed purchase and sale of judicial office and the administration of justice and the refusal of Democratic officials and Democratic political leaders to answer pertinent questions when called upon to testify with respect to their connection with these matters.

Although the Governor was urged to order a general investigation of corruption, he refused to act until forced by an aroused non-partisan public sentiment, and then he expressly limited the investigation to one single act, thereby preventing an exposure of general corruption and the prompt and vigorous prosecution and punishment of those responsible for it.

Having previously refused to sanction a State investigation, the Governor's only reaction has been the issuance of an informal statement that he would recommend legislation, doubtfully constitutional, applicable only to officers hereafter elected or appointed.

We favor such amendments to the present statutes as will terminate the tenure of party office or public office of any official who, when called upon to testify regarding public acts, invokes his constitutional privilege and refuses to answer.

CONDITIONS IN ALBANY.

In the very shadow of the Capitol the Democratic machine has been shown to be responsible for a complete breakdown of the tax and collection system. Reprisals have been made to compel taxpayers to vote at the dictate of the Democratic machine and to discontinue advertising in an opposition newspaper. The City Treasurer's office has issued tax receipts to favored taxpayers for money never paid to the city.

The Controller of Albany has failed to uncover this easily discernible condition and has refused to make the necessary audit. The State Controller, after a perfunctory audit, announced that no serious discrepancies had been discovered. The Mayor and the Governor have ignored the situation. A joint committee of the Legislature brought these facts to public attention.

WATER POWER.

We promise a speedy solution of the problem of developing the water power resources of the State which shall be based on sound economic principles rather than on political expediency. We desire to attract new industries, to create employment for our steadily increasing population and to supply electrical power at the cheapest possible rate to manufacturers, farmers and householders.

At the last session of the Legislature, the Republican majority, on its own initiative, did what it could to take this vexatious question out of politics by authorizing the Governor to appoint a commission of his own selection to make a thorough study of any plans of water-power development that have been or may be proposed. This commission must report before Jan. 15 next and it is a matter of regret that the Governor by so long delaying its appointment should have caused the loss of half the time allowed for what the Legislature intended to be a thorough and painstaking survey.

PUBLIC UTILITIES.

Since March 1, 1927, the Public Service Commission has been controlled by the Democratic party. Since that time many questions relating to the control of public utility corporations, including the rates charged by these companies, have been dealt with by the commission in a manner which has tended to weaken public confidence.

With this fact in mind the Republican majority in the Legislature created a commission to revise the Public Service Commission law. Pursuant to the findings of this commission, the Legislature passed a series of bills at its last session designed to make more effective the State's control over the public utility companies which it permits to operate within its borders.

Many of these bills were enacted into law, but some of the most important were vetoed by the Governor at the request of the corporations affected. The Republican party pledges itself to adjust the relations between the State and these great public utility corporations in accordance with the law of the land and for the best interest of the vast public of consumers.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

We recognize that the best assurance against unemployment is the preservation of industry in a healthy and prosperous condition. We believe that the State Government can contribute to this end by well-considered economies which will be reflected in the taxation annually levied, by an equitable distribution of the tax burden and by such reasonable laws of regulation as will permit industrial competition on an equal basis with other enlightened States and countries.

We are unalterably opposed to any system of a dole such as demoralizes industry and labor in other nations. Experience has there demonstrated that such a system puts a premium upon idleness, vastly increase the burden of taxation, and raises the cost of living.

We pledge aid to encourage employers and employes voluntarily to lay aside a portion of the income earned in days of prosperity for use in days of unemployment.

LABOR.

The Legislature at its last session passed a series of bills in the interest of wage earners which led the Federation of Labor in an official bulletin to declare that "the quality and quantity of legislative enactments devoted to the interests of the wage-earning citizens of the State finds its only parallel in this generation with the labor legislation of 1913."

These bills were drafted by Republicans after careful study, were introduced by Republicans and were passed by the vote of the Republican majority. With but a single exception, they became law. The one exception was a bill increasing from $12 to $18 a week the income of the wage earner exempt under the law from garnishee.

Governor Roosevelt vetoed this bill. The Republican party pledges itself to enact this measure into law as well as such other measures as will best serve the interests of the wage earners of the State.

We strongly condemn the present administration for the existing unjust delays in payment of compensation; for the delays in scheduling cases for hearings and the unnecessary vexations caused claimants in attending hearings.

STATE HOSPITALS.

We greatly regret the present overcrowded conditions in our State hospitals, as well as in our prisons, which have resulted from the failure of the Department of Public Works and the Bureau of Architecture and Engineering to go forward with the construction of hospital and prison facilities with the money voted by the Legislature for those purposes. The resultant overcrowding has brought great distress to the unfortunate patients in the State hospitals and has contributed to the riots in the State prisons.

We pledge continuance of our efforts to make adequate provision for the unfortunate wards of the State, and we support the proposed bond issue for that purpose to be submitted to the people for approval at the forthcoming election.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Inefficiency and delay similar to those which have attended hospital and prison construction have characterized the construction of other public buildings, notably the State Office Building at Albany. We pledge the expeditious completion of all public building which has been authorized. We shall put an end to the waste for which the Department of Public Works is responsible.

AGRICULTURE.

During the last two years the Legislature has enacted measures to relieve the unfair burden of taxation hitherto borne by the farmers of the State and otherwise assist them in their basic industry.

We pledge our support to further measures to promote cooperative marketing with a view to securing for the agriculturist a greater return for his labor and further to assist in solving the problem of farm relief. We approve such measures as are necessary and reasonable to preserve the markets of New York State for the farmers of New York State.

PUBLIC HIGHWAYS.

The Republican party pledges itself to extend and improve the State highway system. Dirt roads, which are important links in the transportation of farm products to the markets, are wholly inadequate and we shall favor liberal State aid for their reconstruction and improvement. We pledge ourselves to facilitate the prompt elimination of all dangerous grade crossings.

PUBLIC PARKS.

We pledge ourselves to make adequate provision for the development and maintenance of the State parks for the greatest satisfaction and enjoyment of the public.

REFORESTATION.

The Republican party has initiated a program for the reforestation of millions of acres of abandoned farm lands in the State. We pledge the continuance of this program and support for the proposed Constitutional amendment dealing with this subject.

TAXATION.

The Republican party pledges itself to equalize the burden of taxation in this State. A commission has already been created to make a thorough study of this subject and we shall do everything in our power to carry this work forward as rapidly and thoroughly as possible.

CIVIL SERVICE.

We pledge our support to the special committee set up by the last Legislature to make a comprehensive survey of State civil service, with a view to remedying the many inequalities in salaries paid and the recognition of faithful and continuous service.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND EDUCATION.

We pledge ourselves to take all necessary measures to safeguard the public health and to continue to strengthen wherever possible the educational system of the State.

ELECTION REFORM.

Bills passed by the Legislature at its last session to correct election abuses in New York City were vetoed by Governor Roosevelt. The Republican party, if entrusted with power, will enact these measures into law.

AVIATION.

The Republican party has supported in every feasible way the development of aviation. It will continue that policy.

NEW YORK CITY TRANSIT.

We shall cooperate to the fullest extent and with all the authority of the State government to assist the City of New York to solve in permanent and satisfactory manner the problem of rapid transit. The city administration has demonstrated its insincerity in its proposals. It has heretofore prevented agreement for the sole purpose of obtaining political advantage.

LAW REFORM.

We pledge support to the work of the commission created by the last Legislature for the general purpose of making a survey of our administration of the law in the State and of proposing improvements thereto where needed. The personnel of this commission justifies the confidence that its efforts will result in great benefits.

WELFARE.

Conspicuous among the important welfare measures passed during the last two sessions of the Legislature are: the public welfare law, the child marriage, the anti-loan shark, old-age security and prison reform laws. We pledge our continued support to measures dealing with these and other similar problems.

PROMOTION OF STATE ADVANTAGES.

We pledge ourselves to give consideration to the adoption of a plan to lay before tourists, business men and others who might be attracted to New York State, the agricultural, industrial and recreational advantages which this State affords.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

The Republican party presents the State Department of Law as an example of efficiency and capable administration. Under the direction of a Republican Attorney General the department has been reorganized and a degree of efficiency has been injected into the work of that office that constitutes a striking contrast to other departments of the State Government which are under Democratic administration.

The office has protected the public against stock frauds, defended the interest of wage earners, dealt with difficult constitutional questions, safeguarded the rights of New York State as against other States, fostered the interests of veterans of American wars and generally guarded the public welfare in all legal matters.

PROHIBITION.

Prior to prohibition the Republican party of New York State initiated and passed every measure which was adopted providing for the control or restriction of the liquor traffic. As a party the Democrats in New York State opposed every measure of this kind including local option.

As long as the prohibition law remains on the statute books it should be obeyed. The security and stability of society require that the Constitution and laws of our country shall, until legally changed, be supported by obedience and enforcement.

The good in national prohibition lies in its outlawing of the saloon and the saloon system, and in its grant to Congress of power to cooperate internally within States that maintain a prohibition system and to protect such States from importations of liquor from without. On the other hand, the evil in national prohibition lies largely in the compulsion sought to be placed upon States which do not desire the prohibition system.

We favor the restoration to each State of the authority to deal with the liquor problem in accordance with the wishes of its citizens.

To this end we favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, providing that simultaneously and as part of the new amendment a provision is adopted outlawing and forbidding everywhere in the United States the saloon system and its equivalent, the private traffic in intoxicating beverages for private profit and further guaranteeing Federal cooperation and assistance to States which have prohibition in whole or in part.

Vote on Repeal Plank in Republican Platform Showed Half of Counties Solidly in Opposition

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Almost one-half of the counties in the State cast a solid vote against the prohibition repeal plank adopted here today by the Republican State Convention. All of them were rural counties and all Republican strongholds.

While the aggregate Republican vote is not so large in these counties as in those that voted solidly for the repeal declaration, in normal years of a Gubernatorial election they contribute an average of 5,000 each to the up-State Republican majority, or in the aggregate, in round numbers, 150,000 votes.

The convention vote, by counties, on the repeal plank was as follows:

Here's how to GET RID of PROHIBITION

JOSEPH S. AUERBACH gives you the first PRACTICAL PLAN

Are you sick of:
—bootleg corruption
—gangster rule
—legal murder
—grafting officials
—pussy footing politicians
—prohibition scandals

IF SO you have wanted to see a plan by which this could legally be brought to a stop—a workable plan that will rid the country of the evils that have sprung from the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act. Now a famous lawyer has worked out that plan—startling in its simplicity—legally and politically possible. The publication of this plan in inexpensive book form has created a sensation. The Outlook says in an editorial, "Auerbach has established his position beyond doubt—In a very practical sense, the door is opened for immediate reform." $1

BATTLED WAY UP LADDER

District Attorney Is Called "Man of Hour," Able to Solve State's Problems.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 26.—General James G. Harbord, in nominating Charles H. Tuttle for Governor at the Republican State Convention today, hailed him as "the man of the hour in the Empire State," and predicted that the nomination would result in New York City rolling up the biggest Republican vote in many years and in the up-State counties falling in solidly behind him.

General Harbord reviewed Mr. Tuttle's career as District Attorney, saying that his three and a half years in that office were crowded "with a score of important battles nobly fought and valiantly won in the public service."

The speaker said he addressed himself not only to his Republican audience, but also to "the sovereign people of the State of New York."

"In this State today," he continued, "we are facing an emergency which demands a leader; a crisis which calls for a statesman. Great problems wait for solution.

"Shall the ownership of utilities be private or public?

"Shall balance sheets be abolished in such properties and the taxpayers foot the bills?

"Shall the American spirit of individualism yield control and management to government ownership?

"Shall there be restored to our State its lost sovereignty in powers originally reserved to it in the Federal Constitution?

"Shall corruption, crime and criminal waste, as well as larceny, both petty and grand, continue to stain the fair name of our metropolitan New York?

"Shall judgeships be bought and sold in the chief city of America, and justice itself be quoted at a price in the halls and high councils of Tammany?

"Shall 'standing by your friends' be stretched enough to include the granting of special privilege, immunity from taxation and license to the underworld?

"Does the tiger prey upon everything except his own kind?

"Big, Broad and Brave."

He hailed Mr. Tuttle as a man "who is big enough and broad enough and brave enough" to measure up to such Governors as John Jay, De Witt Clinton, Martin Van Buren, Theodore Roosevelt and Charles Evans Hughes.

General Harbord then sketched Mr. Tuttle's life, touching on his birth in New York City fifty-one years ago, his surroundings and early upbringing, his education and his starting out on his career.

When Mr. Tuttle was appointed United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York in April, 1927, General Harbord said, "the reek of corruption was rising from the city, rumblings of misgovernment were to be heard and an occasional mild-mannered group was passing resolutions or writing to the papers."

"Like David Facing Goliath."

General Harbord said that when Mr. Tuttle entered upon his duties as District Attorney, he must have felt as David did when he faced Goliath. The bucket-shop evil was one of the first things that engaged Mr. Tuttle's official attention. Mr. Harbord pointed out that many millions of dollars had been stolen yearly from small investors by stock tipsters and fake promoters. Mr. Tuttle's campaign against this practice, said General Harbord, was so vigorous and thorough that many of the principal leaders in the business were convicted and sent to jail.

The speaker also pointed out that Mr. Tuttle had "made such a complete housecleaning of the bankruptcy scandals in New York City that one Federal judge resigned, the official auctioneer was indicted, a clerk in the district court dismissed, and six lawyers prominent in bankruptcy matters either resigned or were disbarred."

General Harboard then said that Mr. Tuttle put an end to the notorious Albany baseball pool, "which under the protection of Democratic State politicians had grown into the largest lottery in all America."

"When the pursuit of the government's affairs in New York City leads to the threshold of public misconduct, this man is not afraid to follow the trail. Indictments of municipal officeholders and politicians for cheating the government through false income tax returns and using the mails to defraud have followed upon his courageous and thorough discharge of his duty.

"Typical illustrations are the conviction of a county judge, and the disclosures and indictments in the Ewald and Healy cases and of certain persons connected with the Board of Standards and Appeals. He has cleaned house in New York City as it has not been cleaned in fifty years.

"Here, Republicans, is a man and a fighter. Every step up the ladder of achievement has been a fight. Now, after three and a half years of campaigning on a hostile battleground, where the enemy held all the strongholds, and the cards were stacked against him, he emerges triumphant.

"The larger battleground of the State will find him on familiar territory. He knows the ropes. He knows the strength and the weaknesses of our opponents. He knows the issues, for he has created them himself."

General Harbord praised Mr. Tuttle for his "courage" on the prohibition issue, saying:

"His entire background of birth, early training and religious affiliations—the grandson of an Episcopal minister—his own strong religious convictions, and chairmanship of the Inter-Faith Committee in New York City, align him with temperance and the enforcement of law. He firmly stands for the enforcement of law, but his years as District Attorney with unrivaled opportunity to study the demonstration of prohibition under the Eighteenth Amendment have convinced him that there must be a constructive replacement which will conserve the good that prohibition has brought and suppress the evils which it has produced.

"A few days ago he was big enough and brave enough to declare this belief when political expediency might perhaps have called for silence."

In detailing Mr. Tuttle's career, General Harbord said:

"He was born in New York City fifty-one years ago, the descendant of a family resident in America since Colonial days. At the age of 3 his father died, and his mother took him to live on a farm in New Jersey. There he learned to do the chores, milk the cows and help the farm hands, meanwhile getting a primary education in the village school. The love of the soil acquired as a boy has survived through an active professional career in New York City, and today he owns a farm in Warren County.

"Back in New York City at the age of 10 years, he sold papers on the streets; won a scholarship in Trinity School; and after his preparatory education was finished, worked his way, by writing and tutoring, through Columbia University, where he was graduated with high honors in 1899. A course in Columbia Law School completed his education and by 1902 he faced the world, and began work in his native city.

"The record of his early career as a clerk in a law office and later as a member of his firm, is the typical story of an ambitious young American. He mastered the fundamentals of law by hard work and intense concentration; he grew in stature, and earned the respect and friendship of a widening circle of associates."

TUTTLE OPENS FIGHT ON TAMMANY ISSUE

now to put our hands and our hearts into this fight? What moment could be more auspicious than this to blow at once the bugle for battle?

"Our political creed is a simple one. We believe that government shares in the great human task of building a better social order.

"We believe that democracy consists in government not by men but by law. We believe that observance and enforcement of law is the duty of all citizens and public officials.

"We believe that government is more than mere administration. We believe that it is a power for leadership and cooperation in bringing a solution of those problems which involve an equitable distribution of opportunity and culture among all our people.

"We have faith in the State of New York. We believe that its workmen, its farmers, its business men, aided by wise legislation, can readily hold and maintain the economic supremacy of the world.

"We believe that equality of opportunity is the birthright of every American, rich or poor, native or foreign-born, irrespective of race or creed. We believe that the inalienable rights of the people, both political and proprietary, shall always remain inviolate.

"We believe that by cooperation of government we may maintain stability of business and promote its productivity; and we believe that the highest practical wage is the high road to increased buying power and, therefore, to increased prosperity. But above all, we believe in clean and honest government.

Tammany and Judiciary as Issue.

"The issue is not difficult to see. It has been thrust before us in clear relief during the last forty-eight hours. For several months evidence has piled up indicative that even judicial office has been the subject of merchandise, and that there were money changers in the temple of justice in the great city of New York.

"The question arises whether this was an isolated instance or whether it was typical of a system. Under the compulsion of public opinion, the Governor belatedly set on foot a grand jury investigation, but carefully confined the distinguished prosecutor to the particular case in hand.

"The grand jury, however, exercising that prerogative with which American tradition has endowed that ancient institution, has undertaken an investigation of the system as such, and therefore they called before them the man who more than any other could speak authoritatively about this system and say how judicial officers and other officers were selected.

"They also called before them prominent and powerful office holders and leaders of the organization. One and all they immediately declared that they would not give any light to the constituted representatives of the public if required to sign waivers of immmunity.

"They claimed to be 'insulted' when called upon to testify on any terms except their own; and their answer to the grand jury called by the Governor himself was that there would be no testimony from these high sources except on terms dictated by the boss himself and under the shelter of immunity.

Puts It as Challenge to Roosevelt.

"How strange it was that at that very moment the Governor should be putting forth the declaration that at the next session of the Legislature he would call for a law which would require every public official on taking the oath of office to subscribe in advance to a waiver of immunity!

"Here, therefore, we have the issue. The Governor is the head of the State and the leader of his party. Will he accept the challenge which the leaders of Tammany Hall have thrown down to him? Will he stand by his own grand jury, or will he stand by Tammany Hall?

"Will he stand for a policy of open disclosure, or will he side with a policy of concealment and silence? Will he call upon the Mayor to exercise his power of removal as regards those officers who will not testify except on terms of immunity?

"The Governor says that he will propose a bill at the next session of the Legislature embodying his views. But why wait until then? Here and now is the opportunity to strike a blow for clean, honest and open government.

"The question of the integrity of appointments to judicial office cannot be postponed until some later date. There is ample power in the Chief Executive of the State to end the situation which has developed within the last forty-eight hours and to make the public understand whether the Chief Executive will stand by his own grand jury or not.

Governor or Tammany the Bigger.

"Therefore, I say to you, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, that the issue of this campaign has been made by Tammany Hall itself within the last forty-eight hours and it is this: Are we to have a Governor that is bigger than Tammany Hall or not?

"If elected, I shall not wait until there is some legislative pronouncement on these repeated and increasing refusals to testify except on terms of immunity; nor shall I confine my action merely to future office holders, as would be the result of depending solely upon legislation.

"I would require within twenty-four hours the removal of any public officer who refused to give an accounting of his public trust to duly constituted authorities. I would recognize, without equivocation and without hesitation, that clean government asks no immunity.

"So I ask you, take this issue home with you, you the workers and leaders of the party, for it is not an issue which concerns solely the City of New York, but it touches the whole State.

"Free government cannot live if this challenge to American institutions goes unopposed. Otherwise we will inevitably find that all of us will soon be paying tribute to a political monopoly.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you for the faith which you have reposed in me, and I shall devote the best in me to justifying your confidence."

DRYS CALL VOTERS TO FORSAKE TUTTLE

Colvin, are the Women's Committee for Law Enforcement, the National Temperance Society and the Prohibition Education League.

Mrs. Colvin disclosed that the dry forces would offer only a Gubernatorial nominee, the prohibition organizations agreeing to study the tickets of both major political parties and endorse all candidates who represented their beliefs.

Predicts Good Showing.

Pointing out that there was the utmost harmony among the anti-wet group, Mrs. Colvin predicted that their candidate would make a good showing in the campaign. As for the nominee winning, she said: "The third party will make a very active fight and I hope it will become the majority party."

According to Mrs. Colvin, Frank E. Gannett of Rochester, publisher of seventeen daily newspapers, including The Brooklyn Eagle, was still under consideration as a candidate. Reminded that Mr. Gannett had issued a statement declining the nomination, she replied: "But didn't Mr. Tuttle also say he was not a candidaet for Governor?"

Gannett Explains Refusal.

Regarding his candidacy Mr. Gannett said he considered it a compliment to be suggested, pointing out that the compliment was greater in coming "from those Republicans who are fighting for a great moral issue."

"To heed the suggestion would seem to some to be a duty," he said. "I am not insensible to this, but I feel I am of greater service to this or any other cause as the head of the Gannett group of newspapers than as a candidate for office."

The independent dry candidate will use the nominating petitions now being circulated for Professor Robert Paris Carroll of Syracuse University, according to Mrs. Colvin. The petitions contain 20,000 signatures, and the dry forces have until Oct. 13 to make the substitution, she said.

Despite the reported statement that Professor Carroll had withdrawn as the candidate of the drys, Mrs. Colvin said there was still the possibility of his taking the nomination.

Brokers Place $10,000 Against $5,000 on Tuttle.

J. S. Fried & Co. of 80 Wall Street report that the first large wager of the coming election was placed yesterday with the announcement of Charles H. Tuttle as the Gubernatorial candidate of the Republican party.

Fried & Co. placed a commission of $5,000 against $10,000 that Mr. Tuttle would defeat Governor Roosevelt in the coming election. The firm has $5,000 more to be placed at the same odds.

M'GINNIES ASSAILS DEMOCRATS' RECORD

Hospital Overcrowding, Prison Rioting and Building Flaws Charged to Administration.

WIDE CORRUPTION ALLEGED

Speaker Asks Why Roosevelt "Does Not Do Something" About New York City Scandals.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 26.—Joseph A. McGinnies, Speaker of the State Assembly and permanent chairman of the Republican State Convention, in his address to the convention today bitterly attacked the administration of Governor Roosevelt and the New York City administration. Into the opening paragraphs of his speech he packed the Republican complaint against Democratic rule in the city and in the State.

"Under the present Democratic administration many departments of the State Government have virtually collapsed," he said. "Waste, extravagance and inefficiency have added enormously to the cost of government and consequently to the tax bills of the people.

"Corruption has crept into the Banking Department, and the former head of that department has been convicted of accepting a bribe.

"Our prisons have been the scenes of bloody riots that could have been prevented by even a semblance of good management and foresight. Our hospitals have become dangerously overcrowded, due to a break-down in the office of the State Architect and the Department of Public Works.

"The construction of public buildings and bridges has been delayed, and incompetency has added greatly to their cost.

"In the city of New York graft and corruption unparalleled since the days of Tweed have honeycombed the city government, and the people, crying aloud for measures that would stop the thievery and graft, have been denied the assistance of the State."

Lays Prison Riots to Politics.

This summary provided the lead for a detailed complaint, the speaker calling on his party to "bring back efficiency and economy to the management of the State's business. "The present administration he describes as "weak, vacillating and incompetent."

First of all, he launched into an account of the prison riots at Dannemora and at Auburn, maintaining that "it was proved and admitted by those responsible for the convicts that the convicts themselves actually ran the prison"; that "under oath the Commissioner of Corrections declared that at the time of the riots Auburn Prison was not controlled by the State of New York but by a group of local Democratic politicians and by the most desperate of the criminals themselves, banded together in the so-called Mutual Welfare League."

Next, Mr. McGinnies assailed the administration's record in the Banking Department. Citing the failure of the City Trust Company and of Clarke Brothers, private bankers, he said:

"For two months the Superintendent of Banks, who was later convicted of accepting a bribe, remained head of the department, and for two months the Governor delayed an investigation into the department. He resisted every effort to bring about a general investigation of the Banking Department."

State Office Building Under Fire.

In his attack on the Department of Public Works he pointed out that the Bank of Manhattan Building, the Chanin Building and the Chrysler tower were finished within eighteen months, while the Albany State office building, "a monument to Democratic incompetency, has been greatly increased by changes in plans, faulty foundations, 'work orders,' 'extras,' &c." "We have been waiting since 1926 for the Albany office building and now after appropriating $8,000,000," he said, "we learn that the building is settling on its faulty foundations, that the interior bracing is buckling, that the exterior stone work has cracked and the floor levels are distorted."

Directing his remarks then to the Public Works Department, Mr. McGinnies criticized the delay in construction of the Poughkeepsie Bridge and asked:

"Do you know that the Department of Public Works built a swimming pool for the School for the Blind in Batavia and made no provision for getting the water in or out?"

Attacks Public Service Board.

Passing on to an attack on the Department of Public Service the Speaker said:

"For the past year the Governor of this State has been railing about public utility corporations, about telephone rates, about electric light rates, and so on. I won't quarrel with him on that score.

"But whose Public Service Commission is it? What member of the commission was not appointed either by Governor Roosevelt himself or by his Democratic predecessor? If the utility companies are asking for and getting more for their services than they should get, nobody in the world is to blame for it but the Governor himself."

The Speaker then asked why Governor Roosevelt did not "do something in New York City and in Albany County." Citing the State investigation at Saratoga and in Greene County, Mr. McGinnies went on to say:

"The investigation of these Republican communities might not have been the subject of the slightest criticism had not the administration closed its eyes so persistently to the very grave abuses in Albany County and to the orgy of graft and corruption in New York. In Albany the surface has only been scratched and despite the many instances of proved corruption in New York City the surface there has probably only been scratched."

Brings Up New York City Scandals.

Then Mr. McGinnies centred on the situation in New York, recalling the Rothstein murder and the charges of office buying involved in the Ewald case; the ousting of Judge Mancuso, the Pathé fire, the removal of Magistrate Vitale, the alleged padding of Street Cleaning Department payrolls, the scandal in the Board of Standards and Appeals, the Judge Vause conviction, "the city-owned barge that dumped garbage at sea and returned with bootleg liquor" and the Queens sewer scandal.

"When the Legislature passed a bill providing for an investigation of New York City by a commission of Governor Roosevelt's own appointing, he vetoed it," said Mr. McGinnies, "with the message 'It is a pity for the sake of orderly government that this bill was passed.' This is in part the record of the Democratic party which will seek endorsement at the polls this Fall."

Cites Republican Party's Efforts.

The speaker then took up the steps taken by the Republican party to improve the government.

"Over the protest of Governor Roosevelt," he said, "the Republican majority has done away with the direct tax on real estate and over his protest we have increased exemptions under the income tax law."

He added to the list the Republican program on farm relief, revision of the so-called poor law, legislation on women in industry, revision of the Public Service Commission law and other measures backed by the Republican party.

"The State, however, again and again has been treated to the spectacle of the Governor seeking to claim all the credit for these achievements," he continued. "We do not wish to deprive him of such credit as he deserves for signing these bills, nor do we wish to enter into a controversy with him. The record speaks for itself. The bills were introduced by Republicans and they were passed by Republicans.

"The record of the Republican party at Albany is one with which we can well go before the people. The record of the Democratic Administration, on the other hand, does not deserve the confidence of the people, for it is a record of weakness and failure.

"I repeat that not in many years has the Republican party has such an opportunity to serve the people of the State of New York, and I look forward with the utmost confidence to a sweeping victory at the polls in November."

Challenges Roosevelt to Act.

Calling upon Governor Roosevelt to act upon the charges of widespread corruption, Mr. McGinnies said:

"Why doesn't he do something about the situation in New York City and in Albany County?

"He investigated Westchester. He summoned a special grand jury in Monroe. He waxed indignant and moved very promptly when information reached him that people were betting on horse races at Saratoga. He raised a furor in Greene County. I do not criticize him for that, although it is a matter of satisfaction to me that in no instance, so far as I know, did his investigations uncover wrongdoing on the part of responsible Republican officials.

"If he believes or has reason to believe that something is wrong in a Republican community, by all means let him investigate, and let no guilty man escape, whatever his politics.

"But to strain at a gnat and swallow a camel has been bad practice since time immemorial. The investigation of these Republican communities might not have been the subject of the slightest criticism, had not the administration closed its eyes so persistently to the very grave abuses in Albany County and to the orgy of graft and corruption in New York.

"An investigating committee has already brought to light deplorable conditions in the city of Albany. Money paid to the city of Albany has not reached the city treasurer. Favored citizens have received tax rebates.

"There have been such inequalities in assessments that the charge has been made that the Democratic leaders go around election time with an enrolment book in one hand and an assessment book in the other, the implication being that tax favoritism is bartered for votes."

MAIER IS RE-ELECTED.

The Republican State Committee Unanimously Retains Chairman.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 26.—William J. Maier of Seneca Falls was re-elected chairman of the Republican State Committee today at a meeting held just after the close of the party convention.

While reports had indicated that a move might be made to change chairmen because of the belief of friends of Charles H. Tuttle that Mr. Maier had opposed his nomination, the meeting developed into a "love feast" and he was selected unanimously.

Representative Bertrand Snell of St. Lawrence nominated Mr. Maier, emphasizing the value of his leadership. Mr. Maier expressed thanks for the vote of confidence.

Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler was re-elected vice chairman of the committee and Colonel Lafayette B. Gleason, secretary. Chairman Maier was authorized to appoint a treasurer.

TUTTLE NEWCOMER TO POLITICAL FRAY

SOON WON PUBLIC ATTENTION

His Drives, Starting With Attack on Ticket Brokers, Climaxed by Blow at Tammany.

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle will enter his first race for public office when he campaigns as the Republican nominee for Governor. His upbringing in public service was in the fields of religious and educational work. He has held a post or two in the Republican party organization but he never had to appeal for votes for himself.

On the record he would be called a veritable novice in the course ahead of him. Actually, however, there are few who do not credit him with consummate skill in feeling the public pulse. There are some, including two prominent former Federal officials, who have charged that the hope of a Gubernatorial nomination has inspired him through most of the three-year period that he has acted as United States Attorney. There are none who deny that the popular appeal in the way he made use of his office made his nomination increasingly logical.

Without political experience, Mr. Tuttle nevertheless immediately won public interest when he took office and he never failed to keep it. His popular drive on theatre-ticket gouging in 1927 was only a prelude to a series of campaigns in which the public sympathy followed him. There was his war on loan sharks and then his investigation of the sinking of the liner Vestris in which scores perished. There was his drive on the "bankruptcy ring" and then on bucket shops and tipster sheets which had mulcted people of millions. More recently came the campaigns against drug rings and bail-bond evils. Capping these exploits was the extended investigation of city officeholders in the course of which one revelation after another finally produced a public clamor against "scandals" in the city administration, and made Mr. Tuttle, at least in Republican eyes, the hero of "Tammany exposures."

Sense of News Awakened.

Despite the sustained interest in his performances, there has been some indication that Mr. Tuttle was no expert in publicity at the start, anyhow, of his career in public office. The episode that may have impressed him most was the loss of his Persian cat Rajah three years ago. It disappeared a few days after he took office and he telephoned the want advertisement department of a newspaper. Then he discovered simultaneously the nature of both news and his new public importance.

"Why, do you know," Mr. Tuttle said afterward, "they immediately transferred my call to the city editor? And the next day Rajah was all over the front page and I didn't have to pay a cent."

With a background of religious and educational work and an early reputation as something of a peacemaker, Mr. Tuttle's recent career has belied his antecedents in another respect. He has started battles on every side, even fighting with members of his own party.

In 1928 Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition enforcement, was antagonizing many citizens of New York in a grand jury proceeding which she had instigated against night clubs here. Mr. Tuttle, who has never smoked, taken a drink or entered a night club in his life, objected to the "pitiless publicity" to which innocent patrons of the amusement places were subjected by being called as witnesses in a general inquiry.

Mr. Tuttle won out, and the grand jury ended this phase of its work. Mrs. Willebrandt paid her compliments to him later when she complained in a story of her official career against a Federal attorney who had too many political ambitions.

Clashed With Campbell.

Again Major Maurice Campbell, former prohibition administrator of the New York district, came into conflict with Mr. Tuttle because the latter did not approve of some of his tactics which were "too high-handed," in the eyes of the prosecutor. It was Major Campbell who resigned, admittedly under pressure, first. Mr. Tuttle, when attacked, needed only to point to his record of procedure and prosecutions "universally sustained on trial in Federal court."

There was another time when Mr. Tuttle irritated former Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen when he charged that police had shared in bail bond graft. Mr. Tuttle promised the grand jury testimony to Mr. Whalen and there was silence.

A silent tongue on prohibition having assured his nomination as Governor, other factors making him the inevitable choice, Mr. Tuttle again risked battle. When his friend William H. Hill of Binghamton, dry "Hoover leader" of the State, announced support of his candidacy on Sept. 6, Mr. Tuttle cried a halt. He asked the leaders to withhold judgment, and then a few days later came out with his statement calling for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Subsequently he insisted that the Republican convention adopt his ideas in the platform if it wished to draft him.

In some quarters the move was interpreted as a masterpiece of political strategy looking to the success of his Gubernatorial campaign. Others said it was the action of a sincere and overscrupulous mind. Few could find an origin for it in Mr. Tuttle's training in the meetings of educational societies.

Grandson of Minister.

Mr. Tuttle was born April 21, 1879, a grandson of the Rev. Isaac H. Tuttle, rector of St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal Church for forty years. His father, Henry C. Tuttle, was a lawyer, author of "Tuttle's Abstracts of Farm Titles," but he died when the son was only a few years old.

Mr. Tuttle was educated in the public schools of New York, Trinity School and Columbia University, from which he was graduated in 1899. He was graduated from Columbia Law School three years later and became a member of the firm of Davies, Auerbach & Cornell in 1907.

For many years he has been a member of the Board of Trustees of the City College and of the New York City Board of Higher Education. He has been active in the work of the New York City Federation of Churches and the Federation of Churches of Christ in America, taking prominent part in religious education planning.

He was a member of the State Reorganization Commission and just before he became Federal Attorney he was chairman of the advisory committee of the New York County Republican Committee. When former United States Senator James W. Wadsworth Jr. was unsuccessfully running for re-election in 1926 Mr. Tuttle spoke for him and called him a sincere friend of temperance despite his repeal views, which later cost him the election.

Mr. Tuttle was married in 1907 to Helen L. Wheeler of Oswego. They have four children, Evelyn, Charlotte, Jasmine and Henry C.

Charlotte Tuttle as a junior at Vassar last year acknowledged leanings to the Socialist party after working one Summer at $13 a week in a Chicago print shop. Mr. Tuttle was tolerant when he heard about it. "She'll be a Republican yet," he said.

BAUMES A TEACHER IN EARLY CAREER

Bookstein Did Odd Jobs in Youth—Conway Once Worked in Factory.

Caleb Howard Baumes, nominated yesterday for Lieutenant Governor by the Republican State Convention, has been State Senator since 1919, is chairman of the New York State Crime Commission and father of the Baumes law. He was born at Bethlehem, Albany County, N. Y., on March 31, 1863. He was graduated from Fort Edward Collegiate Institute and was a public school teacher from 1883 to 1890. For five years thereafter he was bookkeeper for a wholesale provision house in Newburgh and president of Queen City Provision Company from 1895 to 1898. That year Mr. Baumes was admitted to the New York Bar and began practice at Newburgh.

Entering the political field he was elected to the General Assembly and served from 1909 to 1913. He was a member of the New York State Constitutional Convention in 1915. In 1926 Senator Baumes was appointed chairman of the Crime Commission. As chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee of the New York Legislature, he took a large part in the drawing up of amendments and additions to the penal law.

Isadore Bookstein.

Isadore Bookstein, nominated for Attorney General, is a native of Albany and won his way to leadership early this year when he was selected as Albany County Republican chairman.

Born here on Feb. 12, 1891, he was educated in the public schools and at the Albany High School. Due to financial pressure, he was compelled to work his way through the high school and later the Albany Law School from which he was graduated in 1912. He did odd jobs, sold newspapers, clerked in drug stores, and after being admitted to the bar, began private practice.

In 1920 he was appointed Assistant District Attorney of Albany County and served until October of 1921, when Governor Nathan L. Miller named him county judge.

Mr. Bookstein is married and has three children, two boys and a girl.

Daniel H. Conway.

Mayor Daniel H. Conway of Oswego, chosen as the party's candidate for Controller, is serving his third term as chief executive of his city.

Born in Troy on Dec. 26, 1879, Mr. Conway was the youngest of a large family. He received his early education in the public schools but was compelled to leave early in order to work. He began at a salary of $4 a week in a Troy collar factory and continued to go to school for a time.

He engaged in various pursuits for several years and eighteen years ago went to Oswego where he rose rapidly. He launched into the cotton manufacturing industry and eventually became treasurer of the Oswego Yarn Mills and later president of the Conway Knitting Mills there.

The candidate for Controller is married and has six children, five boys and one girl.

Cuthbert Winfred Pound.

Cuthbert Winfred Pound, Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals of the State of New York, renominated for his present seat today, was born at Lockport, Niagara County, N. Y., on June 20, 1864. He was educated in Lockport public schools and Cornell University and was admitted to the bar in June, 1886.

TUTTLE FAMILY IS HAPPY.

Wife and Three Children Cheer Nomination at Albany.

ALBANY, Sept. 26 (AP).—Happiest among the happy Republicans who cheered the State convention's nomination of Charles H. Tuttle for Governor today were Mrs. Tuttle and three of the four Tuttle children. But Mrs. Tuttle made it plain the husband and father would have to do the political talking. She did promise reporters that later she might be "much more communicative."

She was glad to talk about her family, however, and about the younger generation in general. She is "a hundred per cent for the boys and girls," as she believes the present young generation the sincerest and most capable she has heard of.

She had barred political talk by her first statement, but reporters recalled she was a vice president of the New York State Women's Republican Club and already had arranged Statewide meetings of younger women of the party to arouse their interest in affairs of government.

The children who attended the convention were Charlotte, a senior at Vassar College; Helene Jasmine, 13, and Henry Croswell, 16. The oldest daughter, Evelyn, is the wife of Lieutenant Charles F. Horne Jr. of the navy.

BAUMES TO STATE POSITION

Candidate for Lieutenant Governor Avoids Wet-Dry Stand.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 26. — Senator Baumes, chosen today as the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, was asked tonight whether he was a wet or a dry. The entire delegation from his home county of Orange was recorded with the wets in the vote on the prohibition plank in the convention.

"I am not going to say anything on that subject," Senator Baumes replied. "I will have a statement in a day or two. I am sure you will excuse me."

FLINT NOT A CANDIDATE.

Syracuse Chancellor Declares He Is Not in Politics.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP).—Charles W. Flint, Chancellor of Syracuse University, mentioned in Albany today by dry leaders as acceptable to them as an independent dry candidate for Governor, if he would run, today repeated his assertion that he is not a candidate.

He said: "I have but one statement to make: I have not been approached and I am not in politics."

Blossoms and Apples Grow Together on Connecticut Tree

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 26.—Albert Mitchell of the contracting firm of Peter Mitchell, Inc., of Greenwich is displaying a branch of an apple tree in full blossom from an estate in Darien, Conn., of which he is part owner. The same tree is bearing apples.

Mr. Mitchell says that this is the first time he has seen an apple tree in blossom so late in the year and bearing apples at the same time.

TUTTLE REPEAL PLANK CRITICIZED IN PRESS

But Papers of Both Parties Here Call It Advance Step—Nominee Hailed as a 'Strong Man.'

Editorial comment in New York City upon the nomination of Charles H. Tuttle for Governor and the adoption of a prohibition repeal plank by the Republican State Convention included the following:

From The Herald Tribune.

The Republican State Convention ended yesterday amid enthusiasm the like of which has not been seen in this biennial gathering for at least a decade. It had nominated a strong man for Governor and had taken a frank, affirmative stand on prohibition. * * *

Unhampered by any pledges, free from any commitments, his own man, standing firmly for what intellect and conscience told him was right, Charles Henry Tuttle is in an extraordinarily strong position to lead the party. He has used his legal ability and unusual flair for public service in the successful administration of the important office of United States Attorney.

His keenness for scenting graft and corruption in public life have already led him [quite incidentally to his regular duties] to uncover shocking conditions in the public service here. The much needed cleansing of the "market places" cannot be accomplished so long as we have a Governor who courts the favor of Tammany Hall. The situation demands a man of Mr. Tuttle's calibre in Albany. * * *

We do not follow Mr. Tuttle and his platform in believing that a superseding amendment should go into the Federal Constitution, curbing the States in their free control of the liquor traffic after the Eighteenth Amendment has gone. It also would be a violation of the fundamental theory of State rights and would substitute a Federal hobble for what is now a Federal straight-jacket. But a declaration for repeal of the present amendment is a long step in advance.

From The World.

The Republican plank on prohibition is Mr. Tuttle's plank. It calls for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, in order to restore to each State "authority to deal with the liquor problem in accordance with the wishes of its citizens." Simultaneously it urges the adoption of a new amendment "outlawing and forbidding everywhere in the United States the saloon system and its equivalent, the private traffic in intoxicating beverages for private profit."

That there is an inconsistency in these two statements cannot be denied. The Republican party does not simply pledge itself to the adoption of State laws outlawing private traffic in intoxicating liquor, if and when the Eighteenth Amendment is repealed. It proposes to write such legislation into the Constitution in the form of a new amendment. * * * Moreover, the Republican proposal would still leave the National Government in the business of enforcement within wet States as well as dry States and still fail to restore the Federal character of the American system of government.

Nevertheless, with this much admitted, it is clear beyond any doubt that the wets have won a real victory and a great victory at Albany. The extent of this victory may be judged by looking back down the road along which the Republican party has come. * * *

The chief fact and the unmistakable fact is that the Republican party in this State has now thrown its great power and prestige behind the rapidly growing movement for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and restoration of responsibility to the States. * * *

With the Republican party of New York joining the Republican party of New Jersey and the Republican party of Connecticut in a demand for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and with the Republican party in Massachusetts, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and other large industrial States rapidly approaching this same decision, it now seems absolutely certain that repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment will be the irrepressible issue in the Republican National Convention which meets in 1932.

WASHINGTON SEES NATION-WIDE FIGHT

pected to develop from the New York Republicans' stand. Leaders here fully expect to see Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware Republicans turning wet by 1932 and joining New Jersey and New York in sending wet delegates to the convention. Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island are declared to be ready to demand some modification two years hence if the elections in November show a wet trend.

While some leaders said it was entirely too early to attempt to analyze the increasing wet movement despite New York's action, they thought the country probably was greatly dissatisfied with the law, but not ready to favor its repeal until sentiment became more settled on a concrete substitute for prohibition.

Dry leaders held that the action of the New York Republicans was not symptomatic of the nation's sentiment. While they professed not to be disturbed by the action in New York, they privately admitted that the opposition to the amendment is becoming stronger and calls for militant resistance in the November election.

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment, said "New York Republicans in their action have only reflected that New York is wet and has been all along."

"It has no significance nationally," he added. "If anything, it will arouse the drys to greater action. I do not expect to see any great dry losses in the November election and, if there are, they will be made up in the 1932 election through a determined fight by the drys."

Senator Brookhart of Iowa said: "Senator Wadsworth was defeated two years ago by his wet position. I think the Republicans of New York will lose by coming out for repeal if the drys put a candidate in the field for Governor. I cannot see any national meaning in New York's action. They have only become honest in translating into their platform the desires of New York people. I see nothing to alarm the drys in New York's action."

Representative Loring M. Black Jr., Democrat, of New York, declared that the 258 votes cast against prohibition repeal in the New York convention represented an influence that will return a dry up-State delegation to the next Congress.

"That 258 votes represents a sprinkling of dry sections throughout the up-State sections," declared Mr. Black, himself one of the wettest of the House wet bloc, "and I fear that the majority with which the Republicans inserted the wet plank in the State platform is not enough to change things much in Congress."

Mr. Black made these assertions at the White House after he had paid a visit to Walter H. Newton, secretary to the President. He took occasion to cast a few gibes at "Hoover prosperity" and at the "hopeless dry stand" of the administration.

As for Mr. Tuttle, Mr. Black stated his belief that he was probably "the fittest man" the New York Republicans could select and predicted that if he came out of the Gubernatorial campaign in anyway "politically whole," he might be attractive to the Republicans as a future Presidential nominee.

M'COOEY REAL FOE, THOMAS DECLARES

Opening Congress Campaign in Brooklyn, He Assails Democratic Leader's Rule.

URGES DRY LAW CHANGE

Voices Plea for State Regulation—Attacks Militarism—Wants War Debts Canceled.

Declaring that his race would be against John H. McCooey, Brooklyn Democratic leader, Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, opened his campaign for Congress in the Sixth District of Brooklyn last night at a rally in Public School 167, Eastern Parkway and Schenectady Avenue.

"Whom am I running against?" he said. "I am running against John McCooey, absolute political monarch of Brooklyn, ex-court clerk, who makes and unmakes Supreme Court judges, Borough Presidents and all other officers down to Aldermen. Mr. McCooey is personally a pleasant gentleman, who has a remarkable record for providing for his family at the city's expense. What he has done for the city is another matter, as the Vause story, the charges against County Judge Martin, the high cost of condemnation and other matters show."

In a speech that dealt mainly with his advocacy of unemployment insurance, "drastic" increases of income and inheritance taxes, disarmament, the cancellation of war debts and reparations, improved labor conditions and public ownership of utilities, Mr. Thomas spent more time than has been his wont on prohibition. He advocated a national referendum on the subject and, as a temporary measure, the modification of the Volstead act.

"I have long believed," he said, "that the Eighteenth Amendment is doing more harm than good and should be repealed in favor of a law giving to States the power, if they so desire, to sell liquor on an adaptation of the Canadian plan."

Voicing a fear for the continuance of world peace under the present conditions of foreign relations, Mr. Thomas suggested that "the world steadily drifts toward another war," and declared that "our own country is doing far less than it ought to avert this unspeakable tragedy."

"I believe the United States should take the lead in progressive naval disarmament far in advance of what was provided in the Treaty of London," he declared. "I believe that no taxpayer's money should be given to high schools and colleges which make military training compulsory, a type of military training which does not even make competent soldiers, but only inculcates the philosophy of militarism and its fear of democracy as well as of peace.

"I believe our country should take the lead in wiping out both the allied debts and German reparations, the existence of which is a profound irritant dangerous to world peace. I am utterly opposed to militarism—that is, to putting the army, the navy or the Marine Corps behind adventuresome American dollars in foreign countries."

There will be a first city-wide rally of the Socialist party in the Town Hall tomorrow at 1 P. M., at which Louis Waldman, candidate for Governor, will speak.

DR. CARROLL WILL STICK.

Reconsiders an Early Decision to Drop Out of Dry Contest.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 26 (AP).—Professor Robert P. Carroll of Syracuse University, who announced early today that he would withdraw as dry independent candidate for Governor, reconsidered tonight and said that he would remain in the race.

His latest announcement followed the statement in Albany by Charles Seaman, field secretary for the Republican Club for Law Enforcement, that Dr. Carroll would be the candidate of the Law Preservation party in the November election. At the same time, Mr. Seaman was quoted as saying that Mrs. Grace Robinson Hale of Canton would be a candidate for Attorney General on the same ticket.

Dr. Carroll's earlier decision to retire from the field was influenced by the withdrawal of the Women's Christian Temperance Union support, indicated by statements made by Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, State president of the organization, at Albany during the Republican Convention, that Dr. Carroll would be asked to make way for a candidate more widely known in politics.

TUTTLE BANNER UNFURLED.

Party's Club Here Raises First, Announcing His Candidacy.

The first political banner announcing the candidacy of Charles H. Tuttle for Governor was unfurled last night at the Twenty-second Assembly District Republican clubhouse at 1,723 Amsterdam Avenue.

The banner was raised by John A. Bolles, the district leader and his coleader Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman. It is 75 feet long and covers the 145th Street side of the clubhouse. Mr. Tuttle has been a member of the organization for nearly twenty years.

SOVIET INDUSTRIES LAG BEHIND PLAN

Pravda Says Executions of Food Damagers Are Only One Group in Series to End Sabotage.

MORE HARD TIMES SEEN

But Russia Is Held to Be in Contrast With Europe by Former's Unity for Government Program.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—The leading editorial today in the newspaper Pravda, official organ of the Communist Party, asserts that the mass execution of the "predatory scoundrels who sabotaged the people's food supply," as the editorial writer calls them, was neither an isolated act of savagery or of depsair nor the beginning of a new "Red terror," but the latest in a series of repressive measures against sabotage that had occurred previously in mines, railroads, fisheries and elsewhere in Soviet industry.

The chief difference was that these cases roused little more than moral indignation among the working masses, whereas the dislocation of food supplies hit every one literally "where they lived," the editorial says.

To your correspondent the most surprising thing is that the punishment was so long delayed. More than a year ago attempts to portray the grave mismanagement in Moscow's food supply were withheld then by the censorship, which allowed a full account of the matter only a few months ago, when Pravda itself declared that from 30 to 40 per cent of Moscow's perishable food had spoiled before reaching the consumer.

With due allowance for ignorance and inefficiency and for the difficulty of organizing State or municipal distribution in a backward country, it is hard to believe there was no sinister intent behind such appalling waste. Anyhow the Soviet public believed there was and clamored for stern justice.

The Pravda editorial shows, however, two things more—one indirectly, between the lines, the other clear for all to read. The first is that despite the remarkable achievements of the last two years, the first two under the five-year plan, progress lately has slowed down and industry, particularly the transport industry, is markedly behind the program—in short, that the burden is heavy upon the back of the Russian nation.

L. M. Kaganovich [a member of the Politburo, or political bureau of the Communist party], one of Joseph Stalin's closest supporters, said frankly at the Communist party convention last July that the coming year would be hard indeed. The next six months will show that Russia has her full share of the hard times which are now afflicting most of the world.

But whereas your correspondent in six weeks of travel through Europe and England found little save lamentation and dismay, the most cursory glimpse at the Soviet press reveals a difference here. Where Europe demands a drastic change of policies, tariffs or rulers, and where each of the countless groups has its own pet panacea, the Soviet is united under a strong will and a ruthless purpose, and the Russian masses are not only hardened to endurance but taught either by Marxist conviction or by what has already been achieved or by all the arts and devices of oratory, the press and propaganda that they will profit later from their present sacrifices.

Finally, Stalin proved last March he was not rigid but supple and that the Kremlin's ear was close to the ground and knew when Communist "hotheads" had pressed too hard and strained near to the danger point.

GERMANS SCORE CZECHS.

Press Urges Reprisal for Demonstrations—Film Protection Asked.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Anti-German demonstrations at Prague have provoked great indignation in official and private circles here. While the Berlin press unanimously approves the attitude of Germany's diplomatic representative at Prague, who launched an informal protest to the Czech Foreign Office, the Nationalist papers urge the government to go a step further and to threaten reprisals if the riots continued.

One paper demands that Foreign Minister Curtius should take the matter up with Foreign Minister Benes at Geneva and should eventually reopen the debate on the protection of minorities. The agrarian newspaper, Deutsche Tageszeitung, which calls the demonstrations a disgrace to Central Europe, says the Czechs, who are themselves a minority among the Czechoslovak population, have once more proved they are unable and unfit to rule the so-called minorities.

Other papers openly preach a boycott of Czechoslovak goods and health resorts. Representatives of the federation of German film industries have called at the Foreign Office and demanded protection for German films in Prague. They pointed out that during 1929 twenty Czechoslovak films—the country's entire production—were shown in Germany without any molestation.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PRAGUE, Sept. 26.—A protest against the Czech Nationalist demonstrations against German sound films, such as have taken place for four nights running at Prague, has been made by Dr. Koch, the German Minister here.

LADY CATHCART TO WED.

Countess, Who Was Once Barred From America, to Marry Baronet, 71

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Vera, Countess of Cathcart, who in 1926 was barred from the United States but later admitted, announced tonight that she would be married to Sir Rowland F. W. Hodge, wealthy shipping baronet, who is 71 years old.

Simultaneously it was revealed that Henry de Gray-Warter, 19-year-old son of Lady Cathcart and her first husband, the late Captain de Gray-Warter, last week married Miss Mabel Bowers Rean, musical comedy star.

Three years after their marriage, the Fifth Earl of Cathcart obtained a divorce from Lady Cathcart, and he cited the Earl of Craven as co-respondent. In 1923 Lady Cathcart and Lord Craven went to South Africa together. Lady Cathcart at that time said she would remain there until the Countess of Craven had obtained a divorce. Lord Craven, however, later became reconciled with his wife.

ITALY PLANNING WAR, BELGIAN COURT TOLD

Head of Geneva Air Commission Testifies at Trial of Youth Who Shot at Prince Humbert.

HINTS OF GERMAN LINK

Other Witnesses and Defense Counsel Insist Fascism Is on Trial—Belgian Neutrality Urged.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Sept. 26 (AP).—The Belgian Senator Louis de Brouckere, president of the Aviation Commission at Geneva, created a sensation today at the trial of the youth Fernando de Rosa, who is accused of the attempted assassination of Crown Prince Humbert of Italy, when he declared himself convinced that the Mussolini Government is preparing for war on both sides of the Albanian border as well as along the Alps.

The sensational declaration by the Belgian Senator featured the closing testimony for the defense in the case of the youthful Italian for his act of last October.

Senator de Brouckere declared on the witness stand that while on an official mission on disarmament he was able, by his personal investigation, to convince himself that the Mussolini Government was acting as he stated.

The German Nationalists, Senator de Brouckere added, would not behave as they are doing if they did not feel themselves supported by the Fascisti.

Witnesses Assail Fascism.

The Senators' opinion came in the course of a hot assault upon Fascism by a group of witnesses of standing in Italian politics and other fields under the former régime. The witnesses were brought forward in an effort to show that the Fascist era had crushed out liberty in Italy and that an action such as de Rosa's was explainable by the effect such alleged repression might have upon a sensitive, impressionable youth.

Before Senator de Brouckere took the stand, Francesco Nitti, former Italian Premier and distinguished anti-Fascist, testified. Signor Nitti, who at times was visibly moved by strong emotion, explained that he met de Rosa in Paris, where most Italian political refugees came to see him.

"He impressed me as an honest moderate, loyal and well-educated young man, and when I read the details of his act of last October I was convinced that his intention was not to kill but was to attract public attention to the deplorable state of affairs in Italy.

"Italy today is deprived of the liberty which is one of the essentials of youth all over the world," the former Premier declared, his voice quavering and scarcely able to restrain his tears. "Everywhere men of different beliefs and shades of opinion are allowed to assemble except in Italy. Deprived of liberty and hearing lots of talk about violence, what shall youth do?"

"My own house was attacked and sacked by the Fascisti, and similar acts are innumerable and frequently accompanied by murders."

"It is the Fascist rule that is being tried," declared de Rosa's counsel, at the end of an impassioned speech.

Prosecutor Demands Neutrality.

M. Cornil, the public prosecutor, told the jury it was being asked by de Rosa's attorneys to decide whether peaceful Belgium should become the battlefield of other people's national quarrels. There can be no doubt, he said, of de Rosa's guilt, as the defendant himself expresses only regret he was unsuccessful in his attempt to kill the Prince. The prosecutor also declared that careful preparation and premeditation had been shown by the evidence.

If Fascism was so much to be despised, he asked the jury, then how would it have been possible for the Pope, the "highest moral authority," to enter into negotiations with Mussolini and to conclude them to the benefit of the Catholic Church?

MORE THRIFT URGED ON BRITISH WORKERS

Graham Says Nation Is Spending $325,000,000 a Year on Drink, Betting and Smoking.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The saving of money having apparently become one of the lost arts in Britain, William Graham, president of the Board of Trade, suggested tonight that instead of drinking, gambling and smoking cigarettes the British working man should build houses, or at least buy something useful. By this means, he said, unemployment would be reduced.

Mr. Graham estimated that the people of Britain, even in the present depression, spend on intoxicants, betting and smoking at least $325,000,000 a year.

"The diversion of a proportion of that expenditure to the demand for better housing, textiles or similar services or commodities," Mr. Graham said, "would make a substantial contribution to employment and would greatly strengthen the people's security and confidence."

That movement, he added, must be associated with the economic recruitment of capital for the re-equipment of Britain's leading industries.

To some it appears a large request to ask Britishers, already taxed $75 a head per annum to give up those indulgences which help them to forget the fact.

At present the government's expenditure is $4,350,000,000 a year—an increase of $3,375,000,000 over 1913. In other words, since 1913 the government's expenditure per head of the population has increased to $75, and, according to some judges, the limit has not yet been reached.

Sir Basil Blackett, one of the directors of the Bank of England, in a speech today, said the world as a whole was not storing up capital as fast as it ought to do.

"New capital," he said, "is not being produced at a sufficient rate to secure for the next generation that advance and well-being which it is entitled to expect from this generation. Only savings can create new capital and now the gospel of savings is out of fashion."

ARMS PARLEY DATE IS LEFT INDEFINITE

League Assembly Votes in Favor of World Conference "as Soon as Possible."

SEVEN URGE 1931 MEETING

But Majority Would Sacrifice Haste to Assurance of Success Later.

GLOOM ENVELOPS EFFORTS

Hitler's Victory in Germany and Franco-Italian Naval Deadlock Add to Discouragement.

By P. J. PHILIP.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 26.—Over all the discussions of ways and means of effecting peace and disarmament which have been going on in the League of Nations committees in the past few days, there has seemed to hang a shadow of very great uncertainty. For those who here are talking of arms reduction, international federation and economic concord are aware that they do not in every case have any real control over those people whom they are supposed to represent.

Two events which have occurred since the Assembly met—the success of Adolf Hitler's party in Germany and the arrival at a deadlock in the Franco-Italian naval conversations—have produced somewhat of the impression men have when they are in the midst of trying to mend a broken levee and hear that a new flood is threatening. This is especially so among the French, the countries of the Little Entente and the Germans themselves.

It would indeed be no exaggeration to describe the general feeling as one of gloom, which is lightened only by the quiet, persistent and courageous efforts of some half a dozen delegates of various nations who keep going on with the task of trying to complete the framework of organized peace and refuse to be stampeded by the outcries of any political parties. Their task is not made easier by the fact that in three major cases the delegates who represent their countries here are almost out of contact with their governments.

Three Face Difficulties.

In Berlin the Cabinet's situation is such that Foreign Minister Curtius is having to act here entirely on his own responsibility. Since Foreign Minister Dino Grandi left and the Fascist internal policies have engrossed the whole attention of Rome, Senator Vittorio Scialoja has been almost without communication from his government. Foreign Minister Briand is well aware that when he returns to Paris next week he will have to face a fierce campaign against his policy with regard to Germany, which is held responsible for the Nationalist recrudescence.

This situation is reflected in much that is happening here. Today British Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, who is leaving tonight for London, paid a visit to both M. Briand and Senator Scialoja to ask quite plainly what the prospects were of the Franco-Italian naval conversations being renewed. Both of them assured him that what had happened was just a temporary suspension and that it was not a break-down.

M. Briand, whose sincerity is never doubted, admitted that whatever the cause of this suspension it was to be found in Paris and Rome and not in Geneva and promised that when he returned next week he would lay before the French Cabinet the urgency of reaching some agreement before the preparatory conference on arms limitation in November. It was with these vague assurances that there was no deadlock, but without any promise of progress or change, that Mr. Henderson left.

Other Sources Less Hopeful.

From other sources all information seems to incline to reveal a change consequent on the German situation which cannot be interpreted as hopeful for the future.

In the discussion of the prospects for the meeting of the disarmament conference there has been evidence that a new hesitation had set in. The British were the first to indicate it on Wednesday. While they remain, as Mr. Henderson declared to the Assembly, eager for a disarmament conference to be held as soon as possible, they are not prepared to put the matter of the date of its being held above the prospects of success. Viscount Cecil of Chelwood emphasized that view in opposition to Count von Bernstorff, who proposed that the Council should be called on to convene a disarmament conference "as early as possible in 1931."

Today Count von Bernstorff's motion rallied the support of three countries, Germany, Austria and Hungary, whose armaments were reduced under the peace treaties, of two pacific countries, Sweden and Holland, and of two others, China and Italy. Norway, Denmark and Switzerland abstained from voting, contenting themselves with putting in the wording of the committee's recommendation for the convening of the arms conference a phrase expressing a desire that it should be held as early as possible.

The speeches made in support of the urgency and otherwise were such as had been delivered many times before. Naotake Sato of Japan declared that if circumstances showed the success of the conference demanded a delay of a few months, then too much importance should not be attached to the date. Marcel Héraud of France took a similar line, modified by the expression of the opinion that a desirable conference should be held as soon as possible.

Italy States Conditions.

General di Bicigliano of Italy repeated the constant Italian theme at London and elsewhere that Italy would participate in the same spirit of cooperation she had always displayed, that is to say, "she will participate with the view to effecting a genuine reduction in arms of all kinds, provided that such reduction is general and that all other powers act in the same manner."

The result of the discussion was regarded as indicating that while the preparatory conference will meet Nov. 3 and will attempt to finish its work in one more session, it is not likely that a general conference will be called for earlier than 1932.

The postponement, too, for another year of the attempt which has been industriously made to bring about harmonization of the covenant of the League with the Kellogg pact was barely prevented in committee this morning by the appointment of a subcommittee to study the question and to report to this Assembly. The whole discussion was drifting toward the idea of postponement, when a vigorous speech by a British delegate, Philip Noel Baker, supported by Belgium and Greece, assured at least further discussion in a smaller committee.

Trackless Trolleys for London Proposed in Transport Study

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Vast changes in English transportation systems will be made if the recommendations in the final report of the Royal Commission on Transport, now being drafted, are carried out. These include pulling up hundreds of miles of street car tracks in London suburban areas where the overhead system is used and the substitution of "trackless trolleys," where at present antiquated tramcars are in operation, in order to aid the ever increasing traffic problems.

The report is expected to be completed by Christmas and will deal also with railway and motortruck competition for hauling freight and probably will recommend the control of long distance trucking. In fact, a general tightening up of all forms of transport is likely to be proposed. The transport commission has devoted two years to the gigantic problems arising from road traffic.

FORTY KNOWN DEAD IN GALE OFF FRANCE

Twenty-eight Widows and Seventy-two Orphans Left in Two Fishing Towns.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—The terrific sudden storm which caused havoc and death among the craft and fishermen of the Brittany Coast for four days after a fleet of 500 smacks left their harbors last Saturday cost forty lives, it was learned today. The men lost have left behind twenty-eight widows and seventy-two orphans.

Minister of Marine Rollin arrived at Lorient today, coming from Concarneau, where he visited and consoled the families of victims of the storm.

At Concarneau twenty-two were lost, whose deaths made eighteen widows and thirty-two orphans, among the widows being four young brides. In the Lorient section eighteen deaths were reported, leaving ten widows and forty orphans.

Battered boats continue to limp into ports with their flags at halfmast, adding to the fears of the kinfolk waiting and praying, and it is feared the toll may continue to mount. Funds are being raised for the relief of the sufferers and the government will undoubtedly aid.

PADEREWSKI, POOR, PLANS FINAL TOUR HERE

Will Sail Oct. 1 From Havre for Series of Seventy Concerts—Has Given Away Fortune.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—En route to America on what it is believed will be his final concert tour of the United States, Ignace Jan Paderewski arrived in Paris today. He will embark at Havre Oct. 1 on the steamship Paris.

The celebrated pianist, now 70 years old, said wistfully, "I am making this tour of America for the reason that I need money. I am a poor man. For the first time I am crossing the Atlantic alone."

Always a friend of poor musicians and at present caring for six, the former Polish premier has given away practically his entire fortune. He is leaving his wife behind in Switzerland because "she will never be able to travel again and is suffering from an incurable disease." While in America on his farewell tour M. Paderewski plans to give seventy concerts.

PARIS PAPER BACKS PACT REVISION MOVE

Says Poincare Has Changed Mind on Austrian Mobilization and Start of War.

ASKS 'REASON AND JUSTICE'

La Volonte Asserts No Treaty Has Ever Been Eternal and Compares Dreyfus Conviction.

By CARLISLE MacDONALD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Political circles are mystified, not to say astonished, by a strong appeal in the newspaper La Volonté for the revision of the war treaties, a notable feature of which is an excerpt from a yet unpublished book by Raymond Poincaré in which the former President of the Republic is quoted as reserving his hitherto fixed opinion regarding Austrian mobilization and the start of the World War. The entirely new and sensational fact in the whole war guilt question, says the newspaper, is the "avowal" M. Poincaré has just made with a loyalty to which homage should be rendered.

In his latest of a series of books upon the war, classed under the general title of "In the Service of France," the wartime chief executive of this country is quoted as making the following statement on page 153:

"'The Austrian mobilization did not therefore, precede the Russian mobilization. In Paris the Minister of Foreign Affairs and his aides believed with great good faith that the Austrian mobilization had preceded the Russian.'"

La Volonté, which is a strong supporter of Premier Tardieu, then comments that, reduced to simple language, the foregoing means the war was due to a simple chronological error in determination of the moment of mobilization by a stenographer or a thoughtless telegraph operator. However that may be, M. Poincaré's avowal means that Article CCXXXI of the Treaty of Versailles no longer holds good, no more than did Dreyfus's condemnation when the Henry forgery was discovered.

"One is therefore entitled to say that not only is revision possible but it is inevitable in the vital interest of all the peoples concerned."

Inquiry at the offices of M. Poincaré's publishers—Plon-Nourret—disclosed the existence of such a book and no one there would deny the accuracy of the paragraph. It was explained, however, that the book would not appear for at least two months and that, contrary to ordinary practice, there would be no press notices. A request for permission to quote from the references to mobilization was refused.

The article in La Volonté was occupied largely with an attempt to show that unless the treaties were revised the next war would be one of gas and destroy whole peoples.

"Whether Europe likes it or not," observes the newspaper, "the problem which now confronts it more and more imperatively is that of revision of the peace treaties. The reason for this is easy to understand. The peace treaties were conceived at a time when peoples were yet drunk with blood, still quivering with hatred and inspired the meanest imperialistic passions to run riot.

"Yet it is neither upon barbarism nor upon hatred that peace can be established, but only upon reason, justice and truth. That shows how urgent is the revision of the treaties.

"And why revise the treaties? No treaty has ever been eternal and all history shows that treaties have been revised, either by force or by right. Force is bankrupt and that failure is the only interesting result achieved by the late war. Right therefore remains. Hence all that remains is to know whether the treaties can be revised legally. The answer undoubtedly is yes.

"In support of a revision there are two great facts—an old one and a new one. The old fact is contained in the illegal character of the treaties imposed by the victors upon the vanquished without allowing the latter to state their case—that is to say, without trying them. It is exactly as it was in the case of Captain Dreyfus, who was sentenced in secret upon evidence of which neither he nor his lawyer were apprised."

La Volonté then proceeds to refer to the new fact—M. Poincaré's assertion about the Austrian mobilization—and adds: "The question confronting the nations no longer is the old one of war or peace, but is now one of war or death. Military technique of the past limited the warring victims to a few hundred thousand dead. Today all is changed. The war of tomorrow will be with gas—a type of war which provides no possibility of victory but which amounts to the total extermination of all the belligerent peoples—non-combatants as well as armies.

"If the multitude only knew that another war would mean the death of the masses, death without the possibility of defense, death by unheard-of tortures, they would not hesitate to demand a final peace which could not be accomplished without revision of the treaties of 1919. But the multitude does not know."

Le Temps, in replying to what may be called the first really outspoken demand for treaty revision which has yet appeared in France, says the article is an attempt to blackmail public opinion by giving an alternative of treaty revision or extinction by a gas war.

"There is nothing surprising in the idea of extinction by a gas war," says Le Temps. "There is nothing surprising in the fact that those on the other side of the Rhine are trying to get rid of the burden of the treaties. But what is amazing is that such unacceptable claims should find an echo in a French newspaper."

King's Horse Wins at Newbury; First Royal Victory of Season

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—King George had his first success of the racing season at Newbury today when Patrick won the United Services Cup by ten lengths from Fireball. The royal victory was greeted by immense cheering on the part of the crowd at the race track.

The horse was ridden by A. Cottrill, whose first victory as an amateur was gained on the King's Bowood at the Bibury Club meeting at Salisbury in 1926. Patrick was also the King's last winner prior to today, having won at the Liverpool November meeting last season.

SITUATION IN EUROPE STIRS FRENCH FEARS

Reascendency of Fascism in Austria Thought Likely if Vaugoin Takes Reins.

HITLER AROUSES CONTINENT

German Nationalist's Outburst Focuses Attention on Need of Defending Europe's Peace.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—The revolutionary statements of Adolf Hitler, the German Fascist leader, before the Supreme Court at Leipzig and the political crisis in Austria following the resignation of Chancellor Johann Schober and his Cabinet have only served to confirm the fears of a large section of French public opinion regarding the present disquieting European situation. If any doubts existed concerning the real purposes of the Hitlerites, it is observed here, the Fascist chief's bellicose remarks must surely dispel them.

The Austrian crisis, it is pointed out, comes at a grave moment for European affairs and may well be the result of the Hitler success in the German elections. Chancellor Schober's régime was looked upon in France as a guarantee of political prudence at home and a reasonable policy abroad. No such assurance, it is believed here, can be assumed in connection with those who appear to be in line of succession.

A Ministry of Dr. Vaugoin, it is feared here, might prove to be ultra-reactionary and strongly inclined to restore to its former position of power to the Austrian Fascist military organization, the Heimwehr, whose leader, the German Major Pabst, was expelled by Chancellor Schober. The Heimwehr under Major Pabst, it is asserted, would accomplish in Austria all that the German Fascists under the Austrian, Hitler, would initiate in Germany, and the first signs of the return of the Pabst influence will provoke in Austria the same dangerous confusion that exists in the Reich today.

Herr Hitler's speech was a keen disappointment to thousands of French liberals who hoped the Fascist chief would come rapidly to realize that the economic prosperity and international relations of his adopted country depended foremost upon the confidence of other nations. His extreme utterances of yesterday, however, have destroyed these hopes and increased the fears for the future.

Herr Hitler's avowed purpose may have been to "awake the soul of Germany," but in the opinion of competent observers in France he is succeeding in awakening the international conscience and in bringing all nations of good-will to a realization of the need for the defense of peace.

Disguised Blessing Seen.

PARIS, Sept. 26 (AP).—Perusal of the full text of Adolf Hitler's testimony in the Fascist officers' trial at Leipzig yesterday has convinced French officialdom that it was not so unfortunate as at first appeared that the Fascist generalissimo should have exposed the entire extremist program.

The extravagance of the Nationalist policy, it is thought here, may incite more extremists to action, but, on the other hand, is likely to frighten even some of Herr Hitler's own followers.

The immediate consequence of Herr Hitler's remarks, according to the French viewpoint, is expected to be the complete isolation of the National Socialists in the Reichstag, with the consequent impossibility of their exercising influence on the government or upon legislation.

The outburst of Herr Hitler, officials believe, showing the German people just how far the Fascists are capable of going, may prove a blessing in disguise.

Hitler Speech Stirs Britain.

LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP).—The chancelleries of Europe are watching Adolf Hitler. The quixotic touch of the Fascist strong man in his witness box oration at Leipzig yesterday has given him the headlines of Britain and the Continent.

Unofficial observers, in the absence of official comment, admit that the German situation is fraught with serious constitutional possibilities. The fabric of post-war Europe is interwoven with treaties that resulted from the World War. It is pointed out, however, that the Nationalist Socialist leader and prophet must yet consolidate his political successes and that he himself admits that two or three more elections must be held before heads begin to "roll in the sand."

END OF WAR IN CHINA SEEN IN FORTNIGHT

But Mukden's Ban on Kuomintang in North Is Not Reassuring to Nanking.

REBELS STILL IN OFFICES

Some Observers Predict Clash Next Year Between Chang and Nanking as Suspicions Grow.

By HALLETT ABEND.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26.—The Nanking Government's official spokesman today declared the military phase of the civil strife in China would be ended in a fortnight, and he reiterated the government's satisfaction in Chang Hsueh-liang's military occupation of Peking and Tientsin.

More doubts as to Manchuria's purposes and sympathies were aroused today, however, by news from Peking that Chang Hsueh-liang had issued strict orders forbidding the reopening of Kuomintang party offices and rigidly banning the resumption of party activities. The orders also flatly deny a request that the Kuomintang be allowed to organize in Manchurian cities, although Manchuria has been flying the Nanking Government flag for the last twenty months.

Peking and Tientsin present anomalous situations, with Shansi [Northern rebel] civilian administrators still holding their offices under Manchurian military protection. Chang Hsueh-liang is expected to summon at Peking Oct. 1 a national rehabilitation conference, this seemingly without reference to the Nanking Government.

The leaders of the Kwangsi faction and Chang Fa-kwei, commander of the "Ironsides," have sent a joint telegram approving peace and expressing their willingness to follow Manchurian leadership in seeking the unification of the nation.

Reds Fire on Two of Our Gunboats.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26 (AP).—Two American gunboats fought their way through barrages of artillery fire laid down by Chinese Reds at different places along the Middle Yangtse River last night and today, silencing the heavy attacks and escaping undamaged.

As in previous cases the American vessels were subjected to fire from shore as they patrolled that section of the river which has been infested with pirates and other marauders for months.

The United States gunboat Guam fought an artillery duel with a battery of Red field guns hidden along the shore 190 miles above Hankow. The Guam opened up with her 3-inch guns amid a shower of Red cannon fire and then brought machine guns into play. The Red attack stopped and the Guam proceeded unscathed, probably due to the poor marksmanship of the attackers.

Proceeding down the river, the United States gunboat Oahu encountered a battery of Red field guns a few miles above Kiukiang. The marauders raked the river with heavy fire. Speeding up her engines and bringing her machine guns into action, the Oahu raced to safety. She peppered the shore line with bullets, silencing the shore battery.

Tientsin Northerners Keep Offices.

TIENTSIN, Sept. 26 (AP).—The vanguard of a second Manchurian Army arrived here today.

Following the example of the telephone and telegraph administrations, which refused to hand them over to the Nanking appointee pending instructions from Mukden, the Northern director of the Flour Tax Bureau, who had previously handed over the bureau to a Nanking representative, resumed control today.

War With Chang Predicted.

NANKING, Sept. 26 (AP).—Nanking Army dispatches tonight announced Government troops were battering Chengchow, rebel base in Honan Province, with the expectation of driving the Northerners beyond the Yellow River and ending within two weeks the rebellion which has wracked China since May.

All reports agreed that Feng Yu-hsiang was preparing to evacuate Honan and enter Southern Shansi and Shensi to rehabilitate his battered forces from months of continual fighting against Nanking's best troops.

But not even Nationalists held that Feng was definitely eliminated from the constantly shifting political stage of China. He continues to be the government's most serious menace and the warmest supporters of Nanking prophesy that within a year or two Feng will stream down upon Honan plains leading a formidable army against any central government attempting to subjugate him. This is believed almost certain because Nationalists do not plan to pursue Feng into his Shansi mountain fastness.

With Chang controlling virtually all China north of the Yellow River, it is apparent that Nationalist suspicions regarding his motives are growing. Independent observers believe the Nanking Government will come to blows next Spring if the Manchurian insists upon ruling North China.

CHINA TO ASK LEAGUE AID.

Will Act to Bring About Abolition of Extraterritoriality Pacts.

The Kuo Min News Agency here reported last night the receipt of a message from Nanking, China, saying the Ministry of Foreign Affairs yesterday cabled the Chinese delegation at the Assembly of the League of Nations instructing the delegates to submit a resolution recommending the revision of the unilateral treaties existing among the members of the League in accordance with Article 19 of the League covenant.

This provision of the covenant, the message said, has never been put into effect, although last year C. C. Wu, Minister to the United States and Chief of the Chinese delegation, presented a resolution which was defeated by the united opposition of France and several other Central European States.

Nanking officials expressed the belief that China would have more success this year, because the United States and Great Britain have already announced their intention of negotiating with China for the gradual abolition of extraterritoriality.

Offer Land to Aid Mexican Jobless.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 26 (AP).—As a means of relieving the unemployment situation the Governors of Vera Cruz and Tabasco have offered State-owned lands for colonization by jobless men. The Federal Government is cooperating by providing the colonizers with domestic animals and farm implements, allowing several years for payment.

system, which in years past has been a highly profitable undertaking, also reveals the effects of the depression. It is now proposed that the company be allowed to retain for its financing the entire proceeds from the transportation tax. The administrative bureaucracy, it is charged, is highly expensive, and this drain on the budget by a system which is antiquated and heavily overstaffed suggests one of the readiest sources for an effective economy.

The mystery with which the Government is conducting its deliberations has given rise to recurring rumors that Germany would shortly declare a reparations moratorium. While this is stoutly denied in government quarters, some newspapers, especially the well-known industrialist organ, the Mining Gazette of Essen, say such a step is highly justified for various reasons.

The Young plan, says the Mining Gazette, demonstrated that it was not feasible in the first year of its operation and the economic conditions on which it was predicated have been completely changed by the world-wide depression. Another reason why Germany is entitled to demand revision, in the opinion of this industrialist organ, is the internal increase of 10 per cent in the value of gold, which has a decided bearing on Germany's reparations payments. The recent slump in reparations bonds suggests further evidence that the Young plan can not be fulfilled.

This newspaper, however, assumes that numerous difficulties will be encountered before revision is undertaken and hints that the United States will oppose revision more strongly than France.

"We have no need to wait for a reparations crisis," says the Mining Gazette. "It is already here and demands categorical action.

HITLER FACES NEW CHARGES.

Prosecutor Considers Treason Action Based on Leipzig Testimony.

BERLIN, Sept. 26 (AP).—Predicted exclusion of Adolf Hitler's Fascist followers from government offices, consideration of treason charges against him and refusal of the conservative press to treat his threats of revolution and treaty scrapping at Leipzig yesterday as other than boastful utterances today characterized the reaction of Germany to its newest political sensation.

Unofficially it was said there would be no place for the National Socialist leader and his newly acquired 107 Reichstag members in the Bruening Cabinet. The presence there of avowed revolutionaries, who proposed to commit acts which would disturb the world's peace, political leaders held, would be injurious to Germany's credit and political prestige.

At the same time it was made known that the Attorney General was inquiring into the possibility of referring charges of high treason against Herr Hitler for his utterances in the trial of the Fascist officers.

Party bias largely governs the provincial press reaction to the Hitler situation. The liberal Koelnische Zeitung warns that never since 1918 has there been a more critical hour for Germany than the present "nor more full of opportunity for a real leader." The newspaper continues: "The danger of a working merger of radicals looms colossal on the horizon."

The reaction among Berlin's afternoon newspapers was along party lines. The democratic Achtuhrblatt lavishes ironic comments on Herr Hitler with a cartoon of him as an executioner leaning proudly on an axe. The cartoon carries the title, "Legal!"

LEIPZIG, Germany, Sept. 26 (AP).—The trial of Lieutenants Richard Scheringer, Hans Ludin and Hans Friedrich Wendt, alleged Fascists, during which Adolf Hitler made his sensational declarations yesterday, proceeded quietly on its way today with the examination of the Reichswehr officers.

Lieutenant Bernd Wintzer of Hanover tetified that Lieutenant Ludin told him the Fascists had learned the lesson of the Kapp and Hitler putsches (revolts) and that another plan of action would be adopted. The witness testified Lieutenant Ludin told him the Fascists hereafter would strike only when they were sure of gaining control of the Reichswehr. The desire, therefore, was to learn what officers were fervid Nationalists.

WEIGHS PLAN TO END YANGTSE RED RAIDS

Our State Department Stirred by Menace of Communists to American Ships.

BANDITS USING LARGE GUNS

New Attacks on Our Gunboats Lead to Suggestions That Powers Act to Terminate the Firing.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Because of fighting which is occurring with disturbing frequency between Chinese Communist armies and American naval vessels on the Yangtse River, the State Department has been forced to give serious consideration to the problem of ridding foreign traffic on that river of this growing menace.

Practically every foreign naval vessel or merchantman which passes Communist bases on the Yangtse is fired upon, frequently with heavy trench mortars, 3-inch field guns or even weapons of larger calibre, and although the casualties on American warships have been slight, it is recognized that the attacks may at any time result in the sinking of one of the lightly armored gunboats with loss of life.

No fewer than fifty attacks have been made on foreign vessels within the last three months, leading to suggestions that all the interested powers might find it advisable to join in some form of forceful action.

Gunboats Again Fired On.

Engagements between the American gunboats Oahu and Guam of the Yangtse River patrol and Chinese Communist troops above Hankow were reported to the State and Navy Departments today. Although many shots were fired, there were no casualties on the gunboats.

The Guam was attacked yesterday morning with rifle fire by Communists at Yaochitou, a small village 183 miles above Hankow. The gunboat replied with 300 rounds from machine guns and what were described as "two perfectly placed 3-inch shells."

The Oahu was the target on Wednesday of ten shells from field pieces in the hands of Communists in the same region. The Oahu returned the fire with nineteen rounds of 3-inch shells, thirteen of which were believed to have taken effect. Soon afterward, when a few miles further down the river, the Oahu was fired at again and replied with seven 3-inch shells.

The situation on the Yangtse is likened by observers here to that prevailing in the Mediterranean before the suppression of the Barbary pirates. Numerous protests have been made by the State Department to the Chinese Government against the attacks on American vessels, but with little result. The Nanking Government apparently is powerless to suppress Communists.

Officials denied today that there was any concrete plan before the State Department for dealing with the Yangtse situation. It also was denied that any proposal for concerted action had been received from any of the other interested powers There unquestionably is a uniform policy among the powers with interests on the river, however, on the question of returning the fire of the Communist forces which attack the foreign vessels.

Show of Force Talked Of.

The prevailing opinion apparently is that the Communists can be effectively cured of their propensity to fire on foreign craft only by a real show of force. In some quarters it is even believed that the practical way of remedying conditions may be for the various interested powers to assemble a fleet of gunboats, proceed up the Yangtse and at the first attack lay down a bombardment which will discourage further attempts at jeopardizing the safety of foreign traffic on the river.

FOOD BEARERS MOBBED, SPANISH POLICE SHOOT

Many Strikers Wounded in Lugo After Attack on Men Carrying Much Needed Rations.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LUGO, Spain, Sept. 26.—Many strikers were wounded here tonight by a police volley fired into a crowd attacking a party of waiters endeavoring to bring badly needed food into this town, which has been in the throes of a general strike for five days.

The food bearers had reached the outlying district of Puente when they were rushed by the strikers. A number of strikers are expected to return to work tomorrow, and the settlement of this dispute, it is believed, will mean the end of labor unrest throughout the province of Galicia.

SANTIAGO DE COMPOSTELA, Spain, Sept. 26 (AP).—Four thousand striking workmen marched to a cemetery this morning behind the coffin of Angel Antelo Solar, who was killed Wednesday in a clash between demonstrating strikers and civil guards.

The crowd that attended the funeral was orderly. All of the police and civil guards were kept in their barracks until the slain striker was buried.

Immediately after the funeral union leaders and employers resumed negotiations for settlement of the labor difficulties. Both sides expected the general strike to end next week, probably Monday.

Foodstuffs have become scarce in Santiago de Compostela because of the tie-up in commerce and industry. The Mayor personally assumed control of the distribution of rations to hungry people.

Reward Offered for Market Faker.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 26 (AP).—The Winnipeg Grain Exchange today offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the identification of the person or persons who, Tuesday, wired spurious messages to principal gain markets in North America and Europe proclaiming financial disaster of the Canadian wheat pool. The messages acted as a bearish influence and sent prices tumbling before they could be denied. A. P. White, president of the Exchange, said detectives had worked without success to learn the identity of the sender.

Barber Says Lloyd George Changed Aspect With Brush

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The mystery of the latest political sensation in London, David Lloyd George's haircut, was revealed by the barber who attended the British statesman as no mystery at all.

The Liberal leader had only his usual hair-trimming, the barber explained, but the reason why he appeared in photographs to have lost most of his familiar flowing white hair was simply that he had brushed his hair differently before attending the meeting at which he was photographed.

The barber said Lloyd George usually wore his hair brushed back behind his left ear but down over his right ear. For some reason on this occasion he brushed the hair on the right side behind his right ear too. This gave the effect which caused his adherents such a shock.

DENY GERMAN SPIES CAUSED JERSEY FIRE

SAY RUSSIA WAS WARNED

Letters of Worker at Whose Machine the Blaze Started to Czar's Envoy Are Read Into Records.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 26.—German counsel spent the entire day today attempting to convince the Mixed Claims Commission that the Kingsland (N. J.) munitions disaster in January, 1917, was an accident, due to negligence and not to the activities of German agents. For five hours they hammered away at the American contention that Theodore Wozniak, an Austrian at whose bench in the Kingsland factory the blaze began, was in German pay and fled to Mexico after the explosion to collect his money.

That something was "rotten" in the great Kingsland plant, where munitions for Czarist Russia were being assembled, was a warning which Wozniak himself sent to the Russian Ambassador, M. Bakhmetieff, three weeks before the disaster. In two letters read today Wozniak warned there was "something wrong" at Kingsland, that the shells were of poor quality and inspection was lax.

The letters were forwarded to the Russian supply committee without action being taken, but two weeks later when the fire started at Wozniak's bench suspicions instantly were focused on him.

Course Declared Honest.

The Germans contended today that Wozniak wrote those letters as an earnest, honest man and could not possibly have intended them to throw prosecutors off the scent.

"If Wozniak really was planning to commit a crime," said Dr. Karl Von Lewinski, one of the German counselors, "would he have deliberately drawn the attention of the Russian Ambassador and supply committee to his own person?"

Citing accounts of witnesses of the explosion, the Germans insisted today it started by sparks from Wozniak's machine which ignited a wire hanging from the ceiling and which, in turn, fell on the gasoline-soaked work tables.

Hardly a day passed at Kingsland without some machine throwing sparks, according to the affidavit of a millwright in the Kingsland plant. The machines frequently grew hot from friction, he testified, and once Wozniak's own machine became so overheated the repair man could not touch it.

The Germans asserted that further evidence to the same effect had been in the possession of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, the chief claimant, ever since the explosion, but it never had been filed. The Germans also accused the claimant companies of "hampering the taking of testimony" last Summer when Wozniak was attempting to tell his story.

Author Tells of Submarines.

Another echo of Germany's submarine campaign was heard today in an affidavit by A. E. W. Mason, the British fiction writer, who in 1917 was a British secret service official in Mexico. Mr. Mason said his government learned in 1917 that it was Germany's intention to establish a submarine base in the Caribbean and that President Carranza of Mexico was not unfriendly to such a proposal. Late in 1918, therefore, the British intensified their intelligence work in Mexico City in the belief that the Mexican capital was a hotbed of German agents.

An American charge that there was treachery in the Czar's Consulate in New York, and that Vice Consul Florinsky was a German agent, was denied today by Dr. von Lewinski.

"All we have been able to discover is that Florinsky had inclinations toward a certain German lady, but that does not prove anything except, perhaps, that love is international. Certainly it is clear Florinsky was not a German agent and did not cause the employment of any one at Kingsland as an incendiary."

Dr. von Lewinski had not concluded the German defense when the session recessed until tomorrow.

LONE SAILOR SHIPWRECKED.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Sept. 26.—The plans of Dr. Francisco Franceschi Caballero to return to Porto Rico from Cadiz, Spain, as a lone mariner on the small sailboat Mary were wrecked when the boat went aground on the Anguilla Islands in the British West Indies. Dr. Franceschi is now reported aboard the French steamer Antilles, which is due here tomorrow.

Dr. Franceschi sailed from Cadiz July 27 alone after he had been acquitted of the charge of murdering Angel Carbo, a sailor, with whom he sailed from Porto Rico more than a year ago aboard the Mary. The first direct word from Dr. Franceschi reached here today from St. Kitts, where he had gone following the shipwreck. The message said he had been slightly injured and intimated the Mary was a complete loss.

ISMET PASHA BACK AS TURKISH PREMIER

New Ministers of Economy and Justice Are Expected in List to Be Presented Today.

FETHI BEY IN OPPOSITION

People's Party to End Rule of Dictators—Liberals Charge Coercion in Municipal Poll.

ISTANBUL, Sept. 26 (AP).—Ismet Pasha, who resigned last night as Premier of Turkey, today resumed that office on his reappointment by President Mustapha Kemal.

Ismet Pasha's return to the Premiership was considered to presage several Cabinet changes, the most important being in the Ministries of Justice and Economy. Tonight's survey of the situation indicated that Foreign Minister Tewfik Rushdi Bey and the Ministers of Finance, the Interior and Defense would retain their portfolios.

Ismet Pasha resigned on the very day the Turkish Parliament became, for the first time, a two-party body with Fethi Bey, leader of the Liberals, opening an attack upon him at the very outset. Ismet Pasha will go into the new Cabinet with more strength than ever and will present his new Cabinet list to Parliament tomorrow afternoon.

President Kemal went wearily to bed this morning after an all-night discussion with Ismet Pasha and the Opposition leader, Fethi Bey, concerning the formation of the new Cabinet. Ismet Pasha told the President he was so weary after seven years of battling that he was quite ready to take a vacation.

The Ministerial crisis may be traced back to the President's recall of Fethi Bey from Paris. The latter gave up the Paris Embassy post to form an Opposition, either to overthrow Ismet Pasha or to give a controllable vent to the widespread discontent regarding the economic situation and the dictatorial sway of the People's party.

Whatever were President Kemal's motives, the Smyrna riots over Fethi Bey's arrival gave the government a shock, for the President had not wished the two-party innovation to provide an occasion for the public to run wild. Political observers believe that if the Smyrna rocket had not gone off President Kemal might have permitted the fall of Ismet Pasha.

That the People's party is winning the municipal elections throughout Anatolia is conceded, although the Liberals charge that voters have been coerced and say that in spite of the election returns they know a majority favors the Liberal program of a free press, tax reduction, stricter laws against crime and corruption, and the raising of a foreign loan.

URGE LIBERAL RULES TO AID AIR INDUSTRY

Plane Makers Seek Less Stringent Regulations on Instruction and Manufacture.

YOUNG DEMANDS SAFETY

He Tells Delegates at Washington That Department Insists on Airworthiness.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Meeting in annual joint conference with the aeronautics branch, Department of Commerce, the aircraft manufacturing members of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce today presented to the department recommendations for the simplification of regulation policies as a means of further accelating the growth of the industry.

The requests were presented by Ralph S. Damon, chairman of the airplane manufacturers' section of the chamber, the membership of which represents nearly 97 per cent of the total production. Assisting Mr. Damon in his presentation were Colonel V. E. Clark and J. Don Alexander.

The recommendations, it was stated, reflected the united views of some sixty-seven different corporations engaged in building aircraft.

It was requested that a conference be arranged with all field inspectors of the department, "so that there might be a mutual exchange of ideas and a more complete understanding of the common problems."

More Latitude Asked in Changes.

In an effort "to expand the general use of aircraft by private owners," it was recommended that any transport pilot be permitted to give dual-control instruction to a student without requiring the latter to obtain a student permit or pass any physical examination or test.

The department's proposal to conduct engineering inspection and flight tests only at four designated stations, instead of at each manufacturer's plant was protested and the department was requested to postpone application of the plan pending further investigation.

The Aeronautical Chamber reviewed the experience of Great Britain in setting up a list of "approved manufacturers," and suggested "that responsible manufacturers under approved type certificates be given more latitude in the making of minor changes, under the responsibility of their own engineering departments, without being continually obliged to apply for the department's approval before such changes can be effective."

It was also recommended that the department place airplanes having a gross weight of less than 1,000 pounds in a special category, so that the manufacturers producing this type of craft may be further assisted.

Young Tells of Concession.

Major Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, in welcoming the delegates said that despite the severe blow given the industry last Fall manufacturers were now gradually getting back on their feet.

"But in the intervening period between the depression which began last Fall and the present," he said, "the industry has been fought with difficulties, which have called for the utmost cooperation between the manufacturers, owners and operators and the Department of Commerce in the matter of regulations, airways developments and other facilities which would aid and promote the industry.

"Notwithstanding these trying conditions, we have found the entire industry in the same cooperative attitude that it always had displayed and the department in turn has made every concession possible in an effort to be helpful in the matter of approvals and licenses.

"It is our thought in the main that the proposed changes in the air commerce regulations which have been placed before you for consideration are constructive, and that in many respects they provide a more liberal policy.

Airworthiness Is Required.

"However, the present situation in the aeronautic industry has not minimized in any way the necessity for airworthy aircraft, and the same obligation still rests upon the Department of Commerce; that is that aircraft approved for license are known by the department to meet the minimum requirements of airworthiness.

"I am certain that you gentlemen of the industry recognize these facts; that your attitude is entirely constructive and helpful, and that we have a common objective, the further advancement of civil aeronautics. I am sure that this conference will follow the precedent established by previous conferences similar in character and result in mutual benefit to all concerned."

The New York companies represented in the conference were:

Aeromarine Klemm Corporation, New York City.
American Aeronautical Corporation, New York City.
Bird Aircraft, Inc., Glendale.
Consolidated Aircraft Corporation, Buffalo.
Cunningham-Hall Aircraft Corporation, Rochester.
Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company, Garden City.

AIRDROME AT ENGLISH INN.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—A famous coaching inn since the seventeenth century, Haycock Hotel at Wansford is the first hotel in England to provide an airdrome for its guests. Fuel, oil and even airplane engine spare parts are kept in stock for the visitor who "drops in."

The hotel is situated within easy reach of three famous hunts, including Melton Mowbray, and of fishing, golf and boating places for aerial week-enders. It is a few miles west of Peterborough and within an hour by air from London, Liverpool or Hull. It has been suggested the inn ought to be dechristened "Flying Inn," after G. K. Chesterton's novel.

SUBURBS PROTEST CUT IN RAILROAD SERVICE

Demand Return to 20-Minute Non-Rush Schedule on New York, Westchester & Boston.

While some representatives of Westchester communities expressed partial satisfaction with the compromise schedule of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad at the joint hearing of the Public Service and Transit Commissions at 120 Broadway yesterday, most of the opponents to the recent reduction in train service continued to demand a return to the twenty-minute headway in non-rush hours.

The schedule in effect July 28, protested by commuters, extended the interval between trains in non-rush hours from twenty to forty minutes. The compromise schedule, instituted in an effort to satisfy the communities, provided a thirty-minute headway in non-rush hours.

W. M. Messersmith, representing the Mamaroneck Town Board, told the commissioners that his community was not ready to admit the adequacy of the compromise schedule.

Arthur H. Ellis, Corporation Counsel of Mount Vernon, while voicing disapproval of the schedule so far as it affects residents of the southern part of his town, said the remainder or the community was generally satisfied.

George Donnelly, representing the Bronx Chamber of Commerce, insisted upon a return to the twenty-minute headway. He complained that East Bronx residents ought at least to have the schedule they had had since the railroad started operation in 1912, in view of the investments they had made in new housing.

Transit Commissioner Leon G. Godley and Chairman Milo R. Maltbie of the Public Service Commission explained that the legal question as to whether the company was complying with its franchise and whether the commission had power to make the railroad comply, if it was not complying, was involved in the case as well as the question as to whether the thirty-minute compromise schedule was adequate under existing conditions.

Mr. Godley said it was useless for the commissions to make a decision when it might be upset by court ruling. H. L. Filer, counsel for the railroad, told the commission that Joseph A. Devery, assistant corporation counsel, was delaying court action pending certain data that was to be provided on agreements between the road and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, which took over the Westchester & Boston on July 1. The hearing was adjourned to Oct. 10.

NOONE MADE NOMINEE FOR TWO POSITIONS

New Hampshire Democrat, Named for Senator, Wins in Recount for Governor.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 26 (AP).—Completion of the recount of votes cast in the recent primary today definitely gave Albert Wellington Noone, 84-year-old Peterboro manufacturer, the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination over Frederick E. Small of Rochester and thus created a political situation unparalleled in this State. He is also his party's United States Senatorial nominee.

E. D. Fuller, Secretary of State, made public the result, and in so doing reversed his own earlier ruling, which made Mr. Small the victor.

A Manchester ward was the last to be counted and, it was understood, played an important part in eliminating Mr. Small, former Mayor of his city.

Mr. Noone is a wet and is wealthy. He has long been a picturesque figure in State politics and has been his party's candidate for Governor several times.

Although Mr. Noone was never in doubt about the Senatorial nomination, it was an open secret that the Gubernatorial choice was more highly regarded by him than the chance for national office and he expressed keen disappointment when Mr. Small apparently received the nomination by a margin of about 300 votes.

Fuller's announcement followed receipt of amended returns from Ward 8, Manchester. The new returns caused Mr. Small a net loss of 120 votes and Mr. Noone a gain of 259. The complete State totals for both, as a consequence of the amended returns, gave Mr. Noone 4,844 and Mr. Small 4,685, or a majority of 159 for the former. In the first returns Mr. Small was given a majority of 202.

ULSTER WELCOMES DAWES.

Our Envoy Is Greeted in Belfast—Calls on the Prime Minister.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BELFAST, Sept. 26.—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes was welcomed on behalf of the Ulster Government on his arrival here today by H. M. Pollock, Minister of Finance. General Dawes was the guest of officers of the First Battalion of the Royal Inniskilling Fusileers at the Palace Barracks at Holywood, where he witnessed a ceremonial parade and inspection of the battalion by Leut. Gen. Sir Travers Clarke.

Addressing the battalion, General Dawes said the American people had profound respect for Ulster men, for the forbears of thirteen Presidents of the United States had lived in Ulster. He inspected the shipbuilding works of Hartand & Wolff in the afternoon and later called on the Prime Minister, Viscount Craigavon, at Stormont Castle.

Tomorrow he will receive a civic welcome at the City Hall, after which he will leave Belfast to spend the week-end with the Duke of Abercorn, Governor of Northern Ireland, and the Duchess of Abercorn.

YUGOSLAV STRIKES ITALIAN.

Diplomatic Consequences Feared From Trouble Over Fascist's Speech.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BELGRADE, Sept. 26.—An incident which it is feared may have diplomatic consequences occurred last night, a Fascist Senator, Antonio Capponi, being struck by a Yugoslav.

Senator Capponi, a resident of the Yugoslav Dalmatian port of Spalato, recently in a speech at the Italian Dalmatian port of Zara asserted that Italy would soon take the entire Dalmatian coast from Yugoslavia.

On his return to Spalato and the reproduction of his speech in the local newspapers, the citizens of Spalato protested against Senator Capponi, after expressing such sentiments, being permitted to remain in Spalato. Finally, a Yugoslav, Phillip Majetich, after demanding from Senator Capponi an explation of his speech, came to blows with him.

It is expected that Italy, despite the provocation of Senator Capponi's speech, will make a diplomatic protest against the striking of the Fascist Senator.

RED EDITOR ATTACKS FISH INQUIRY METHOD

Olgin, as Congress Hearing Resumes, Charges Police Tactics and Evades Queries.

HIS ALLEGIANCE ASSAILED

But He Denies False Oath to Get Citizenship—Admits Enlistment Under Red Flag.

FILM DIRECTOR SCORED

Hollywood Man Says Eisenstein Will Make Pictures "Glorifying Mass Action" of Workers.

Moissaye Olgin, editor of the Freiheit, Yiddish Communist daily, and an avowed Communist propagandist, accused yesterday the Hamilton Fish Congressional committee investigating communism of "police court methods" in its inquiry, which was resumed at the Department of Justice's offices, 370 Lexington Avenue.

Olgin, with Doctor of Philosophy degrees from Heidelberg and Columbia Universities, and author of "The Soul of the Russian Revolution," spread upon the records of the committee a voluminous explanation of the philosophy of communism, but parried questions designed to prove that he stood for the violent overthrow of the American Government.

"Ah, but that is a propaganda question," was his answer when the questioning by Representative Carl G. Bachmann of West Virginia sought to expose him as having obtained his citizenship in 1920 by swearing falsely that he would be loyal to the United States when his loyalty really was given to Soviet Russia. Olgin finally admitted that he was enlisted under "the Red flag" to "fight capitalism," but refused to say that he would displace the American flag by the Red flag if he and his associates were successful in their attempt to overthrow "the capitalistic American Government."

Tells of $1,100,000 Strike Fund.

Ellis Searles, editor of The United Mine Workers Journal, told the committee of the attempts of Communists to seize the union and declared that a representative of the union, who was placed in the Department of Justice's offices for six weeks, had discovered that the Reds, under instructions from Lenin, had had a fund of $1,100,000 for strike promotion purposes in this country.

Major Frank Pease, head of the Hollywood Technical Directors League, "warned" the committee that the importation of Serge Eisenstein, Soviet Russia's foremost film director, to this country was "comparable to importing Trotsky," as Eisenstein's intention was to make pictures glorifying mass action by workmen. He admitted that Eisenstein had made no pictures as yet and that his first picture for Paramount would be Dreiser's "American Tragedy," but asserted that since the director was a Communist he could not be anything but a propagandist. After all that America had done for Jesse Lasky, the witness said, he thought it was a pity that Paramount should engage Eisenstein. Mr. Fish indicated that the committee would ask Mr. Lasky to testify when it examined witnesses on the Pacific Coast.

Olgin, who declined to swear that he would tell the truth, explained he was an atheist and was allowed to affirm. After saying that he was a Socialist when he came here in 1914 and became a Communist in 1921, a year after he had been naturalized, the witness started to read a statement which began with a declaration that 8,000,000 men were out of work in this country. Representative John E. Nelson of Maine prevented Olgin from expressing his "demagogic beliefs."

Would Abolish Marriage.

The witness then was questioned on his beliefs. He said he subscribed to the Communist Manifesto, believed in the abolition of private property and of inheritance of property. He said he did not believe in the abolition of the family, but in the abolition of marriage "as practiced in capitalistic countries," and favored the marriage system of Soviet Russia.

"Isn't thirty wives in ten years virtually abolishing marriage?" asked Mr. Nelson.

"You are making propaganda," declared Olgin. "Russia has a more moral marriage system than capitalistic countries. It places the union of the sexes on a healthy, sound and beautiful basis, on consent of mutual love between free people."

Encouraged to state his teachings when he admitted that he was a "lecturer and propagandist," Olgin said he taught that workers "must organize into industrial union to fight their exploiters, the capitalists who created the system where 8,000,000 people are unemployed."

"Do you teach the overthrow of the capitalist system by force?" he was asked.

"That is not a scientific question," replied Olgin. Whenever the questions seemed too personal and sought to reveal his opinions before he attained citizenship Olgin replied in the same way or varied the answer glibly with "that is a propaganda question."

The witness refused to say whether he gave his allegiance to the American flag, and after considerable heckling admitted "proudly" that he was "enlisted under the red flag," whose value, he said, he had recognized even prior to becoming a Communist. He praised the red flag as one under which Russian workers had attained their freedom.

Impatient at Flag Queries.

Olgin's mild demeanor was changed to one of impatience when Mr. Bachmann insisted on knowing to which flag he owed his allegiance.

"I do not like that phrase owe allegiance," replied Olgin plaintively. "It is not sociological. I will say that wherever the workers marched toward freedom in the last thirteen years they did it under the red flag."

"Do you prefer the red flag to the American flag?"

"You ask that not as an investigator but as a propagandist," was the retort.

Olgin charged the committee with using "force and violence," and said it had not acted as a parliamentary committee in inviting "every enemy of the working class" to testify. This was denied by Chairman Fish, who said that every effort had been made to get Communist spokesmen to give their viewpoint.

"What would a workers' government do with an alien who did not believe in them?" asked Mr. Bachmann.

"In politics we do not deal in ifs," was the tart rejoinder.

Chairman Fish refused to permit Olgin to read a statement before the committee because "every question we asked you which you refused to answer you called a propaganda question."

Detective C. F. Kelly of the radical squad placed in the record a photostatic copy of a check for $5,250, made out by the Friends of the Soviet Union and signed by Ludwig Landy and Edwin Rudquist, payable to Selskosoyus, the agricultural buying section of the Soviet Government. According to a letter from Chief of Police Forbes of Seattle to Chief Inspector John J. O'Brien of this city, a man in Seattle who said he was agent of The Daily Worker, New York Communist daily, had carried the check. Detective Kelly ascertained that the check was genuine. It was not disclosed how an agent of The Daily Worker obtained a certified check for $5,250, the money being part of the "tractor and truck fund" of the Friends of Soviet Russia.

Detective Kelly reported that the Friends of Soviet Russia was the American section of an organization known as VOKS, which is part of the Comintern.

The committee will go into the investigation of the sale of wheat short by agents of the Russian Government when it resumes its hearings at 10 A. M. today.

ASKS TARIFF WAIVER FOR ARGENTINE CORN

TREATY FAVORS HINTED

Reciprocity Negotiations Forecast in Plea for Free Entry of Up to 39,350,000 Bushels.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 26.—The Minister of Agriculture in the Provisional Government has asked the Foreign Office to request Washington to waive the customs duties on corn to permit free entry of between 500,000 and 1,000,000 metric tons of Argentine corn.

Argentina handles corn in quintals of 100 kilograms instead of bushels and her export figures are in tons. Five hundred thousand metric tons, which is the minimum which it is hoped the United States will accept duty free, is the equivalent of 19,675,000 bushels. A million tons is the equivalent of 39,350,000 bushels.

The Minister of Agriculture has sent a note to the Argentine Ministry of Foreign Affairs asking it to make a formal request through diplomatic channels. The note contains detailed arguments in favor of temporary removal of the duties under a clause which, it is understood, permits the President of the United States to suspend duties. It asserts that 95 per cent of the corn produced in the United States is fed to animals on the farms where it is produced, that the quantity Argentina wishes to ship to the United States as a solution of its cereal crisis represents only from 1 to 2 per cent of the total United States crop and only 20 to 40 per cent of the amount consumed by industry.

The note of the Minister of Agriculture expresses the hope that, in view of the friendly relations which Argentina maintains with the United States, and in view of the unusual situation facing Argentine farmers, the United States will permit the free entry of a minimum quantity of 500,000 metric tons, thus giving evidence of its friendship and good-will and preparing the way for treaties of reciprocity which, the note says, are to be negotiated with the United States Government.

The Minister of Agriculture addressed another note to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, severely criticizing private reports circulating in foreign grain markets regarding crop prospects in areas under cultivation and the size of exportable surpluses still on hand, and asking the Minister to have diplomatic agents and consuls publish a statement that these private reports lack a reliable foundation and are incorrect.

It should be noted, however, that the inefficiency of Argentina's statistical organization is directly responsible for this situation. The official statistics of cereal shipments are published in a monthly bulletin which appears from eight to ten months late, when its contents have no value. Since the international markets require prompt statistics, they are forced to rely on private agencies when information is not forthcoming from official sources.

When Tomás Le Breton, former Ambassador in Washington, was Minister of Agriculture he brought an expert from the United States Department of Agriculture to organize a Rural Statistical Bureau. Statistics were then published promptly and reliably, but as soon as the American departed the bureau began falling further and further behind, until grain dealers no longer look to it for information.

PREDICTS RAIL BUYING FOR SOVIET LINES HERE

Ralph Budd, Calling at White House, Thinks Russians Will Adopt American Methods.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railroad, predicted, while here today to call on President Hoover, that the Soviet Government will buy large supplies of railway materials from the United States if it goes through with the transportation expansion now in prospect.

Mr. Budd went to Russia at the request of Moscow to advise with officials on a railway program. He said that two plans were now before the Soviets, one for expansion along European principles and the other on lines developed by American engineers.

Traffic requirements, the topography of the country and climatic conditions were so comparable with the territory of his own lines in the West, Mr. Budd said, that he had recommended the American system to Russia.

Mr. Budd declined to divulge what he discussed with President Hoover.

"I went strictly on an engineering mission," he said, "and I reported to the Russian Government on the study I made. And I am certain that the adoption of the plan I submitted will mean the sale of large quantities of railway supplies by interests in this country to Russia."

City Places 244 More In Jobs.

The City Free Employment Agency, 54 Lafayette Street, placed 244 men and women in jobs yesterday. Of this number, 193 were men and 51 women. Most of the men placed were common laborers, only forty-three being skilled or semi-skilled. The women placed included 25 factory workers, 14 houseworkers, 6 office workers and 5 saleswomen.

ARGENTINE TROOPS BEING DEMOBILIZED

Forces Moved to Buenos Aires for Revolution Begin to Return to Barracks.

CONFIDENT SPIRIT PREVAILS

American Bank Sees Overoptimism as Chief Danger and Foreign Capital and Credit as Needs.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 26.—The provisional government today began the deconcentration of the troops which were brought to the Federal capital for the revolution. Six bombing planes which came from the army air base at Parana flew over the city dropping revolutionary propaganda. Troops marching on the capital have returned to their bases.

The Sixth Infantry Regiment is returning to Mercedes next Monday, thus retiring the military guard from the Capitol building. Other units are returning to their barracks at Camp de Mayo.

The War College resumed classes yesterday. The First and Second Infantry are alternating in reduced guard duty at the Government House, Customs House and a few other government buildings. They are to be removed soon.

Lieut. Col. Suloaga, aviation attaché at the Washington embassy, has cabled to the Minister of War that he will sail from New York Oct. 10 to assume his new post as Director General of Aviation here.

All the acts of the Uriburu Government have inspired confidence, and within a few days the atmosphere here has changed from deep pessimism to strong optimism, says the monthly letter of the Buenos Aires branch of the First National Bank of Boston, which for six months before the revolution described the Argentine situation as depressed, with no improvement in sight. In fact, this letter says the one note of warning to be sounded is against an excess of optimism, since the new government has a tremendous task to perform which will require every one's patient and patriotic cooperation.

"With a good harvest in December, Argentina should face a greatly improved situation in 1931, but a situation in which foreign credit and foreign confidence will be more needed at first than foreign merchandise," the bank's letter says.

"Investigations by the provisional government have revealed not only a marked drop in customs duties and taxes collected but a large increase in expenditures by the previous administration. The feeling is general that there will be a great improvement in the handling of fiscal matters from now on.

"The revolution of Sept. 6 was no barrack room mutiny, no military uprising, but a spontaneous movement by the nation itself. The revolution probably was unique in history for the rapidity of its accomplishment, the breadth of its success, the good judgment and cooperation of its leaders and excellent behavior of the great body of citizens which made it possible."

VASQUEZ RETURNS HOME.

Ex-President of Santo Domingo Goes Back From Porto Rico by Plane.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Sept. 26.—After having lived here in retirement since the last presidential elections in Santo Domingo, former President Horacio Vasquez returned to his home today with his wife by airplane. Frederico Velazquez, who ran against General Trujillo, remains here with other former officials of the Vasquez Government.

Señor Vasquez announced his permanent retirement from public life following the overthrow of his government last February by a revolutionary movement headed by Rafael Ostrella Urena, present Vice-President of Santo Domingo. Señor Vasquez said he wanted to return to his country home and live quietly.

CHICAGO PIT BARS SOVIET SHORT SALES

stood, however, that the members represented to the officials the serious possibilities of lowering confidence in established marketing facilities.

Trading in the wheat pit while the board of directors was considering its resolution was marked by lack of confidence on the part of buyers and the close found prices lower than at the end of any other day since the downward movement started this month. September closed at 76⅝ cents; December at 80¾ to 80½ and 80⅝; March at 84¼, and May at 86¾ to 86⅝.

Foreign markets were depressed in about the same degree as Chicago. At Winnipeg, the decline in futures was from 2½ to 2¾ cents. Bear traders were reported active. A report from Genoa that the Soviet Government had canceled sailings of ships that were to take grain to European ports apparently had no effect in stimulating the markets.

Hyde Is Told of Action Taken.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Action by the Chicago Board of Trade to block "unduly short selling as distinguished from hedging" was confirmed today in a telegram to Secretary Hyde from John A. Bunnell, president of the board.

"The directors of the Chicago Board of Trade," the telegram said, in part, "have instructed the board's business conduct committee to take vigorous methods to stop bear raids and manipulations, and advised the committee that unduly short selling, as distinguished from hedging, may be regarded as evidence of improper selling."

The Secretary also was informed of the resolution adopted by the committee that short selling by foreign governments was objectionable and must end immediately.

"I am glad to see that the Chicago Board of Trade is making an effort to protect the market of the American farmer," Secretary Hyde said.

Mr. Bunnell's telegram was regarded with some surprise by those who have been following the repercussions from the charges made by Secretary Hyde. Silas H. Strawn, counsel for the Board of Trade, and Mr. Hyde disagreed as to the effect the short selling in the Chicago market by a Soviet agency could have had on wheat prices. Mr. Strawn declared that 7,500,000 bushels, the amount mentioned by Mr. Hyde, could not figure in the depression. The Secretary, however, stated that it was not so much the amount actually sold short that counted as the fact that a government was supporting the selling and the bear psychology resulting from such knowledge.

While Mr. Hyde has held that there is such a thing as a legitimate hedge, he pointed out yesterday that he had read in a London dispatch to THE NEW YORK TIMES that a deal such as Russia had made on the Chicago Exchange would have been impossible on the Liverpool market.

In this connection Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the Grain Futures Administration, stated today that such a transaction would be impossible, due to the lesser volume of trade carried on at Liverpool. While at Chicago a sale of 7,000,000 bushels of wheat might not be felt until near the close of the market, at Liverpool its influence would be felt almost immediately. The situation at Chicago, Dr. Duvel said, was due to the rapid turnover of offerings and the great amount of speculation. In Liverpool, on the other hand, the turnover is not so great nor so rapid and there is not nearly so much speculation.

A short sale in the Liverpool market, he added, would force prices downward immediately, but the speculator, in buying back to realize a profit, would find prices rising in proportion to his purchase just as fast as they declined. This condition of rapid adjustment to supply, Dr. Duvel said, would prevent a speculator from realizing any profit on such a deal, whereas in Chicago when the market declines it does not return so quickly, and the speculator can buy back his short sale at the low level and get out with his profit.

The fact that all contracts must be registered at Liverpool, Dr. Duvel said, likewise was a potent influence in discouraging speculation. Another factor, he added, was the fact that Liverpool is primarily interested in a merchandising profit and not in a speculative one.

EGGS FROM RUSSIA GLUT FRENCH MARKET

Cheron Sees Menace to Public Health—Genoa Hears Russia Has Cut Grain Sailings.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—The menace of Soviet dumping has again been brought to the attention of the French public through the disclosure made by Senator Henri Chéron, former Minister of Finance, who declared yesterday that millions of Soviet eggs had been brought into France to the detriment of the Normandy farmers.

"The Paris market has been swamped with these Soviet eggs, which are not only of poor quality but are also a menace to the public health," said M. Chéron.

Great Britain, Germany and Belgium, he added, decreed that imported eggs should be marked plainly with the name of the country of origin. He asked the French Government by law to require each Soviet egg to be stamped on entering the country in order to prevent this cheap product from being re-exported as genuine French fresh eggs.

GENOA, Sept. 26 (AP).—It was reported here on the Bourse today that the Soviet Government had canceled the sailing of a number of Italian ships taken over for the transport of grain from the Black Sea to English and American ports.

It is believed here that the Soviet Government has leased more than 600,000 tons of shipping, much of it from Italy. Genoa alone has sent eleven ships to Black Sea ports.

URGES WHEAT SALES CURB.

Representative Dickinson for Duty on Short-Sales by Foreigners.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 26 (AP).—Representative I. J. Dickinson, Republican candidate for Senator from Iowa, today said that he would introduce a bill in the next session of Congress to extend the grain tariff to all grain hedged or sold for a short account by foreign dealers on American markets.

"Secretary Hyde's investigation into the operations of Russia on the Chicago Board of Trade, if carried through successfully, may bring out some facts that will startle the people of the United States," he said.

"We must stop any foreign government from short selling our farmers. They raise their grain with underpaid peon and peasant labor on land worth 50 cents an acre, and because of our unfair, archaic and capital-controlled marketing system are permitted to dump their cheap products on the American market through a strange system of hedging or short selling."

Mr. Dickinson said that under his proposed bill, "if Russia or any other country sells short any future option on wheat, immediately the 42-cent tariff on the amount sold becomes effective, whether it be 1,000,000 or 100,000,000 bushels."

He added that the 25-cent tariff on corn and the rates on other grains would apply in the same way.

BRITAIN BUYS LESS WHEAT.

Decrease Accounts Largely for Slump in Imports From Argentina.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 26.—British imports from Argentina for the first six months of this year were reduced to £27,496,290, compared with £37,082,771 for the first six months of last year, according to a report from the Argentine Embassy at London, published by the Minister of Foreign Affairs today. Argentina's favorable trade balance against Britain was reduced from £26,961,352 on June 30 last year to £18,782,494 on the same date this year.

The heaviest decline was in wheat, British imports of which totaled £4,882,871 for the first six months of this year, compared with £9,575,982 for the same period in 1929.

IT'S JUST A STEP TO BLOOMINGDALE'S

from Sutton Place... You who call this charming neighborhood home, selected it for two important reasons: its distinction—and its convenience. For the same reasons, you will appreciate more and more another vast new enterprise which is being evolved a step from your door: the re-attuning of a great store to meet your exact needs.

Maybe you don't realize in how many ways this greater Bloomingdale's will give a new meaning to the word CONVENIENCE... It's convenient because it's so accessible. Because it lets you smile at the maddening maelstrom of downtown traffic. Because it offers charge accounts.★ Because here, in spacious airy aisles under one great roof, you can check off every item in the most complicated shopping list. Because delivery service to you is practically instantaneous. And—more important than anything else—do you realize that you are now but a step away from the greater Bloomingdale's that is about to be? The saws and the hammers are finishing their work behind that black marble facade which discriminating New Yorkers already know as the Lexington Arcade—just one of the four great walls which will eventually encompass the most convenient block in the city. But far more significant than new floor space and new merchandise is the creation of an organization which understands your way of living... which can offer you in tasteful simplicity, authentic fashions, charming furnishings, understanding service. Come in, if you can, this very day—even if all you need at the moment is a gardenia from the Flower Shop!

★ Regardless of underselling claims by other stores, Bloomingdale's prices are and always will be as low as those of any store for merchandise of equal value. Nevertheless, you may have the convenience of a charge account.

VAUSE ASKS TRIAL ON MERITS OF CASE

Former Jurist Says He Will Not Invoke Statute of Limitations in Federal Tax Suit.

MISTRIAL PLEA IS REFUSED

But Counsel Wins Delay Until Monday to Study Evidence—Boyle Identifies Checks.

Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers, presiding at the trial of former County Judge W. Bernard Vause, charged with filing a false income tax return for 1926, refused again yesterday to adjourn the trial of the former jurist, but after a three-hour session he granted a recess until Monday morning.

Harold L. Turk, counsel for Vause, made another plea for delay in the trial when court opened in the morning.

"I feel that the court is entitled to an explanation of my absence yesterday," said Mr. Turk. "I accepted a retainer in this case with the understanding that the trial would not begin until Monday."

"Yes, but you made a commitment without consulting the court, which is a party to arrangements or adjournments," said Judge Byers.

Checks Puzzle Vause Counsel.

"Yes, your Honor, but I left Albany at 2 o'clock this morning and have been up all night. The checks that have been introduced thus far in this case are a Chinese puzzle to me, and I believe they are a puzzle also to the defendant. I believe he is put at a serious disadvantage unless he gets an opportunity of going over these figures. I ask your Honor to declare a mistrial, and I am willing to have the case set down peremptorily for Monday. If this is done I do not see that the government's case will be prejudiced one bit."

Judge Byers replied that several witnesses had already been heard and he did not care to have their testimony lost. He told Mr. Turk he could recall these witnesses for cross-examination, but insisted that the trial must proceed. Mr. Turk, he said, might take an exception to his ruling if he cared to.

Before court opened Mr. Vause was asked if he intended to plead the statute of limitations as a bar to his trial. He replied that he would take no advantage of any legal technicality.

"The statute of limitations may be a complete defense of this prosecution," said Mr. Vause, "but I have no intention of raising that question. I want this case decided on its merits."

The only witness yesterday was Joseph S. Boyle, former member of the law firm of Vause & Vause, who was called by Assistant United States Attorney James E. Wilkinson to testify to a deposit in the Manufacturers Trust Company under the name of "Joseph S. Boyle, special account."

Considerable excitement was caused when Mr. Boyle stepped down from the witness stand and whispered something to Mr. Wilkinson. Mr. Turk demanded that the fact that the witness and the prosecuting attorney had whispered together be placed on the record of the trial.

Whispered Remark Repeated.

"I will state openly for the record what Mr. Boyle told me," said Mr. Wilkinson. "He told me that an important paper had disappeared from his office."

Mr. Turk again demanded a mistrial.

Judge Byers overruled him. It developed later that the missing paper disappeared some time ago and that United States Attorney Tuttle in Manhattan was unable to find it when he was investigating the alleged payment of $250,000 to Judge Vause by the United American lines for obtaining North River pier leases.

Boyle identified two checks for $25,000 each, received by Vause & Vause from the American Shipping and Commerce Corporation, the parent organization of the United American lines. He also identified nine checks made out to him by the United American lines totaling $70,000.

The witness asserted that all of the checks were deposited by him in the "Joseph S. Boyle, Special Account," and that he drew checks against the account by order of Judge Vause. The $25,000 checks were dated Sept. 22, 1926, and Dec. 15, 1926.

AUTO NOISE UNDER BAN.

After Today, Excessive Horn-Blowing Will Result in Summons.

Beginning tomorrow, summonses will be handed to motorists who blow their automobile horns unnecessarily, Police Commissioner Mulrooney announced yesterday, saying the "warning" period would end this evening.

The police began an anti-noise drive a week ago, as suggested by the Noise Abatement Commission. A special squad was assigned to patrol the congested traffic areas and remind drivers that horn-blowing does not speed up traffic. Where the policemen could not reach the driver before the latter started, he took his license number and mailed him a request to desist from making unnecessary noise in the future. Today, however, the warnings end.

INDICTED IN DEATH PLOT.

Eleventh Defendant Faces Trial for Insurance Frauds.

John Gannon, 39 years old, of 221 East Twenty-sixth Street, the last defendant arrested in connection with the plot through which the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company was defrauded of about $100,000 by the issuing of bogus death certificates, was indicted on eight counts by the Richmond County grand jury yesterday. The indictments include one for conspiracy, one for forgery and six for presenting false death claims to the insurance company.

He pleaded not guilty before County Judge Cosgrove and was committed to jail in default of $40,000 bail.

Gannon, with the other ten defendants who are out on bail, will be placed on trial at the October term of the county court.

BRITISH WOMAN ON WAY HERE TO MAKE FLIGHT

Mrs. Spencer Cleaver Plans to Be First English Woman to Span the Continent.

LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP).—In spite of parental objections, Mrs. Spencer Cleaver, daughter of Hugh M. Pollack, Minister of Finance and Deputy Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, will sail tomorrow on the Berengaria for New York to attempt a transcontinental flight starting Oct. 12.

The daring British airwoman is taking with her the same Gypsy Moth plane in which she flew from London to Bagdad and on to India last year. She will use the plane in her effort to be the first British aviatrix to fly across the United States.

Mrs. Cleaver's father has tried to dissuade her from making the flight. Her husband, Colonel Spencer Cleaver, who is the head of the big London department store of Robinson & Cleaver, in Regent Street, has offered no obstacle. Her most recent flight was from London to Belfast and Dublin.

"I am doing the flight for the sport of it," she said today. Her machine carries fuel for only five hours of flight. Her stops will be at Washington, Dayton, St. Louis, Dallas, El Paso and Los Angeles under her present tentative plans.

Mrs. Cleaver is a typical British sportswoman and society hostess. She was prominent as a motorist before taking to aviation and won fame as a mountain climber. She set a new fashion in feminine flying garb by wearing an antelope coat, with pegtop trousers of the same material fitting snugly down to the ankles with a strap under the instep. Over this she wears a big fur-trimmed flying coat.

Ecuador Denies Exiling Colonel.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Sept. 26 (AP).—The newspapers stated today that Colonel Olmedo Alfaro, who is bound for Panama, had been ordered to leave Ecuador because he conducted revolutionary activities among officers of the army. A communiqué tonight, however, denied Colonel Alfaro had been exiled.

YOUTH TO WED IN JAIL BEFORE SERVING TERM

Gets 10-Year Prison Sentence for Robbery of Two Stores in Jersey City.

In the next few days, according to plans announced at the Hudson County jail in Jersey City yesterday, William Russo will be a bridegroom and will start on a ten-year honeymoon. His bride will not accompany him. The ten years, less time for good behavior, will be passed in the State prison at Trenton, to which William was sentenced yesterday by County Judge Daniel T. O'Regan in Jersey City.

But before he departs for the jail he will be permitted to marry Henrietta Costa, 20 years old. The ceremony will be performed in the county jail.

William, his brother, Joseph, 20, and James Malone, 19, pleaded guilty about two weeks ago to robbery and possession of dangerous weapons.

The three admitted that on June 27 they held up the restaurant of John Dresler at 49 Centre Street, Jersey City, and robbed Dressler of $50; and that on the next night they robbed the store of James Barden of 176 Bright Street of $30.

Yesterday Judge O'Regan sentenced William to ten years in State prison; Joseph Russo to five years in the State prison and sent Malone to the State Reformatory for an indefinite term.

Soon after the three were arrested, Russo said he wanted to marry Miss Costa, but the authorities refused to permit the marriage on the ground that if the case went to trial they wanted to use Miss Costa as a State witness and could not do so if she were Russo's wife. The pleas of guilty and the imposition of sentence removed any objections the authorities had to the marriage.

WALKER TO QUERY NEW MAGISTRATES

"I intend to make this a general rule of interrogation. I am not picking you out as an exception and I cast no reflection upon the men who sponsored you, because their characters are beyond reproach. But in future no man will be sworn in by me unless he makes this declaration. If it develops later that the Mayor has been misled, I shall expect the Appellate Division to bring action for the removal of the guilty ones immediately."

Nine More Leaders Defiant.

Meanwhile the grand jury was meeting stubborn resistance from every Tammany leader who appeared before it in answer to subpoenas. Those who refused to sign waivers and were therefore excused from testifying were:

Michael Cosgrove, Dock Commissioner and leader of the Sixteenth District; William P. Kenneally, a former Alderman, and Clarence H. Neal Jr., Deputy Commissioner of Public Markets, co-leaders of the Twelfth; H. Warren Hubbard, Commissioner of Public Works, and John J. Dietz, Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, co-leaders of the Eighteenth District; Harry C. Perry, chief clerk of City Court and a leader of the Second District; David Lazarus, leader of the Sixth District and Commissioner of Records; William L. Kavanaugh, a deputy commissioner in Mr. Dietz's office and a leader of the Third District, and James J. Hines, a leader of the Eleventh District.

Fourteen other district leaders, including Nathan Burkan, a leader of the Seventeenth District who said he will break a precedent and testify under a waiver, remain to be called before the grand jury, which has recessed until Monday.

Oberwager on Stand.

Besides the nine recalcitrant politicians, the grand jury heard three other witnesses during the day. They were former Magistrate Charles A. Oberwager, who preceded Ewald on the bench; Dr. Francis Schirp, one of the signers of the Steuben Society letter to Mayor Walker endorsing the indicted ex-magistrate for appointment, and Barrett Carmody, secretary to Supreme Court Justice Phenix Ingraham.

Mr. Oberwager was silent upon his testimony. He intimated, however, that he believed he failed of reappointment at the time Ewald got his place because the word had got around in political circles that he aspired to higher things than the magistracy. It was understood he wanted the nomination to the Supreme Court bench and it was feared that he would refuse a reappointment, he implied.

Dr. Schirp has been accused by Emmerich Boozer, former confidential secretary to Ewald, of taking $2,000 to endorse the latter's candidacy. Carmody, whose address is 303 West 122d Street, where the missing Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater had a voting address, was financial secretary of the Cayuga Democratic Club, of which Ewald and Healy were members, and of which Justice Crater was president for many years.

George S. Collins, executive secretary to Mayor Walker, and Grover C. Hill, secretary of the firm of Healy & Healy, attended the session of the grand jury but were not called before it. They are expected to testify Monday, when Hiram C. Todd, special prosecutor, hopes to have obtained by court order the books of the Cayuga Realty Company, another of Healy's business ventures. The books have been impounded in connection with a civil suit.

TRAFFIC FINE AUDIT BEGUN BY HIGGINS

Thorough Check-Up Is Ordered Following Arrest of Acting Cashier for Forgery.

Auditors from the office of Commissioner of Accounts Higgins extended their examination of the books of the magistrates' court branches yesterday to include the records of the Traffic Court dealing with the payment of fines. This new line of inquiry resulted from the arrest the day before on a charge of third-degree forgery of Edward C. Burrows, acting cashier in the Traffic Court. He is accused of withholding part of many small fines, covering his defalcations by altering the books.

Chief City Magistrate Corrigan uncovered the alleged thefts in his general investigation of all the branches of the magistrates' courts. It was said yesterday that while about $500,000 in fines had passed through Burrows's hands yearly he was not under bond.

The chief magistrate issued a statement yesterday calling attention to the new bail bond bureaus which have been established by several surety companies to do away with bail abuses in the magistrates' and other courts. Mr. Corrigan said that notices regarding the new bureaus would be posted in all the magistrates' courts, and added:

"With a view to facilitating the giving of bail by defendants and to correct some of the abuses which have occurred in giving bonds in the magistrates' courts, some of the leading surety companies engaged in writing bail bonds have opened a central bonding office at 103 Lafayette Street, with night service at 310 West Fifty-fourth Street. This bureau has the approval of the Insurance Department of the State and proposes to write bail bonds at less than the legal rate."

CRATER CAME HERE ON 'URGENT CALL'

Belgrade Lakes Neighbor Tells Grand Jury Jurist's Trip Aug. 3 Was Unexpected.

CRAIN HINTS AT POLITICS

Says He Wants to Know if Justice Learned He Was Not Going to Be Nominated—Mrs. Marcus Back.

District Attorney Crain learned yesterday that Justice Joseph F. Crater came back to New York seven weeks ago on the eve of his disappearance in response to an unexpected call concerning "an important matter."

This information was given to Mr. Crain and to the grand jury investigating the Crater disappearance yesterday by Ludwig Traube, real estate man, of 115 East Eighty-sixth Street, who has a cottage at Belgrade Lakes next to that of the Craters. Mr. Traube said he saw Justice Crater on Aug. 2, the day after his arrival at New York and that the justice said he intended to remain in Maine for at least two weeks. The two men made plans to spend some of that time together. Next day, however, when Mr. Traube called at the Crater camp he was told by Mrs. Crater that her husband had packed up hurriedly a few hours previously and "left for New York in response to a call concerning an important matter." Mr. Traube told District Attorney Crain and the grand jury that he did not ask and Mrs. Crater did not say what the important matter was.

First Indication of Motive.

This was the first information the district attorney has had concerning a motive for Justice Crater's movements on the eve of his disappearance. Mrs. Crater made no mention of any such call to New York or "an important matter" when she answered the questionnaire which he sent her concerning the circumstances of her husband's disappearance.

Further details of his movements on returning to New York were supplied to the grand jury by Amedia Christian, the Porto Rican maid, who said that Justice Crater arrived at the apartment at 40 Fifth Avenue about 10 o'clock on the morning of Aug. 4, and sent her away with instructions not to come back until Aug. 7, "to tidy up because he intended to go back to Maine on the sixth." It was on the night of Aug. 6 that he was last seen in New York.

When District Attorney Crain was asked if he had any intimation as to the nature of the "important business" which had brought Justice Crater back to New York so hurriedly, he said: "We are trying to find out if he had heard anything to the effect that he was not going to be nominated for the Supreme Court and for that reason returned to New York."

Linked Again to Ewald Case.

It was learned that this speculation was based on the fact that Mrs. Crater's first appeal for information concerning her missing husband was addressed to Martin J. Healy, Tammany district leader, of whose Cayuga Regular Democratic Club the justice had been president until his elevation to the bench three months previously.

The date of Aug. 3 corresponds to the disclosures in the Cotter-Butte Mining inquiry conducted by Federal Attorney Tuttle, which led him to turn over to District Attorney Crain the evidence which has since led to the indictment of Healy, Tom Tommaney and former Magistrate George Ewald with his wife on a charge of purchasing the appointment to the magistrate's bench.

District Attorney Crain refused to discuss the possibility that Justice Crater, who had been for years the legal mind among the Cayuga Club politicians, had been called by them from Maine for consultation concerning the impending Ewald investigation and the position which they should take.

Mr. Crain's position yesterday continued to be that he could not interest himself in anything concerning the Ewald case because it had been taken out of his hands by the Governor and given to the Attorney General of the State.

On behalf of the Attorney General, however, Hiram Todd, special prosecutor, who obtained the indictments in the Ewald case last week, repeated that he would still like to question Justice Crater about it. So would the Federal District Attorney, who is on record as wanting to know who finally got the $10,000 which passed in 1927 in connection with the appointment of Mr. Ewald to the magistrate's bench on Mr. Healy's recommendation.

Connie Marcus Returns.

The only other development in the Crater case yesterday was the exercise by the Board of Estimate of the right voted on Sept. 15 by the Board of Aldermen to offer a reward of $5,000 for information locating Justice Crater. The action was taken on a motion made by Mayor Walker.

Considerable interest attached however to the reappearance yesterday of Connie Marcus, a saleswoman in a Fifth Avenue shop, who was connected by rumor with the missing justice. She telephoned to Police Commissioner Mulrooney that she had returned upon the advice of friends to answer any questions he might ask, although she had left two weeks ago, when her name was first published, "in order to avoid humiliation and embarrassment."

More than an hour of questioning by the Police Comissioner and by Deputy Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan produced a story of her relations with Justice Crater which the Commissioner recounted "as more than reasonably candid, but of no help in our present job of locating him."

Another hour of questioning by Assistant District Attorney Albert Blogg Unger, in Mr. Crain's absence, produced the same story and the same judgment.

The story told by Mrs. Marcus produced an immediate reply from Belgrade Lakes, issued by Mrs. Crater's brother-in-law, H. G. Herbert.

"Mrs. Crater wants it known," said Mr. Herbert, "that she does not believe the Marcus woman's story. She has no knowledge of any such friendship and has implicit faith in Justice Crater."

Meanwhile, the New York police have asked the police of Youngstown, Ohio, again to question Sally Ritz, dancer, formerly of "Artists and Models," now at home with her parents.

The grand jury questioned yesterday Mrs. Fred Kahler, wife of Crater's chauffeur, who is now at Belgrade Lakes, in an attempt to clear up the movements of the Crater automobile. The chauffeur has admitted being in New York from Aug. 15 to 20, but the records of the Brevoort Garage show Justice Crater's automobile did not arrive there until Aug. 21.

When the grand jury inquiry is resumed on Monday Detectives Edward Fitzgerald and Martin Owens, who arrived from Maine yesterday, are to tell of their unsuccessful attempts to induce Mrs. Crater to return or to supply more information.

THIRTY-YEAR-OLD AUTO EXHIBITED AT MUSEUM

Duryea Car Resembles Glorified Tricycle and Had First Carburetor Using a Float.

One of the oldest automobiles employing what are now modern and accepted methods of locomotion and transmission was exhibited yesterday at the Museum of the Peaceful Arts at 220 East Forty-second Street. It has been presented to the museum by its designer, Charles E. Duryea. Another car designed and made by Mr. Duryea is in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

As it stood yesterday, on its original wheels and tires, the car resembled a slightly overgrown tricycle, as it has only three wheels. A steering rod, reaching up to the carriage-like front seat, was attached directly to the front wheel, making steering, Mr. Duryea said, as easy as on a bicycle.

The car was in use from 1899 to 1909, Mr. Duryea said, and still would run. He turned the side-crank easily yesterday, and explained that all he needed was a dry-cell battery to furnish the spark to get the three-cylinder motor kicking merrily. The 30-year-old magneto did not have much pep left, he explained.

The days of "get out and get under" came after the Duryea car, the designer explained. Everything in the mechanism could be reached from above when the seat boards were removed, and the motor itself could be taken apart in ten minutes. To illustrate this, he lifted off the engine cover and exposed the hollow crank-shaft, the crank-case and the cylinders themselves.

The motor was underneath the front seat, and in the rear was the radiator and the gasoline tank. The carburetor was the first one employing a float ever used, Mr. Duryea said, and he lifted out the float to show its remarkable lightness. It weighed only three-quarters of an ounce.

The car employed two speeds forward, on a hand-gear shift, and a pedal to put the car into reverse. The planetary transmission employed was used in the car eight years before it was employed by Henry Ford on his Model T, he said.

That particular car, while not the original one made by Mr. Duryea, was designed in 1897, made in 1898 and sold in 1899. The price was $1,000; too cheap, he added. It should have been $2,000. Production was at the rate of one car a week, but sales were slow, due to the belief then that Thomas Edison would produce an electric car that would outperform the gasoline auto.

SHOT HALTS THEFT SUSPECT

Alleged Fence and Stolen Wheels Seized After Glen Ridge Arrest.

Special to The New York Times.

GLEN RIDGE, N. J., Sept. 26.—Vernon Carroll of 16 Elmwood Avenue, Montclair, is locked up in Police Headquarters here as a bicycle thief. Carroll was reported caught in the act of stealing a wheel from rear of the high school by Detective Frank Serpico, who fired a shot in the air to halt him. Chief William Higgins said the prisoner admitted stealing more than 100 wheels during the past year from schools in all parts of the country.

Carroll implicated James Cassulo of 4 Coles Street, Jersey City, as the receiver. Sergeant Joe Larkin of this place, with the Jersey City police, raided the store conducted by Cassulo and found all the goods therein stolen property, it was alleged. Bicycles valued at hundreds of dollars were taken to Police Headquarters along with Cassulo, who was charged with receiving stolen goods. Carroll will be arraigned here on a larceny charge tomorrow.

BAR ADMITS CURRY IGNORED ITS CHOICES

Associations Jointly Urged Kresel or Knox for Crater's Post on Bench.

UNDECIDED ON MILLER

Will Scan His Qualifications and Await Action of Republican Judicial Convention.

The Tammany nomination of Borough President Julius Miller for Supreme Court justice to fill the vacancy caused by the disappearance of Justice Joseph F. Crater represented a direct rejection of recommendations made by the New York City Bar Association and the New York County Lawyers' Association, officials of the bar organizations admitted yesterday.

They confirmed reports that a joint committee of the two associations had privately urged John F. Curry, Tammany leader, to choose either Isidor J. Kresel, the attorney who is now counsel in the inferior courts' investigation by the Appellate Division, or Federal Judge John C. Knox, senior member of the United States bench in this district. Both are Democrats, although not closely connected with the party organization.

In rejecting the overtures of the bar, it was revealed, Mr. Curry also turned down the appeals of leaders in his own organization who were anxious that independence of recognized high legal standing should be selected. Among those who were ignored were Senator Robert F. Wagner and John W. Davis, who is to be permanent chairman of the Democratic State Convention next Monday. These two party leaders along with other prominent Democrats, including Martin Conboy, William Church Osborn and Walter H. Pollak, are members of the judiciary committee of the New York City Bar Association, which approved the rejected recommendations.

Attitude to Miller Undecided.

What the bar associations will do in the face of the Tammany move remains a question. Their members admit that the nomination of Mr. Miller places them in a difficult position because they have no criticism but rather praise of his work as borough president. Not having actively practiced law for nine years, however, his qualifications will be closely scanned.

The action of the Republican judicial convention next week also will play a part in the stand to be taken by the bar. The latter is understood to have had conversations with Samuel S. Koenig, Republican county leader, just as it did with Mr. Curry, but Mr. Koenig has not yet indicated his possible choices for Supreme Court nominees. As with Mr. Curry, the Bar Associations also have made recommendations to him. One suggestion is said to be that George W. Alger, independent Republican, receive the nomination.

Charles C. Burlingham, president of the New York City Bar Association, outlined yesterday the steps which the bar took in respect to the Democratic nomination. It has been the custom, he said, for the political organizations to send a list of likely judiciary nominees to the bar association for its confidential recommendation. Approval of certain candidates, if any could be made, would be indicated and the whole proceeding would scrupulously avoid public discussion so that no one would be embarrassed.

Curry Submitted No List.

Mr. Curry submitted no list this time, but when Samuel H. Ordway, head of the judiciary committee for the New York City Bar Association, and Frank L. Polk, representing the New York County Lawyers' Association, got in touch with him he welcomed suggestions. Accordingly, the bar organizations recommended Mr. Kresel and Judge Knox, Mr. Burlingham said.

There was no further communication from Mr. Curry, and up to the very time of the Democratic convention it was thought that Judge Knox might be selected.

Asked for his opinion of the nomination of Mr. Miller, Mr. Burlingham said:

"I have known Mr. Miller as an excellent public official, but not as a lawyer. I do not in the least want to criticize the selection of Mr. Miller. Our committee will in due course consider his qualifications and report upon them. I can say, however, that he has no such reputation at the bar as Mr. Kresel, and he certainly cannot be compared with Judge Knox in judicial attainments."

Friends of Mr. Miller yesterday voiced implicit confidence in his legal qualifications. He had served twenty years actively at the bar before he undertook a political career, they said, and in that time lost barely more than a half dozen cases. They were also confident that he would receive an unprecedented vote because of his work in public office. In nine years as Borough President, it was pointed out, he had effected an enormous number of public improvements, expending over $80,000,000 in Manhattan.

Although Mr. Miller did not wish to be quoted, it was officially denied for him that he felt he was being "kicked upstairs" in receiving the nomination.

PATRIOT'S DAY CELEBRATED.

Jersey City Honors War Dead as a Feature of Its Tercentenary.

More than 25,000 persons attended an outdoor vesper service for Jersey City's soldier, sailor and marine dead which was the feature yesterday of Patriot's Day, the sixth day of the Jersey City Tercentenary. The service was held in Lincoln Park, where the Right. Rev. Mgr. John A. Duffy, vicar general of the diocese of Newark, spoke on "Religion and Civil Government."

"If ever a people needed a revival," Mgr. Duffy said, "our nation needs it today. The only revival of worth or value is that which changes the outlook of the individual. There is incumbent on every citizen of this city the duty of rededicating himself to the ideals of our forefathers. Religion and true democracy are needed with a compelling need in the life and action of every American."

Following the vesper service the Goldman Band gave a concert.

NEW OUTBREAK IN BRAZIL.

Mob Demonstrates Before State President's Home.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAO PAULO, Sept. 26.—Reactionary manifestations growing out of outbreaks in the interior of the State of Parahyba recently, which were quelled by Federal forces and which culminated in the assassination of the State's President, João Pessoa, took place yesterday and today in the State capital, according to reports here.

In the capital, which recently was renamed João Pessoa, it is said in a brief dispatch that the residence of Carlos Tadveira, the Federal District Director of Mails and Telegraphs, was dynamited, while an indignant crowd milled about the State President's home when he vetoed a bill of the State Legislature providing for a new State flag.

According to the reports, the Legislature passed the measure to commemorate the outbreaks, and it was promptly vetoed by the State President, Alvaro Carvalho.

A protesting crowd filled the street in front of the President's home, and when the situation took on a serious aspect troops were summoned to disperse the rioters.

Three Killed Disconnecting Aerial.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Sept. 26 (AP).—Disconnecting a radio aerial, a last minute chore preparatory to moving to another residence, last night led to the death of three young men. The aerial fell across a 2,300 volt power line and electrocuted the trio. After taking the aerial from a tree, Ulysses Long walked into a wet street in front of the home he was vacating, picked up one end of the wire and was instantly killed. His brother-in-law, Louis D. Halcomb, came to his assistance and met his death after taking hold of the aerial. His brother, Walter Halcomb, rushed in and he too was killed.

URGES VOTES FOR BONDS TO IMPROVE PRISONS

Dr. Thayer in Plea Asserts Housing Has Not Been Modernized in 85 Years.

Dr Walter N. Thayer Jr., Commissioner of the State Department of Correction, appealed yesterday to the voters to approve at the coming election the proposal for an emergency bond issue of $50,000,000 for new construction at the State prisons, refomatories and mental hygiene institutions. His statement, issued through the State Charities Aid Association, asked that the State "reconstruct these old stone crypts in which we load our criminal population and build in their stead housing just as secure but more sanitary and fit for human habitation."

"In addition to this," he continued, "the problem of the department can be greatly benefited by the selection of the more hopeful of the men consigned to our care and by an intensive program to train these men both industrially and socially, so that they may resume their position in society. In order to do this, we will need another institution for this preferred class."

Another institution for the mentally defective delinquents was needed, he said, to relieve the State prisons and reformatories and the present unit at Napanoch, which cannot receive them all.

"The Department of Correction," he said, "includes four State prisons, with one other under construction at Attica. The three oldest of these institutions were constructed approximately in 1816, 1820 and 1845. At that time the State of New York is estimated to have had a population of 2,500,000 people."

Only in Sing Sing has the State modernized the old housing built from 85 to 115 years ago, according to Dr. Thayer. To reclaim criminals for society, he maintained, housing methods which debase rather than uplift must be rectified.

MACY'S LAYS STONE TODAY.

Smith and Walker to Attend Exercises at Store's New Annex.

The cornerstone of R. H. Macy & Co.'s new seventeen-story annex, which will put at the store's disposal practically the entire square block from Broadway to Seventh Avenue and from Thirty-fourth to Thirty-fifth Street, making the combined structures the largest retail establishment in the world, will be laid at 10:30 A. M. today. Yesterday's NEW YORK TIMES stated incorrectly that the ceremonies, which will include addresses by former Governor Smith and Mayor Walker, would take place yesterday morning.

The cornerstone will contain a replica of the "Key to Thrift," a large brass key which Rowland H. Macy used to open his little store in Haverhill, Mass.; copies of the store's advertising and the front pages of today's newspapers, including a copy of the rag-paper edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES. Station WOR will broadcast the ceremonies.

AGED TURK RECOVERING.

But Auto Injuries Will Keep Him in Bed a Few Days More.

Zaro Agha, the Turk who says he has lived 156 years, was resting comfortably last night in his room in the Hotel Midtown, where he was taken Thursday evening after he was brushed by an automobile at Broadway and Sixty-first Street. His injuries, according to his manager, are apparently not as serious as first reported.

"I feel good," he said in his native tongue, but as he laid his hand on his stomach and then on his left leg he made a wry face.

He will remain in bed for a few days, on order of his physician, even though he said he was fit to get around again. Robert Robinson, driver of the car supposed to have hit Zaro, was exonerated by the police. He said he was unaware of having hit any one.

AQUITANIA ARRIVES; DELAYED BY STORMS

Insull, Returning, Says He Is Still an Optimist—Lord Barnby Also Aboard.

The Cunarder Aquitania arrived here yesterday three hours late as a result of stormy weather encountered when leaving the English Channel. The officers said they faced winds of sixty-one miles velocity which were the continuance of the storm that began on Sept. 18 with hurricane force.

The Aquitania was not delayed in getting out of the harbor of Southampton on Saturday, but liners trying to enter had a hard time and needed several extra tugs. There was a high head sea and gale crossing to Cherbourg.

Among the 542 first cabin passengers was Samuel Insull, Chicago traction magnate, who said he had been in Cologne for two days before the German elections. Mrs. Insull returned with him.

Asked if he was an optimist about the business outlook for the United States, Mr. Insull smiled and replied: "I have been an optimist all my life and I suppose that I shall continue to be one until the end."

Another passenger was Lord Barnby, wool manufacturer of England, who said he had come for a three weeks' visit. The woolen mills in England, he said, had suffered less than any of the English industries as a result of the general depression. The mills he controls have been operating all along with almost their full force of workers.

Also on board was John E. Dockendorf, president of the Black Diamond Shipping Corporation, which operates the American Diamond Line. He will testify on Monday in connection with the sale of the American Diamond and American France Lines.

Also on board was Morris Hillquit, the Socialist leader, who attended the executive committee meeting of the Labor Socialist International in Zurich, Switzerland. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hillquit.

Mr. Hillquit left Germany the day before the elections and said he was greatly surprised to learn of great gains made by the Fascists. He does not regard the German election returns with optimism, but he hopes the Social Democrats, with the aid of the middle parties, will be able to form a stable coalition government.

"Europe is not what it once was," he said. "There has been demoralization socially, economically and morally. I should say that Europe faces today the worst crisis since the World War. This applies to Europe in general, although the industrial countries of England, Germany and Czechoslovakia are hardest hit.

"The Fascist spectre is all over Europe. It is in Italy, Poland, Spain and Rumania, and its shadow has been for a long while over Austria. Now it is seen hovering over Germany."

Mrs. Andrew Carnegie also was a passenger, returning after spending the Summer at Skibo Castle in Scotland. The Countess of Gainsborough and her daughter, Lady Maureen Noel, also arrived in the Aquitania.

The New York Times BOOK REVIEW

"DESERT ISLAND," Walter de la Mare's anthology, in which he pays tribute to the enchantment of the haunts of various castaways.

"MIRTHFUL HAVEN," Booth Tarkington's new novel—a social comedy and satire against the background of a Maine Summer Colony.

"FLOWERING JUDAS"—Six short stories by Katherine Anne Porter.

"FOREST OF THE HANGED," by Liviu Rebreanu, a veteran Rumanian novelist. A war setting, but not strictly speaking, a war novel.

"MAKE-BELIEVE," by Faith Baldwin, a novel of young love.

Among others are the reviews of the new books by Italy's older novelists—"Clear Eyes," by Virgilio Brocchi; "You Are My Wealth," by Salvatore Gotta; "The House of the Poet," by Grazia Deledda.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

The firing along the front of a new football season, sporadic last week, becomes considerably louder today with the joining in of most of the heavier pieces of artillery, and next Saturday bursts into the roar of a full barrage, to continue unbroken into the first week in December.

All of the colleges of the city, most of the colleges of the East, including Army and Yale, the latter playing its first September game in some years, most of the leaders of the Middle West and South, and all of the leaders of the Pacific Coast open today the campaign which will carry some to the crest and leave others sprawled along the trail.

Columbia, New York University, Fordham, City College and Manhattan all open their seasons on their home fields; Yale plays host to Maine in the Bowl; Army faces Boston University in the picturesque little stadium at West Point; up-State, Cornell, Syracuse and Colgate swing into action; up at Hanover Dartmouth begins its new season against Norwich; Penn State and Pitt both start and Holy Cross has its first game under Captain John McEwan, the old Army and Oregon coach.

Little Three Will Start.

The members of the Little Three, Amherst, Williams and Wesleyan, all start; Brown swings into action and so do Lafayette, Georgetown, Boston College and Rutgers in the East.

In the Middle West Iowa, Indiana, Minnesota, Michigan and Ohio State start off; in the South most of the headliners, with Georgia and Southern Methodist leading, and on the Pacific Coast Stanford, California, Southern California, Oregon and Washington all play their first games.

Here in New York, aside from the very natural interest in N. Y. U. and Fordham, the most important start is the début of Columbia under the direction of Lou Little, the man who had so much success with Georgetown teams in the past and who has taken over the coaching assignment at Baker Field. Columbia faces Middlebury this afternoon and, in common with most of the other larger colleges starting today, ought not to have too much trouble.

New York University has high hopes of a very successful season. Chick Meehan has had his varsity material shaped definitely for weeks and it is strong looking material. Fordham follows up a most successful year with the greatest sort of hope for another one.

New Régime at West Point.

At West Point, Army football starts a season under a new coaching régime and for the first time in years minus an outstanding star of the Cagle type. Major Ralph Sasse has taken over the reins from Captain Lawrence Jones and has also, if reports are to be credited, changed the attack and installed the so-called Warner system of wing backs. Army should win by a comfortable margin today, but Boston University is nicely equipped to furnish a fast workout in this opening game.

Yale starts its season with reports on hand of good material and real hopes of a successful season. There are several outstanding Blue backs and seasoned material for the forward wall.

Syracuse opens with another new head coach, Vic Hanson, one of her great stars, having been installed in the position. Syracuse has every hope of climbing back to the football top. Hanson has spent a year in touring other leading colleges and studying football there, he is intensely popular at Syracuse and the Orange is full of ambition at the start of its new season.

Next week all of the leaders of the game join in the festivities. Navy, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Harvard and Princeton have their opening games, and every college that supports a team will have started its schedule a week from this afternoon.

PENN STATE LOSES STAR.

Captain Diedrich Unable to Play Against Niagara Today.

Special to The New York Times.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 26.—Penn State and Niagara both will be without the services of their back field aces when the New York team faces the Lions in the season's opener tomorrow.

Captain Diedrich has not fully recovered from an injury received in Tuesday's practice game, while Sneider, the Purple and White's fullback, injured his knee last Friday. Bob Higgins, Lion coach, will use Jack Livesey at halfback in Diedrich's place, while Sieg will replace Sneider on the visitor's team.

COLGATE MAKES CHANGE.

Prondeckie Replaces Crane at Tackle—St. Lawrence Game Today.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Sept. 26.—A short, fast signal drill and half-hour's practice in returning kick-offs constituted Colgate's last drill here today prior to the first game of the year with St. Lawrence tomorrow. A last minute change sent Ed Prondeckie to a varsity tackle berth in place of Howard Crane, 230-pounder.

Whitey Ask, triple threat back, will be unable to play tomorrow due to a back injury. The four regulars remaining from last year's varsity, Les Hart, Tom Doyle, Len Macaluso and John Orsi, will start against the Larries.

N. Y. U. TEAM READY FOR HOBART TODAY

15,000 Expected to See Violet Eleven Open Season at Ohio Field.

New York University's 1930 football season gets under way today, the Violet eleven meeting the Hobart College team at Ohio Field at 2:30 o'clock. The game will be the first between the two institutions in eight years, Hobart having won in 1922, 20 to 0. More than 15,000 persons are expected to witness today's contest.

Head Coach Chick Meehan sent the N. Y. U. squad of forty-six candidates through an hour's signal drill yesterday on the campus gridiron, which was followed by a brief kicking and passing session. The Violet mentor then announced that his starting line-up would in all probability consist of the same combination which functioned smoothly during the eighteen-day training period at Farmingdale, L. I. Five sophomores are in this group.

This means that Joe Le Mark, Jack MacDonald, Jim Tanguay and Bill McNamara, all sophomores, will make up the back field, with Captain Jerry Nemecek and Sugar Hugret, a sophomore, ends; Ernie Concannon and Dick Murphy, tackles; Hugh Greenblatt and George Chalmers, guards, and Harry Schneider, centre. Of this group only Nemecek, Concannon, Chalmers and Schneider are veterans. Murphy and Greenblatt were on last season's reserve list, being used occasionally.

The probable line-up:

N. Y. U.		Hobart.
Nemecek	L. E.	Brugnone
Concannon	L. T.	Warren
Greenblatt	L. G.	Neville
Schneider	C.	Clifford
Chalmers	R. G.	Van Giesen
Murphy	R. T.	Goodelle
Hugret	R. E.	Trumbatore
J. La Mark	Q. B.	Ashton
Tanguay	L. H.	Puls
MacDonald	R. H.	Gohringer
W. McNamara	F. B.	Galbraith

Referee—E. F. Hughitt, Michigan. Umpire—W. B. Elcock, Dartmouth. Linesman—W. A. Kane, Hobart. Field Judge—A. M. Farrier, Dartmouth.

C. C. N. Y. SET FOR GAME WITH LONG ISLAND U.

Lavender Football Team Concludes Preparation With Dummy Scrimmage and Signal Drill.

City College's football team concluded its preparation for the opening game with Long Island University at Lewisohn Stadium at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by engaging in an hour practice session, consisting of a dummy scrimmage and signal drill, at Ohio Field yesterday.

Will Open Season Against R. P. I.—Three Sophomores on Team.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Syracuse University opens its football season tomorrow night at Archbold Stadium, opposing R. P. I. The starting line-up for Syracuse will be composed of letter men except for three members of the undefeated Orange freshman team of last year. They are Lombardi, 204-pound guard; Moran, halfback, and Fishel, fullback.

The R. P. I. eleven is a veteran team. The kick-off is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

BROWN IN OPENER TODAY.

Veteran Eleven to Start Against Rhode Island State.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 26.—The Brown football team will play its first game of the season tomorrow against Rhode Island State College, which it defeated last year, 14—6. With the exception of Captain Fogarty and Joe Mahood, halfbacks, the Bears will start a team of veterans.

COLUMBIA ELEVEN READY FOR OPENER

TYS IS NAMED CAPTAIN

Little to Make Choice Before Each Game—Rivero and Wolkind in Back Field.

The start of a new football season at Columbia under a new head coach and a new style of playing gets under way at 3 o'clock today, when the Blue and White meets Middlebury at Baker Field. Interest in the contest is at a high peak among Columbia alumni and undergraduates and about 18,000 persons are expected to witness the encounter.

The Lions took their final pregame workout yesterday, going through a long rehearsal of signals and formations. Their session followed a two-hour drill by the Middlebury squad, which arrived early yesterday morning and took its practice session at Baker Field in the afternoon.

The rapidity with which the Columbia backs have developed has resulted in the starting line-up being somewhat doubtful. Manuel Rivero and Harold Wolkind, sophomores, are Coach Lou Little's choice for the starting halfback posts. The rest of the back field will be made up of Ralph Hewitt and Joe Stanczyk, veterans. Remy Tys and Stewart Van Voorhees, regulars a year ago, are the other experienced men in the starting line-up.

The captain of the Columbia team for today's game will be Tys, veteran three-letter athlete on Morningside Heights. Little appointed Tys captain at the close of yesterday's workout. Because no permanent captain was elected for 1930 at the close of the 1929 season, Little will name a captain before each of the nine games which the Blue and White will play this Fall.

The probable line-up:

Columbia.		Middlebury.
Van Voorhees	L. E.	Hinman
Sherwood	L. T.	Perry
Grenda	L. G.	Whitman
McDuffee	C.	Nelson
Weinstock	R. G.	Duffany

Tys	R. E.	Thrasher
Hewitt	Q. B.	Markowski
Rivero	L. H.	Foote
Wolkind	R. H.	Bakeman
Stanczyk	F. B.	Hartrey

MANHATTAN TO START AGAINST RIDER TODAY

Heaviest Line-Up Will Be Used in Opening Game With Eleven From Trenton.

Manhattan College will open its football season, meeting Rider College of Trenton at Jasper Oval, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Coach Law of Manhattan will start his heaviest team, the line of which averages 200 pounds and the back field 175 pounds.

Eight sophomores will be included in the Manhattan starting line-up, which will be composed of Captain Luddy Burke, fullback; Del Negro, quarterback; Joe Sisco and Aschkar, halfbacks; Al Moyer and Joe Boyle, ends; Lou Lepis and Johnny Spears, tackles; Dick Chiccolello and Sam Gingreco, guards, and Walter Jacunski, centre.

DARTMOUTH TO OPEN WITH VETERAN TEAM

Hoffman Only Newcomer in Line-Up Against Norwich Today—Rollins on Injured List.

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 26.—Dartmouth and Norwich will round out a quarter century of football relations tomorrow when the cadets again open the big Green team's season.

An injury to Dan Rollins today left Dartmouth with only two experienced quarterbacks, Bill Morton and Robert E. Lee Jr.

The starting Dartmouth line-up finds only one newcomer, Bill Hoffman, who is regarded as a fixture at guard. Nine are lettermen, and two veteran guards will be starting in new positions. Paul Crehan has been moved to tackle and George Pettingill has clinched an end berth.

ROTHSTEIN AT TACKLE FOR CORNELL TODAY

To Replace Martinez Zorilla, Who Has Injured Leg, Against Clarkson Tech Eleven.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 26.—One last-minute change in the Cornell football team was made today when Chris Martinez Zorilla, veteran lineman, hurt his leg. Rothstein will have his place at right tackle in tomorrow's opening game with Clarkson Tech.

The probable line-up:

Cornell.		Clarkson.
Luder	L. E.	Hill
George	L. T.	Morrow
Tullar	L. G.	Fremou
Riekert	C.	Trimm
Hunt	R. G.	Van Camp

RUTGERS ENDS PRACTICE.

Holds Final Drill for First Game With Providence Today.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 26.—A light signal drill today marked the end of Rutgers's preliminary training for the opening game with Providence tomorrow. The Providence football squad of thirty-five men arrived this afternoon and went through a short practice session at the local high school stadium. Rutgers downed Providence by 17 to 0 last year.

Conn. Aggies to Face Albright.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., Sept. 26.—Twenty-two members of the Connecticut Aggies football squad left today with Coach Sumner A. Dole and Manager Rus Anderson for Reading, Pa., where they will play Albright College tomorrow.

FORDHAM OPPOSES BALTIMORE TODAY

Will Open Season at Fordham Field Without Fisher, Regular Quarterback.

The Fordham University football team will open its season today when it lines up against the Baltimore University eleven at Fordham Field. A large crowd is expected to be on hand to watch Major Frank Cavanaugh's veteran outfit take the field for its initial contest, which is scheduled to start at 2:30 P. M.

Coach Cavanaugh looks for a victory over Nate Weinstock's eleven despite the fact that the Maroon will open the game without the services of Jack Fisher, regular quarterback, who was injured in a scrimmage session last Wednesday when he sprained one of the fingers on his right hand which he employs in throwing passes. Frank Bartos, who weighs twenty pounds more than the light regular and who will substitute for Fisher, will fit in nicely with the Fordham coach's play of using a smashing running offensive.

The drill at Fordham Field yesterday was restricted to signal drills and a lecture by Cavanaugh, followed by a period of calisthenics and exercises. The Maryland eleven arrived in New York yesterday and immediately accepted the home authorities' invitation to go through a short workout. The team did not uncover its plays, devoting most of its time to rehearsing an aerial attack.

The probable line-up:

Fordham.		Baltimore U.
Elcewicz	L. E.	O'Brien
Foley	L. T.	Eisenberg
Tracey	L. G.	Rice
Siano	C.	Goldstein
Wisniewski	R. G.	Weinzier
Miskinis	R. T.	Morse
Conroy	R. E.	Novici
Bartos	Q. B.	Levey
J. Murphy	L. H.	Kastrava
McMahon	R. H.	Donahue
Pieculewicz	F. B.	Tierney

St. John's Has Light Workout.

Head Coach Ray Lynch and his assistants sent the St. John's College football candidates through another light two-hour session of practice at Dexter Park yesterday. If the weather is any cooler this morning the squad will have a scrimmage, which will conclude its first week of practice on its home field after two weeks of previous training at Camp Molloy, Mattituck, L. I.

PLAYS REHEARSED IN PRINCETON DRILL

Varsity Squad Spends Two Hours in Polishing Formations—Passes, Runs Tried.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 26.—The polishing of plays occupied the Princeton varsity football squad for two hours on University Field today. Passes, end runs and off-tackle dashes were used in the Tiger attack, while several new plays received their first trials.

Two shifts were made on the first team, Hockenbury going to left tackle and Byles to right end. Lea paired with Byles at end and Yeckley was the other tackle. Garrett and Pendergast were the starting guards, with Captain Mestres at centre. Bogar, Reinmund, Howson and Armour composed the back field.

Dummy scrimmage was the heaviest work given the men today, although this drill lasted for an hour and a half. Frequent shifts were made with the second eleven, composed of Wister and Combrinck-Graham, ends; Hirst and Condon, tackles; Gagagan and Meeks, guards; Purnell, centre. The backs were Knell, McIver, Nevitt and Nicholson.

Bogar and Nicholson were outstanding on the passing end of several plays, while McIver also drew praise today for his work with the laterals. Bennett was used late in the drill for the first time in a week, giving a performance of accurate passing and smooth handling on his part in the other plays. Howson proved himself an adept pass receiver.

WESLEYAN ELEVEN READY.

Nine Veterans Will Be in Line-Up That Faces Colby.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Sept. 26.—The Wesleyan team closed its last practice of the week by working easily under a broiling sun. There were some short drills in signals, forward passing and kicking.

The team that faces Colby tomorrow has been a unit for two weeks. The starting aggregation will be composed of nine men who saw more or less service last year and two of last year's freshman team.

YALE TEAM ON EDGE FOR MAINE ELEVEN

Elis to Open Fifty-fifth Season in Bowl Today—Fourth Meeting of Rivals.

BOTH HOLD LIGHT DRILLS

Extreme Heat Curtails Practice of Squads—Booth to Go In During Second Half.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 26.—Yale will open its fifty-fifth football season in the Bowl tomorrow by meeting the University of Maine eleven in the fourth game played in their series.

The Maine series began in 1913 with a scoreless tie, was continued in 1915 with a 37-to-0 Yale victory and again in 1928 with a 25-to-0 score. In the last meeting Maine exhibited a short forward pass that held the Elis back until late in the contest.

Yale probably will use three sets of players tomorrow. Maine possesses two clever halfbacks in Sims and Moran. Captain Borne and Davis are the only ones left of those who played here two years ago. Yale will alternate its first and second strings of backs, and Coach Mal Stevens said tonight that he had not decided which to start.

Engage in Signal Work.

Both elevens were on the gridiron this afternoon for signal work. The visitors arrived on an early morning train and were in the Bowl nearly two hours. Extreme heat caused Coach Fred M. Brice to make the practice light. Coach Stevens ordered the lightest afternoon of work since the squad reported Sept. 15.

Yale's first squad was expanded to forty tonight for tomorrow's contest, about fifteen members of the Grays, or scrubs, being promoted for possible tryouts.

The following reserves were sent to the Blues: Belous, Flygare, Gould, Heim, Betner, Church, Conklin, Conner, Cruickshank, Esselstyn, Levering, MacArthur, Madden, Munson, Sargent, Sullivan, Uihlein and Whiting.

Yale to Use Pass Often.

Indications tonight were that Albie Booth, star of the Yale attack last season, will be reserved for the second half of tomorrow's game, when he will run the eleven, with Al Beane, Jack Muhlfeld or Walter Levering as halfbacks and Kempton Dunn, fullback.

Yale will use the forward pass frequently, varied with quick shift plays.

The probable starting lineup:

Yale.		Maine.

SQUAD AT HARVARD HAS LIGHT PRACTICE

Players Close Second Week of Work With Easiest Drill This Season.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 26.—Owing to the heat and a long list of minor injuries the Harvard football squad closed its second week of practice with the lightest session of the year. Varsity and substitutes were excused from hard work, the most strenuous drill being on the charging machine.

No work was done on the dummies, most of the time being spent with the backs on forward and lateral passes, while the linesmen were on the machine.

In the signal drill there was no change in the first team, with Harding and Ogden, ends; Myerson and Kales, tackles; Trainer and Richards, guards; Ticknor, centre; Wood, quarter, and Mays, White and Devens, backs.

The first substitute team included Hageman and Moushegian, ends; Upton and Finlayson, tackles; Bancroft and Brooks, guards; Hallowell, centre; Hughley, quarter, and Scherrey, Batchelder and Crickard, backs.

This second set of backs promises to be fast and powerful. For the first time in years it looks as though Harvard will have two complete Team A back field units. The entire squad will rest from tonight until Monday, when it is hoped that most of the men on the injured list will be in shape to resume hard work.

ARMY TO OPEN CAMPAIGN.

Opposes Boston University Eleven at West Point Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Boston University's football squad, thirty-five strong, arrived here tonight and will open the local season with Army at Michie Stadium tomorrow.

Intense heat prevailed today and the Army squad's most strenuous work was a brief signal drill. There was also a blackboard talk and a demonstration of new plays.

The probable line-up:

Army		Boston U.
Carlmark	L. E.	McCullough
Price	L. T.	Knowles
Humber	L. G.	Harrington
Miller	C.	McCarthy
Hillsinger	R. G.	Quinn
Armstrong	R. T.	Lopel

TO CALL OUT LIGHTWEIGHTS

Yale to Form 150-Pound Eleven Next Week if Response Warrants.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 26.—Advocates of forming a 150-pound football eleven at Yale said tonight that a call will be made for candidates and, if sufficient response results, a team will be formed this Fall. The executive committee of the Yale Athletic Association has approved the idea.

The team will be formed when the class elevens are organized next week if enough interest is shown. Backers of the plan believe a schedule can be arranged with similar teams from other colleges.

Maine Coach, on Stevens's Bid, Watches Entire Yale Workout

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 26.—At the invitation of Dr. Marvin A. Stevens, head coach of the Yale football team, Coach Fred M. Brice of the University of Maine eleven, which will meet Yale in the Bowl tomorrow afternoon, witnessed the entire practice of the Yale squad this afternoon. For the first time this year practice was held behind closed gates, but the team ran through signals only and the backs and ends practiced forward passing. There was also a long punting practice.

25,000 SEE TEMPLE WIN IN NIGHT GAME

Playing Under Floodlights for First Time, Owls Open With Victory Over Thiel, 13-6.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Playing under floodlights for the first time, Temple University tonight opened its football season by defeating Thiel College, 13 to 6, in the Owl's Stadium before a crowd of 25,000 persons.

Thiel scored in the first few minutes of play after Swede Hansen fumbled a punt and Myers recovered on the 6-yard line. After a few line plunges, Myers, one of the stars of the game, ripped his way through the line for a touchdown. Wardel's try for goal failed.

A pass, Hansen to Soifer, scored for Temple a little later, but Whittock's kick failed.

With less than a minute left in the second period, a Thiel back tripped Quarterback Whittock as he was set to take a pass on Thiel's 2-yard line and the Owls were given the ball but did not have time to rush it over.

Early in the final period, after taking the ball down the field on open plays, Bonner drove off left end for 12 yards and the winning touchdown, and Whittock drop kicked a field goal for the extra point.

The line-up:

Temple (13).		Thiel (6).
L. Gudd	L. E.	Garthwaite
Klinger	L. T.	Franks
Bannak	L. G.	Leonard
Lipski	C.	Frampton

FIVE BIG TEN TEAMS BEGIN SEASON TODAY

Michigan Will Play Two Elevens—Ohio State, Minnesota and Indiana to Get First Tests.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (AP).—Tomorrow will produce something more than pre-season dope on the prospects of five Western football teams. As far as the big ten championship race is concerned, the showing of only four teams will be watched. Iowa, with only one conference game on its list, will oppose Bradley College.

Fortified with nearly two weeks of preparation, Michigan will engage two teams at Ann Arbor, Denison College and Michigan State Normal furnishing the opposition. Ohio State will open its season against Mount Union.

Minnesota will send out a powerful team against South Dakota State, but it will not be as powerful as Coach Crisler will have at his disposal later. Bill Brownell and Jack Manders, a pair of outstanding back-field men, will be available later.

Indiana will be tried out against Miami. The other members of the league will go through regular practice sessions, while Notre Dame will play its annual contest with the freshmen.

LAFAYETTE IS READY.

Light Drill Held for Opener With St. Thomas Today.

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Pa., Sept. 26.—Lafayette went through a light signal drill today and continued its work in perfecting a forward pass defense for the opening game with St. Thomas of Scranton tomorrow.

Steve Edraney, giant guard, returned to his place in the line, replacing Vanderbeck, who had been given preference during the earlier practice session. Galbos and Wermuth will start at the end posts for the first time, neither having held down wing positions before. Both are former back-field men.

LIGHT AMHERST WORKOUT.

Final Practice Held for Game With Vermont Today.

Special to The New York Times.

AMHERST, Mass., Sept. 26.—Coach Wheeler gave the Amherst football team a light workout this afternoon in the final practice before the game tomorrow with Vermont.

After a short kicking drill, with some of the back field men punting and the others catching, the rest of the session was devoted to receiving final instructions for tomorrow's contest. Del Stallings, head line coach, tutored the forwards in developing an airtight defense and an aggressive offense.

LEHIGH TO PLAY URSINUS.

Signal Drill Ends Preparations for Opening Game Today.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 26.—Lehigh's football season gets under way tomorrow, Ursinus being met after a lapse of several years. Three weeks of intensive training concluded in the stadium today, when for twenty minutes Coach Tate drilled three elevens in signal practice.

NEW METHODS SPUR HOLY CROSS ELEVEN

BACK FIELD IS STRONG

Material Pleases Mentor, Whose Chief Problem Is Development of the Line.

This is the eighteenth of a series of articles on Eastern football teams and their prospects for the season.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

Special to The New York Times.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 26.—From the tall-timbered Pacific Northwest, where men are altitudinous and the coaches like it, Captain John J. McEwan has come 3,000 miles back across the continent to transfer his base of operations to the steep slopes of Mount St. James and usher in a new régime in Holy Cross football.

Schooled in the exacting and venerated system of line play as taught by the analytical Colonel Pot Graves at West Point and an exponent of the double wing-back formation B at the University of Oregon in 1927, a year before Pop Warner definitely committed himself to B instead of formation A, Captain McEwan's methods represent an ideal combination of the best features of the old tenets of defense and the modern conceptions of attack.

It is the same system that Major Sasse is employing at West Point, where the Graves tradition is firmly rooted and the Warner offense has been installed. But it has its points of differentiation from the Army formation and all other Warnerian models in the East and even from the original itself, for Warner is reported to have abandoned B for formation C, with a balanced line.

The distinguishing feature of this McEwan formation is the position of the quarterback. The other ten men take the conventional positions, with the ends in tight in an unbalanced line, the wing-backs just outside of and a yard to the rear of the flanks, and the fullback three yards behind the line. The quarterback, however, is placed seven yards back of the ball, and in reality it is a kick formation, though not quite as much protection is afforded to the kicker as in the orthodox punt formation.

Always Constant Threat.

The merit of this formation is that in addition to furnishing a modus operandi of spinners, reverses and all the other typical Warner plays, it is also a constant passing and kicking threat that keeps the opposition in the dark as to what is coming.

The installation of the double wing-backs and the unbalanced line at Holy Cross is regarded as a momentous event here and has had a decided effect in accelerating interest in the team and in inspiring the squad. But in reality, there is a great deal of similarity between the formation that McEwan uses and the one that Cleo O'Donnell employed here for years.

Under O'Donnell Holy Cross launched almost all of its plays from kick formation, and although only one wing-back was used behind a balanced line the men who remain from last year's squad are experiencing no great difficulty in adapting themselves to the double wing-kick formation.

Well Off in Secondaries.

The situation here is closely similar to that obtaining at Harvard, where there is a considerable drop between the first team and the second. That drop is not noticeable at Holy Cross in the back field, for the Purple is better off in secondaries than it has been for several years. It is in the line, and particularly at the ends, where both of last year's regulars, Alzerini and Kucharski, were lost, that the stringency exists.

However, in spite of the absence of Weiss, an exceptionally fine guard, who was expected to return, and the loss of such men as Blaum, Gannon, Sweeney and Bergen in the line and Klarmon, Finn, Meegan, Clancy, Manfreda and Dougherty in the back field, the outlook is far from discouraging. There is a great deal of fine material from the 1929 freshman team, and if the squad is fortunate enough to escape injuries until the replacements have had time to become seasoned, Brown, Fordham, Rutgers, Harvard and Boston College all will have their hands full against the Purple.

In Phil O'Connell, Baker, Kelley and Captain Garrity, McEwan and his assistant, George Pease, have a back field of exceptional speed and power. Baker ranks among the best kickers in the East, booting a beautiful high spiral consistently in practice from fifty to sixty yards. He is also a fair passer and a fast, hard running back of splendid physique.

Handicapped by Injury.

Garrity, who has been handicapped by an arm injury, is built on the same clean, rugged lines and weighs 180 pounds. Kelley, a sophomore, is both fast and solid, and O'Connell is regarded as the finest back of them all, a youth of average size who thrives on punishment and drives through a line like an express train.

Besides these four, there are Donovan, who may get Garrity's job in the opening game tomorrow if the captain is not in the best of shape; Clifford, understudy to O'Connell at quarter; Coakley, Murray, Mantelli, Griffin, Byrne, Rovinsky and Richer. Of these, all except Byrne and Richer are sophomores.

The schedule:

Sept. 27, St. Bonaventure.

Oct. 4, Providence; 11, Catholic University; 18, Fordham; 25, Brown at Providence.

Nov. 1, Rutgers at New Brunswick; 8, New River State; 15, Harvard at Cambridge; 22, Loyola (Chicago); 29, Boston College at Boston.

WILLIAMS ELEVEN READY.

Meets Rochester Today in Its Opening Contest of Year.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Sept. 26.—Williams opens its football season tomorrow, meeting the University of Rochester.

Williams will start with eight veterans, two substitutes of last season and one sophomore in its line-up. Coach Caldwell topped off preparations with a signal drill today. The probable line-up:

Express Their Joy as Cardinals End Sensational Drive—Pennant Third in Last Five Seasons.

By The Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26.—It will be the Cardinals versus the Athletics in the world's series.

Gabby Street's St. Louis team today qualified to uphold the honor of the National League against the Philadelphia Athletics, American League champions, in this year's baseball classic by gaining a 10-to-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates and clinching the 1930 league pennant, the St. Louis club's third in the last five seasons.

Although Chicago defeated Cincinnati today, the Cubs are three full games behind St. Louis and with only two more games to play, the Cardinals could lose both and still win the flag.

Despite chilly weather that smacked of football days, some 10,000 fans went wild as the Cards climaxed their sensational drive that lifted them from a poor fourth to first place in the closing weeks of the season.

Haines Outpitches Brame.

To Jesse Haines, dean of the Cardinals' hurling staff, and a veteran of their two other world's series campaigns, fell the honor of clinching this year's pennant. Haines outpitched Ervin Brame of the Pirates to chalk up the Cardinals' twenty-first victory in the last twenty-four games. Since Aug. 1 the Cardinals have won 43 of 55 games and have boosted their percentage mark more than 100 points.

While Haines was none too steady today, his mates backed him up with the same heavy hitting that has been a big factor in their victorious drive down the stretch. One big inning, the fourth, was all the Cardinals needed, seven runs rattling across the plate before the side could be retired. A home run by Watkins was mixed in with hits by Hafey, Mancuso, Gelbert, Douthit, Frisch and Bottomley to bring in the seven tallies.

The remainder of the Cardinal scoring was done in the sixth. A single by Haines, Adams's double, a triple by Frisch and Bottomley's double resulted in three runs.

Pirates Score Two in Third.

The Pirates started as though they might delay the Cardinals' pennant-clinching program. Paul Waner hit a home run into the right centre field pavilion in the third, scoring Brame who had singled. They picked up another run in the fifth on a walk to Dugas, Paul Waner's single and an infield out.

Gus Suhr scored Pittsburgh's fourth run in the sixth with a homer into the right field pavilion, and the Pirates' last run came in the seventh when Paul Waner walked, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored on Grantham's single.

Haines held the Pirates to eight hits while St. Louis gathered sixteen.

Tomorrow the Cards will be feted with a parade and celebration that will be a fitting honor to a team that made one of the most sensational dashes to a pennant in National League history.

Amplifier Horn at Shibe Park Again Robs Ruth of Home Run

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Shibe Park's amplifier horns may not have been placed where they are with the direct purpose of depleting Babe Ruth's home-run crop, but today, for the second time this year, a drive from the Bambino's bat, clearing the right-field wall by a dozen feet, struck one of the horns projecting above the wall and bounced back into the field.

This accident reduced what would have been Ruth's forty-eighth homer of the year to a two-base hit. On opening day here he was prevented from making his first homer of the year by the same mischance.

DOUBLE BY SIMMONS TURNS BACK YANKS

Smash in Ninth Sends Winning Run Across for Athletics, Who Triumph, 7 to 6.

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Al Simmons was the big winner in his batting championship duel with Lou Gehrig today, two hits to none, and, furthermore, his second safety, a double to left centre in the ninth, drove home the winning run of the Athletics' second straight victory over the Yankees. The score was 7 to 6.

The teams were tied at the end of the fifth, 4 to 4, and at the end of the sixth, 6 to 6. Then the deadlock held firm until Wuestling's wild throw trying to complete a double play on Schang's grounder advanced Schang to second with one out in the ninth.

Pipgras relieved Barnes and pitched to Simmons, but the burly slugger of the champions pounded a long liner between Cooke and Ruth, ending the game with 9,000 fans issuing vocal salvos.

Frank Barnes, the new Yankee southpaw, kept the Mack bats under fair control most of the time. His control of his own pitches wabbled in spots, however. In the first inning his first thirteen pitches missed the plate. The Athletics thereby scored two runs without any hits. After Barnes filled the bases with none out, Simmons's sacrifice fly scored Bishop.

Barnes's fourth pass filled the bases again, then an infield out scored Dykes. Charlie Perkins, Barnes's southpaw rival for the first four innings, sent home two Yankee runs with a pair of wild pitches. The most important hits for both sides were pop flies just beyond the reach of infielders.

FIELDING OF CARDS MATCHES RIVALS'

St. Louis's Fine Balance Offsets Excellent Defense of the Athletics.

FRISCH OUTSHINES BISHOP

Cards Excel Around Second Base—Outfields About Even, With Mackmen Better Behind Bat.

This is the second of a series of articles analyzing the teams which will meet in the world's series.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Continuing the analysis of the defensive play of the Cardinals and Athletics, we come to the fielding, where again one finds the St. Louis entry in the forthcoming world's series possessing that remarkably fine balance which likewise characterizes its pitching staff. And while in this case it may not be sufficient to give the Cardinals any decided advantage, it should at least place them on a par with the two-time champions of the American League.

Most striking of all is the fact that it is this excellent balance alone that enables the Cards to rate a defensive ranking equal to that of the Mackmen, for of the four clubs which dashed down the homestretch in the National League, the St. Louisans probably had fewer glamourous points about them than any of the others. When the Cubs are mentioned one at once thinks of their superb outfield. The Robins had great pitching and the Giants' infield has frequently been referred to as one of the greatest of all time.

Not so with the Cardinals, who at no time were considered to have the greatest of anything, yet on the whole showed enough to come from apparently nowhere in the final month and rush past their more highly touted rivals. This rare balance, too, may explain why the Cardinals throughout the year were called the ball player's team.

Many Players Picked Cards.

Early last Spring a vast majority of players inclined to take an impartial view of the National League race declared they liked the Cards' chances best, and even late in August, when no end of mishaps seemingly had put the St. Louisans definitely out of the running, many players warned their friends among the writers "to watch out for Street's gang if it ever gets straightened out."

Essentially it is a workmanlike sort of array that Gabby Street has at his command, in the main a well-seasoned group of players to whom a world's series will mean little more than the crucial tests against the Giants and Robins in which they climaxed their spectacular dash to the top a short while back. Even less disturbing to them will be the fact that they will be opposing a team which only a year ago swept one National League contender aside and now, still remaining wholly intact, will enter its second straight big series.

Foxx, Bishop, Boley and Dykes have for two consecutive seasons given Connie Mack a first class defensive infield. But it cannot in any way be said to be superior to the Cardinals' quartet consisting of Bottomley, Frisch, Gelbert and Adams. In fact, it is to be doubted whether on occasion the Mack four can stand up as steadily under heavy fire as the Cardinal group.

Foxx Has Edge on Bottomley.

Foxx, a younger man, may be considered to have an edge on Bottomley, who has not had one of his best seasons, but Sunny Jim has played a prominent part in the recent Cardinals' drive and may enter the series again at the top of his game.

Around the all-important second base sector the Cardinals move strikingly to the fore, inasmuch as Frisch and Gelbert must be ranked as superior fielders to Bishop and Boley. Particularly is this true of Frisch, who still ranks as one of the outstanding second basemen in the game and a brilliant performer when the stakes are highest.

At third the advantage veers slightly back to the Athletics, with Dykes rated to be a better all-around third baseman than Adams, though here again the Cardinals possess a player of high calibre when the steadiest sort of baseball is demanded.

Incidentally, it might also be noted that while statistics of two world's series teams compiled over a season's play in their respective leagues may shed little light on what these teams may be capable of in the series itself, it nevertheless is significant that the Cardinal infield executed something like fifty more double plays during the past year than the Athletics. If nothing else, this would indicate considerably swifter movements around second base on the part of Frisch and Gelbert than Bishop and Boley.

Outfields Both Strong.

Continuing on into the outfield, there is, defensively, scarcely anything to choose. Simmons, Haas and Miller, the Mack trio, are three dependable workmen, excellent ground coverers, who go about their daily business of playing batters, spurting under high flies and heading off line drives in a manner that has become a sort of second nature to them.

But the same is true of the Cardinals' outer gardeners, Hafey, Douthit, Watkins and Blades. Watkins, whom Street now uses regularly in the outfield when the opposing pitching is right-handed, may be slightly below the standard of the others as a fielder, but this is more than offset by the excellent work of Hafey and Douthit, who could be ranked even above Haas and Simmons.

Behind the bat, of course, the advantage admittedly goes to the Athletics, where Mickey Cochrane still holds forth as the greatest one-man catching department of his time. Especially may this become even more pronounced if a recent injury prevents Jimmy Wilson, the Cards' first-string catcher, from appearing in the series. But this may not develop into as serious a handicap as at first supposed, for in Mancuso the Cards certainly have a highly capable understudy to Wilson.

Summed up, it would appear that neither side will enter the coming clash with any decided defensive advantage. For where the Mackmen, bordering almost on the point where it can be referred to as a veteran array, will line up practically the same as they did last October, the Cardinals, too, will have a thoroughly experienced team, many of whose members likewise have sampled world's series play in other years.

ROCHESTER WINS AND TIES SERIES

Routs Louisville, 8-1, to Even Games Between Minor League Champions.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP).—Behind the brilliant twirling of John Berly, the Rochester Red Wings, International League champions, evened the little world's series with the Louisville Colonels here today, taking the second game, 8 to 1.

Joe Brown, Rochester third baseman, was the game's hitting star, getting four safe blows. Wilkinson pitched for Louisville until he was relieved in the eighth by Penner. The Colonels tried to put on a rally in the ninth, but failed to score despite a single by Layne and a walk to Herman with one out.

Both Berly and Wilkinson were wild and were hit freely in the first three innings, but the Red Wings made better use of their blows.

CUBS UPSET REDS; CLINCH 2D PLACE

Wilson's 54th Home Run With Cuyler on Base Provides Margin in 7th, 7 to 5.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (AP).—The Cubs clinched second place in the National League but lost out in their futile chase after the Cardinals today as they defeated the Reds, 7 to 5, in the second game of the concluding series of the season. Although victorious, the Cubs remained three games behind as the Cards clinched the title by defeating Pittsburgh. The clubs have only two games apiece to play.

Hack Wilson's fifty-fourth home run with Cuyler on base provided the margin of victory as it capped a seventh-inning attack that brought the Cubs from behind. Blair shared the day's hitting honors with Wilson by smashing out a triple, a double and a single that accounted for three runs. The playing on both sides was hampered by a strong cold wind that made fielding difficult.

GARDEN ABANDONS THE SHARKEY BOUT

Postponed Match With Campolo Dropped—Latter Opposes Indoor Fight on Same Terms.

BOXING MONOPOLY BROKEN

Sharkey Gets Written Release From Garden—Receives $5,000 for Training Expenses.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

The proposed heavyweight elimination contest between Jack Sharkey and Victorio Campolo, scheduled for the Yankee Stadium on Thursday night under the auspices of the Madison Square Garden Corporation but postponed by rain, collapsed completely yesterday. And with it came a break in the monopoly which the Garden has held on the heavyweight situation practically from 1919, when Jack Dempsey won the title from Jess Willard at Toledo.

President William F. Carey of the Garden announced the abandonment of the match after spending most of Thursday night and yesterday morning trying to avert this result to a match which, at best, seemed foredoomed from a financial standpoint.

It developed that Campolo was strongly opposed to transferring the bout indoors and insisted on the match being held last night or tonight. As an alternative he demanded the Garden increase his purse from the $7,500 for which his contract called to $20,000 which was guaranteed him under an old contract with the Garden. This proposal did not appeal to the Garden and the match was abandoned.

Campolo's objection to fighting indoors was based on his remuneration. He was guaranteed $7,500 and 15 per cent of the receipts in excess of $200,000. A $200,000 gate indoors is impossible, it was explained by Luis Gutierrez, who is now associated in the management of Campolo, in extenuation of his demand for $20,000 for Campolo in an indoor bout.

Sharkey had been guaranteed $100,000 for the bout, but the collapse of the match voided this contract, according to Johnny Buckley, manager of the Boston heavyweight. Buckley received $5,000 for training expenses and exhibited a written release from the Madison Square Garden Corporation, which, he said, made Sharkey a free agent, severing the ties that have bound him exclusively to the Garden. Sharkey now stands with Young Stribling among leading heavyweights who are not bound to the Garden.

Campolo said he did not seek remuneration for training expenses and said his disappointment was so keen he was considering retirement. He pointed out that his desire for a chance at the championship was his only reason for pursuing the career of a boxer, since he and his family are independently wealthy.

Campolo said he planned to return to his native Buenos Aires, leaving Friday, and added he was considering an offer of 100,000 pesos to fight George Godfrey there in December.

Hoppe Wins Two Matches.

Willie Hoppe, who is meeting all comers in three-cushion billiard matches at the Strand Billiard Academy, defeated Frank Smith, 50 to 9 in 34 innings, yesterday afternoon, and John Willard, 50 to 8 in 39 innings, last night. High runs were: Hoppe 6, Smith 2; Hoppe 7, Willard 2.

Keys Score High Series, 2,656.

The opening games in the Bell Laboratory Bowling League were rolled at Dwyer's Broadway Alleys last night. The Keys team registered high series of 2,656, and the Coils team high game of 913.

Allison-Van Ryn Gain Final In Pacific Southwest Doubles

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26 (AP).—Displaying the best game they have shown in the Pacific Southwest tennis championships, Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, and Johnny Van Ryn, Orange, N. J., today won their way to the final in the men's doubles by defeating Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, and Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, in straight sets, 6–3, 6–2, 6–1.

Berkeley Bell of Austin, Texas, and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., defeated Cliff Sutter of New Orleans and Bruce Barnes of Austin, 6–2, 6–4, 6–4, in the other semi-final.

Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and her daughter Dorothy staged a surprise in the quarter-finals of the women's doubles by defeating Miss Dorothy Weisel and Miss Mary Greef, 4–6, 7–5, 7–5. However, the Bundy combination was eliminated in the semi-finals by Miss Marjorie Gladman and Miss Josephine Cruickshank, 7–5, 6–2.

GASTON OF RED SOX DEFEATS SENATORS

Limits Former Mates to Seven Scattered Hits in 7-to-1 Triumph at Boston.

BOSTON, Sept. 26 (AP).—The Red Sox cost Bumps Hadley $500 bonus money today by tagging a 7 to 1 defeat on the Senators. Hadley has an agreement with his management that he gets $500 for every victory over fifteen, and as he won his fifteenth a few days ago he was out for his bonus today.

It was the second straight victory out of three games played for the Red Sox, and Milton Gaston, a former Washington hurler, gave his old mates only seven scattered hits. He also drove in two runs and his battery mate, Johnny Heving, drove in three. Rabbit Warstler of the Red Sox handled eleven chances flawlessly in the field.

Hadley drove in the only Washington run with a double, but was out trying to stretch it into a triple.

JERSEY CITY MEET DRAWS TRACK STARS

TOLAN FAVORED IN DASH

Berlinger, Furth, Utterback and Osborn to Seek National Pentathlon Honors.

By ARTHUR J. DALEY.

With at least one national champion in every invitation event on the program and with even this imposing list considerably augmented by Olympic, intercollegiate, Canadian and British Empire title-holders, the athletic division of the Jersey City Tercentenary celebration will be staged at Pershing Field in Jersey City this afternoon.

Inasmuch as no admission fee will be charged, John J. Flaherty Jr., the meet chairman, announced last night that a crowd of about 30,000 persons was expected to witness the 685 athletes in competition. And even these figures will be exceeded when one takes into account the countless thousands who will witness the 12-mile modified marathon through the Jersey countryside, an added feature of the meet at Pershing Field.

The 100-yard dash, the 440-yard run and the 880-yard run are likely to be the outstanding track events, with leading speedsters in the United States and Canada entered. Eddie Tolan, world's record holder for the century, will be the favored American in the dash, while Alex Wilson of Notre Dame and Canada, one of the greatest quarter and half milers in the world, will be hard pressed to win in both his events.

The national pentathlon championship will form part of the program as Barney Berlinger, Sol Furth, Everett Utterback, Harold Osborn and other stars vie for the laurels now held by Paul Courtois of the N. Y. A. C.

The outstanding entries in the invitation events:

100-Yard Dash—Eddie Tolan, Michigan; Charlie Farmer, North Carolina; Leigh Miller, Canada; Pete Bowen, N. Y. A. C.; William Christie, Canada; Dick Lacey, N. Y. A. C.

One-Mile Run—Conger; Sears; Venzke; L. Miller, Millrose A. A.; Gus Moore, Brooklyn Harriers; F. C. Bayley, N. Y. A. C.

440-Yard Hurdles—Johnny Gibson, Bloomfield Catholic Lyceum; Maxwell; John Tomasko, N. Y. A. C.

High Jump—George Spitz, N. Y. A. C.; Harold Osborn, Illinois A. C.; Fred Babor, N. Y. A. C.; Everett Utterback, Brooklyn Harriers.

Broad Jump—Al Bates, Meadowbrook Club; Ed Hamm, Georgia Tech; Lemoine Boyle, University of Pennsylvania; Sol Furth, unattached; Utterback.

International Medley Relay—Canada (Miller, Pickard, Wilson and Christie); United States (Tolan, Bowen, Lewis and Beetham or Conger).

Women's 440-Yard Sprint Relay—Canada (Misses Rose O'Neil, Dallas Creamer, Alda Wilson and Agnes Morris); United States (Misses Maybelle Gilliland, Carrie Jansen, Jessie Cross and Loretta McNeil).

Nathional Pentathlon Championship—Furth, Sexton, Osborn, Utterback, Berlinger, Howard Jones, N. Y. A. C.; Joe Deering, Yale; George Cronin, Rutgers; Felix Larkin, Fordham; Paul Courtois, N. Y. A. C.; George Plansky, Boston A. A.

Marathon—Clarence De Mar, Melrose; Bill Agee, Baltimore; Eddie White, Tappen Post; Jack O'Reilly, Canada; Vernon Morgan, England; Fred Ward, Millrose A. A.; Harvey Frick, unattached; Louis Gregory, St. Joseph's Catholic Club; Jimmy Henigan, Dorchester Club.

Jones Beats Sweetser, 9-8, to Gain U. S. Golf Final; Homans Defeats Seaver, 1 Up

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

eight years ago, when he was in his prime, it is unlikely that he could have won from Jones today. Once Bobby got that bad patch of golf behind him he completely forgot all about his previous mistakes, and from the twelfth hole this morning through the tenth hole this afternoon he was invincible.

Only twice during that final stretch of sixteen holes did he exceed par figures. One was at the short third, where he hooked his iron down the bank to the left of the green and failed to pitch back close enough to hole. The other time was when he drove a shade too far to the right, playing the sixth hole, his ball lodging in long grass near the root of an apple tree.

This time he played a remarkable golf shot, tearing through the thick, heavy grass with a No. 3 iron and almost putting the ball on the green 200 yards away. He had but a little chip left to get his 4 there, but hit it weakly and was unable to get down his putt. Altogether, he had five birdies, three of which came on the last four holes of the match to turn it into a complete rout and to make due amends for the setback that he received at Sweetser's hands back in the days when he found the road to glory less smooth than he is finding it at present.

Narrowly Misses an Eagle.

Fully 15,000 persons must have been grouped around the tenth green this afternoon when Jones closed out the match by pitching almost into the hole for an eagle 2 and being conceded a birdie 3 and the match after Jess's putt for a 3 passed the hole.

Those 15,000 had thundered after Bobby and Jess from the time they left the first tee this afternoon until the match ended. Despite the heat, which was terrific, they ran from tee to green and from green to tee, leaping over brooks, ducking their heads under ropes, digging their heels into the sides of hills—anything to get a peep at the great man from the South.

On another part of the course a far greater battle was being fought by the two youngsters, Homans, just come into manhood, and Seaver, about to enter college, but most of the spectators had no eyes for them until the Jones match was over.

They wanted to see only Bobby. Even an occasional glimpse, which was all the majority of them got, was satisfying. And while the sight they saw was one of a fine golfer being led to disaster, yet they felt amply repaid for all their trouble, all their inconvenience by seeing Jones play the last few holes of the match.

Sweetser Four Down at Lunch.

After getting Bobby back to only 1 up going to the eleventh hole in the morning and still 1 up going to the thirteenth, Sweetser dropped three out of the last four holes to be 4 down at lunch time. In the afternoon Jones was away like a flash and the only hole Sweetser won was the third, where the Atlantan missed the green. Bobby began making a run-away of the affair when he curled in a sensational putt of twenty feet or more for a birdie 3 on the fifth, to become 5 up, and after halving the sixth in 5s, he rapped in putts for birdies on two of the next four holes, running down a four-yarder for a 3 on the seventh and a twenty-footer for a 2 on the ninth and then pitching dead to the hole for a birdie 3 on the tenth, where the match ended.

About the only bad holes Bobby played during the day were the seventh, ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth this morning and even then he was only a stroke over par on each one, driving out of bounds on the seventh, bunkering himself on the ninth, three-putting the tenth, hooking his drive into the rough on the eleventh and taking three putts on the twelfth.

But while this was happening there was considerable wagging of heads and lifting of eyebrows. The fact is that people expect too much of Jones. He has brought it upon himself, however, for he has educated them up to a point where, unless he makes birdies on hole after hole, he's considered to be off his game.

Despite these mistakes he was even par on the day, and if that is not a wearing pace we don't know what is. In the morning he was out in 37 and home in 36 for a 73, while in the afternoon he was out in 34, two under par, and had a birdie on the tenth.

Sweetser Starts With a 6.

Whether or not Sweetser's bad start had anything to do with the decisiveness of his defeat is hard to say, but certainly he began inauspiciously, taking a 6 on the first hole, where he was in two bunkers on the way to the green; a 4 on the third by again reaching a bunker, half-topping a brassie shot, then pitching weakly to the fourth, where he had a 5, and hooking his drive into a brook on the way to the fifth and having to drop out for a penalty. Here he had another 6.

By that time he was 4 down to Jones's almost flawless golf, but his situation improved rapidly, while Bobby was having his little flare of trouble on the next six holes. But once Jones hit his true stride, Jess was left completely. Only on occasion did he produce the kind of golf he used to produce a few years ago and even then Jones more than matched it.

In contrast to Bobby's golf, Sweetser was ten above par on the first eighteen holes in the morning and five over to the turn in the afternoon, which is hardly the kind of golf to produce against Jones and get anywhere with it.

the fight between Homans and Seaver was much more spectacular. Theirs was a real battle, one that produced one thrill after another.

When Homans came off the eighteenth green this morning 5 down to the solidly built young Californian who hopes to soon gain a place on one of Pop Warner's Stanford football teams, it hardly seemed possible for him to pull the match out of the fire. Even though he did lose, this Coast youngster is a golfer. He's a fine shot-maker, and more than that, possesses a temperament that is a real asset. Nothing bothers him.

Homans on the other is a nervous type, deliberate, methodical, plodding. He doesn't give you the impression of being a fighter, but he is and he more than proved himself one today.

By sticking religiously to business and not permitting himself to give too much thought to the predicament he was in, Gene managed to whittle two holes off Seaver's lead by the time they reached the turn in the afternoon. He had to play even par to do it, and he had to make one of two marvelous recovery shots to prevent his rival from getting so far out in front as to preclude all possibilities of overtaking him.

One more hole came off Seaver's lead when he over-approached the tenth green, losing it to a par 4 for Homans. Right after that Gene had several jolts that would have discouraged a golfer lacking in the perseverance that he has. The first came on the twelfth hole, where he missed an approach and sent his ball into the rough between two bunkers to the right of the green. Seaver, with a tremendous drive (the Coast boy is one of the longest hitters in the game, had the hole wide open until he overran the green.

Homans saw a ray of hope in that and pitched out of the sand almost dead to the hole for what looked like a winning 4 until Seaver, after running his chi, almost six feet past the cup, holed out for a half.

Another came at the short thirteenth whene Gene, stall 2 down and the end not far away, just nibbled the hole with a long putt. Then, going to the thirteenth, he drove into the rough, hit a long iron into a bunker, came out and got down in one putt for another useful half.

Seaver Falters at Fourteenth.

Halves, however, weren't getting him anywhere. But on the next hole Seaver three-putted, and so they came to the sixteenth with Seaver still 1 up. Both drove into the rough, Seaver on the right and Gene on the left, and both played great second shots to the green, the Coast player beyond the hole and the New Jersey boy short.

Homans, away and putting uphill, left himself four feet short. Here was another trying situation, but Gene got out of it by holing the putt for a half, so that it was 1 up in the California's favor and 2 to play.

With the honor his, Homans drove a beautiful ball dead on the flag, but approximately seven feet beyond, while Seaver hooked into the rough far to the left of the green. The odds were all in Homans's favor now until Seaver came out only a few feet away and then laid Gene what looked to be a stymie after the latter had putted more than a yard past the hole. Homans studied the situation carefully for a long time, and then, finding just room enough to get into the hole past Seaver's ball, sank the putt to win the hole and square the match.

Such uphill fighting as he had been doing in the face of adversity deserved reward, and it came when he won the match with a par 4 on the home hole, Seaver hooking his second shot in between the traps on the left of the green and chipping quite beyond the pin. Seeing what had appeared to be a victory slipping out of his fingers, Seaver tried desperately to drop the putt, but the distance was too great, and, after missing the next, he waited until Gene holed a two-footer to score as fine a victory as has ever been won in any championship.

Homans Has Stellar Round.

Homans had a great round considering the adversity under which he played it. When he finished the match he had an even 70 for the afternoon round, par for the course. His rival had a 77, which is not bad for a youngster playing in his first tournament. In the morning Seaver was 75 to Gene's 79.

Tomorrow, then, it is Homans, who has never gone in a championship prior to this one, and Jones, the seasoned veteran. According to opinions expressed around the clubhouse, it will be easy for Bobby, but in the writer's estimation it won't unless, of course, Homans permits himself to be over-awed by the fact that he is playing Jones.

He won't be able to let Jones get away to such a lead as Seaver took on him today. Gene didn't putt particularly well this morning, but neither did his opponent for that matter. The latter went out in 37 to Homans's 40, Gene slicing to the rough on the second hole and putting his third shot into a bunker to take a 6, which cost him the hole and make him 1 down.

The Californian had a chance to win the third by holing a six-footer but missed and he three-putted the fourth, as did Homans, so there was no loss there. Seaver won the sixth, 4 to 5, Homans trapping his second, but lost the seventh to Gene's 4, pitching into a bunker, and he was still 1 up coming to the eighth.

Seaver Advances to 3 Up.

There he got down in one putt for a birdie 3, and when Homans took three putts on the ninth Seaver became 3 up. Another bunkered second shot cost Homans the tenth, making him 4 down, but he got one of the holes back by winning the eleventh, where Charley drove into the creek. Gene played the twelfth badly, losing it to a 5, but all the remaining holes were halved except the sixteenth, which Seaver won, 4 to 5, when Gene was stymied after being in the rough on his second and pitching out to within ten feet.

It was give and take between the two for the first three holes in the afternoon, Homans winning the second with a 5 to a 6 when Seaver hooked his drive, and the coast boy holing a fifteen-foot putt for a 2 on the third. Gene won the next two in 4s, dropping a fifteen-foot putt on the long fourth and almost holing out from a trap at the fifth, where Seaver took three putts.

That left Homans only three down, but he dropped back to 4 down after the next hole where he hooked an iron into a bunker and took two to get out. The seventh and eighth were halved and Gene won the ninth, 3 to 5, when Seaver sliced his tee shot into the brook.

At that point it looked like a hopeless proposition until Homans's persistency began to yield returns and the youngster's shots to go astray as they did on each of the last three holes.

Jones Starts With Birdie.

There isn't much more to say about the Jones-Sweetser match. Bobby began the round by holing a fifteen-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the first hole. He had all the best of the play to the second, hitting an enormous brassie shot up near the green, but getting no more than a half when he was short on a chip and when Sweetser pitched a beautiful machie-niblick on to the green.

Sweetser, who had been in two bunkers playing the first hole, got into another one playing the third, losing the hole to Jones who was well on, and then, on the fourth, after Jess had missed his brassie second and pitched his third short of the brook, Jones holed a fine putt of five yards, but with a lot of borrow.

Sweetser's hooked drive cost him the fifth, but after that he began to play fine golf. He had a fine number 3 iron shot, which left him putting for a birdie on the sixth, but failed to get it, and on the seventh Jones put his drive out of bounds and, after playing for the green, conceded the hole. It was Jess's first victory and it reduced his deficit to three holes.

Bobby had a putt for a 3 on the eighth, but missed it and then drove into a bunker on the ninth. The loss on those two holes left him only 2 up, and when he also lost the tenth by taking three putts the situation didn't look nearly so good as it had a few holes previous.

Jones Stymies Opponent.

Each had trouble on the eleventh, and when Sweetser finally extricated himself Jones laid him a direct stymie, which lost him the hole. Bobby left himself a long way from the pin on his approach to the twelfth and took three putts. They halved the short hole in 3s, Sweetser getting well inside Jones on the green, and also the fourteenth, but on the fifteenth Bobby ran down a fifteen-footer for a birdie to become 2 up once more.

The seventeenth and eighteenth were bad ones for Sweetser, who took 3 to get down from just short of the green on one and putting his second into a bunker on the other, making him 4 down.

Jones missed a great chance on the first hole in the afternoon when he failed to get down a two-yard putt after playing a magnificent shot to the green out of a bunker, and on the second he sliced his ball out of bounds.

It was on the fifth that Jones's putter began working. He holed a great, looping, side-hill putt there and, after halving the sixth in 5s, dropped another only slightly shorter for a birdie 3 on the seventh. He missed a short one on the eighth, but ran down a dandy on the ninth, and finished the match by pitching within a few inches of the hole on the tenth.

THRONG OF 15,000 IN JONES'S GALLERY

Attendance Record for Title Golf Likely to Be Set Today at Merion.

Special to The New York Times.

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 26.—Fully fifteen thousand wildly enthusiastic spectators came to the Merion Cricket Club today to see the semi-final matches in the amateur championship.

If there is another good crowd tomorrow, which appears likely, the attendance mark for the week should come close to shattering all records. It was stated here today that up to last night the financial receipts were more than $40,000.

That is a lot of money to pay for the privilege of being trampled on, more money than will come in should Bobby Jones retire. Championships have developed into one-man shows, purely and simply. The people who attend them come for one reason and one reason only. They want to see Jones and especially do they want to see him this year when he has a chance to establish a record that may stand for all time.

Jess Sweetser's father and mother were here today, the latter coming down from her home in the northern part of New York State to see Jess play Bobby.

One thing is in Homans's favor tomorrow. He's played Bobby before. The two met in the second round of the amateur championship the year it was played at Minikahda and Jones won by 3 up and 2 to play. But, of course, that was an eighteen-hole match.

This Seaver boy looks like one of the coming golfers. He's got the weight, around 185 pounds, and is well proportioned. He has tremendous hands, hits his shots splendidly through the fairway, his driving being exceptionally long, but his putting is not particularly impressive. He's an all-around athlete, playing baseball, basketball and football in addition to golf.

MISS BROOKS WINS ONE-DAY GOLF PLAY

Knickerbocker Entry Has Low Net and Low Gross in Field of 40 at Ridgewood.

Special to The New York Times.

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., Sept. 26.—Miss Jane Brooks of Knickerbocker took low net and gross honors in the New Jersey Women's Golf Association one-day tournament at the Ridgewood Country Club today.

She scored an 80, going out in 37 and coming back in 43. Her handicap of two strokes gave her the best net of the day, 78.

Mrs. Peter Van Vlaanderen of Deal took second gross, as well as net, with 86—4—82. A field of forty competed.

PENN DRILLS ON AERIALS.

Carlsten, Greene and Masters Display Their Skill.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Rolf Carlsten, former New York schoolboy star; Charley Greene of Forest Hills, L. I., and Walter Masters gave a good exhibition of forward passing as the University of Pennsylvania varsity football squad drilled under a torrid sun at River Field today. Carlsten's passes to Paul Riblett, veteran right end, pleased the coaches.

The varsity will drill at Franklin Field tomorrow morning and will see the Swarthmore-Drexel game in the afternoon.

POTTER LEADS FIELD IN NASSAU GOLF PLAY

Scores 76 in Qualifying Round of Invitation Tourney—Three Tied With 78s.

Special to The New York Times.

GLEN COVE, L. I., Sept. 26.—Dick Potter of the Nassau Country Club led a field of eighty-five golfers in the qualifying round of the annual Nassau invitation golf tourney today with a score of 76.

Max Kaesche of Ridgewood, N. J., winner of the event for the last two years; R. A. Burdick, present Nassau champion, and Winthrop Hoyt of Cherry Valley, had 78s.

Last year's medalist, Gardiner White, also of the home club and metropolitan amateur champion in 1921, faltered on the greens and took an 83.

WHITCOMBE WINS BRITISH PRO TITLE

Triumphs Over Cotton, 4 and 2, in the Final Round of 1,000 Guineas Tournament.

WATFORD, England, Sept. 26 (AP).—C. A. Whitcombe defeated Henry Cotton, 4 and 2, today in the 36-hole final of the 1,000 guineas golf tournament, which carries with it the British professional title.

The brilliance of both players was illustrated by the fact that over a bogey 78 course Cotton played the first 18 holes in 72 and yet was three down to Whitcombe who, after taking only 20 for the first six holes, returned a card of 68 for the first round.

Cotton fought gallantly, halving the third with a birdie three. Whitcombe won the sixth with a birdie two, and Cotton halved the eighth with a birdie four, making the turn of the first 18 holes four down. He then faltered and was six down at the twelfth, but rallied to finish the first round three holes behind.

Cotton won the first and second holes in the afternoon, after having captured five of the last eight holes of the morning round, and then both players began slipping, failing to maintain their high standard of play. Whitcombe hung on and took the 17th and 18th for the match.

CALIFORNIA SCORES IN TWELVE-GOAL POLO

Beats Oasis and Camel Fours in Round-Robin Final—Pedley Makes Five Goals.

Special to The New York Times.

WESTBURY, L. I., Sept. 26.—Eric Pedley captured the individual scoring honors with five goals in leading the California polo four to victory in the final matches of the Meadow Brook twelve-goal Autumn Plate tournament at Belmont Field today.

The California team defeated the Oasis quartet, 5 to 3, in the first game of a round-robin and triumphed by a similar score over the Camel team in the second game.

The Camel and Oasis teams conceded victory to Pedley's team and called off their concluding four-period match, making the final score for the round-robin matches California 10, Oasis 3 and Camels 3.

MRS. STENZ REACHES FINAL AT BRONXVILLE

Beats Miss Surber in Clay Court Tennis—Miss Andrus Also Triumphs.

Special to The New York Times.

BRONXVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Bernard Stenz and Miss Dorothy Andrus, the first two seeded players, gained the final round in the third annual invitation clay court tennis tournament of the Bronxville Field Club today by repelling the onslaughts of two of the younger players in extra-set matches. They will meet in the final tomorrow.

Mrs. Stenz, winner of the first two tournaments here, was hard pressed to turn back Miss Grace Surber at 6—4, 5—7, 7—5. Mrs. Stenz was a bit too experienced for Miss Surber and her superior steadiness aided her to win.

In the other match, Miss Andrus had too much tournament background for Miss Carolyn Roberts, who again put up the same brilliant game that she displayed yesterday in eliminating Miss Norma Taubele, the New York State titleholder. Miss Andrus finally won at 6—4, 6—8, 6—3.

In the doubles, Mrs. Christian Muhl and Miss Roberts turned back Mrs. Elsie Pritchard and Miss Clara Greenspan, 6—4, 6—1, while in the other semi-final match Miss Alice Francis and Miss Andrus defeated Mrs. Fred Letson and Miss Grace Surber, 8—6, 6—3.

Miss Kirkham Wins Golf Title In Canada, Beating Miss Smith

MOUNT BRUNO, Que., Sept. 26 (Canadian Press).—Miss Marjorie Kirkham, Forest Hills, Montreal, captured the Canadian women's closed golf championship when she defeated Miss Cecile Smith, Toronto Golf Club, the Ontario champion, 1 up, after a tense match over the course of the Mount Bruno Country Club this afternoon.

It was an exciting match, in which Miss Smith carried a lead from the first to the sixteenth hole. Miss Kirkham, the Montreal city and district champion, squared the match by taking the sixteenth and then went 1 up at the seventeenth, when she holed a 15-foot putt. The eighteenth was halved.

4 TIE FOR MEDAL AT PINE VALLEY

Tipple, Driggs, Flinn, Blaney Score 151s in Crump Memorial Golf Play.

PERKINS NEXT WITH 152

Former British Champion Followed by Mackenzie, Who Returns 153 for 36 Holes.

Special to The New York Times.

PINE VALLEY, N. J., Sept. 26.—E. R. Tipple, British golfer; William Blaney, Brae Burn; G. N. Flinn Jr., Sewickley, and Eddie Driggs of Lakeville tied for the qualifying medal in the George Arthur Crump memorial tournament over the Pine Valley links today, each requiring 151 strokes for the thirty-six holes.

Flinn was tied at the end of the first eighteen holes with W. B. McCullough, Huntingdon Valley; Roland Mackenzie and T. Philip Perkins at 75. Blaney and Tipple scored 76 and Driggs trailed with 79.

Perkins, former British champion, scored 77 and was fifth with 152. Mackenzie, taking 78 on his second round, was next with 153.

Match play in the first sixteen tomorrow will bring together a group of nationally known golfers, leading off with Driggs and Emery Stratton of Brae Burn, who failed to qualify in the national amateur when he accompanied Bobby Jones over the east course at Merion.

MISS VAN WIE'S 325 WINS 72-HOLE EVENT

Chicago Player Captures Golf Tourney by Eight-Stroke Margin Over Mrs. Hill.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (AP).—Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago won the 72-hole women's golf derby over the Glenview Country Club course today by an eight-stroke margin over Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, who finished second.

Miss Van Wie's four-round totals were 77, 79, 83, 86—325. Mrs. Hill's were 85, 77, 82, 89—333. Par for the 72-hole stretch was 324, or just one stroke less than the Chicago star's grand total.

A heavy wind struck the championship course today and all scores soared. So heavy was the wind that it was almost impossible to play fair golf, although Miss Van Wie and Mrs. Hill kept their drives low and escaped scores in the nineties.

PEGGY WEE VICTOR IN STAR CLASS RACE

Western Long Island Sound Sloop Takes Opener of Annual International Series.

TEMPE IV FINISHES NEXT

Is 40 Seconds Behind the Winner, While Vixen of Barnegat Bay Is Third at Baltimore.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 26.—Cutting a straight and true course, Peggy Wee, the Western Long Island Sound challenger, sailed by Arthur Knapp Jr., with Newell P. Weed as crew, duplicated her 1929 performance at New Orleans by winning the first race of the annual international series of the Star Class Yacht Racing Association at Gibson Island today.

J. Graham and C. Lowndes Johnson, champions of the Chesapeake Bay fleet of the International Association and winners of the world championship last year, were unable to finish better than sixth, although they improved their position steadily throughout the race after a bad start.

Peggy Wee was hard pressed throughout the ten-mile windward and leeward battle by a West Coast challenger, Tempe IV, sailed by Walton Hubbard, a veteran of many an international series and winner of the international championship in 1927.

Dittmar With Tempe IV.

Tempe IV, with T. R. Dittmar sailing as Hubbard's crew, finished just forty seconds behind the winner, while another Atlantic Coast entry, Vixen of Barnegat Bay, came in a minute and fifteen seconds behind Tempe IV.

Peggy Wee sailed a winning race from start to finish. She led the twenty-two starters across the line with the gun at 1:30 P. M. and was in front at every mark thereafter, although at several times it appeared that she had been headed.

The Johnsons were caught in the ruck at the start and for several minutes were unable to get free, finally coming clear of the van and keeping on one long port tack in toward the mouth of the Magothy. Two other stars kept the long port tack toward the south shore of the Magothy. They were Fleet Star from Gravesend Bay and the New Orleans Gulf challenger, Chico.

Appear to Hold Edge.

For a time it appeared that this trio, headed by Chico, was having the better of it. The three sloops seemed to be getting more wind than the stars further out in the bay. Finally the three came about and stood for the mark, drawing in toward the rest of the sloops.

It was soon evident that they had gained little if anything by their course and Peggy Wee rounded the first outer mark in first place, followed by Tempe IV and Vixen. Ripple rounded in tenth position.

The position of the leaders did not change thereafter, although supporters of Tempe IV had their hopes roused for a moment at the end of the second windward beat, when it appeared for a moment that Peggy Wee had overstood the mark, throwing the advantage to Tempe IV.

The two French boats from the Paris and Cannes fleets staged a match race for last place, Jacques Peytel and Jean Le Brun with Start leading J. Kelly and J. McClatchey in Licette across the line.

Lintik, the Philippine Islands challenger, finished in eleventh place, while Uulu, from the Hawaiian Islands was fifteenth. Joy, the English challenger, did somewhat better, finishing ninth.

The second event of the five-race series will be sailed tomorrow. The third race will be sailed Sunday and the fourth and fifth Tuesday and Wednesday.

Aqueduct Feature Is Captured by Sun Mission, 3 to 1, With Erin Next

SUN MISSION TAKES MELVILLE HANDICAP

3-to-1 Shot Defeats Erin by Nose, With Escutcheon Next, in Aqueduct Feature.

PANETIAN SHOWS THE WAY

Scores Over Romanesque, Completing Double for Eaby, Who Also Wins With Little Nap.

By BRYAN FIELD.

The upsets which have occurred at Aqueduct during the present meeting have been unusually high and another was added to the list yesterday when Dr. Irving Jacobs's Sun Mission carried 118 pounds to victory over the favorite and second choice in the Melville Handicap.

Only four started in this test of a mile, the outsider being Totalisator, the recent importation from England, which still is in process of acclimatization.

Sun Mission was a 3-to-1 shot and won by a nose from the Wheatley Stable's Erin, the 11-to-5 second choice. Escutcheon, Marshall Field's winner of the Alabama stakes at Saratoga, was made the 11-to-10 public choice and she finished two lengths behind Erin. Totalisator was a distant last.

Sun Mission is a colt which has had a lot of racing during the past Spring and Summer, and many of his races have been hard, grueling contests which may account for the indifferent support he received yesterday. There were comparatively few who fancied his chances.

Start Is Good.

When it came to the running, everything turned out differently. The start was a good one and Erin broke smartly. Escutcheon raced to even terms at once and what seemed to be a duel between these two immediately became a procession as Charles Kurtsinger on Erin eased back and let Escutcheon set the pace. Going to the far turn, Sun Mission was second and it appeared as if Erin had been overrated. But the drive was yet to come.

Half way around the bend, Sun Mission challenged and ran up on the outside of Escutcheon. Straightened out in the stretch he raced to even terms but was under the whip which seemed to give Escutcheon the best of it as she still was under a hand ride.

With attention concentrated on the front two, Erin was under way with a tremendous rush before most observers were aware of it. With her run yet to make, Erin charged along on the outside. Harold Thurber on Escutcheon and R. J. Fisher on Sun Mission realized their danger and went to work in earnest. In a moment all three were under the whip and the first to crack was the favorite.

That left Sun Mission and Erin to run on alone and they put on a thrilling finish right up to the wire with the colt getting the nod over the filly despite the fact that he was conceding her eight pounds. The time was 1:38 3-5, quite fast considering that the track was muddy.

Romanesque Is Second.

Another Wheatley Stable filly finished second in the next race, the Diablo Purse, when Romanesque, a highly fancied daughter of Sir Gallahad III and Erne, took the place behind George D. Widener's Panetian. Romanesque now has had two races and in each she has finished second. Panetian's race was a fine one and rather unexpected if the odds may be taken as a reflection of opinion.

The Widener horse was as good as 7 to 1, with Heavy Play developing for Benjamin Block's Moronge and Mrs. John D. Hertz's Outbound. The former was the 2-to-1 favorite and finished fourth and Outbound was the 5-to-2 second choice, landing fifth. Chickahominy was the one to get third back of Panetian and Romanesque.

Panetian, after a good start, never left the result in doubt and got home a length and a half ahead of the Sir Gallahad III filly. Jean Eaby was rider of Panetian and scored a double by the victory. He had been up on Little Nap, winner of the Polymelian Claiming Handicap earlier in the day.

DINAH DID UPSET IS VICTOR BY NOSE

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 26 (AP).—S. W. Labrot of Annapolis furnished the winner of the mile and seventy yards of the Maryland Matron Handicap today, when Dinah Did Upset took the measure of three other fillies.

Dinah Did Upset, to emerge victorious, was forced to display her best brand of speed. Ponce, who had the mount, sent her into the lead going to the first turn, as Molasses Jane raced right at the heels of the Labrot filly and in a bitter battle, Dinah Did Upset just lasted to get the verdict by a nose. Dustemall from the H. P. Whitney stable chased the pair home, beaten only by a head, while Snowflake, the only other aspirant, was a length further back.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

Closing In on the Golf Crown at Merion.

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 26.—The Emperor Jones is within putting distance of that fourth golf crown in a single year. If he makes it he will set a record that will stand until the fabled cows come home, or until another Bob Jones comes along, which amounts to about the same thing.

At noontime the Atlanta marching and rooting brigade agreed that Bob had played sloppy golf in his morning round against Sweetser. He did hit a few shots that strayed from the line and he also three-putted a couple of greens, but he was 4 up at the eighteenth and had an approximate medal score of 72. It may have been sloppy golf for the Atlanta wizard but it would have been great golf for anybody else.

Bob Jones attended Emory College and Harvard. Jess Sweetser went to Yale, Gene Homans is a Princeton product. Charley Seaver will head for Stanford University in a few days. College rivalry adds color to these golf campaigns. With Jones, Sweetser and Homans in the semi-final round, the Big Three in football fame was well represented on the links.

Charley Seaver is a big blond boy of 18 and an all-round athlete who hopes to make the football squad under Pop Warner at Stanford. He played basketball, baseball and allied sports at Hun School this past season. He was supposed to be heading for Princeton, but he changed his mind.

If Seaver had been putting well in the morning he would have swamped Homans before the halt for luncheon. As it was, missing at least three really short putts, he was 5 up at the half-way mark.

Broad of shoulder and packing 185 pounds of muscle, Seaver hits long, low screamers from the tee. There were times today when he was 30 and 40 yards ahead of Homans on the drives, and Homans doesn't bunt them from the tee, either.

Perhaps Seaver inherits his golf. His father, Everett H. Seaver, was once trans-Mississippi amateur champion as well as a famous fisherman and a crack rifle shot.

Friendly Enemies.

When Seaver came here he didn't know many of the boys, but he put up at the same hotel with Gene Homans and Phillips Finlay, and the three boys stuck together all through the week. They ate together and went to the movies at night together. This morning Homans and Seaver had breakfast together and journeyed to the course together. Then they teed up and the battle was on.

Jones appeared to be worrying a bit over the way he was hitting his shots. In fact, he said as much. "Something's wrong, but I don't know what it is," said Bob. Well, it didn't show in his score, so it couldn't have been anything serious like a broken arm or collarbone.

"It's that fourth championship that's weighing on him," said Jones senior. "If he could put that out of his mind he'd be better off." How much better off could anybody be at this stage of the battle?

Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics said he appreciated the strain under which Bob was working. "It's like trying for your fourth straight pennant," said Mickey. Incidentally, Mickey followed Jones for eighteen holes Thursday morning and then went to the ball park and got two singles and a double against the Yanks in three times at bat. Baseball managers might take a tip from that.

The heat seemed to affect Jess Sweetser. He was drenched with perspiration and sat himself down on the turf at every opportunity. He had a spell of sickness not long ago and the sizzling weather didn't help him any.

Jess wandered off the fairway on the way to the fourth green, but it didn't make much difference because Jones holed a fifteen-footer for a birdie anyway.

Short Putts.

On the next hole Jess hooked his drive to a running brook and was 4 down with only five holes played. It looked like a rout, but Jones tossed away a couple of shots here and there and Jess was back in the running at the tenth, being only 1 down.

At that point there was some alarm in the gallery. The spectators thought that Bob was slipping, and they were rooting for him to go through and round out a great record. But from the thirteenth tee to the home green Bob put on a rush that gave him six holes in 21 strokes and a lead of 4 up over the luncheon period. He was back in his stride again.

In the meanwhile Seaver was giving Slim Gene Homans a torrid trip around the links, but it was nothing to the wild whirl that Homans gave Seaver in the afternoon.

Starting a fellow 5 up is something of a handicap, but Homans whittled it away bit by bit and hauled up all square with Seaver on the seventeenth green. The Englewood golfer was pitching from traps and holing his putts while Seaver was missing the short ones.

Missing these little ones and seeing his lead melt away, the Coast youngster began to slip all along the line. With the match hanging in the balance he was wild from the seventeenth tee and off his course when he banged away at the eighteenth green.

That shows what golf can be in the way of ups and downs. Seaver defeated Homans 5 up in the morning and Homans defeated Seaver 6 up in the afternoon.

So it will be a slim, dark bespectacled golfer from Englewood against the stylish-stout barrister from Atlanta in the final tomorrow.

While almost everybody expects Jones to win, the rousing fight that Homans put up today indicates that he may lose when he meets Bob, but he won't be frightened out of the match.

Morheart slipped through on the inside at the bend and drew away to win nicely in hand. Abduction was hard hustled from the start and ran a good race. Bubsy C. was outrun in the final furlong, where she closed with a rush. Angry Plume closed fast under weak handling.

aWheatley Stable-Belair Stud entry.

Scratched—We Dun It.

Eastko, at home in the soft going, raced Black Feather into defeat and won galloping. Arras was never far from the leaders and finished gamely. Pourboire slipped through on the inside and finished gamely. Algara ran a good race. Cock Robin lacked speed and was never prominent. Black Feather quit badly.

Little Nap was much the best. He broke a bit slowly, went up very fast on the outside, closed with a rush in the stretch and won galloping. Squeaky, away fast, dropped back on the backstretch, but came again in the stretch and finished fast. Protractor displayed good speed, but tired badly in the stretch. Rock Dun had no mishap.

Owners—1, John Asta; 2, W. C. Clancy; 3, L. Perry; 4, Irving Jacobs; 5, A. C. Schwartz; 6, M. Polikoff; 7, W. A. Kelley; 8, J. P. White.

1317 FOURTH RACE—The Melville Handicap; $1,200 added; 3-year-olds and upward; one mile. Start good; won driving; place same. Winner, b. c., 4, by Sun Briar—Missinaibi. Trainer, H. Jacobs. Time—0:24⅕, 0:48⅘, 1:14⅕, 1:38⅗.

Sun Mission was perfectly ridden. He got away well but was allowed to rate to the top of the stretch, where he moved up fast and, taking the lead, held on gamely. He appeared beaten at the sixteenth pole but came again and just got up to win. Erin had plenty of early speed but was eased back around the turn. She came with a powerful rush in the stretch but hung badly at the end. Escutcheon ran into the lead early but stopped badly. Totalisator will win a race soon.

Owners—1, Irving Jacobs; 2, Wheatley Stable; 3, Marshall Field; 4, J. P. White.

1318 FIFTH RACE—Purse $1,000; allowances; 2-year-olds; five furlongs. Start good; won easily; place driving. Winner, br. c., by Galetian—Pan Maid. Trainer, A. J. Joyner. Time—1:00.

Scratched—Cuchulain, Outcry and High Spade.

Panetian is a rapid beginner. He rushed to the front early and, showing a decided liking for the muddy going, drew away to win easily. Romanesque displayed excellent speed and held on well. Chickahominy finished gamely. Moronge had no mishap. Outbound was badly messed about, being taken from the inside to the outside, and he lost several lengths by the move. Anchors Aweigh was outrun.

Scratched—Jack Biener.

Sepoy dropped back to last place, came to the outside in the stretch and just got up to win. Croyden was possibly best. He was practically left at the post, but closed with a rush. Sanford showed plenty of speed and had no excuse. Montferrat tired.

United Hunts Fall Meeting To Be Limited to Single Day

The directors of the United Hunts Racing Association have decided to make the forthcoming Fall meeting a one-day affair instead of two days as heretofore, according to a statement yesterday from H. A. Buck, secretary of the association. The one-day meeting will be held at Belmont Park on Saturday, Nov. 8.

The second day of the meeting was scheduled for Armistice Day, Nov. 11, but was canceled because of the lateness of the date. The program on Nov. 8 will consist of six races, including three steeplechases, one of them the $10,000 Temple Gwathmey Handicap. The Cherry Malotte also will be renewed.

RADNOR CUP EVENT WON BY REVEILLE

Carpenter's Entry Gains First Leg on Fifth Challenge Trophy at Bryn Mawr.

Special to The New York Times.

BRYN MAWR, Pa., Sept. 26.—R. R. M. Carpenter's chestnut mare, Reveille, from the Dilwyne Farm, Montchanin, Del., won the fifth Radnor challenge cup sweepstakes for hunters and jumpers, feature event of the Bryn Mawr horse show today.

More than 5,000 persons saw the Delaware horse gain its first leg on the Radnor trophy. The fourth cup was won permanently last year by Isaac H. Clothier Jr. on Lord Combe, which also competed today, but touched some of the barriers.

Second place in the cup event went to the United States Army horse show team's Avocat and third place to another consistent winner, Prince H., the entry of Mrs. Simon Patterson of Pittsburgh.

Forty-five of the best jumpers in the show competed in the Radnor cup classic, during which Mrs. Owen J. Toland of Wynnewood was thrown from Isaac H. Clothier's chestnut gelding, Blaze Away, but escaped injury.

The Carpenter Dilwyne Farm also furnished the winner in the three-hunter team challenge cup presented by W. Hinckle Smith with its trio of Reveille, Retreat and Benedict.

The United States Army horse show team took first, second and third awards in the Olympia course for hunters. The blue ribbon went to the service mount, Nigra, ridden by Mrs. B. Chamberlain, wife of the commander of the team. Second place went to the team's black gelding, Tan Bark, and third to its stablemate, Miss America.

HOLLYROOD CHIEF WINS FEATURE TROT

Triumphs in First and Third Heats to Take Transylvania 2:12 at Lexington.

TRONIA BRITTON SCORES

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 26 (AP).—Grand Circuit racing, halted by Thursday's heavy rain, was resumed today with Frank Piper's Hollyrood Chief, the favorite, winning the Transylvania 2:12 trot in comparatively slow time, scoring in the first and third heats.

The second heat went to James P. Berry's Tronia Britton, which paid $40.40. Black Leaf, from the Baker Palin Stable, was second in that heat, paying $64.20.

The opening race went to an outsider, the Ohio gelding Worthy Wood, which paid $44.80 in the opening heat. Another Ohio trotter, Eleanor Forbes, was second.

The Hollyrood pacing stake was a duel between two 4-year-old pacers, each by Daystar, with Star Etawah winning the second and third heats by comfortable margins and Noon nosing out the first heat.

CANDIDATE AND PLATFORM.

In a very true sense Mr. TUTTLE is his own platform. He made it. But for his insistence upon writing the word "repeal" into the prohibition plank, it would not have been done. Having become, in the opinion of the Republican party, the most eligible, almost the indispensable, candidate for Governor, Mr. TUTTLE, with great strength, courage and foresight, dictated the terms on which alone he would accept the nomination. It came to him yesterday at Albany by an overwhelming vote which showed at once how correctly he had divined the political situation, how clearly he had interpreted the sentiment of the people of this State, and how commanding a position he had made for himself by bold and straightforward dealing with the party organization and with the public.

The action of the Republican State Convention is therefore first of all a tribute to the political intuition and to the personal honesty of Mr. TUTTLE. It required skill as well as audacity on his part to get rid of the one issue which has been dividing and defeating his party in this State, and to force to the front the question of corrupt government with which his activities as Federal District Attorney had inseparably connected his name. This is no mean political achievement. It augurs well for the kind of campaign which Mr. TUTTLE will conduct. Election predictions would be unusually foolish at this time, but one prophecy may be made with perfect confidence. It is that Mr. TUTTLE will be a formidable candidate against Governor ROOSEVELT. He will throw into his canvass something of the vigor and sagacity which he brought to the prosecution of criminals in New York who had been thought to stand high in political favor Once he takes the stump, Tammany will sit up late at night to read his speeches, wondering if he will not produce in them highly damaging documents—affidavits and confession and extracts from the examination of witnesses and accused persons. Already the nomination of Mr TUTTLE has, under all the circumstances, placed the Democrats on the defensive. It will be their party that now will have to rally its forces after the demoralization wrought in it by Mr. TUTTLE'S daring and successful manoeuvre.

In the New York campaign, prohibition has virtually been removed as an issue between the parties. But what will be the effect on national politics of this coming out of the Republican party in the greatest State in the Union in favor of the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment? Everywhere it cannot fail to be taken as a rejection of President HOOVER'S views and wishes. These have repeatedly been made too plain for the New York Republicans to be ignorant of them. Indeed, although Mr. HOOVER would send to New York no express and authorized word about his desires, friends of his in the Republican party worked desperately to stave off the demand for repeal of prohibition in the party platform. They would have consented to almost any other word or phrase, but they made repeal the very article of a standing or falling church. In the end it was a falling church. Despite the Republican national platform of 1928, in disregard of President HOOVER'S messages and speeches insisting upon the strictest enforcement of prohibition, the Republican party in New York deliberately pronounced national prohibition a dead failure and called for repeal.

It will be said, of course, that the prohibition plank threw in a lot of words and proposals about other constitutional amendments forever outlawing the saloon and the traffic in intoxicating beverages for private profit, together with Federal aid for States that desire to have prohibition in whole or in part. But all this everybody understands to be mere surplusage The Under-Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. OGDEN MILLS, had a ruder word for it. He called it "bunk." It almost deserves to be called that, in view of the utter impossibility of its proposal ever being adopted. Moreover, the State Convention itself, and the Republican party in general, knew that when it said repeal it had said everything to which any one will attend in the course of this campaign. The vital word, the fighting word, was put into the platform. Everything else, so far as prohibition is concerned, instantly became a dead letter.

THE JUDICIAL NOMINATIONS.

What under ordinary circumstances would seem an excellent Tammany nomination for the Supreme Court—that of Borough President JULIUS MILLER—has its disappointing aspects. As Borough President Mr. MILLER has been everything his nominator asserted. Some of our greatest and handsomest public improvements will long stand as monuments to his vision, persistency and integrity. His industry is as celebrated as his tact. Filling an important post exceptionally well, it is to be regretted that he is offered for translation to the bench instead of the Bar Association's nominee, Federal Judge KNOX. It has been many years since Mr. MILLER practiced law; and the times call loudly for such experience and independence as those of the senior Federal Judge. Having nominated the Republican Judge MULLAN, largely because recent judicial scandals made the course politically expedient Tammany apparently felt that it had made sacrifices enough for one day. By the elevation of Mr. MILLER, the high post of Borough President is open to another Tammany man

In Brooklyn the bitter dose was drained by the McCooey organization. With only one judgeship to fill, and District Attorney BROWER waiting and anxious to serve, Justice CROPSEY, Republican, was endorsed for another term. Though one delegate referred to him as "insulting and arrogant" to lawyers, many fine qualifications were generously conceded. There are too many organization officials in trouble in Brooklyn to have risked running counter to public sentiment and what was undoubtedly the firm request of Governor ROOSEVELT. He, as the candidate of the Democratic party this year, must bear the brunt of anti-machine voting in New York. Just before election, as EUGENE FIELD'S youthful scapegrace before Christmas, it is incumbent on the bosses to be "as good as they can be"

AN ABNORMAL NORM

There will be an increase in real estate valuation of $500,000,000. The increase in normal years is about $1,000,000,000.—News item.

O Normalcy, what crimes are committed in thy name! If silk shirts are normal, if two chauffeurs in every garage are normal, if it is normal for a man to sit idle and watch the money drop into his lap, then the $1,000,000,000 increase in assessed valuations in the city of New York of which Controller BERRY talked to the reporters is normal. But not otherwise. Only seven times since consolidation has the annual increment reached the figure mentioned In the seven years before the war the average increase each year was about $325,000,000 In the seven years of the war period (1914-1920) it dropped to $90,000,000. Naturally, that left a slack in building which had to be taken up after the war, and in the next eight years the increase averaged $900,000,000; but what public official in his senses would expect this rate of advance to continue indefinitely?

An increase of a billion dollars in assessments may be more readily comprehended when it is translated into a corresponding increase of $100,000,000 in the constitutional debt limit and $25,000,000 or so in the tax revenues at the disposal of the Board of Estimate. Those sums will now be cut in half. Chairman DELANEY of the Board of Transportation will suffer a double loss, since his subway construction funds come from both bond issues and taxes. He made his hay while the sun shone, and can hardly complain now that it is going under a cloud. But Mayor WALKER and his colleagues on the Board of Estimate will have to scratch for new revenues, drastically curtail expenditures, or else prepare to break the news gently to the taxpayer that he must foot the bill. Already the Controller is talking of a possible $2.74 levy, as compared with the present $2.53.

And it is a thumping budget which the levy will be asked to meet. Somewhere between $630,000,000 and $635,000,000, the Controller estimates, as compared with $569,769,828 this year—accepting the official and somewhat conservative reckoning. Some of the increases are mandatory. If we vote for higher pay for police and firemen, we must reach down into our pockets for the money. It can't be made out of the air, like nitrogen for fertilizer. Yet a budget in 1931 of over $600,000,000 is none the less indefensible. Millions could be saved by reorganizing the government, drawing up a long-term public improvement program, overhauling the antiquated pension system, cutting out deadwood in departmental payrolls, adopting a system of subway finance less subject to political exigency and more consonant with sound economics. But these reforms cut deep and take time, and—save for hospitals and sanitation—the present administration has shown little inclination to attend to them.

HITLER'S RHETORIC.

If it be true that a watched pot never boils, the menace of ADOLF HITLER has been grossly exaggerated. His speech before the Supreme Court at Leipzig was in substance an invitation to the whole world to watch him boil over. There is an innocence almost childish about the detailed fashion in which he set out to be blood-curdling. Almost one expected him to state the precise number of heads that would roll from the guillotine when the Fascists have taken over control of the German nation and inaugurated the day of reckoning. There is something which may be innocence or mere confusion of ideas about his coupling the overthrow of the German Republic, the repudiation of the peace treaties and the mobilization of the guillotine with the legal two-thirds majority required by the Weimar Constitution. People will find it another mark of the ingrained German respect for law and order that even revolution and massacre must pause to make sure that they are not Verboten. These are not the deprecatory half-measures employed by the original practitioners of fascism in Italy or of the Communist variety of fascism in Russia. MUSSOLINI'S or LENIN'S manifestoes were concerned with programs and principles and not with the dreadful things they would do to their enemies as soon as they got ready.

To dismiss the Hitlerite rhetoric, for all its naïveté, as of no consequence would be wrong Since 1914 no one will venture to say what dire mischief may not be let loose by infantile irresponsibility It requires no great talent to get on the nerves of the nations in the new European order and particularly in the present economic discontent Yet, humanly speaking, the net result of the 6,000,000 votes cast for the Hitlerite platform of dictatorship and war, the net result of that flamboyant speech at Leipzig, should be to bring together the parties and elements in Germany standing for sobriety and the existing political order These were a majority in the Reichstag election and may be expected to show a more decisive majority if it ever comes to a show-down. Many Germans who registered their economic and social grievances by voting Fascist a fortnight ago will think twice before actually inviting civil war and the return of French troops to German soil.

Wherever in Western Europe fascism has asserted itself successfully it has come as the retort to an experiment in communism, or from fear of a foreign enemy. It is still the doctrine in Italy that MUSSOLINI'S march on Rome saved the country from Red domination and from the dark designs of certain foreign powers. In Bavaria and Hungary an actual taste of communism preceded and prepared the way for the rule of the strong hand. These seemingly necessary conditions for flinging one's self into the arms of dictatorship Germany today obviously does not fulfill. She is in no danger from her domestic proletarians. And, despite the talk of Germany's enslavement by the peace treaties the signs of her servitude are fast disappearing.

TAMMANY MUTES

Man after man the Tammany district leaders, following in the footsteps of their heroic leader, Mr. CURRY, march up to the Extraordinary Grand Jury and refuse to sign the routine waiver of immunity. They no longer pretend to be "insulted." But they have no use for "a political inquiry." Yet the investigation from which they withhold their testimony was instituted by Governor ROOSEVELT. It relates only to the Ewald case and matters arising from it. It is not "a fishing expedition," as Mr. CURRY called it. It is an inquiry of limited scope started by a Democratic Governor. It relates to certain suspicious or corrupt transactions. Certain ornaments of Tammany figure in it, justly or unjustly.

The plain—it seemed the inevitable—course of Tammany was to make a show of cooperation, to try and put itself in the right. If some of its adherents appear to be implicated in doubtful or dishonest matters, the great heart of the organization beats strong for purity. If any unclean thing has by accident found its way into Tammany Hall, cast it out. With incredible stupidity Tammany made an enormous blunder, instead of "a grand-stand play." It showed its passionate desire to be "clean" by denying the smallest help even in a comparatively subsidiary effort to disclose malfeasance. What must be the public verdict, justified or not, on this Tammany procession of mutes?

If they have nothing to hide, why do they decline to testify? If there are not larger areas of Tammany dishonesty, why are the leaders, from their chief down, forced to become obstacles to the ascertainment of the facts in a small area? If this concerted silence has the air of confession, Tammany has only its own woodenheadedness to blame.

Memories of the gallant dead of a European generation cut off in its youth come flooding with mention in the news of Hill 60 in what was once "the Ypres salient." The mound, once nearly 200 feet high, was presented to the British nation by a citizen. Now, fifteen years after the prodigies of courage shown there by the contending armies, it is to be protected by the Imperial War Graves Commission. No parcel of land in the world is richer with the glory of the Empire. If there is anywhere "some corner of a foreign field that is forever England," as RUPERT BROOKE said, it is this lump of earth in which the bones of thousands of men of the North Sea strain lie moldering.

The area of the hill so savagely disputed by the contending armies was only about 250 yards. On April 17, 1915, after bloody hand-to-hand fighting, the Germans gave ground and the British took the crest. Anxiously the Cabinet in London awaited the tidings, for, as the strategy of battle often determines. Hill 60 was one of those hand-spots, unimportant in peace, which in war mean more than a walled town. As British officers sat in their dugouts behind the line a suffocating quality came into the air; candles were put out; it was the first experiment with poison gas. For five days Germans and British bayoneted each other and fired field guns at pistol range, while from the rear the heavy artillery dropped great shells. On April 21 there was a slackening of the German attack, and Hill 60, twice lost and thrice taken by the British forces remained in their possession.

After this experience both sides really knew what they were in for. Talk in Berlin and in London about ending things quickly died away. The ethnical first cousins on either side of the North Sea, who had not had much chance to examine each other's fighting quality since NAPOLEON boarded the Bellerophon, were to go on for three and a half years more. Before it was finished a generation had been cheated of its prime, and every nation had tales to tell of glory and of fortitude. But no other engagement of the war provided more of the material for those tales than that on the little heap of earth which was formed by cutting the Ypres-Lille railway

AN ASTRONOMER AT HOME.

Sir ARTHUR EDDINGTON who has as large a freedom of the universe as any living man, has probably taken more satisfaction in the freedom of the little town in Westmoreland England, in which he was born, than in the welcome he has had through all the vast reaches of cosmos which his mind has traversed. It is a stirring thought that a human being on a planet that is infinitesimal can visit systems beyond the sight of the most powerful telescope and discern atoms invisible to the strongest microscopes. But it would be a cheerless search if one had no home in all that "universe external to our percipient sense," to which one might bring back one's trophies of truth from the hunt among the stars or the atoms.

This great scientist happily is no such "man without a country" among the myriad worlds, though he is stranger to none. Nor is the all-embracing cosmos a mere "structure of blind atoms to their own "habits enslaved." He walks a creedless Quaker in its spaces filled with ether, with a fearless, confident faith in a reality transcending all the scientific measurements made by the organs of sense. And as he returns to his "home town," to the school where his father was a master and where a century ago the Quaker chemist JOHN DALTON was a teacher, to receive its homage, he must repeat with even stronger conviction what he said in the Friends' House in London some months ago:

> I think, therefore, we are not wrong in embodying the significance of a spiritual world to ourselves in the feeling of a personal relationship, for our whole approach to it is bound up with those aspects of consciousness in which personality is centred.

He has had new evidence, too, that the "ultimates of love and worship" cannot be measured. The Mayor of Kendal had no reason to fear that her most distinguished son would fail of recognition if she did not herself show her pride in him; but it is safe to say that Sir ARTHUR prized this recognition more than that which has come from the King and the savants who search out the atom in the furnaces of the stars and the solitudes of the nebulae as well as in their own laboratories.

One could wish to be an auditor at a lecture on astronomy to boys in the school that gave the world DALTON and EDDINGTON.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Where to Learn a Trade. Five years ago the Vocational Service for Juniors published a directory of schools in New York City where young people could study to become plumbers, draftsmen, bricklayers, nurses, poultry farmers, candy makers or almost anything they happened to have a leaning toward. That edition has been exhausted, and in the five years since it was printed many new opportunities for similar training have presented themselves. The new book, just out, should be of value to children over 14 who want to learn a trade, and also to organizations and individuals coming in contact with young people

The schools listed are limited to those giving some kind of trade, commercial or professional training. They have been investigated by workers qualified to judge the type of training in the schools assigned to them. Detailed information is given. The young reader can tell at a glance if the school is for boys or girls or both, how much previous schooling he must have in order to enter, and whether classes are held in the daytime or evenings. Tuition fees, if any, are specified. An index lists the subjects taught.

If a boy or girl wants to study plan reading and estimating, for example, nine schools will be found under this subject. At four of them both boys and girls are admitted. Six of them are free, three charge from $25 to $50 for a course. Two have placement offices. They are scattered over the city, so that a student can plan to find one near home. Some are for beginners, others are for young men employed during the daytime. All have been thoroughly investigated by the association and approved by it.

Daylight Saving Established. Meadows are not yet "brown and sere"; the thermometer and the hydrometer say that it still is Summer in New York. Major league baseball teams are still playing for the pennants, and no big football game is scheduled for several weeks. But with the end, for 1930, of Daylight Saving tonight Autumn has officially arrived. While there are a few surviving rural protests against the system of summertime, the great mass of commuters will sigh with regret when they put back their clocks on going to bed this evening.

In the city there will be rejoicing among many Mothers with fretful babies will hail the earlier coming of the dark, with its emphatic suggestion of bedtime. In the kitchens the presiding deities will welcome the advent of dining under lights, for the dark brings loitering males home earlier. Restaurants and theatres will be glad too, because there is less temptation to drive out of the city limits for dinner and recreation when it is dusk at 6 than when the heavens are spangled with sunset colors at 8.

So, on the whole, Daylight Saving will pass with the approval of all save the regular commuters and those city folk who like to linger in the country until November. But it has thoroughly established itself as a sensible, useful and health-giving improvement on nature. Some day it will be followed again all over the country

A Census Rivalry Asbury Park had only to increase and multiply to pass Long Branch in the race for the larger population, and now it is suspected of census tampering. On a recount, demanded by Long Branch, Asbury Park is said to have jumped into the lead by "stuffing" the returns. This seems to be incredible behavior by the clean, bright city by the sea.

Why should Asbury Park have had recourse to fraud, when for years it was gaining in population and would surely overtake the city on the bluffs? Asbury Park in 1900 had 4,148 people and Long Branch 8,872. Twenty years passed, and the totals were, respectively, 12,400 and 13,521. These were, of course, Winter populations. In the Summer, Asbury Park forged to the front and could boast 100,000 people when the attraction was the baby parade, the lake carnival, the masque fête or a great fireworks display.

Long Branch has its own atmosphere of age and dignity, together with historic memories that Asbury Park does not share. It had become a Summer resort in the late years of the eighteenth century. The pioneers were Philadelphians. Asbury Park is modern by comparison. It manufactures automobiles and even has an aviation field.

In fairness to Asbury Park, it should be said that the charge of fraudulent census taking is hurled back at Long Branch. Prosecutions are threatened through the United States District Attorney's office at Trenton. An investigation may include the whole of Monmouth and Ocean Counties, which abound in Summer resorts with rivalries that never die down.

Beauty in Signboards. It will doubtless surprise the thousands of tourists who have complained of disfiguring roadside billboards to learn that they comprise only 5 per cent of all the outdoor advertising in the country. According to the men who know about such things, the cities are the proud possessors of 95 per cent of the big open-air signs. Motorists would probably have guessed a far different proportion, but the figures must be accurate, since they are supplied by the Outdoor Advertising Association of America.

At its meetings now going on here leaders have told the members and the numerous representatives of civic organizations invited to attend that they hope to get rid of the ugly signs which seem so much more abundant than they really are. No practical method of eliminating them and preventing further outcroppings has been discovered. The State tax, as tried in New Jersey, puts a burden on all outdoor advertising and does not keep hoardings from the country roads.

Since the welcome suggestion for removing them comes from the advertising men, some one else may be expected to devise the means of doing it. The former ask for government regulation. They do not mean that all signboards on the nation's highways should be ordered off, but that the number should be kept down, and those permitted should be of a size and kind inoffensive to the passing traveler.

Close Buying.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There has been much comment in the press about hand-to-mouth buying by merchants and storekeepers, but no one can really imagine how far this thing has been carried. Within the past week my wife went to one of the largest department stores in New York City looking for hose and clothes for children just starting back to school The very intelligent saleswoman informed her that she was practically without stock and that her frequent requisitions were turned down by the management of the store. Going to another of the larger department stores, which gives an entire floor to its furniture department, she asked to be shown a small desk to be used in the home rather than in an office, and found to her amazement that the store had absolutely nothing in stock.

It appears quite plain to me that the difficulty lies not so much with the people as it does with the storekeepers, who have permitted their stocks to run down to almost nothing, apparently in the hope or belief that there would be a further drop in prices. This, I believe, is the crux of the depression so far as the retail trade is concerned.

Women and Children.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Grown women are once more classed with young boys and girls, this time in a resolution adopted by the executive committee of the Cotton Textile Institute, recommending the abolition in cotton mills of night work for "women and minors," according to a recent issue of THE TIMES. It seems clear that very young people should not be employed during long or late hours. Whether adults of either sex should under any conditions work on night shifts in mills is a question I shall not undertake to discuss. But the statement made that the United Textile Workers favor "a similar program" reminds me of the way a man active in labor circles once explained to me why in labor legislation women are so often classed together with children and their work regulated in the same way.

"Sure they've got to be treated alike in the law," he said. "They are one class. Don't they both take men's jobs?"

"School Spirit" Misplaced.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In the vicinity of public schools in the city of New York are located retail candy stores and stationery shops. Within the past few years it has become a custom in the schools to open so-called "general organization stores." These compete with the retailer. The most dangerous part of this competition is not in price or quality of merchandise, but the cry of "school spirit" instilled in the pupils.

It is well known that the retailer has a hard time to pay his rent and has competition enough without this unwarranted setback. Some of the school children themselves complain that they are not being permitted the freedom of choice in the purchase of their little supplies.

Something should be done to aid these business men in surviving their present financial crisis, and the Board of Education should be restricted to spreading knowledge and instructing the children rather than in establishing a commercial enterprise.

Pedestrians' Rights.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

One may be allowed to utter a protest against "giving the traffic its rights." As one who crosses Twenty-third Street at Fourth Avenue, Broadway and Fifth Avenue twice daily, I find that traffic frequently goes against the lights when the lights give pedestrians the right to cross. Taxis, trucks, &c., whizz from the right and left, and we on foot are admonished to "step lively," to say nothing of stronger language for being in their way. It isn't easy with small children, or those who are lame, to cross a street or avenue. Haven't the pedestrians any rights?

AUTUMN DAWN.

Naught is alive beneath the sky
Save one wild bird and God and I.
God is the mist. Among the leaves
He is the light, the breath that weaves
At once a pattern and a sound.
He is the shadow on the ground.
And in the quivering deep grass
I see His shining sandals pass.
The waters lapping on the shore
To my awakened ears seem more
Like His bright garments brushing by.
We are near neighbors, God and I.

The small dark bird is mad with flight.
He hears God too. Beyond the height
Of every flaming tree and hill
He flings his raptured song, until
The gray mist trembles and the sea,
That was a lake and ceased to be,
Rolls in upon an endless shore.
There is no boundary any more.

ROCKAWAY BEACH COSTS.

Boardwalk Condemnation Case Is Reviewed by a Lawyer.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The recent letter of the Controller of the city of New York to Judge Dunne concerning the awards in the so-called Rockaway Boardwalk case and the objections to the alleged excessive awards by property owners in the Rockaways prompts me to offer an explanation of matters little understood by those unacquainted with waterfront condemnation matters.

It is now the settled law of this State that fee ownership of the foreshore, i. e., the land between high and low water mark bordering the seas, notwithstanding certain public rights that may or may not exist in a specific case, is an exceedingly valuable property right. The extent of that value is a matter of opinion determinable with reasonable accuracy by real estate experts. In the Rockaways a peculiar condition existed in that the oceanfront owners invariably had absolute title to all the lands in front of their premises to the low-water mark of the Atlantic Ocean. To call this strand or beach "land under water," as though, therefore, it had no value, is to create confusion. It was in almost every instance quite as valuable to the owner as his upland and was susceptible of adequate and profitable development. These were facts over which neither the Corporation Counsel nor Judge Dunne had any control The law of the case is that such land has substantial value; the real estate experts guided the judge in determining how much.

The record in the Boardwalk case shows that the experts differed widely in many instances. This resulted not only from difficulties inherent in appraising waterfront property, but also because of varying instructions from counsel in the case. The experts for the city maintained that the Corporation Counsel had instructed them to appraise the foreshore subject to public rights of passage and repassage, bathing, fishing, &c. With that instruction in mind they made their appraisals. Judge Dunne, after hearing both sides in a very long and difficult case, made awards indicating that he upheld, as a whole, the contentions of the Corporation Counsel. In other words, if the appraisals are examined one will find that the judge's awards are closer to the city's figures than to those of the claimants.

An analysis of what the city got for its money might be interesting and illuminating and might also relieve some of the shock and surprise at facing a figure of $13,000,000. The city condemned 250 acres, or approximately 4,000 city lots. The cost to this city, therefore, of this fine oceanfront property was about $3,000 per lot. While not a real estate expert, this does not seem to me too high a price. While $13,000,000 is a great deal of money, the Rockaway peninsula is several miles in length and the area taken is large. Those who maintain that the awards are too high are unmindful of the fact that the evidence in the case indicates that they may, in many instances, be too low and that it is the settled policy of this State in condemnation matters to be liberal.

It should be understood that Judge Dunne has nothing to do with the levying of the assessment. That is one of the functions of the Board of Estimate. I believe it could be demonstrated and the board convinced that the improvement in question from any standpoint is not in the nature of a local improvement. The city as a whole derives a benefit from this improvement in the same sense that it derives a benefit from such improvements as Bronx River Parkway, Van Cortlandt Park, and the like. The cost should be borne by the city as a whole and no part levied against the Rockaways. This the more so because of the great revenue the city has derived from the Rockaways since 1925, the time when title was vested to this property. The increased revenue directly traced to the improvement exceeds $6,000,000. The awards in this case approximate $13,000,000. Any one may see how profitable this investment of the city's has been. In about fifteen years the city will have received back the complete capital cost of the improvement and will have for all time to come this fine income-producing property.

Y. W. C. A. Work and Funds.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Young Women's Christian Association, with a volunteer and employed staff of 1,378, has served the girls of Manhattan and the Bronx since 1871. It has grown from one room and a budget of $1,308, in 1871, to six branches, ten residences, four Summer camps, two vacation houses and a budget of $1,866,458.99 in 1930. More than 220,000 girls use the resources of the Y. W. C. A. today. The association helps the individual girl to adjust herself to changing conditions in the fields of work, play, education and personal development. Our present endowment funds are entirely inadequate for a social welfare organization of such wide scope, carrying an annual expenditure of over $1,850,000. The more the Y. W. C. A. can depend upon endowment income to meet the normal budget difference, the better can we use current funds for new projects at the moment needed. Analysis of the budgeted income for 1930 shows operating revenue amounting to 81.9 per cent, campaign receipts 12.5 per cent and endowment income 5.6 per cent. We would appreciate greatly any contributions to our endowment fund. In addition to permanent funds, the Y. W. C. A. welcomes endowment gifts for a limited period of years, after which the capital may or must be distributed.

SEEK MOON SECRETS BY NEW PHOTO PLAN

Mt. Wilson Astronomers Expect Mapping Method to Give "Close-Ups" of the Surface.

MYSTERIES MAY BE SOLVED

Every Square Mile Will Be Plotted by Adaptation of Aerial Photography.

MOUNT WILSON, Cal., Sept. 26 (AP).—Mapping the moon by a new type of astronomical survey began today at Mount Wilson Observatory.

An adaptation of airplane map-making photography gives views equivalent to swinging the astronomical cameras a few thousand miles out into space to get more directly above side areas of the moon's face, something impossible from the earth.

The mapping is expected to clear up a century-old controversy as to whether the moon's face is changing and to help geologists discover more about the nature and causes of the moon's scenic wonders.

The map is the latest development in the work of the Carnegie Institute's committee on the study of surface features of the moon.

A miniature moon, a globe fifteen inches in diameter, is set up in a clearing in the pines on top of Mount Wilson, alongside the great 100-inch telescope. The clearing resembles an open-air theatre.

At night moon photos are projected with a 1,000-candle power beam upon the globe, which is a curved instead of an ordinary flat screen. The globe glows realistically in the black shadows of the pines, but with a thousand times the detail seen by the eye looking at the real moon.

The astronomers can photograph this artificial moon just as if it were the real one. But it is no ordinary photography.

Much of the past year was spent perfecting the instruments that shoot light beams four times across the clearing, a distance of 135 feet, which is the focal length of the 100-inch telescope.

The pictures from the side straighten out the distortion in ordinary photographs of shapes of craters and peaks near the edge of the moon. This rectification is useful to geologists in determining whether these topographical features were caused by volcanic action, meteors or something else.

The real moon continually nods, with a motion called libration. The consequence is that no two ordinary photos are likely to be exactly the same. But with the artificial moon the libration is controlled, so that photos of the real moon can be projected section by section in their proper positions on the artificial moon, and then rephotographed to build up a correct map.

Old moon pictures also will be projected, showing the satellite as it appeared fifty and seventy-five years ago. Comparison of these and recent photos is expected to settle the controversy about the moon's face lifting.

After being rephotographed from the same angle, the old and new pictures will be compared by the "blink" system which was used by the American Army in the World War to detect camouflage. The "blink" will show any slight changes which may have taken place on the moon's surface.

The corrected map gives scientists an accurate base for the studies they are making of the moon's surface a square mile at a time.

Members of the Carnegie Institute's committee are Drs. W. S. Adams, F. G. Pease, and Edison Pett of Mount Wilson Observatory; Drs. J. P. Buwalda and Paul S. Epstein of California Institute of Technology; Dr. H. N. Russell of Princeton, and Drs. A. L. Day and F. E. Wright of the Geophysical Laboratory of Washington. Dr. Wright is chairman here in charge of the work.

WILL LECTURE AT HARVARD.

Twelve Foreign Professors to Give Visiting Courses This Year.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 26.—Twelve foreign professors, three of them from England and nine from the Continent of Europe, will be visiting lecturers at Harvard during the present year.

Arthur Mayger Hind of the British Museum comes as the Charles Eliot Norman Professor of Poetry. Oliver Elton, emeritus professor at the University of Liverpool, will lecture on English, as will Ivor Armstrong Richards, fellow of Magdalene College, Cambridge, England, in the second half year.

Adolph Goldschmidt of the University of Berlin will be Kuno Francke Professor of German Art and Culture during the first half year. Josef Alois Schumpeter, Professor of Political Economy in the University of Bonn, will lecture on economics and Karl Menger of the University of Vienna on mathematics.

Halvdan Koht of the University of Oslo will lecture on history. Andre Le Conte, Professor of Architecture, and Edmund Joachim Vermeil, Professor of German Literature at the University of Strasbourg, will represent France.

Jan Arnoldus Schouten of Delft, Holland, will lecture on mathematics during the first half year. Philip de Vargas of Yenching University comes as lecturer on Chinese for the second half year. Dr. Ernest Opik of the astronomical observatory at Tartu, Estonia, will be lecturer on astrophysics.

CONDEMN RED PROPAGANDA.

Military Delegates Ask Congress to Curb Treasonable Speech.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 26.—Legislation placing restrictions on freedom of speech in cases of "treasonable propaganda," providing for registration of aliens and establishing machinery to make possible deportation of all "undesirable" aliens is urged upon Congress in a resolution passed by the Military Order of the World War at the concluding session of its convention here today. Another resolution urged that a written oath of allegiance be required of all school teachers.

Other matters which were urged included maintenance of adequate national defense, provisions for universal draft in times of emergency and construction of naval vessels to the full limit allowed under the London treaty. Brig. Gen. John Ross Delafield of New York City was elected commander-in-chief of the society.

MORRIS FATMAN DIES IN 73D YEAR

HAD BEEN ILL TWO YEARS

President of New Jersey Mills Was Father of Mrs. Werner Josten and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau Jr.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 26.—Morris Fatman, prominent New York woolen manufacturer and brother-in-law of Lieut. Gov. Herbert Lehman and father-in-law of Henry Morgenthau Jr., died at the Ambassador Hotel today. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Fatman had been president of the Raritan Woolen Mills of Raritan, N. J. He had been ailing for more than two years and came here early in June in an effort to regain his health. He seemed to be on the road to recovery and his sudden death came as a shock to his business acquaintances and friends.

Dr. Weiner, in New York City, his personal physician, attributed Mr. Fatman's death to a general breakdown.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Werner Josten, wife of the American composer of Northampton, Mass., and Mrs. Morgenthau.

Lieut. Gov. Lehman had intended to address the meeting of one of the Democratic clubs at Port Chester, N. Y., last night, but he sent a letter to Major William A. Darcy of the club saying that he would be unable to be present owing to the death of his brother-in-law, Morris Fatman. He wrote in part: "We had a very close association of nearly forty-five years, and I know that those to whom I am to speak will appreciate that his death has left me in no fit condition to make an address tonight. Also, I must hurry to be with my sister."

Funeral services for Mr. Fatman will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning in the chapel of Temple Emanu-El, Sixty-fifth Street and Fifth Avenue.

BROOK TO SPOUT IN CITY.

Buried Greenwich Village Stream to Be Brought to Surface.

Minetta Brook, for a century buried under Greenwich Village, is to be brought to the surface and made to spout through a fountain to be erected in the Holly Chambers, a new apartment hotel under construction on Washington Square West, according to an announcement yesterday by the Greenwich Village Historical Society.

Hevlyn D. Benson, vice president of the society, said that he had definite assurance from the builders of the hotel that the Minetta Brook fountain would be erected in the lobby of the Holly Chambers. The society, he said, would place a bronze marker at the fountain and hold dedicatory exercises, at which Mayor Walker would be invited to speak. The ceremony will be held in about six weeks.

The stream, Mr. Benson said, has long been a problem to architects and builders in the Village excavating for new structures. The construction of numerous projects, including Washington Arch, the new women's prison and the Eighth Avenue subway, he said, has pushed the course of the brook both west and east at various points, although most of the stream follows the original course.

ANDRE CELEBRATION TODAY.

Copeland to Speak After Parade at Tarrytown.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 26.—About 50,000 visitors are expected here tomorrow to attend the celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the capture of Major André, British spy, in September, 1780. A three-mile-long parade of military and civic organizations will start the celebration at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and all traffic will be detoured from the main streets while the ceremonies are in progress.

Senator Royal S. Copeland will be the principal speaker of the day, and military officials from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, officials from every municipality in Westchester County and representatives of patriotic and historical societies will take part in the program. The celebration will end with a display of fireworks at 9 o'clock tomorrow night.

STUDIES PARK AV. TRAFFIC.

Association Finds Peak Far Exceeds That on Fifth Avenue.

Peak traffic on Fifth Avenue is only 60 per cent of that on Park Avenue in the Forty-second Street area and 54 per cent in the Seventy-second Street area, the Park Avenue Association reported yesterday. The figures were based on a survey completed for the association last week by Fiske & Roberts, consulting engineers. The statement adds:

"Ira W. Fisk stated that on Sept. 18, 1930, over 38,000 vehicles traversed Park Avenue in the north and south bound directions at Forty-sixth Street, while at Seventy-second Street the number of vehicles was found to be 32,063. The period counted in both instances was from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M.

"A count of traffic on Fifth Avenue taken from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M. at Forty-second Street in January, 1929, shows a total of 20,192 north and south bound vehicles dusing this thoroughfare."

Will Aid Maryland Farmers.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26 (AP).—Tentative steps to provide credit for drought-stricken Maryland farmers who have insufficient collateral for bank loans were taken today by a commission appointed several weeks ago by Governor Ritchie. Creation of a special fund subscribed to by banks and the public is planned, to become effective in midwinter. Legal interest will be charged on the loans. The plan is believed to be the first devised by any State to avoid forming farm cooperatives or borrowing from banks.

114 Passengers in 2 Hours Is Record at Newark Airport

A record for passenger travel was established yesterday afternoon at the Newark Metropolitan Airport, where within two hours 114 passengers on regular commercial lines were landed or flown away between 4:45 and 6:45 o'clock.

New York, Philadelphia and Washington Airways landed fifty and flew off with twenty, using extra planes on both outgoing and incoming flights. Colonial, flying an extra section, landed twenty passengers from Boston. Eastern Air Transport from Richmond and Washington came in with ten passengers. Pittsburgh Airways took away five and landed four, and five more traveled on the Wilkes-Barre line.

W. D. BALDWIN DIES; OTIS COMPANY AIDE

Former President of Elevator Firm Succumbs at 74 in Yorktown Heights.

WAS OF COLONIAL ANCESTRY

Began Career With Osborne & Co. of Auburn, N. Y., Makers of Farm Machinery.

William Delavan Baldwin, chairman of the board of the Otis Elevator Company, of which he had been president for many years, died suddenly last night at his home, French Hill Farm, Yorktown Heights, N. Y. He was 74 years old. His widow, Mrs. Helen Runyon Baldwin, whom he married in 1881, three sons and a daughter survive. Funeral services will be private.

A native of Auburn, N. Y., Mr. Baldwin was a descendant of Colonial ancestry, his forebear, John Baldwin, having been one of the first settlers of Dedham, Mass. He obtained his first business experience with D. M. Osborne & Co. of Auburn, makers of farm machinery, and represented the firm in Europe for five years.

He left Osborne & Co. in 1882 to engage in the manufacture of elevators, an industry that was then beginning to foreshadow its later great importance. He bought an interest in Otis Brothers & Co. and became its treasurer. He was largely responsible for the development of the business and he at length assumed its chief direction as president of the new Otis Elevator Company.

Mr. Baldwin was president of the Westchester County Park Commission for several years prior to his resignation in the Fall of 1925, a period during which park sites were purchased and parks laid out. He was a director of the United States Life Insurance Company, Home Insurance Company, National Surety Company, Hale & Kilburn, and a trustee of the United States Savings Bank. His clubs included the Union League, Metropolitan and Adirondack League.

PUBLIC OPINION SHIFTS ON GERMAN WAR GUILT

Only 48 of 429 Leaders Answering Questionnaire Now Hold Her Solely Responsible.

Changing public opinion on the question of Germany's sole guilt for the war is indicated in a questionnaire sent by The World Tomorrow to about 1,200 men and women of various professions and the replies to which are analyzed by Kirby Page in the October issue of the magazine.

The results of the questionnaire show that the sole guilt of Germany and her allies is maintained only by 48 persons out of 429 leaders of public opinion who replied to the questionnaire.

Less than half of those who responded expressed the opinion that Germany was more responsible for causing the World War than any other power.

Cancellation of all war debts and reparations is opposed by less than half of those replying.

A total of 155 men and women hold the opinion that the United States acted unwisely in entering the World War or are in doubt about the expediency of America's action. Austria is ranked first in order of responsibility for the war by 90 persons, Russia by 39, France by 15, Serbia by 15, Great Britain by 2 and Italy by 1.

The 429 persons who replied include 205 professors, 36 college presidents, 58 editors, 71 social workers, clergymen and allied professions, 13 labor leaders, 22 lawyers and business men and 13 military and naval officers.

Mr. Page's analysis of the results of the questionnaire is followed by a symposium on the question of war guilt to which articles are contributed by Bertrand Russell, James T. Shotwell, Norman Angell, H. L. Mencken, Mary Austin, Norman Thomas and others.

In writing of America's entry into the war, Mr. Russell says:

"As to whether the United States did well to enter the war, the question turns up whether otherwise peace would have come in 1917. I believe myself that it would. The main thing to be aimed at was to shorten the war; the next, to secure a peace without victory on either side. America's entry, in my opinion, did harm in both respects."

Gold Star Party of 200 Back.

MAJOR SHONK DIES AFTER OPERATION

Had Been Assemblyman From Second Westchester District for Eight Terms.

WINNER OF CROIX DE GUERRE

Author of Legislation Designed to Aid Poorer Classes Was Also Treasurer of Navy League.

Major Herbert Bronson Shonk of Scarsdale, N. Y., who had represented the Second Westchester District in the Assembly for the last eight years, died yesterday in the White Plains Hospital after an operation for appendicitis performed on Wednesday. He was 48 years old. He is survived by a widow, Gertrude Knights Shonk; two daughters, Miss Molly and Mrs. B. Hunt Bancroft Smith; two sons, Herbert B. Jr. and Peter Marine Shonk, and a sister, Mrs. Clarence E. Hancock, of Syracuse, N. Y.

The father of Major Shonk was the late George W. Shonk of Plymouth, Pa., Representative in Congress. The son was educated at Wesleyan University and the Harvard Law School, taking his degrees in 1903 and 1906, respectively. He was a member of the law firm of Breckinridge & Shonk, his partner being Colonel Henry Breckinridge, former president of the Navy League.

At the outbreak of the World War Major Shonk entered the army and was on the staff of the Thirty-second Division at Waco, Texas, and in France. His gallantry and otherwise distinguished service with this division won him the Croix de Guerre. Transferred to the Fifth Army Corps, he worked with the second section of the General Staff, which was occupied with the intelligence of the enemy. For his service here he was cited in orders by Major Gen. Charles P. Summerall, then commanding General of the Fifth Army Corps, now Chief of Staff of the Army.

Major Shonk was treasurer of the Navy League of the United States, a trustee of Wesleyan University and the Ridgefield School, a member of the Harvard, Racquet and Tennis, Knollwood Country, Scarsdale Golf and other clubs.

As a member of the lower house of the State Legislature, from which he was retiring at the end of the year, Major Shonk was known for his interest in legislation designed to improve the condition of the poorer classes. He was co-author of the Shonk-Fearon public welfare bill, intended as a thorough overhauling of the State poor law. He also presented a bill to limit the working hours of women and children in industry to forty-eight a week. He was vice chairman of the State Commission and chairman of the judiciary committee. He was chairman of the Committee on Navigation when the State aeronautical code was passed and signed by Governor Smith. The code has been used since as a model in many other States. His law firm was counsel for Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

BOARD FAILS TO ACT ON EAST SIDE DRIVE

Estimate Body Also Defers Scores of Other Items Awaiting It at Fall Opening.

BYRD AIDE REINSTATED

Edmund O'Brien Put Back Into Fire Department—Dates Set for Budget Hearings.

Although the Autumn season for the Board of Estimate opened with a formidable looking calendar of 1,061 items, the meeting was adjourned before 6 o'clock last night. That was due largely, however, to the fact that many of the most important items were reached only to be deferred for action for one reason or another.

Further consideration of Borough President Julius Miller's plans for the East River Drive went over for one week at the request of the Borough President himself. Scores of citizens who had come to speak for or against the proposed amendment of the building zone resolution defining parking garages and setting up certain conditions to govern the action of the Board of Standards and Appeals, left, disappointed when Mayor Walker announced that the hearing would be postponed one week at the request of the Bronx Chamber of Commerce and the Manhattan Board of Commerce.

A score or more of other items, all dealing with the apportionment of assessments for public improvements, were deferred by the Mayor for four weeks. Many public hearings on such controversies had been dated for yesterday. The board, on the Mayor's motion, laid them all over when he was assured by Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly that it would require four weeks longer to perfect the report of the Mayor's special committee.

The Director of the Budget, Charles L. Kohler, submitted a resolution recommending establishment of the grade of commissioner at $10,000 a year for four incumbents in the Board of Elections. Stewart Browne, president of the Real Estate Owners' Association, said he had his doubts of the legality of the proposal. The resolution was held over one week, pending an opinion from the Corporation Counsel.

The same disposition was made of another resolution from the Budget Director increasing to $10,000 a year the salary of the First Deputy Police Commissioner. The present incumbent of that office is Commissioner Philip D. Hoyt.

Mayor Walker introduced and the board approved a resolution concurring in the action already taken by the Board of Aldermen, offering a $5,000 reward for information leading to the finding of Supreme Court Justice Crater.

The board also fixed the following dates for the requisite statutory public hearings on the 1931 city budget: Oct. 15 and 16 at 11:30 A. M. and Oct. 22 and 23 at 2:30 P. M.

Sitting as the Board of Estimate branch of the Municipal Assembly the board voted a local law to amend the city charter to provide for a deputy commissioner in the Tenement House Department. The board also approved Mayor Walker's motion for the immediate reinstatement as a marine engineer in the Fire Department of Edmund O'Brien, who relinquished that post to take patr as a volunteer in the Byrd Antarctic expedition.

Murder Play on Berlin Radio Starts Assassination Rumors

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Several thousand radio listeners were recovering this forenoon from the excitement resulting from hearing what for a time they thought was a radio report that Foreign Minister Curtius had been assassinated.

Actually what they heard was only a radio drama entitled "The Minister Is Murdered," in the course of which the radio announcer (the make-believe one in the play) interrupts a concert to announce excitedly that the German Foreign Minister has just been assassinated in the Friedrichstrasse railway station.

In view of the recent Fascist putsch rumors thousands who tuned in just in time to hear the words of the actor-announcer believed it was a fact.

The Minister of the Interior began an investigation to determine who was responsible for putting such a radio play on the air at a time of political tension in Germany.

RUSSELL INCREASES HIS AIR TOUR LEAD

Takes Terre Haute (Ind.)-Cincinnati Lap and Seems Assured of Victory.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 26.—With thearrival here today of Harry Russel in his Ford transport plane in the van of the eighteen competitors in the national reliability air tour, his final victory when the race is brought to an end at Detroit tomorrow seemed assured.

With Russell's success today in the flight from Terre Haute, Ind., he brought his total of points scored over 4,500 miles covered in the sixteen days since the start of the tour at Detroit on Sept. 11 to 56,395. His nearest competitors were oJhn Livingston with 53,652, and Arthur Davis with 53,213, both in Waco planes.

Myron E. Zeller, in another Ford plane, made the fastest time today at 170.1 miles an hour. No changes occurred in the official standings of the first ten, but several strengthened their hold on the positions gained over the long route.

The arrival of the tour planes was the opening event of a three-day air festival attendant on the dedication of the new $1,200,000 airport.

Scarcely had the last plane of the tour arrived when 100 local commercial planes and visiting ships of the army, which arrived earlier in the day, took to the air and circled above the city.

The night standings were announced as follows for the first ten planes:

Plane. Pilot.	Pt. Totl.
Ford, Harry Russell	56,395
Waco, John Livingston	53,652
Waco, Arthur Davis	53,213
Ford, Myron E. Zeller	52,977
Bellanca, George W. Haldeman	51,886
Curtiss Kingbird, Walter Beech	51,806
Bellanca, J. Wesley Smith	45,813
Cessna, Edward Schneider	45,675
Travelair, Truman Wadlow	41,371
Waco, Leslie Bowman	41,150

DR. KLEIN SEES END OF DEPRESSION NEAR

Normal Conditions May Return by End of October, Commerce Official Asserts Here.

HOLDS GLOOM UNJUSTIFIED

Warns of Comparing Present State of Trade With Boom Instead of Normal Period.

MINIMIZES BUSINESS DROP

Recession Was Only 11%, Against 15% Average in Other Crises, He Tells Doherty Group.

There seems to be a fairly good chance that the United States will be out of the current economic depression by the end of October, Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, told the annual meeting of Henry L. Doherty & Co.'s Half Million Club at the Hotel Pennsylvania yesterday. The Half Million Club consists of the company's salesmen who have disposed of $500,000 worth or more of Cities Service securities.

Dr. Klein based his reasoning partly on the fact that fourteen out of the fifteen economic crises through which the country passed in the last fifty years lasted an average of thirteen months. He also gave figures to show that the present resources of the country are better than they have been pictured.

He maintained that a large part of the country's psychological difficulties came from comparing present conditions with the economic heights reached in 1929 before the depression, and that a more normal yardstick was needed.

Recession Comparatively Small.

Compared with the monthly average for 1923, 1924 and 1925, which showed the "normal" post war trend, he said, our industrial production for June, July and August was only 4 per cent off. And the price drop in the "late unpleasantness," he said, was only 14 per cent, as compared with the 45 per cent price drop in 1920 and 1921.

"The situation was infinitely worse in 1921," he declared. "And if you pick out one half dozen farm products from the present price drop it is only 11 per cent, less than that which existed in 1924."

And most of the fifteen other crises, he said, were accompanied by a 15 per cent drop in business, with a 25 per cent drop in 1924, while the present recession is about 11 per cent.

Since 1924, he asserted, the world population had increased 10 per cent while world-wide raw material and foodstuffs production had increased 24 per cent. At the same time manufacturers in the United States had increased 24 per cent and in Europe 31 per cent.

Finds Buying Power Increased.

"Our present buying power is not nearly as bad as many assert," he declared. "Our food bill will be from $3,500,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 below that of last year, something that is partly due to more careful marketing, and this releases that amount for other expenditures.

"For the first half of this year our consumption of electricity was 1,000,000,000 kilowatt-hours more than all of last year and the sales of electrical household equipment were much more. And people don't switch to electrical equipment if they are dead broke.

"Auto registrations have been holding up fairly well and department store sales have been only about 7 per cent below 1928. Savings have increased 115 per cent since 1919, which constitutes a tremendous reserve of real power which was not seriously tapped in the crisis of last Winter. There has been a 271 per cent increase in building and loan association reserves in that time, and life insurance has now come up to a total of $110,000,000,000. And since the World War wages, which from 1896 to 1913 kept even with wholesale prices, have increased at 2.1 per cent a year while food prices dropped."

CONVICTS DISAGREE AT ARATA HEARING

Two Assert Pair Serving Terms for Hold-Up Killing Said Condemned Man Was Innocent.

Judge Donnellan in General Sessions yesterday, on an order from the Court of Appeals, heard argument on the motion for a new trial made by three lawyers in behalf of Peter Arata, who is in the death house at Sing Sing on a first-degree murder conviction in the shooting of James Tesemadis, a waiter, in July, 1928, in the hold-up of a restaurant at 466 Sixth Avenue.

At the request of Arata's counsel, Alexander I. Rorke, Samuel Feldman and Joseph D. Edelson, four convicts were brought from Sing Sing to testify. Judge Donnellan several months ago, at a similar proceeding, upheld the contention of Assistant District Attorney James E. McDonald that nothing had been produced to justify a new trial. Affidavits from the four convicts were submitted to the court at that time, but the Court of Appeals held that Judge Donnellan should have heard their testimony.

Two of the convicts, Dominick Rossi and James Woodbury, had testified at the trial last January that Arata had fired the shot that killed the waiter. Both pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the killing, and are serving terms of ten to twenty years, imposed by Judge Donnellan.

Rossi refused to take the witness stand yesterday. Woodbury testified that his testimony against Arata at the trial was true, although admitting that he had written a letter some time ago to one of Arata's lawyers recanting.

Saverio Ravalli and Ernesto Sabbadino, who are serving terms for another hold-up, told Judge Donnellan that while they were awaiting trial in the Tombs Rossi told them Arata was innocent of the killing.

Judge Donnellan announced he would forward his decision to the Court of Appeals, which had stayed execution of the death sentence pending the hearing.

Court Spurns Measurement In Inches in Accident Plea

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Allan M. Pope, resident of Katonah, won a point by feet, but lost by inches in his application for a bill of particulars which he seeks in preparing his defense of a damage action arising out of an automobile accident in Hawthorne on April 5.

Before Supreme Court Justice Mack today, Pope sought the exact location of the accident as claimed by the plaintiff, Mrs. Frieda O. Valentine of Hawthorne, in feet and inches. He won his point in feet, but Justice Mack ordered the striking out of the lesser measurement in inches. Mrs. Valentine asks $500 for damages to her automobile.

DENIES UNITY DEAL BY CITY AND B. M. T.

BUT IS STILL HOPEFUL

Change in I. R. T. Policy Toward Parleys Is Looked For at Meeting of New Board Tuesday.

There is no basis for current rumors that the city and the B. M. T. have virtually agreed upon a transit unification plan, Samuel Untermyer, special counsel for the Transit Commission, declared yesterday. He attributed to "stock market jobbing" the recent sharp rise in local traction securities, following closely upon the election of Gerhard M. Dahl, Albert H. Wiggin and Charles H. Hayden, B. M. T. directors, to the Interborough board.

"It looks very much like stock market jobbing," Mr. Untermyer said. "There is no basis for the rumors that unification or terms of purchase by the city have been agreed upon, or nearly agreed upon, with either of the companies. It is still a 'far cry,' although I am hopeful, as I have always been, that something constructive of that kind will eventually come out of the present negotiations if the companies can be induced to be reasonable in their terms, but not otherwise."

Rumors of Understanding.

In financial circles the sudden rise in traction securities, in the face of a general depression in other fields, was regarded as due in part to the fact that the admission by Frank Hedley, president of the Interborough, that Messrs. Dahl, Wiggin and Hayden would play a prominent part in the company's future has been construed as an indication of some understanding between the officials of the B. M. T. and the Interborough.

The first meeting of the new Interborough directorate will be held on Tuesday, at which time it is possible that a new alignment may be disclosed indicating an abrupt change in the company's policy of remaining aloof from unification conferences with State and city transit officials. Frank P. Walsh, newly elected public director, is to confer next week with the Transit Commission, and it is considered likely that he may act on Tuesday to call for an expression of the new board's attitude.

Bus Grant a Factor.

The pending unification conferences are expected to bear a close relation to the fate of the B. M. T.'s application for a bus franchise in Brooklyn and its tentative proposal for a similar grant in Queens. The Board of Transportation's report on bus franchise, which in effect singles out the B. M. T. as the favored applicant for these grants, was referred to the Board of Estimate Committee of the Whole at the board's first Fall meeting yesterday.

It is believed that action on the B. M. T.'s applications will be delayed until the transit unification negotiations reach the stage where agreement is in sight. It has been generally understood that the company's entry into unification parleys was based upon a tacit agreement that it would receive thorough consideration as a candidate for borough wide bus grants in Brooklyn and Queens. In fact the Board of Transportation's report stresses the relationship between the unification situation and the bus franchise applications in that light. Under the circumstances, therefore, it is not believed that the applications will be disposed of at any early date.

'AE,' USED TO CITY'S DIN, MAKES UP LOST SLEEP

Irish Poet and Agriculturist Says American Literature Is Growing More Critical.

George Russell, better known as AE, Irish poet and philosopher, has become accustomed to the din and noise of New York City and can now sleep his regular eight hours each day, he declared yesterday. When he first arrived he complained that Manhattan's subways and trolleys kept him awake at night.

Evading questions on the Irish political situation, beyond declaring that the Irish Free State was prosperous, and with the Soviet, was one of the two European countries that had not changed its government in the last decade, Mr. Russell confined his interview to the field of literature. He asserted that present-day manuscripts showed America to be approaching the second phase of civilization, because its literature is becoming critical.

He said there was no longer any strict censorship in Ireland and that youths no longer toured public libraries burning books they believed immoral.

Mr. Russell announced that he expected to leave New York early next month to start his lecture tour. His first important event will be a luncheon of the agricultural committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce in Chicago on Oct. 7.

Fireman Hurt in Fall From Truck.

Martin J. Lyons, 42 years old, of 1,647 Haight Avenue, of Hook and Ladder Company 39, fell from a truck at Weber Avenue and 225th Street while returning yesterday afternoon from a false alarm sent from Wilder and Strang Avenues. He was taken to Fordham Hospital suffering from possible concussion of the brain and cuts on the head.

NEWSPRINT MAKERS FEAR CANADA CRISIS

Price War and Collapse of Institute as Result of Chairman's Resignation Are Forecast.

STOCK SALE PROTEST SEEN

Merger of Leading Concerns and Sharp Drop in Quotations Among Reports Heard in Montreal.

The collapse of the Newsprint Institute of Canada, a monopoly organized to maintain newsprint prices by controlling output, was forecast yesterday by members of the organization as a result of the resignation of Colonel John H. Price, president of Price Brothers & Co., Ltd., as chairman of the institute.

Colonel Price, who announced his resignation here on Thursday, gave as his reasons his conviction that members of the institute had, in violation of their agreement, begun a scramble for markets and were making price adjustments through sales at low figures of stock in their companies to publishers. He did not name the members of the institute whom he accused of violating the institute's agreement to maintain prices.

Price's Action Interpreted.

In newsprint circles, however, his resignation and his announcement that his company would take immediate steps to maintain its position were viewed as the forerunners of a cut-rate war among the Canadian newsprint manufacturers, and it was believed that Colonel Price's challenge was directed at the Canada Power and Paper Company, which recently announced that the Hearst interests had bought a substantial block of its stock.

"That just about describes the situation," said E. L. Crooker, president of the St. Maurice Valley Corporation, referring to the accounts of Colonel Price's resignation appearing in yesterday's newspapers. "All these cooperatives sooner or later blow up."

Mr. Crooker's company, the second largest manufacturer of newsprint in the Dominion, is controlled by the Canada Power and Paper Company, the largest newsprint manufacturer in Canada. Mr. Crooker is general sales manager for Canada Power.

When asked whether the Canada Power and Paper Corporation would withdraw from the Newsprint Institute of Canada as a result of the stand taken by Colonel Price, Mr. Crooker said he did not know, and further that J. H. Gundy, president of Canada Power, who at present is in New York, would probably speak for Canada Power today.

Mr. Gundy's New York office explained that it was unable to reach him yesterday and he did not respond to calls for him in his hotel room.

CANADIANS ARE PUZZLED.

Various Interpretations Are Placed Upon Colonel Price's Resignation.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 26 (AP).—The resignation of Colonel J. H. Price as chairman of the Newsprint Institute of Canada was variously interpreted today as presaging the dissolution of the organization, the merger of leading manufacturers to form a new holding company and the beginning of a newsprint price war.

But Premier Taschereau said in Quebec he had no information that Price's action would lead to the breaking up of the institute and the formation of a similar but stronger organization.

"I understand that Colonel Price's withdrawal from the board of governors was provoked by the action of one of the companies which is an institute member," he said. "I believe, however, that while he has left the office of chairman he has not withdrawn his company from membership in the institute."

The Toronto Star had previously published a dispatch from here quoting Premier Taschereau as saying he understood a merger of four important newsprint manufacturers "is largely effected." Without the knowledge of many institute members, The Star said, "some of the newsprint leaders, led by J. H. Gundy, have been working on a merger of Abitibi, Canada Power and Paper, Anglo-Canadian and St. Lawrence."

Regarding the third interpretation, The Montreal Star said:

Price Cutting Reported.

"Rumors were current in the financial district today that the price of newsprint had been sharply cut. One report went the length of saying the price had been reduced from $55.20 to $44 per ton.

"It was also stated the two companies to first feel the effects of the Canada Power and Paper deal with the Hearst interests were Price Brothers & Co., Ltd., and St. Lawrence Paper Mills.

"Meanwhile it is believed in financial circles that this outbreak of hostilities in the industry will accentuate the need for the completion of plans under way for the formation of a powerful holding company which would take in the leading companies in Eastern Canada as well as some further west."

The St. John (N. B.) Telegraph Journal said:

"Information reaching St. John yesterday was to the effect that there is more than a hint of a newsprint war and the expectation is that a cut in newsprint prices is practically certain to ensue."

Price Drop Denied in Quebec.

Special to The New York Times.

QUEBEC, Que., Sept. 26.—No sharp drop in the price of newsprint has resulted from the resignation of Colonel J. H. Price from the Newsprint Institute of Canada, it was reported by newsprint authorities in this city today. Rumors from Montreal to this effect were flatly denied. One report of a drop in the price of newsprint from $55.20 to $44 a ton was declared to be without foundation.

Chief Dry Agent in Newark Quits.

Alexander P. MacPhee, deputy prohibition administrator for New Jersey, announced yesterday the resignation of John J. Clark as chief agent in the Newark district. Mr. Clark is a retired New York detective sergeant and lives in the Bronx. John G. Smith, who was brought to Newark recently from Philadelphia, was named as acting chief agent by Mr. MacPhee.

City Swelters as Mercury Again Goes to 85; Fair, Cooler Weather Forecast for Today

New York sweltered in midsummer weather again yesterday, as the heat wave that began on Thursday again sent the mercury soaring to a maximum of 85 degrees. Generally high humidity prevailed throughout the day, intensifying the discomfort.

Generally fair and cooler weather today, followed by much cooler weather tonight, was forecast last night by the local Weather Bureau. The prediction also was for fresh west and northwest winds. Tomorrow will be fair and continued cool.

The local high temperature reading, recorded at 4:20 P. M., was five degrees below the record mark of 90 degrees for the date, established in 1881. The coolest Sept. 26 on record here was in 1928, when the mercury touched 43.

Yesterday's heat here averaged 78 degrees, or 14 above the normal average of 64. The lowest temperature recorded was 70 degrees at 6 A. M.

Other cities in the East also suffered from high temperatures. A belated heat wave, with high humidity, brought July weather to Western Massachusetts, with thermometer readings above 80 and humidity registering 87, according to The Associated Press. Under the heat and continued lack of rain, small bodies of water were shrinking visibly. State agricultural college authorities said that only .26 inch of rainfall has been recorded thus far this month and that the precipitation for the year to date is two inches below normal.

Baltimore, and other places in Maryland, faced more than 90-degree temperatures, following Thursday's 95-degree mark.

The high winds swept down on Chicago from the Northwest shortly after noon. The winds blew at 50 miles an hour.

The wind upset a tri-motored passenger plane landing at the Chicago airport from St. Paul. Mrs. H. B. Lang of St. Paul and G. M. Wilinson of Chicago received minor bruises but three other passengers and the two pilots and steward escaped unhurt. A workman was blown from the second floor of an addition to the St. Elizabeth Hospital in Chicago, suffering a fractured skull.

BOYS SHANGHAIED TO UNLOAD LIQUOR

Five Youths Seized by Coast Guards Tell of Rum Runners Forcing Them to Work.

SKIFF AND SHIP ESCAPE

Autos and Trucks Get Away Amid Shots at Seaside Heights, N. J.—Lads Dressed and Freed.

Special to The New York Times.

SEASIDE HEIGHTS, N. J., Sept. 26.—Reported in the act of landing liquor on the beach from a sea skiff, five young men, found without clothing, were captured after a fusillade of shots by four Coast Guardsmen of Station 109 here this morning. The youths, whose ages ranged from 17 to 20 years, were taken to the Coast Guard station more than a mile away.

Coast Guard officials declined to make the names public but reported that the youths said their homes were in New York and that they had been approached by a man who asked them if they wanted to make $10 each by helping to haul in a few fish. They replied they did. They were taken in a sea skiff to a ship at sea, and liquor was unloaded from the ship to their skiff. They declared they did not want to take part in landing the liquor. They were then stripped of their clothing and told that when they finished the job they would be paid and their clothing restored. A heavy cable had been attached to the skiff and it was hauled as close as possible to the beach. They were discovered by a Coast Guardsmen who were patroling the beach. He called for help from the Coast Guard station. Three other guards joined him and when they reached the scene the youths ran along the beach and finally attempted to swim out to sea, it was charged.

Warned by the Coast Guards that they would shoot to kill, the youths continued their efforts to escape. The guards started firing. Two of the five youths shouted they would surrender. They put up their hands and with the others emerged from the ocean. By this time the skiff had parted from the cable and escaped to sea. Two miles out, a large vessel could be seen at anchor. The skiff, a speedy craft, headed toward the larger vessel and soon both had disappeared.

On the beach was a pile of twenty sacks of potatoes, underneath which twenty-one cases of whisky, labeled "Golden Wedding," were found. It was said that the liquor had been shipped from Canada.

Two automobiles and three trucks made their getaway while the Coast Guards held their captives. It is not known how much of the liquor had been landed and hauled away, but it was believed several trips had been made, as there were several truck tracks on a street that is very little used.

There is no swift rum-chasing craft at Station 109. However, other stations, including New York, Forked River and Atlantic City, were speedily informed and started to search the sea for the skiff and the large vessel.

The youths were reported badly bitten by green flies and mosquitoes. Old clothes were given to them at the Coast Guard station and they were released. They declared they would at once return to New York. While the Coast Guards apparently believed their story about being shanghaied it was intimated the youths would be investigated.

Gelson Reinstatement Upheld.

The Appellate Division in Brooklyn affirmed yesterday the ruling of Supreme Court Justice May in Brooklyn restoring Miss Honour B. Gelson, an Assistant Corporation Counsel and a former school teacher, to the city payroll and awarding to her $1,612 in salary due. Her salary as Assistant Corporation Counsel had been held up by Controller Berry from Jan. 17 to April 30 on the ground that she was receiving a pension of the Teachers' Retirement Board and had no right to receive a salary from the city in addition to the pension.

DRY AGENTS SEIZE 18 IN SERIES OF RAIDS

INVADES WHOOPEE CLUB

Captures Two Trucks Loaded With Beer on East Side—Many Small Seizures Made.

Agents under Martin O. Hanson, Deputy Prohibition Administrator of this district, arrested eighteen persons in eleven raids yesterday in and around New York and seized two trucks loaded with beer in a garage. Two of the raids, one in Hawthorne, N. Y., and the other in Greenwich Village, were in popular night clubs.

Ten couples were dancing in the Hillside Inn at Hawthorne when agents staged the first raid of the day. The raiders, according to Mr. Hanson, seized 500 bottles of assorted liquor and arrested Paul Williams, described as bartender; Frank Schaff, manager, and Knut Albecht, an employe.

The prisoners were arraigned here before Federal Commissioner Cotter and were held in bail of $1,000 each.

Last week State troopers, called to the inn because of a fight there, found a large quantity of liquor, they said. The proprietor, Frank Kahnert, and several employes who were arrested, were later freed by Alfred B. Southard, Justice of the Peace, after Frank H. Coyne, District Attorney of Westchester County, said that juries were too much opposed to the prohibition law to convict, and that they could not be "fooled" into convicting defendants under the nuisance act.

In the Whoopee Club, 117 Macdougal Street, the agents molested none of the twelve couples who were dancing when they arrived. They arrested Frank Cronin, bartender; Samuel Stone and Joseph Stein, waiters, and Joseph McMahon, doorman. Mr. Ranson said his men seized a bottle of kimmel and a pitcher of whisky.

The trucks loaded with alleged beer were seized later in the day at 3-11 Mangin Street, on the lower east side. Agents, who said they had trailed the trucks, containing twenty-seven barrels of beer, arrested John Wilson and Jasper McGill, chauffeurs.

Other raids, which netted small quantities of alleged liquor, were at 90 Fulton Street, 2,283 Bathgate Avenue, the Bronx; 156 West 165th Street, 383 East 134th Street, 522 East 133d Street, 610 East 137th Street, 269 East 134th Street, 435 East 106th Street and 59 Jefferson Street.

HELD FOR MAYS MURDER.

Taxi Driver Detained Without Bail—Police Seek Second Man.

Joseph Perrone of 10½ Sixteenth Street, Brooklyn, was held yesterday without bail on a charge of murder in Brooklyn homicide court by Magistrate Leo Healy.

Perrone was the driver of the taxi that took William Rose, a shipyard worker, and Charles Mays, Street Department truck driver, to a desolate spot near Barren Island, where, according to Perrone, Mays was shot to death by Rose. After that Perrone holds he was compelled to assist in throwing the body into the bay.

The police are still searching for Rose, who was identified by Perrone through a photograph in the possession of the Yellow Taxi Company, where Rose was employed as a taxi driver.

Mrs. Mays, wife of the slain man, was also held in $10,000 bail as a material witness.

EIGHT DIE IN STORM ON LAKE MICHIGAN

Six Others of Barge Crews, Including Two Women Cooks, Drift Ashore Many Miles Away.

LIFEBELTS KEPT THEM UP

Last Sailing Vessel on the Great Lakes Founders, but Crew Is Rescued.

Special to The New York Times.

MUSKEGON, Mich., Sept. 26.—The first storm of the Fall swept down on Lake Michigan today and took a heavy toll of life.

The barge Salvar, under Captain George Gatfield, with twelve aboard, was torn loose from its tug about two miles off this port and sank, carrying seven men and a boy to death.

At the same time the lumber schooner Our Son, the last sailing ship on the Great Lakes, foundered about twenty miles off Ludington, Mich. After hours of peril the schooner's crew of seven were taken off in safety by the freighter William Nelson.

Tonight the casualty list in the wreck of the Salvor stood: Two identified dead, six missing and given up for dead, six saved.

Two bodies that washed ashore were identified as those of Lyman Nadeau of Muskegon and Lornie Olmstead, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Ida Olmstead, the barge's cook.

Six others, wearing lifebelts, were carried ashore by the waves. They were Mrs. Olmstead, her sister, Alice La Plaunt; Edward Winserouski, foreman of the barge; Onnie La Plaunt, George Secord and Lloyd O'Connor.

Winserouski and La Plaunt drifted ashore ten miles north of the wreck. The two women and O'Connor were carried fifteen miles from the scene of the sinking.

Clinton Lane, Harry Smith and Clarence Barnett, all of Muskegon, and Clement Shurage, Elmer Lytle and Tony Winserouski of Detour were missing.

When darkness settled over the storm-swept waters tonight the body of one member of the crew, believed to be Clarence Barnett, was lashed to the high derrick aboard the boat. Coast Guards were unable to reach the wreck because of the storm.

The grounded craft is a quarter of a mile from shore and two miles north of Muskegon harbor, and the sea was washing over the top of the great derrick, which provides the only mark locating the barge. After Coast Guards had reached the scene powerful glasses showed two men lashed to the derrick, but later, as darkness came, there was only one.

The plight of the Our Son was revealed in radio messages imploring help from Coast Guard stations.

The schooner was foundering in a treacherous part of the lake filled with sandbars. The William Nelson reached the scene quickly, but so fierce was the wind and so heavy the sea that it was several hours before she could get into a position to effect a rescue.

TIME SHIFT TONIGHT RESTORES LOST HOUR

Daylight Saving Ends at 2 A. M. Tomorrow, but Clocks Will Be Changed This Evening.

Daylight Saving Time, which went into effect on April 27, will be abandoned for the season tomorrow when Eastern Standard Time will be resumed in New York City and through most of the Eastern United States and Canada. At 2 A. M. watches and clocks will be officially set back one hour so that those who lost an hour of sleep last April will get it back. So that there may be no mistake about it, hundreds of thousands of timepieces will be readjusted before their owners retire tonight.

Daylight time has been observed during the Summer by practically all the cities in this State except Rochester and Syracuse. It was established by law in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and was largely in vogue in Connecticut and New Jersey, notwithinstanding attempts by rural legislators to prohibit it in Connecticut. Although Maine had an anti-daylight time law, nine cities and towns observed it.

Marcus M. Marks, president of the National Daylight Saving Association, said yesterday that he believed opposition to the plan was decreasing and that the establishment of an Eastern daylight time zone, where it would be used exclusively each Summer, was now in sight.

"The adoption of daylight time is spreading all over the world," Mr. Marks said. "It is observed by Great Britain, the Irish Free State, France, Portugal and Belgium. As persons living in small communities and in rural sections become more familiar with its benefits, opposition to it will become less and less. I believe the great bulk of American cities and towns will adopt it in the near future."

Long Island Railroad trains, which have been operating on a daylight time schedule since April, will return to Standard time tomorrow. There will be some changes in the schedules of other railroads, notwithstanding the fact that their trains have been running on Standard Time all Summer. These changes are shown in the new time tables.

SENTENCED IN AUTO DEATHS

Boston School Master and Lowell Man Get Prison Terms.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Sept. 26 (AP).—Richard G. Tuson, master of a Boston Junior High School, was sentenced today to from three to four years in State prison, and Herbert G. Bell of Lowell was given a nine to ten year sentence in State prison, after convictions for manslaughter in automobile fatalities. Sentences were imposed by Judge David F. Dillon.

Tuson was found guilty by a jury yesterday of manslaughter, operating while under the influence of liquor, driving to endanger and leaving the scene of an accident. His automobile struck and killed Edward Donnelly, a Lynn milk man, last July.

Drummond Will Visit Uruguay.

GENEVA, Sept. 26 (AP).—Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary General of the League of Nations, will go to Uruguay in December as the League's representative at Uruguay's independence celebration.

Will Rogers Doubts Wisdom Of Hoover's Proposed Tour

To the Editor of The New York Times:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 26.—Mr. Hoover is doing something that if I was touting him I don't believe I would let him do. He is going into three or four States where the coming election is very hot, and going to make speeches, not political speeches, but nevertheless they are in those States, but even if he talks on the evils of Cali-Neva, why it will be construed as political.

Funny thing about us, we will listen to any old shyster politician that comes along to advise us, but we just won't trust any of our Presidents when we think they are trying to tell us who to elect.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ROOSEVELT GIVES TO THE LIPTON FUND

Sir Thomas's Sportsmanship a Lesson to Every American, Governor Writes.

$3,500 RECEIVED FOR CUP

Walker Committee Decides to Accept Offer of $4,000 in Silver From Utah.

Governor Roosevelt, in a letter to THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday, accompanying his contribution to the fund for a sportsmanship cup for Sir Thomas Lipton, praised the yachtsman for his sportsmanship in defeat.

The Governor's contribution was one of many that swelled the fund, being handled by a committee of which Mayor Walker is chairman, to the $3,500 mark. The Mayor's office has received more than $3,100 and funds received by THE NEW YORK TIMES and other newspapers make up the balance.

The cup committee decided to accept an offer of fifty pounds of silver from Utah, representing $4,000, it was announced last night.

The letter from the Governor, addressed to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES, read:

"Will Rogers and THE NEW YORK TIMES certainly started a very timely movement to crystallize the sentiment of all Americans toward that great sportsman, Sir Thomas Lipton. I hasten to send my dollar too, and I am sure thousands of true red-blooded Americans will do the same.

"While Sir Thomas lost his chance to win the cup this year—he won, and his victory over defeat and his good sportsmanship are a real lesson to every American. Sir Thomas rose to supreme greatness after the first defeat and I hope he will challenge again for 1932.

"Will Rogers, THE TIMES, in fact all newspapers, are doing a magnificent job in raising funds for the Lipton Cup and let us all fill it to overflowing with friendship and admiration for Sir Thomas Lipton."

Other letters also sounded the praises of Sir Thomas as the "world's best loser," as he was hailed by Will Rogers, who made the suggestion that a cup be presented to him in recognition of his sportsmanship in defeat.

FUND TRANSFER FOUND IN WILLIMANTIC INQUIRY

Auditor Reports $24,012 of Town's Money Was Placed to Account of Treasurer Fenton.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., Sept. 26.—An audit of town accounts by William A. Back, First Selectman, and Walter Musgrove, an accountant, today showed a shortage in the accounts of Frank P. Fenton, Town Treasurer, which was termed "substantial."

The report said that a transfer of $24,012 of town funds to the personal account of Mr. Fenton took place without authorization from town officials.

Mr. Fenton tonight gave out a statement in which he said that he would deny absolutely the misappropriation of town funds.

Mr. Musgrove said tonight that the report is not an accusation.

The report asserted that three checks totaling $5,471 were drawn from the account of town of Windham, which embraces the city of Willimantic, and credited to the personal account of Mr. Fenton; that Liberty Bonds of the town of Windham sinking funds, amounting to $1,854, were sold and credited to the personal account of Mr. Fenton; that the cash records left by Mr. Fenton show merely monthly totals, developed from memoranda kept on file and afterward destroyed, and that accounts due the town, because of old outstanding checks never deposited, amount to about $15,000.

RISKS LIFE FOR 2 MEN TRAPPED IN MANHOLE

Camden Policeman Also Felled by Gas—Firemen With Masks Finally Rescue the Three.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 26.—Policeman Charles Smith risked his life here this afternoon in an effort to rescue two Bell Telephone Company employes from a gas-filled manhole while a companion patrolman was hastening back to the station for a gas mask. As Smith lowered himself by a rope into the hole, he collapsed and fell on the unconscious workmen.

A few moments later Battalion Chief Willard Jones arrived with Tony Ballentine, his driver, and the latter, equipped with a gas mask, rescued the three men with the aid of other workmen. Ballentine became ill and a pulmotor had to be used on him as well as on Patrolman Smith and the workmen, D. Joseph Quinn and Francis Kapus. Kapus's condition was regarded as critical at the hospital.

LIPTON TO TRY AGAIN, HE SAYS IN FAREWELL

Announces Changed Decision a City Hall Reception on Eve of His Departure.

HE WILL CHALLENGE SOON

New Shamrock to Have Metal Mast and Other Devices That Aided the Enterprise.

THANKS CITY AND NATION

Moved by America's Reception, H Writes Walker, He Will Race for Cup a Sixth Time.

An 81-year-old sportsman, who has suffered defeat five times in his attempts to capture the America's Cup, refused yesterday to admit that he was "licked." Another Shamrock will make the trip across the Atlantic to contend with American yachts for the supremacy in the sport.

This was the substance of Sir Thomas Lipton's farewell to America yesterday, as he prepared to sail for home today on the Leviathan. He chose as his spot to make the announcement the Mayor's reception room at City Hall a few moments after he and the Mayor had shaken hands in a warm farewell.

The new challenge would be made shortly, Sir Thomas said, and he indicated that the new Shamrock would be equipped with the mechanical contrivances and the metal mast that enabled the Enterprise, Harold S. Vanderbilt's cup defender, to outsail Shamrock V in four straight heats.

Formality Cast Aside.

The ceremony at City Hall started off in a formal manner, but the spontaneous enthusiasm of the crowd that greeted him, and of the Mayor, who hurried down from a Board of Estimate meeting, wiped out almost the last vestiges of this before the visit had ended.

The Mayor greeted his old friend, not in the public reception room, but in the private ante-chamber to his own office. A half hour elapsed before the two emerged, smiling, and crossed the hall to the reception room to pose for photographers and to joke in public.

After the fourth and final race off Newport, Sir Thomas said that he would not challenge again, that no boat could beat the Enterprise. Yesterday, in his letter to the Mayor, thanking him and the people of the city and the nation for the way they have received him, he indicated that his decision to try again had been influenced by America's reception, and by the subscription for the sportsmanship cup now being conducted by the Mayor.

He also indicated his belief that to beat the Enterprise his yacht also would need a metal mast, though, as Sir Thomas noted ruefully, the cost of such a mast is estimated at $40,000.

Sir Thomas announced last night that he would return on the Leviathan after a five-day stay abroad. He said he preferred to receive the sportsmanship cup in New York, and that he would rather have Mayor Walker make the presentation than any one else.

It was also announced that the committee for the selection of the cup had been made and the artist chosen to design it. The names will be announced later.

Sir Thomas's Letter to Walker.

Sir Thomas's letter to the Mayor, given out at City Hall, read as follows:

To the Hon. James J. Walker,
Mayor of New York City—

My Dear Mayor:

I address you, sir, as the executive head of the 7,000,000 of people who comprise your most beautiful and cosmopolitan city. On the eve of sailing for home I find myself almost without words in which I may fittingly express the deep sense of gratitude I feel for the generous, friendly and finely hospitable spirit showered upon me, not only by yourself and by the people you so ably serve, but by citizens of every part of your great nation. The task of thanking each of these individually is impossible to perform. You, sir, I can thank individually and personally and with a grateful heart, and it is my most sincere wish that through you these words of mine may reach all of those whose friendly messages of greeting and encouragement have touched me so profoundly.

An international yacht race has been won and lost. The best boat won, and the congratulations I have extended to the gallant winner are earnest and sincere. For many years, now, I have had occasion to admire the fine spirit of American sportsmanship, and now, like Robert Bruce, I have tried and tried again, I can only say that my admiration and esteem for your sportsmen has increased with the years. I am proud and gratified to believe that you and your people are genuinely sincere when you cheer me as a fellow-sportsman who tries his best, does, as you might say, his darnedest, and loses with a good grace.

To the fine collection of yachting cups, trophies of many races my boats have won in many waters, I feel it a pity that I am not to add this year that blue-ribbon trophy of international yacht racing, the America's Cup. But we Scotch-Irish, or Irish-Scotch, whichever way you prefer it, do not easily give up, and I think I can best answer the generous spirit in which your people have received me by saying that I hope to be back before long for another try.

I am sailing away tomorrow on your fine American ship Leviathan, but it will be a pleasant day for me, Mr. Mayor, when I once more, my face turned westward, I see again the towering skyscrapers that mark your skyline, the most beautiful and impressive skyline of any city in the world, because I shall feel—because you and your people have made me feel—that a true American welcome awaits me and that the spirit of fair play which you have so wonderfully demonstrated this time will be always to the fore.

With a heart filled with grateful memories, I thank all who have so opened their hearts to me.

I have, Mr. Mayor, the honor of remaining,

Very sincerely yours,
THOMAS J. LIPTON.

MAYOR AIDS FIGHT ON ROCKAWAY LAND

Offers to Let Property Owners Choose Man to Help City Counsel Reduce Awards.

HILLY METHODS ATTACKED

Residents Charge He Has Failed to Use His Full Powers in Condemnation Proceedings.

Mayor Walker offered yesterday to appoint a special Corporation Counsel to be chosen by Rockaway property owners to assist Corporation Counsel Hilly in seeking reductions of the $12,500,000 condemnation awards tentatively fixed in the Rockaway Beach improvement after several hundred Rockaway residents, appearing before the Board of Estimate, denounced the awards as grossly excessive and taxed the Corporation Counsel with failure to exercise his full powers toward reducing them.

Controller Charles W. Berry brought the matter formally before the board with his resolution declaring that the awards were far in excess of the assessed valuations, and calling upon the board to direct Mr. Hilly to take all possible steps to show that the awards were excessive. Supreme Court Justice James A. Dunne handed down the tentative decree in June fixing the awards at $12,569,282.30.

Attorney Attacks Hilly.

Max Tachna of 225 Broadway, attorney for a large group of property owners, launched the first attack on the corporation counsel's office, saying that few of his real estate experts in the proceeding lived in the Rockaways or were familiar with property values there. Private buyers of real estate went to appraisers who lived near the property, he said.

"There were plenty of expert real estate appraisers living in the Rockaways," the lawyer said. "Why didn't the city reach them?"

The lawyer said he could cite many examples of inequality in the court's valuation of the property. Contiguous plots varied as much as 60 per cent and 70 per cent in valuation, he asserted, adding that the court could not make such decisions unless some essential evidence had been placed before it.

Although Controller Berry had requested Justice Dunne to postpone a hearing last Thursday on the awards until the city could act, Mr. Tachna said Corporation Counsel Hilly had proceeded with the case without asking an adjournment.

Browne Arouses Hilly.

Stewart Browne, president of the United Real Estate Owners Association, said Mr. Hilly had assigned an inexperienced assistant whose salary was $3,750 a year to represent the city against a large group of astute attorneys representing the property owners. He said the appraisers would value property at almost any figure, depending on the fees they were promised. He also declared that titles to underwater land should have been investigated.

"These statements are not true, Mr. Mayor," Mr. Hilly declared angrily. "The city was represented by Joseph G. Matthews, head of the Queens Condemnation Bureau, who has twenty-six years' experience in this work. John J. Boylan and Martin McCahill did the underwater titles for us and there are no better experts in this line in the city. In every question of law concerning these titles, the court held with the corporation counsel."

C. S. Noyes, an attorney representing twenty-five property owners produced a form of retainer which he said was being circulated in the Rockaways by the Institute for Public Service of which William H. Allen is director. Mr. Noyes said the retainers authorized the institute to aid in the fight for one-third of the amount saved for each property owner on his assessment. Mr. Noyes asserted circulating of the retainers was a violation of the penal law. Mr. Allen told the Mayor that the retainers were being circulated, but not by the institute.

New Grounds for Opposition.

A different phase of the opposition was expressed by A. Joseph Geis, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the Rockaways. Mr. Geis said he would not argue against the awards, but that he wanted the consequent assessments reduced so that the taxpayers would not encounter hardship in paying their share of 35 per cent of the improvements cost.

"I don't think this board can sit in criticism of the Supreme Court, its own legal agency," he said. "This property has been variously valued all the way from $6,000,000 to $25,000,000, and the court decided that $12,500,000 was fair. I don't see how that decision can be contested unless there is some suspicion of fraud or unless some essential evidence is missing from the record."

After hearing the arguments, Mayor Walker expressed disfavor toward civic leaders, who, he said, stirred up a lot of enthusiasm for public improvements without ever telling those who sought them that they would have to be paid for.

"The Board of Estimate had done all it could to avoid situations of this kind," the Mayor asserted. "The Controller has purchased more than 3,000 acres of park land without resorting to condemnation. We tired of condemnation years ago, and we now have a Board of Estimate committee working to discover a way of eliminating it entirely."

Mayor Walker asserted that he took full responsibility for Mr. Hilly's conduct in the condemnation case and said he would investigate whether the corporation counsel had exercised "good judgment and vigorous action." He then offered to appoint any man the taxpayers named as a special corporation counsel to assist Mr. Hilly. His offer was met with a burst of applause, and several suggested Mr. Tachna. The Mayor decided to postpone action on the Berry resolution for one week to allow time for the selection of the special corporation counsel, but declared he would not vote in favor of it because there was no evidence that the corporation counsel needed any urging in the prosecution of the case.

He directed Mr. Hilly to inform Justice Dunne of the board's action at the next hearing on Monday and to ask for a postponement of the hearings until the special counsel could familiarize himself with the case.

Edison Industries Cut Staff; Scholarship Idea Man Goes

Special to The New York Times.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 26.—The business slump has no respect even for idea creators. Frank R. Schell, said to be the originator of the Edison scholarship contest, will sever his connections with the Edison industries next month. Mr. Schell's idea for the contest brought the inventor international publicity.

The contest, however, only required Mr. Schell's energies a small part of the year, hence his departure. Several other employes have been dropped and none other than the president of the Thomas A. Edison Industries, Charles Edison, is without the services of his private secretary, it was said at the plant this afternoon.

WYNNE SAYS HEALTH CAN BE PURCHASED

Replying to Dr. McNamara, He Advocates "Ethically Sound" Advertising by Physicians.

AIMS TO GUIDE PUBLIC

Position of Doctor Changing, He Says, and Profession Must Act to Combat Quacks.

Health Commissioner Wynne, replying yesterday to criticism by Dr. Sylvester J. McNamara of the South Brooklyn Medical Society, said that Dr. McNamara's statement that the department had made no progress showed a lack of familiarity with the department's work.

Dr. Wynne contended that it was necessary to guide the public in expending money to "purchase" health. He said that the position of the doctor was changing in the community and he advocated the use of "ethically sound" advertising methods to combat advertising done by manufacturers of quack medicines.

Dr. Wynne defended his suggestion that physicians list their names with their county medical societies with information as to the charges they would make for preventive medicine services on this basis. It was on this listing suggestion that Dr. McNamara centred much of his criticism, saying that it was arrogant, impertinent and that the commissioner had exceeded the powers of his office in making it.

The public bought quack remedies and nostrums instead of getting good medical service, Dr. Wynne said, because manufacturers of the preparations in question had no ethical scruples about using modern advertising to the limit of its power. The fact that the public was willing to buy them, however, he contended, indicated that it was willing to spend money in health. While professional ethics forbade individual physicians from advertising, he said, recognized medical institutions were entirely justified in conducting campaigns of health education and providing guidance so that the public would know how to spend its money in such a manner as to receive a real return in health.

"Regardless of what some doctors may think," he continued, "the practice of medicine has changed and the public attitude toward preventive medicine has changed too. Doctors have a unique opportunity to increase practice and at the same time give most valuable service to the public. The millions spent each year on nostrums, quack remedies, constipation cures, beauty creams and similar articles would bring the public an immense return in good health if spent with compentent forward thinking physicians. Health is a most valuable possession and it is certainly justifiable that ethically sound advertising methods be used—not to promote the practice of an individual or exploit any particular doctor—but to educate the public to a fact medical men have long realized that good health is purchasable."

WAREHOUSEMEN PLAN FREE STORAGE ATTACK

I. C. C. Examiner at Memphis Will Hear Arguments Against War Department Policy.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 26.—The policy of the Inland Waterways Corporation, operated by the United States War Department, in granting free storage on sugar and other commodities at the corporation's tax-exempt barge line terminals along the Mississippi, Ohio and Warrior Rivers in competition with privately owned and taxpaying warehouses will be argued before an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner here on Tuesday.

The case is one of national interest because it involves the right of a government-owned agency to do business in a way which is alleged to be interfering with private enterprise. It is contended that if the right of the corporation to accord free storage at its river terminals is upheld by the commission, a precedent will be established which will have a serious effect in all parts of the country, where the War Department may authorize extension of the operations of the Federal barge lines.

Should the Inland Waterways Corporation be permited to continue free storage, the railroads may feel compelled, it is argued, similarly to grant free storage on goods temporarily at rest in their freight terminals. It is the contention of the rail carriers that they should have equal privilege with the Federally-operated barge line terminals to accord in-transit goods free storage.

Confronted with actual competition by the barge lines and with possible similar competition by the railroads, the American Warehousemen's Association recently filed the complaint against the Inland Waterways Corporation, and at the hearing here on Tuesday its representatives will be on hand to uphold the request that the commission order the corporation to cease its free storage practice.

GIVES WABC PERMIT FOR SITE IN JERSEY

Radio Board Favors Erection of 50,000-Watt Station in Wayne Township.

WNYC REQUESTS FULL TIME

Aeronautical Radio, Inc., Gets Approval for New Plants in Six Cities.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The Federal Radio Commission today approved the site, a half a mile from Wayne, N. J., selected by WABC of New York City, key station of the Columbia Broadcasting System, for its new 50,000-watt transmitter.

This action ended a controversy that has been in progress for months. The company made an effort to locate the station near Columbia Bridge, N. J., but was opposed by the State. A plan to establish the transmitter on Long Island also was opposed. Some days ago, however, the Public Utilities Commission of New Jersey approved the new site at Wayne. The commission today also extended the construction permit for completion by Feb. 1, 1931.

W8XT, East Pittsburgh, Pa., owned by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, received permission to operate on unlimited time for experimental purposes in order to synchronize with WEAF, New York, and W2XAG, Schenectady, N. Y.

Aeronautical Radio, Inc., received construction permits for new stations at Newark, Columbus, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Springfield, Mo.

W3XAD, experimental station of the R. C. A.-Victor Company of Camden, received a license renewal; WMCA, Hoboken, received permission to change its equipment, including installation of automatic frequency control, and WAAM of Newark also received authority to change its equipment and to increase its daytime power from 2,000 to 2,500 watts.

WMCA, Hoboken, which shares time with municipal station WNYC of New York on 570 kilocycles, asked permission for full-time operation. WNYC filed a similar application.

ALASKA FLIER TAKES SERUM TO DILLINGHAM

Dorbrandt Brings Out a Stricken Prospector Picked Up on Way to Diphtheria Zone.

By FRANK DORBRANDT.

Former Partner of Carl Ben Eielson.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 26.—Well, all the people are rescued and all the serum is delivered.

Alonzo Cope, my mechanic, and I returned to Anchorage today from a flight of more than 2,000 miles which took us as far north as Cape Serdge, Siberia, 100 miles inside the Arctic Circle. Just before making that trip we had brought out a party of marooned hunters from the isolated Glacier Lake district.

At Cape Serdge we picked up an ill sea captain and took him to the hospital in Nome. At Nome we picked up some diphtheria antitoxin and, after being delayed a couple of days by unfavorable flying weather, started yesterday for Dillingham. On the way we dropped in at Holy Cross, 250 miles southeast of Nome at the junction of the Innoko and Yukon Rivers, and picked up Matt Vaughn, a pioneer Alaska prospector, who is seriously ill.

Vaughn went with us to Dillingham, an airplane distance of 250 miles southeast of Holy Cross, but considerably further the way we traveled with our seaplane to dodge the Ahklun Mountains.

We landed in the harbor of Dillingham, which is on Nushagak Bay, an arm of Bristol Bay. The diphtheria epidemic there is quite serious, but affects mostly the native population. The serum was vitally needed.

Vaughn still accompanying us, we hopped across the Aleutian Peninsula and up Cook Inlet to Anchorage, a distance of 350 miles. Vaughn was placed in the hospital here.

When we reached our base here we found a number of impatient trappers and miners awaiting us. They had been depending on our plane carrying them to their scenes of operations. They find the airplane an economical and speedy means of transportation, and are coming to rely upon it more and more, and upon dog teams less and less. I was forced to cancel a number of flights with them when the urgent wireless message came through from Cape Serdge that Captain A. P. Jochimsen was in danger of dying aboard the motorship Karise unless removed to a hospital at once.

It will be necessary to make many of these short flights with the miners and trappers in rapid succession in the next few days before Cope and I take off after Oct. 1 for a jaunt to the outside—Seattle.

ORIGINAL OF REPORT ON PANAMA DEMANDED

Paper Hints Spanish Translation of Financial Survey Differs From English Version.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PANAMA CITY, Sept. 26.—The Panama American, in an editorial today calls upon the National Assembly to demand an original copy of the report made of the investigation of financial and economic conditions in Panama by the committee of experts headed by George F. Roberts, vice president of the National City Bank of New York.

The editorial alleges that before the report was printed it was rumored it had been censored because, it was said, it contained statements that the government did not deem it prudent to divulge. The newspaper, however, says it has the assurance of former Secretary of Finance T. G. Duque that the translation is faithful to the text and that rumors to the contrary are unfounded. It asserts also that it has been impossible to procure a copy of the original English for publication in the English section of The Panama American, although Mr. Roberts sent several copies here.

The editorial suggests that the Assembly attempt to locate the copies and study the original instead of the Spanish translations furnished to the deputies.

EDUCATIONAL TALKS TO BE BROADCAST

Questions Asked by the Radio Audience Will Be Answered in Course of Series.

The first of an extensive group of educational broadcasts will be launched over WOR on Oct. 2, when Dr. William Heard Kilpatrick, professor of educational philosophy, Teachers College, Columbia University, opens the series which is under the auspices of the Progressive Education Association. Present plans call for the continuation of these programs weekly until May 14, next. All the programs will go on the air at 12:15 P. M.

Among the educational leaders who will be heard are Dr. Christine M. Heinig, chief instructor of the Nursery School, Child Development Institute at Teachers College; Dr. Willard Beatty, Superintendent of Bronxville Public Schools; Dr. Robert Leigh, president, Bennington College; Dr. Jessie Stanton of the Bureau of Education Experiments, New York; Dr. Hughes Means, professor of education, New York University; Dr. Morse A. Cartwright, director of American Association for Adult Education, New York; Ann Shumaker, editor, Progressive Education Magazine, Washington, and many others prominent in the field of education.

The opening address, to be made by Dr. Kilpatrick, is an explanation of what progressive education is. Dr. Lois Hayden Meek, director of Child Development Institute at Teachers College, who is in charge of these broadcasts has made arrangements with J. Milton Dorey, executive secretary of the educational association sponsoring the programs, to answer all inquiries asked by the radio audience.

POUGHKEEPSIE TOLLS HEAVY

First Month's Operation of Bridge Showed Receipts of $65,481.

ALBANY, Sept. 26 (AP).—Colonel Greene, Superintendent of Public Works, announced today that the tolls collected at the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie during the first month of operation amounted to $65,481.55. Up to last midnight 64,056 vehicles and 11,412 pedestrians crossed the bridge, Colonel Greene said.

He added that the tolls collected during the first month indicated that the average monthly return would be considerably larger than his original estimate of $1,000 a day.

TRADE GAINS MADE BY RADIO SHOW HERE

Exhibitors Attribute Drop in Attendance to Heat, Holidays and Increased Admission.

FAIR WILL CLOSE TONIGHT

Manufacturers Predict Better Sales This Year Than Last—Average Cost of Sets Lower.

The seventh annual Radio World's Fair at Madison Square Garden will close tonight at 11 o'clock. The radio showmen will move to Boston, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, Louisville and Philadelphia, where annual radio exhibitions will be held next week.

From an attendance point of view the New York exhibitors say that they are disappointed especially when they look back to the crowds that surged around the booths and carried away literature a year or two ago. However, they report that from a trade standpoint they are pleased. A representative of A. H. Grebe & Co. said that it was a better trade show than a public show. He said the exhibitors attributed the drop in attendance to the heat and humidity, to the two Jewish holidays during the week and to the fact that the price of admission was increased.

Manufacturers interviewed at the fair predicted that the final quarter of 1930 would surpass the sales volume of 1929, when the business slump paralyzed the industry and resulted in overproduction. This season they say they do not expect any distress merchandise to be offered at the end of the year.

Tube manufacturers estimate that from 75,000,000 to 80,000,000 tubes will be sold in 1930. They point to the fact that the distress merchandise in the early part of the year called for many new tubes. They expect replacements and new sets to increase the demand.

ARTIST SUES POLA NEGRI FOR $5,000 PORTRAIT

Masses, Spaniard, Alleges She Ordered Valentino's Wraith Painted in Background.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—While the divorce proceedings instituted by Pola Negri against Prince Serge Mdvani have been indefinitely postponed in the Paris courts, the Spanish painter Beltran Masses today filed a suit against the film actress for recovery of $5,000 which he alleges is due to him for painting her portrait.

Miss Negri promptly filed a reply to the artist's complaint, stating she had never really engaged him to do her portrait but he had begged permission to paint her. Notwithstanding, she offered to pay him $1,000 for his work, which he refused.

Señor Masses insists the actress came to him voluntarily and ordered the portrait, with specific instructions that a shadow form of the late Rudolph Valentino should be painted in the background.

Before her marriage to Prince Serge Mdvani, Miss Negri was reported to be engaged to Valentino, and she was said to have stated in press interviews that Valentino was the greatest love of her life. The Spanish painter declares the portrait with Valentino's wraith in the background was ordered after her marriage to the Prince.

After Miss Negri started divorce proceedings, Prince Serge Mdvani announced his intention to marry Mary McCormick, the American opera singer, as soon as the decree was granted. Then came a reconciliation between the Prince and his actress wife. The divorce proceedings were indefinitely adjourned, and Miss McCormick said, "It is all for the best."

130,000 Alabama Drought Sufferers

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 26 (AP).—F. W. Girst, Federal and State agricultural statistician, fears that thousands of Alabama farm tenants and their families face destitution because of the Summer drought and the prevailing low prices of farm products. He issued a statement today estimating that 130,000 men, women and children in this State would be without funds at the end of the harvest season.

WHICH WOULD YOU RATHER DO?
TAKE PILLS and drugs—or add roughage to your diet. When constipated, you either have to do one or the other.
Isn't it the best—the most healthful and pleasant way—to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN? This ready-to-eat cereal is welcome as a good food and it is guaranteed to relieve and to prevent both temporary and recurring constipation.
Try it today. Millions have proved that eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN prevents constipation. And it also adds needed iron to the diet.
Try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with fruits or honey added. Use it for making delightful, fluffy bran muffins, omelets, etc. At your grocer's, in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Texas Gargantua.

ROADSIDE, a comedy in three acts, by Lynn Riggs. Settings by Robert Edmond Jones; costumes designed by Everett Shinn; staged and produced by Arthur Hopkins. At the Longacre Theatre.

Pap Rader	Frederick Burton
Buzzy Hale	Jack Byrne
Hannie Rader	Ruthelma Stevens
Red Ike	Gilbert Squarey
Black Ike	Kendall Foster
Texas	Ralph Bellamy
Town Marshal	Roderick Maybee
Neb	Frank I. Frayne
Judge Snodgrass	Harry Hermsen
Mrs. Foster	Anne Tonetti

Beyond an occasional streak of earthy dialogue Lynn Riggs has very little to offer in "Roadside," which Arthur Hopkins produced at the Longacre last evening. Mr. Riggs is the young Middle Western poet whose native plays, in book form and in amateur theatre productions, have recently directed attention to his talents, and whose "Tread The Grass Green" is on the Theatre Guild bulletin for this season. To judge by "Roadside," which is his first New York professional production, he is an amateur in two senses of the word. He is fresh and underdone. He writes out of his native environment rather than the theatre, but he writes to little purpose. As an exercise in dramatic composition this vagabond comedy of the Indian Territory would earn a high grade and a terse jotting of praise in his instructor's optimistic handwriting. As a professional production it is merely a dull evening in the theatre.

If he could impart to his characters some of the vigor he has rubbed into their dialogue, he might bring them to life out of the pages of his manuscript. For his chief character, Texas, is an American Gargantua—a Paul Bunyan of the plains. "Wild and reckless, born in Texas," he sings, as he swaggers along the road. Having been married to a farming pigmy, Hannie Rader can appreciate this wild-talking giant, who has just wrecked the local court and demolished the jail as a bit of practical criticism of the law. She means to take up with him if he is not all bluster. After he has cleaned out the courtroom for a second time and frightened the marshal and two deputies, she and her pappy, and Red and Black Ike, who are a sort of moron Greek chorus, roll off with Texas in their caravan. He is her man. When they kiss, the leaves on the trees begin to smoke.

Nearly everything Mr. Riggs does well he does in his writing. Texas's gasconades, one or two of which are vastly amusing, are feats of literature. Mr. Riggs lets his characters describe themselves at length in lusty prose, but he denies them the privilege of doing anything for themselves. Even when they are on the point of sacking the court room they talk unconscionably. Pointing a revolver and holding up their hands are the limit of their activities. When Mr. Riggs writes a native play out of native characters he may be well worth listening to. As a writer he appears to be at home in the out-of-doors. But he is not yet a sufficiently mature craftsman to impose an arbitrary form on his people. Making an outlandish comedy of "Roadside" would require greater inventive and imaginative strength than Mr. Riggs has to give it.

Like the play, the performance is merely an assignment of speaking positions. Mr. Hopkins as the director has been no more inventive than the author. Playing the bravado part of Texas, Ralph Bellamy gives the most effortless performance in the cast. He speaks with intonation and with the authority of a strapping adventurer.

The other actors, who might do well with literal native parts, are beyond their depth in this sort of romantic comedy. As Hannie Rader, Ruthelma Stevens has a full voice well adapted to folk drama, and she plays with versatility. Her sense of comedy is not broad and deep enough for her present rôle. If Gilbert Squarey and Kendall Foster seem rather trying as Red and Black Ike, it is difficult to understand how such parts could ever be soundly comic. Mr. Riggs has not done well by the actors, the theatregoers or himself.

D. L. MITCHELL IN HOSPITAL.

An infection in his left foot prevented Dodson L. Mitchell, one of the leading players in "Roadside," from opening in the Arthur Hopkins production last night at the Longacre Theatre. The leather boots which the actor was called upon to wear in portraying a Texas town marshal were said to have been the cause of the infection.

Mr. Mitchell appeared in the play on Monday night in New Haven, where "Roadside" had a preliminary tryout of four performances. He was unable to play for the remainder of the New Haven engagement, and on Thursday night was admitted to Flower Hospital. It was said at the hospital last night that Mr. Mitchell was getting along fairly well. In the meantime he is being temporarily replaced by Roderick Maybee.

CHICAGO OPERA OPENING.

Premiere of Moret's "Lorenzaccio" to Usher In Civic Season.

Ernest Moret's "Lorenzaccio" has been chosen to open the season of the Chicago Civic Opera on Monday, Oct. 27, it was announced yesterday. The opera, which is based on the play by Alfred de Musset, will receive its American première at that time, with Vanni-Marcoux, who sang the title rôle at the world première of the work at the Opéra Comique in Paris in 1920, in the cast.

The Chicago Opera, by singing "Lorenzaccio," makes a departure from the usual procedure of presenting an opera from the standard repertory on the opening night. The company will begin its second season in its new home this year.

"Sweet Stranger" Coming to Cort.

"Sweet Stranger," which Paul Streger is producing in association with the Erlanger office, is booked to open at the Cort Theatre on Oct. 6 or Oct. 13, it was learned yesterday. The cast will be headed by Ralph Morgan and Linda Watkins and will include Molly Ricardel, Clyde Fillmore and Viola Roache. The play, the work of Frank Mitchell Dazey and his wife, Agnes Christine Johnston, will begin a tryout tour in Great Neck tonight. Subsequently it will be seen at the Boulevard Theatre, Jackson Heights, and probably at the Carlton-Jamaica Theatre. Worthington Miner, who staged "Up Pops the Devil," is directing the Dazey-Johnston play.

Molnar Slaps Tardy Prima Donna.

VIENNA, Sept. 26 (AP).—Reports from Budapest say Franz Molnar, the dramatist, created a sensation at the Comedy Theatre by slapping the face of the prima donna Franziska Gal because she came late to rehearsal. Franziska Gal returned the slap, whereupon M. Molnar canceled the prima donna's engagement.

MOLLY PICON EXCELS IN ENTERTAINING PLAY

At the Folks Theatre at Second Avenue and Twelfth Street last night, Molly Picon opened in the most entertaining show she has appeared in in some time. The new play, "The Girl of Yesterday," by H. Kalmanowich and Jacob Kalich, who usually provide the Picon book, while retaining some of the standard hokum of Jewish musical comedy stories, packs a good many funny lines indigenous to the East side; and there are several fetching tunes in the neatly orchestrated score by Joseph Rumshinsky, who conducted it last night con amore—and yet with admirable restraint.

The show opens promisingly on a conjunction of East side streets in the shadow of Williamsburg(?) Bridge, flanked by, among other things, swinging doors, an "appetizing" store and the remnant stand of Rivtche, who is Tessie (Molly Picon's) mother. After the chorus exhorts you to "Buy Bargains!" Molly makes her entrance sliding down a rope from a balcony, and from that moment till the end of the act, an hour and a half later, when Molly climbs up the rope—halfway, the fun is brisk. Inasmuch as Molly can never quite forego sometimes broad, sometimes subtle clowning, some of the fun resides in her manipulation of her Orchard Street obi. But she also is given the kind of things to say out of which her tomboy self knows how to extract the maximum of comedy, and the other characters do not stand by and gape while she holds the stage; they keep up with her pace.

There is the chap who samples pickles and such-like things and throws them back into the barrel because they're not to his taste; he mortally offends the appetizing dealer by insulting his "kapchonka," to the excellence of which thirty-eight Rumanians have testified "by sucking their fingers from it." There is the tailor suitor who stutters and the awkward cobbler suitor with a big heart destined soon to be broken. And all the time Molly hustles around, no one in the audience enjoying himself more heartily than she does, whether she's singing of true love, trembling before the advances of a new wooer—a violinist no less—or merely blowing up that curl which insists, again and again, on falling in her right eye.

It may sound startling that there should be tragedy in such a play, but so it is: the wonderful violinist whom Tessie is about to marry turns out to be the husband of her father's second wife's daughter. She gives him up and renounces marriage, as does the cobbler, who staggers in half-drunk on the wedding party.

This character seems to be a stage property used in all the Yiddish plays, and if he is repeated much more often one night some irate critic will up and end his misery for him.

But "The Girl of Yesterday" couldn't end on such a note. There is an interval of fifty years, passed by in the shade of a black drop, before which Florence Stern recites some purple-patched couplets served up with a musical fricassee doused in G-string sauce. After which, Molly makes her appearance as a venerable lady of 70, to tell of her youth and to receive a bouquet from her old love, the cobbler. Molly does the impersonation well enough, but, aside from the fact that it is always discomfiting to see youth represent age, and vice versa, Molly would show to better advantage—if she wants to be statuesque, rather than as an ivory figurine—as a Dresden puppet poised on one foot and blowing a kiss or, since she is Molly, her nose.

Not that she cannot be serious. In the second act she catches the indefinable Jewish spirit beautifully in a song which tells of the changes a Jewish melody undergoes in traveling from country to country. Whether you like her or not as an old lady, at the very end, you will have had your money's worth long before it is reached.

FORESEES CLEANER PLAYS.

Father Fadden Says Public Is Tired of "Watching Filth."

The return of cleaner plays was predicted last night by the Rev. Father Francis E. Fadden, assistant rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, in a speech broadcast over the Paulist Fathers' station WLWL. Father Fadden, who is also a member of the Catholic Theatre Movement Committee, said he made his forecast following the failure of several shows written along the lines of those which had been blacklisted by his organization.

He deplored the fact that while the World War furnished ample material for many plays, authors all used the degrading side of that conflict, and insisted upon using language that was filthy and degrading on the ground that it was "natural." "The theatre," he said, "is much too natural today, but there must come a reaction to this condition. I believe it is already approaching. The theatregoer is already tired of watching filth. The failure of several such plays convinces me that the reaction is not far off."

Peggy O'Neil Arrives From London.

Miss Peggy O'Neil, actress, who has been living in London for the last eight years, arrived yesterday on the Cunarder Aquitania. She has been appearing in London recently in the "Bachelor Father" and "The Flying Squad."

MUSIC NOTES.

Isa Kremer will sing a program of new songs tonight in a concert at Town Hall for the benefit of the Association for Jewish Colonization in the Soviet Union. The "Artef" Players will give a special program as will the Freiheit Mandolin Orchestra.

Maria Lubomirska-Hartmann, German dancer, will make her second appearance in this country tonight at the Roerich Museum, 310 Riverside Drive, at 8:30. The recital is under the auspices of the German Association of the Society of Friends of Roerich Museum and will be the society's first event of the season.

Max Jacobs has been appointed to succeed the late Paul Henneberg as conductor of the Young Men's Symphony Orchestra, which begins its twenty-eighth season Sunday morning, Oct. 5. Mr. Jacobs formerly conducted the New York Orchestral Society and the New York Chamber Symphony.

Mrs. Olly Kukepuu will sing a program of Estonian folksongs at a concert to be given tonight by the United Estonian Society at the Y. W. C. A. International Institute, at 341 East Seventeenth Street. A trio and quintet will assist at the concert.

"Il Trovatore" will be presented tonight by the Manhattan Opera Company at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. Alfredo Salmaggi is director of the company.

The Manhattan Choral Club held its first rehearsal of the season Wednesday last in Mecca Hall. Rehearsals will be held in the same hall on Wednesdays at 8 P. M. Enrolment of new members is at 7:45 P. M.

THE SCREEN

By MORDAUNT HALL.

Golf and Song.

LOVE IN THE ROUGH, with Robert Montgomery, Dorothy Jordan, Benny Rubin, J. C. Nugent, Dorothy McNulty, Tyrrell Davis, Harry Burns, Allan Lane, Catherine Moylan, Edwards Davis, Roscoe Ates and Clarence H. Wilson, based on the stage comedy, "Spring Fever," directed by Charles F. Riesner. Al Jolson. At the Capitol.

At the Capitol, where the feature film is "Love in the Rough," a pictorial translation of Vincent Lawrence's stage offering, "Spring Fever," interspersed with songs, Al Jolson yesterday made his first New York stage appearance in five years. This popular performer received a rousing welcome, and after he had rendered several songs, including the inevitable "Sonny Boy" and "Mammy," the audience applauded so lustily and ceaselessly that Mr. Jolson was forced to appear once more, and in the course of his jocular remarks, before he crooned the chorus of "April Showers," he said, "What do you want for 35 cents?"

Following the last snatch of melody, Mr. Jolson was rewarded by well-earned clapping, but the audience realized that he had to appear four more times in the course of the day and that therefore there had to be an end to his efforts for the time being.

So the picture was thrown upon the screen. It is a frothy, light affair, with melody, golf and farcical antics. It is a moderately good entertainment with one especially catchy song, "Go Home and Tell Your Mother," rendered by Robert Montgomery and Dorothy Jordan in an acceptable fashion.

Not infrequently this picture slumps into slapstick, with the breaking of chinaware and a light comedy character falling into the water. Miss Jordan impersonates Marilyn, who, while she loves golf, loves Jack Kelly more, due perhaps partly to the fact that Kelly, played by Mr. Montgomery, is the municipal golf champion, who, in a closing episode of the film, rallies (through the assurance of Marilyn's love) and wins the last three holes from his opponent in a match on which Marilyn has wagered some $3,000.

Benny Rubin is cast as a funster in this yarn. His comedy is not always essential to the action, and whether it is laughable or not depends upon one's taste. He might be less absurd and tickle the risibles of the spectators more effectively.

This film is one of those frivolous affairs which often calls upon the characters to be strangely credible. It is particularly well photographed and the scenes of the golf match are especially pleasing.

The lyrics and the music were subscribed by Dorothy Fields and Jimmy McHugh. Charles F. Riesner is responsible for the direction.

The Schoolmaster's Wife.

YOUNG WOODLEY, with Madeleine Carroll, Sam Livesey, Aubrey Mather, Billy Milton, Gerald Rawlinson, John Teed, Tony Halfpenny and Frank Lawton, based on the play of the same name by John Van Druten, directed by Thomas Bentley; "Love Your Neighbor," an Educational comedy with Charlotte Greenwood; "The Frog," a "Secrets of Nature" subject, "Monkey Melodies," a "Silly Symphony" cartoon. At the George M. Cohan Theatre.

The first of the British International productions to be launched at the George M. Cohan, the theatre recently leased by the overseas producers through Captain Harold Auten to exhibit their films, is a vocalized pictorial version of "Young Woodley," John Van Druten's play, which was presented here about five years ago with Glenn Hunter in the title rôle. It is decidedly the best and the most plausible piece of work sent here from the Elstree Studios, for while Thomas Bentley's direction is often a little uncertain and scarcely as imaginative as one might wish, the narration of the love affair between young Woodley, a schoolboy just past 17, and the attractive young wife of the principal of his school, is done with such commendable restraint that its interest never lags.

Occasionally the action is a trifle abrupt and now and again Mr. Bentley's guidance of the players is wanting in subtlety. The natures of the principal characters are, however, adroitly sketched. The scenes of the school building and the flashes of a cricket game are emphatically welcome.

A noticeable point in favor of this picture is that the persons involved appear to be dressed as they should be. The schoolboys' clothes, even those of the prefects, of which Woodley is one, have been worn for some time, and Laura Simmons, while pleasingly dressed, does not appear to have patronized the latest creations of Paris.

The vocal recording is satisfactory, but yesterday afternoon the sound reproduction was for the most part a wee bit too loud, and when an effort was made to remedy this defect the lines of the players were barely audible. But that was only during a few scenes and it will probably be corrected.

Mr. Van Druten himself is credited with the dialogue, which in most of the sequences is well written, but one might suspect that he has made an error in several episodes of using the blue-pencil too freely on the lines of his play, a failing which the Hollywood producers were guilty of until comparatively recently.

Frank Lawton's portrayal of young Woodley is marked by earnestness and thorough-going naturalness. He looks the part of the schoolboy. It is a source of some wonder as to how Laura Simmons happened to become the wife of the self-sufficient headmaster, who is far from a representative type of schoolmaster and much older than she is. In the play, the young woman's husband was not the principal of the school, but one of the house-masters.

The part of Laura Simmons is acted with sincerity and reserve by Madeleine Carroll. Mrs. Simmons becomes enamored of young Woodley, who has a penchant for writing verse. One afternoon, while the blustering Simmons is watching a cricket game between his pupils, Woodley is having tea with Laura. Another prefect, Ainger, was to have accompanied young Woodley, but at the last moment he was called upon to join in the cricket. There is a dramatic interlude when Simmons throws open the door of his drawing room and discovers his pretty wife in the arms of young Woodley.

Later, after bravely declaring his love for Laura to Simmons, Woodley returns to his own quarters, but on reaching the door he overhears the jocularity of his brother prefects and therefore goes forth in search of solitude and more trouble. There follows the scene where one of the prefects, without knowing what has happened, puts Woodley's admiration for Mrs. Simmons into a derisive rhyme, which he chants. This so infuriates young Woodley that he picks up a bread knife and rushes at the singer. He is held back by Ainger and Milner, two other prefects, and just at that instant Simmons enters the room. The headmaster obviously is relieved to have some reason other than that of the love affair involving his wife for expelling the boy from the school.

Sam Livesey's interpretation of the part of Simmons is excellent. John Teed does well as Ainger and Aubrey Mather is quite good as Woodley's sympathetic and tolerant father.

Beauty and Business.

In "The Office Wife," a popular type of picture, the middle-aged employer, Lawrence Fellows, wins the charming Anne Murdock from her younger but frightfully slangy admirer, Ted O'Hara. This is to some extent a new idea in films. But it happens that Lewis Stone plays Mr. Fellows and therefore it is not astonishing that the audience should feel in thorough sympathy with him after hearing the flow of argot from Mr. O'Hara.

Dorothy Mackaill impersonates Anne Murdock, who sets her cap most decidedly at Mr. Fellows, the head of a successful publishing concern. That he should admire Anne Murdock is not in the least surprising, for it seems to him that she is industrious and competent, as well as good looking.

Mr. Fellows has a wife, who finding herself neglected evening after evening through her husband's capacity for work, trips the light fantastic with a younger man, with consequences that are not altogether rare.

In the beginning Mr. Fellows's choice of a stenographer or secretary is obviously centred on the employe's competence. But, finally, when this young woman resigns, the prettiest girl in the establishment is picked to serve the publisher, who for quite a few scenes does not permit beauty to interfere with his work. But beauty tells, or triumphs, for it is not disagreeable to Mr. Fellows when, after a hard day's work well into the hours after dark, he has the opportunity to sit at a table in his office partaking of a frugal repast with his indefatigable secretary; he is evidently agreeably surprised with the shock of blond hair, the nice nose and inviting lips that are opposite him. No doubt he looks upon this pleasing countennace as a reward for concentration on his toil.

Mr. Fellows's wife is attractive, so much so that she spurns the idea of her husband accompanying her to France, for she lets him know that she intends going abroad for the purpose of obtaining a divorce.

Mr. O'Hara, supposed to be a young reporter, one evening when Anne is not working, tells his temporary sweetheart as they sit by the sad sea waves that he intends marrying her when the full moon shrinks to the quarter. He glances at the moon and says:

"Step on it, old moon."

There is a contretemps, as one might anticipate in such a chronicle, but in the end there is another glimpse of the sea and the sands, and looking at the same old moon are the middle-aged Fellows and the fair Anne. Mr. O'Hara is forgotten, fortunately.

The narrative is an adaptation of one written by Faith Baldwin. Miss Mackaill gives quite a clever performance as the seductive secretary. Mr. Stone's work is polished and therefore pleasing. Natalie Moorhead is effective as the neglected wife, who believes in being gay rather than in grieving.

AN ALPINE ROMANCE.

"The White Hell of Pitz Palu" at the Cameo Has Many Thrills.

THE WHITE HELL OF PITZ PALU, with Leni Riefenstahl, Gustav Diesel, Ernest Petersen, B. Spring and Ernst Udet; directed by Dr. Arnold Fanck and G. W. Pabst; program of sound shorts and newsreel. At the Cameo.

There are some beautifully photographed sequences in "The White Hell of Pitz Palu," the film at the Cameo, that are periodically described by the voice of the radio announcer, Graham McNamee. To have this knight of the superlative describe the wondrous views in the Alps is to gild the lily with a vengeance. But the film is too good to be affected one way or the other by Mr. McNamee.

"The White Hell of Pitz Palu" starts with the legend of a Dr. Johannes Krafft, whose young bride was lost in a crevasse while they were on their honeymoon on Pitz Palu, a 12,000-foot peak. Another young couple, also on their honeymoon, encounter Dr. Krafft, who has never given up searching for his lost wife. The trio determine to scale the North Wall, the most dangerous side of the mountain. Their adventures, after being trapped on a ledge are thrilling and it is not until the two young persons have been rescued by a searching party from the village that Dr. Krafft throws himself to death.

The three main players are stanch persons who seem accustomed to climbing in the Alps and thus lend the touch of authenticity to their rôles. It is a strange tale into which has been woven a bit from each of the emotions against a background of much grandeur. Despite its surface simplicity there is a swift undercurrent of tenseness and anticipation that carries one along through the avalanches, up the precipitous and threatening mountainside and finally to the climax of the rescue.

Leni Riefenstahl is convincing as Maria, the brave girl of the group, and Gustav Diesel as Dr. Krafft appears to advantage as the disillusioned searcher.

"THE BAD MAN" SKILLFUL.

Walter Huston Easily Dominates New Talkie at the Strand.

THE BAD MAN, with Walter Huston, Dorothy Revier, Sidney Blackmer and James Rennie; based on the play by Porter Emerson Browne; directed by Clarence Badger; program of sound shorts. At the Warners' Strand.

Walter Huston, as the all-seeing bandit in "The Bad Man," adds another good characterization to his already long string of impersonations. In this film at the Strand he plays the part of Pancho Lopez with a great deal of skill and seems to be giving his audience as well as himself an enjoyable time.

This version of the play in which the late Holbrook Blinn appeared on the stage some years ago is distinctly a Huston picture. He stalks through it with mustachios, enormous eyebrows and glistening white teeth, a large sombrero and chaps, all that might go to make a merely trick bandit, but never hiding Mr. Huston's talent.

As the outlaw, Lopez, he straightens out the economic and love entanglements into which his friend Jones has fallen and in so doing falls victim to a ranger's bullet. But before this his amusing discourse on women, the value of bad husbands, the fate of scoundrels and the niche for loan sharks are mixed up with the details of the story.

The others in the cast are relatively inferior. O. P. Heggie overacts a cantankerous invalid. Dorothy Revier in the rôle of a maltreated wife is colorless. James Rennie and Sidney Blackmer just about suffice.

SIR ALFRED BUTT FACES LOSS OF DRURY LANE

Movies and High Cost of Productions at Historic Theatre Are Factors, He Tells Stockholders.

LONDON, Sept. 26 (Canadian Press).—Sir Alfred Butt, London theatrical producer, told the stockholders of the Drury Lane Theatre today that proposals are pending which may prevent him from renewing his contract with the famous playhouse.

The Drury Lane has had its share of hard times recently despite efficient management. The theatre was founded under a charter granted by Charles II.

For fifty years prior to 1914 the elaborate presentation of Christmas pantomime and dramas was a feature of the playhouse. These involved sensational effects, such as train smashes, shipwrecks, mighty explosions and inundations.

When the stockholders today suggested that these spectacles might be revived, Sir Alfred emphatically rejected the idea. It is a commentary on the changing times he said that the movies had forced a transfer of melodrama from the stage to the screen, which possessed more facilities for exploitation.

Sir Alfred said he had read hundreds of plays in an effort to discover a possible success, but none, he found, would justify the enormous cost involved in a Drury Lane production.

'PRINCESS CHARMING' TO OPEN HERE OCT. 14

Danielle Bregis, French Prima Donna, and Victor Moore, It Is Reported, Will Leave Cast.

"Princess Charming," the operetta which Connolly & Swanstrom are producing, is to open at the Imperial Theatre on Tuesday, Oct. 14, a week later than first scheduled, according to announcement yesterday. The show, which will close in Boston tonight, will lay off next week to permit cast changes and then play the week of Oct. 6 in New Haven. Danielle Bregis, a French prima donna, and Victor Moore, it is reported, will leave the cast. Their successors have not been named.

"Sons o' Guns," the other production of Connolly & Swanstrom, will remain on the road, despite the absence of Jack Donahue, who is now in New York recuperating from an illness. Jack Haley, who scored a success here in "Follow Thru," the Schwab & Mandel show, will take over Mr. Donahue's part in St. Louis on Monday. "Sons o' Guns" will continue to play its scheduled engagements, including the Texas State Fair at Dallas, and Chicago. It is hoped that Mr. Donahue will be sufficiently recovered to join the show in Chicago.

SEEKS MME. VAN CARNBEE.

Police Aid Asked by Hollander After Wife Vanishes From Hotel.

The police are investigating the disappearance yesterday of Mme. Virginia Melvill van Carnbee, American-born wife of John Melvill van Carnbee of The Hague, Holland, who left the lobby of the Hotel St. Regis, Fifty-fifth Street and Fifth Avenue, at 2 P. M. and had not been heard from late last night.

The couple came to this country recently to visit Mme. van Carnbee's relatives at Spokane, Wash. M. van Carnbee told detectives that his wife had been ill and had been recently treated at the Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore. He said it was possible that his wife had suffered an attack of amnesia. She is described as being 25 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighing 110 pounds. She is fair-haired and has gray eyes.

The couple were to have sailed for Europe today on the Leviathan.

MASONS CRITICIZE POPE.

Assert Recent Encyclical Contained Attack on Public Schools.

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 26 (AP).—Denial of the right of any church or ecclesiastical power to control or supervise the free public school system of the United States or the educational system of any State or nation was contained in a resolution adopted here today by the Supreme Council of the Thirty-third Degree of Scottish Rite Masonry for the Southern Jurisdiction.

The same resolution stated opposition to the expenditure of public funds for the use, support or maintenance of sectarian educational institutions.

It declared the recent encyclical letter promulgated by Pope Pius contained a "shrewdly concealed but none the less bold and violent attack upon the fundamental principles underlying the free public school system of education in the United States."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Nine Till Six," an all-feminine play from England, will have its première tonight at the Ritz Theatre.

Three productions will be withdrawn from the Broadway theatres tonight. They are "The Rhapsody," at the Cort Theatre; "That's the Woman," at the Fulton, and "The Long Road," at the Bijou.

"The Up and Up," which had been announced to close at the Biltmore Theatre tonight, will instead continue at that house.

Marion Harris, well-known vaudeville player, will enter the cast of "The Second Little Show" on Monday night. Miss Harris will succeed Gloria Grafton.

"The Vinegar Tree," Dwight Deere Wiman's first independent production, is booked to open in Brooklyn on Oct. 27, with Mary Boland in the star rôle.

"Street Scene" will be presented at the McCarter Theatre, Princeton, N. J., on Saturday, Oct. 11, the evening of the Princeton-Brown football game.

"Made in France," the Lya de Putti play which Laura D. Wilck is producing, will be directed by Dickson Morgan.

An Armenian repertory theatre group, the Armenian Drama Company, is announced to open next month on Broadway under the direction of H. Zarifian. The first production will be a play by Levon Shant.

Moss and Fontana, who have appeared in a number of Broadway revues, will open at the Club Lido next Friday night.

The Heckscher Players, juvenile actors, are announced to open their fifth season on Oct. 5 with a performance of "Racketty Packetty House" at the Heckscher Theatre, Fifth Avenue and 104th Street. As in previous seasons, Ashley Miller will direct the organization, and other plays in the repertory will include "Little Princess," "Rip Van Winkle," "The Wizard of Oz," "The Land of Oz" and "Pinafore."

MISS DE ACOSTA ON STAGE.

Society Debutante of 1928 to Appear in "One, Two, Three."

Miss Natica de Acosta will make her stage début in "One, Two, Three," the Molnar comedy which Gilbert Miller will present at Henry Miller's Theatre on Monday night with Arthur Byron in the leading rôle.

Miss de Acosta, daughter of Mrs. Marie de Zaldo de Acosta and Riccardo de Acosta and niece of the late Mrs. Rita de Acosta Lydig, made her début in society in 1928.

LINDBERGH RETURNS AFTER BOSTON FLIGHT

Inspected Superchargers at Plant There and Soon Will Make Experiments at High Altitudes.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed last night after dark at the Long Island Aviation Country Club Field at Hicksville in his wife's Bird biplane, having come from Boston in about three hours. He left Hicksville yesterday morning. His own plane, the Lockheed Sirius in which he and Mrs. Lindbergh established a transcontinental record on Easter Sunday, is at the Wright Aeronautical Corporation's hangar at Teterboro, N. J., where a Cyclone motor is being installed.

Colonel Lindbergh's trip to Boston, it was learned, was in connection with the experiments now going on at the General Electric Company's Lynn plant in supercharging aircraft engines. For some time he has been studying the problem of increasing the horsepower of and efficiency of an engine at high altitudes through the use of superchargers. He is having a Cyclone motor equipped with a supercharger put into his Lockheed Sirius to carry on further experiments in the upper air.

Colonel Lindbergh is interested particularly in the practical application of Professor Hugo Junkers's theory that the transport planes of the future will attain hitherto impossible speeds by flying in the thin air far above the earth. The supercharger in conventional engine design offers the only hope for attaining and holding five, six and seven mile altitudes.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—Engineering activities pertaining to aviation engaged the attention of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh when he arrived at the General Electric Company, Lynn, unannounced, shortly before noon today as the guest of officials of the company. He surprised East Boston Airport officials shortly after 10:30 this morning when he landed in a plane from New York City. He was immediately whisked away in a waiting automobile.

The visitor was met by executives of the Lynn plant, including N. G. Darling, manager, and H. A. Moss, inventor. Colonel Lindbergh spent several hours at the plant inspecting new-type beacon lights and superchargers.

1,300 FRESHMEN AT U. OF P.

Gates, the New President, Is Introduced to Student Body.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Right thinking as related to free thinking was discussed by Provost Josiah H. Penniman at the opening exercises of the University of Pennsylvania. He announced that about 1,300 new students were enrolled.

Dr. Penniman introduced Thomas S. Gates, banker and lawyer, who during the Summer resigned as a partner of J. P. Morgan & Co. to accept the presidency of the university.

Provost Penniman quoted an inscription in the Convocation Hall of the University of Upsale, Sweden: "To think free is great, but to think right is greater."

He defined right thinking as "thinking which is in agreement with the thought that has borne the test of time and experience and represents a right relation to the wisdom of the race."

LEAVES $40,000 TO M. I. T.

H. T. Smith's Will Provides for Scholarship Fund.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 26 (AP).—Massachusetts Institute of Technology will receive a fund of $40,000 for scholarships under the terms of the will of Horace T. Smith, Bridgeport chemist.

The will directs that preference be given to graduates of the East Bridgewater (Mass.) High School in the award of the scholarships and second consideration to graduates of local high schools.

Woodstock Student Priest Drowns.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26.—Francis Cullinan, 24, of Rochester, N. Y., student priest at Woodstock College, Jesuit institution, was drowned in the Patapsco River, near the school, late yesterday. The body was found several hours after Cullinan had left the college to go in bathing.

Tuchmann Gift to Yeshiva College.

The list of gifts by Jews to Jewish and non-Jewish causes compiled by the Jewish Telegraphic Agency and printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Sept. 23, incorrectly attributed a $50,000 contribution to the Yeshiva College Endowment Fund to Isaac Tuchman. This gift was made by Leon Tuchmann.

Hall of Fame Election Wednesday.

The sixth quinquennial election of distinguished Americans to the Hall of Fame at New York University will be held on Wednesday, according to an announcement by Dr. Robert Underwood Johnson, the director. After confirmation by the Senate of New York University the results will be made public.

RIVERSIDE CHURCH PUTS IN PEW PHONES

Equipment Available to Aid Hearing in All Parts of New Edifice.

OPENING SERVICE ON OCT. 5

Members Ask to Reserve Only 192 of 2,408 Seats—Cost of Structure Put at $4,000,000.

Members of the Riverside Church have asked that only 192 seats be set aside for their individual use, although a larger section of pews will be reserved for them at the opening service on Oct. 5, according to an announcement by the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick in The Church Monthly, the Riverside publication.

In the same issue George J. Heidt, business manager, explains that the side entrances on 122d Street will be used exclusively by members holding cards of admission, while the main entrance on Riverside Drive will be used by visitors.

The use of the 122d Street doors will be optional. After 10:50 A. M. all unoccupied seats will be open to visitors.

Earphones, available to both the assigned and unassigned sections of pews, will be provided, so that worshippers may not have to go to the front seats to obtain better hearing.

Seating Capacity 2,408.

The plan of the nave shows seats for 1,408 and from less than 7 per cent of them the view of the pulpit it obscured by columns. Besides the main floor of the church, there are two galleries in the rear and the triforium galleries on each side which are open to all without the use of tickets and which provide 1,000 additional seats. They are reached by four elevators in the Narthex.

The Riverside Church, with its Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial tower, rising 400 feet above the street level, equivalent to twenty-one stories, topped by the carillon tower, is the tallest church in the United States, except for a few cathedrals. Its memorial tower is a few feet higher than the spires of the neighboring Cathedral of St. John the Divine, 110th Street and Amsterdam Avenue.

An authoritative estimate of the ultimate cost of the Riverside Church was unobtainable yesterday from representatives of the church or from the channels through which John D. Rockefeller Jr., principal financial backer of the undertaking, makes all his public announcements.

At the time that plans for the church were announced it was said that the Riverside Church would cost $4,000,000. Of that amount the church corporation raised $1,500,000 by the sale of its property, the former Park Avenue Baptist Church, at Sixty-fourth Street. Dr. Fosdick announced that an unnamed donor, known to be Mr. Rockefeller Jr., had promised to duplicate that amount, making a total of $3,000,000, which was increased further by contributions of other members and by other church funds.

Carillon Largest in the World.

Mr. Rockefeller is the donor of the carillon of sixty-five bells, the largest in number of bells and weight in the world. It achieves a compass of almost five and one-half octaves and includes the great Bourdon bell, weighing 41,000 pounds and sounding low C, three semi-tones lower than any other carillon bell in the world.

He is the donor also of memorial stained-glass windows, some of which cost more than $70,000.

Beneath the nave are bowling alleys, a basketball court, a theatre, rooms for the Rockefeller Men's Bible Class, choir rooms, robing rooms, locker rooms and kitchens. In the memorial tower, below the upper six stories occupied by the carillon, are the executives offices, school rooms, and social halls, occupying the twenty-one floors.

Albert Einstein, proponent of the theory of relativity, is the only living man whose likeness with other great scientists of the world, is carved among images of Christ and angels above the main entrance of the Riverside Church.

The Riverside Church dropped the word "Baptist" from its title last December. It formerly was the Park Avenue Baptist Church and before that the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church. Dr. Fosdick succeeded the late Rev. Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin as pastor.

TWO PROBLEMS FACE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

They Concern What to Do When Contradictory Advice Is Given and Independence of States.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—All the dominion Prime Ministers, who hope with the assistance of the British Government to recast the future of the empire at the imperial conference opening Wednesday, have now privately conferred with Prime Minister MacDonald, except R. B. Bennett of Canada, who will arrive Tuesday.

The enforced absence of President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State is generally deplored. He is the only head of any dominion government who will not be present, and his absence is due to the fact that he only recently recovered from a serious illness and still has to be careful of his health.

Observers already see two knotty problems ahead. The first is what is to be done when contradictory advice is tendered to the crown by two or more governments. The second is as to how economic cooperation is to be achieved without interference with the independence of the States. As to the latter, it is understood the MacDonald Government is in complete sympathy with the joint suggestion of the council of the Trades Union Congress and the council of the Federation of British Industries, which was that a British Commonwealth trade conference should be held, at which every question affecting inter-Commonwealth trade should be reviewed.

In the British Government circles, however, it is thought that nothing in the nature of Lord Beaverbrook's empire free trade scheme will result from the present parleys, though it may be possible to devise more flexible and efficient financing of imperial business.

WARNS CATHOLICS ON RADIO ATTACKS

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 26.—The Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, calls attention in a leading article to the activities of the association named the "Defenders of Truth," which, it says, has been founded in the United States for the purpose of establishing a chain of broadcasting stations to wage war against certain practices and doctrines of the Catholic Church.

The newspaper warns Catholics of the danger of allowing such a powerful means of propaganda as wireless to fall into anti-Catholic hands and urges them to take immediate steps to profit by the unequaled opportunities radio offers to spread Catholic doctrines. "When radio is used to pierce the darkness with the evangelical word, then it will become a true gift of God, says the Osservatore Romano.

The paper expresses no surprise that the "Defenders of Truth" should have singled out the Catholic religion for their attacks, neglecting all the others.

"For twenty centuries this ugly game has continued and it will continue to the end of the centuries," the paper says. "Moreover, all this was fully foreseen by the Saviour, who warned that a coalition of adverse forces would never give His church respite and that all forces, even those of progres, would be employed for this purpose.

"Catholics, however, have a lesson to learn from such an association as the 'Defenders,' namely, that they must act quickly if they do not wish to arrive too late. Catholics were slow in waking up to the possibilities of the press, except in a few countries, such as Belgium and Holland, where the efforts of the early Catholics have now been rewarded by the existence of a strong and well-organized Catholic press. The error must not be repeated in the case of radio, as otherwise the most painful consequences will result.

"The ambition of Catholics must not end with negative action. Not for nothing is Catholicism a positive doctrine. It is necessary, therefore, to make the religion known in its true light by freeing it from the numerous errors which are attributed to it through ignorance, prejudice or bad faith.

"The essential object to be reached is the preaching of peace among men and their union with God, to illuminate their spirits with rays of eternal wisdom and to fortify their hearts with the love of the supreme good. Let radio, therefore, be welcome, since it must dispel the spiritual darkness in which many souls are sunk, and let it project into this darkness Hertzian waves, modulated by evangelic work, to emit vivid rays of truth, which for some will be a prelude to Christianity, for others a confirmation of their principles and for still others a consolation in their troubles. These rays will be a beacon which indicates the harbor and which illuminates the path for the erring, and which finally will light the flame of faith which, despite everything, always continues to smoke at the bottom of every human heart."

FRATERNITY STUDENTS LAG.

Their Scholarship Lower Than the Average at Columbia.

Fraternity scholarships at Columbia for the scholastic year 1929-30, according to the report of the Interfraternity Council made public yesterday by its chairman, Dean Herbert E. Hawkes, not only was lower than the average of the entire student body, but failed to equal the record of the Greek letter societies for 1928-29.

Only eight of the twenty-seven houses on the Morningside Heights campus surpassed the C plus general college average, while two just attained it. Last year five fraternities made B averages, while only four did as well, according to the new figures. The group of seven which last year maintained the C plus record shrunk to two, while a majority of the whole number did only C work. Three organizations fell into the C minus class.

Although Dean Hawkes declined to comment on the decline as being particularly significant in any way, he pointed out that there had been several "upsets," one of which was particularly "startling." This was Sigma Alpha Epsilon, last of twenty-eight in 1928-29, which climbed to tenth position and a C plus on the new list. Pi Lambda Phi, leader last year, dropped two places, while Alpha Epsilon Pi, formerly third, replaced it at the top. Tau Epsilon Phi, in second place, and Delta Beta Phi, in fourth, were the only other fraternities to make the B average.

KING OF DENMARK FETED.

Sixtieth Birthday Brings National Rejoicing and Tribute by Diplomats.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 26.—All Denmark today is a forest of flags, and all shops are decorated with white and red flowers on the occasion of the sixtieth birthday of King Christian X.

The King began the day riding alone through the streets of the town of Lyngby, near Copenhagen, where several small girls handed to him flowers which he smilingly received. At 10 o'clock Amalienborg Castle Square was crowded with thousands of children and adults cheering and shouting congratulations to the King, who appeared on an open balcony and thanked them in a few words.

Many gifts were handed to him at a reception where the foreign diplomats personally congratulated him, including the American Minister, Ralph H. Booth.

Schools were closed, and the police served chocolate for about fifty children lost in the crowd. There was a notable increase in the number of lost children.

Back Drive to Aid Immigrants.

Appeals from Jews of many countries to the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of America (Hias), 425 Lafayette Street, urging it not to curtail its work—a possibility threatened because of a deficit of $150,000—are continuing to pour in upon the society, it was announced yesterday by Abraham Herman, the president. The society is seeking to wipe out the deficit and to raise $400,000 for its current work.

TOPICS OF INTEREST TO THE CHURCHGOER

Most Rev. M. S. Gillett to Aid Dedication of New Church in St. Catherine Parish.

BISHOP MANNING RETURNS

Dr. Trexler to Be Speaker at Lutheran Conferences Next Week—Red Mass on Thursday.

The cornerstone of the new church being erected at 409 East Sixty-eighth Street for the parish of St. Catherine of Sienna will be laid tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Cardinal Hayes has designated the Most Rev. Martin Stanislaus Gillet of Rome, Master General of the Dominican Order, to officiate at the ceremony. He arrived in this country a few days ago. The dedicatory sermon will be preached by the Very Rev. Taymond Meagher, provincial of the 700 Dominicans east of the Rocky Mountains. The parish has been administered by the Dominican Fathers since its establishment in 1897. The present pastor is the Rev. James Foster.

Father Gillet, who is a guest at the Priory of St. Vincent Ferrer, Lexington Avenue and Sixty-sixth Street, has just completed the first anniversary in his present office. He will leave next week for a tour of the Dominican houses in the United States, Canada and Central America.

Bishop and Mrs. William T. Manning arrived home late Wednesday night from their Summer home at Somesville, Me. Miss Lizzie Van Antwerp, Mrs. Manning's sister, and Miss Frances Manning, the elder daughter, will arrive from a Summer in Europe on Tuesday. The Bishop said last evening that he was in excellent health.

Tomorrow morning Bishop Manning will dedicate a new organ in St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church at 521 West 126th Street, of which the Rev. Dr. Charles B. Ackley is the rector and Miss Grace Leeds Darnell is the organist. The instrument is a gift of the parishioners.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Trexler, president of the United Lutheran Synod of New York, will dedicate tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock the new Lutheran Church of St. John, Mortimer and Fairview Avenues, Rutherford, N. J., of which the Rev. Edwin H. Knudten is the pastor. Tomorrow evening Dr. Trexler will install the Rev. William Kraft as pastor of Zion's Lutheran Church, Ridgefield, N. J. The head of the synod installed the Rev. Carl F. W. Strobel on Thursday evening as pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, White Plains, N. Y.

Dr. Trexler will be the chief speaker at the semi-annual meetings of three conferences of his synod, all to be held Monday and Tuesday as follows: The New York Conference, Church of the Holy Comforter, 1,203 Woodycrest Avenue; the New Jersey Conference, Church of the Good Shepherd, Weehawken; Long Island Conference, Christ Church, Woodhaven.

The Rev. Edward J. Carson of Nowata, Okla., has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Van Nest Presbyterian Church, Morris Park and Barnes Avenue the Bronx, to succeed the Rev. Harrison Daniel Geist. Mr. Carson will begin his work here next month.

Cardinal Hayes will dedicate tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the new edifice of the Italian Church of Our Lady of Pity, in East 151st Street, the Bronx, the pastor of which is the Rev. Anicelos Silvioni.

The third annual red mass under the auspices of the Guild of Catholic Lawyers will be celebrated Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Andrew's Church, City Hall Place and Duane Street. Cardinal Hayes, who more than fifty years ago was an altar boy here, will preside. The Rev. John J. Cloonan, president of St. John's Law School, Brooklyn, will preach the sermon. The Rev. William E. Cashin, pastor of St. Andrew's, has sent invitations to 3,000 lawyers, to all judges and to the faculties of Catholic law schools.

The Rev. Louis Buchheimer will be installed tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock as pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, 2,924 Valentine Avenue, by the Rev. Erwin Kurth, pastor of the Lutheran Church of Our Saviour, Brooklyn. For the last year Mr. Buchheimer has been field secretary of the Laymen's League of the Missouri Lutheran Synod, with headquarters in St. Louis.

The Rev. Arthur Clausing will be ordained and installed tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock as assistant pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church, Lexington Avenue and Eighty-eighth Street, the pastor of which is the Rev. Arthur Kleps. The act of installation will be performed by the Rev. Arthur Brunn, president of the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Synod. Mr. Clausing is a native of Readlyn, Iowa. He is a graduate of Concordia College, St. Paul, Minn., and of Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis.

The Rev. Barnard J. McQuade, pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Rosary, Yonkers, will observe tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock his silver jubilee in the priesthood. The sermon will be preached by Mgr. Michael J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, where for twenty-one years Father McQuade was an assistant.

The cornerstone will be laid tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock of the new Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Palisade and Elmwood Avenues, Bogota, N. J. The officiating clergyman will be Archdeacon Augustine Elmendorf of Hackensack. Canon William J. White of Hackensack is vicar of the church. The building is scheduled to be completed Dec. 1.

Domestic Energy Sales Rising

While commercial and industrial energy sales decreased 154,092,000 kilowatt hours during the first seven months of this year, the decline was more than offset by an increase of 792,524,000 kilowatt hours in domestic energy sales for the same period.

The continually increasing demand for electricity for domestic purposes is serving to maintain central station output at record levels.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Continued Pressure on Stocks—Renewed Decline in Wheat, Corn and Cotton.

Declines were resumed yesterday on the Stock Exchange and in the agricultural markets. Wheat declined 2⅛ cents a bushel and corn 1⅛, but neither quite reached the low figure of last Wednesday. Cotton, on the other hand, went below the year's previous low price; yesterday's spot quotation, 10.35 cents a pound, was less than was reached at any time in the calendar year 1913, 1910 or 1907. Prices on the Stock Exchange were irregularly lower and the majority of the declines not large, but there was evidence of heavy "drives" by speculators for the fall at a considerable number of active shares.

Predominance of this kind of activities was strongly indicated by the very uneven distribution of volume of transactions among the various stocks. In some which are usually active, sales were relatively small; but in those whose decline of yesterday was particularly large, they were much above the ordinary, and the day's total business hit a new high figure since the agitating days of June. "Bear selling" of this character, especially when accompanied by such so-called rumors as have been circulated lately, is not the most reputable of business. Whether, as a matter of pure morality, it is worse than the professional tactics which were pursued last year with a view to "unloading" the speculators' holdings at utterly fictitious prices on a deceived and ignorant public, may be debatable. But the view of serious people is apt to be that, as between the two undertakings, the effort to aggravate a distressing situation and, if possible, to precipitate actual trouble, is the worse. This is tacitly recognized by the fact that, whereas ringleaders in a "bull campaign" always advertise themselves, the personnel of a "bear drive" in times of unsettlement and consternation is never known.

Week-end reports from the mercantile agencies are mostly characterized by recognition that at least a "seasonal" improvement of early Autumn trade is now in progress. This fact had already been foreshadowed by the substantial increase of weekly steel production over the August pace and by the weekly returns of railway traffic. To those who may have imagined that business activities would actually decrease in September and October as compared with midsummer—and there possibly were such ideas at the time of last month's worst discouragement—the present moderate trade expansion will be welcome. It has apparently some favorable features which were not present on the eve of the "Spring trade"; the mercantile surveys are at any rate laying stress on the increasing willingness of many buyers to contract ahead.

But improvement of this kind is naturally slow and ill-distributed, and a widespread spirit of hesitation is admitted. Even in the matter of wholesale prices for other commodities than breadstuffs, Dun figures out that the definite turning-point has not yet been reached. Still, it should be remembered that, in the similar Autumn of 1921, average prices steadied only momentarily and fell back at the year-end to the lowest of the period, yet that the season's trade activities made highly reassuring comparison with the preceding Summer. Computations of clearing-house exchanges for the week emphasize recent comparisons with 1929. The decrease at New York City has been 41½ per cent. That is largely a matter of light business on the Stock Exchange, as against last September's series of 5,000,000-share days. But the decrease for the country outside of New York City has been 27⅜ per cent.

SEES NO CHANCE FOR BANK.

Stockholder Insists on Receiver for Vineland (N. J.) Trust Co.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 26.—Hearing on the application of two stockholders for appointment of a receiver for the insolvent Vineland Trust Company was postponed today in Chancery Court until Oct. 9 at the request of the plaintiffs. Meanwhile, State banking officials are liquidating the bank's assets.

While Rose Sternberg, a school teacher, has expressed a desire to withdraw her application for a receiver, Hugo Pabst of Landis Township, has filed a petition with Vice Chancellor Ingersoll renewing his request, as he sees no chance of the bank resuming business. Mr. Pabst seeks to recover $400 credited to him on the bank's books. He reiterated several charges made in his original petition, indicating depleted capacity, liquidated assets and speculation by bank officials.

Special to The New York Times.

VINELAND, N. J., Sept. 26.—Plans for the purchase of a substantial part of the assets of the defunct Vineland Trust Company were announced today by directors of the Tradesmen's Bank and Trust Company of Vineland, who said they thought the trust company depositors would receive a dividend soon. It was believed that losses would be reduced to about 20 per cent.

Montgomery Ward on Coast Curb.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26 (AP).—The San Francisco Curb Exchange announced today the listing of the stock of Montgomery Ward & Co. for trading beginning next Monday. The listing includes the 4,620,783 shares outstanding.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

With the trading pace accelerated, stocks again met heavy selling pressure yesterday only to repeat recent performances by staging a partial recovery in the late dealings. Speculators for the decline became increasingly aggressive, but there was also evidence of considerable outside liquidation, brokers said. Transactions on the Stock Exchange totaled 3,704,590 shares, the heaviest turnover since June 23. Yesterday's decline carried the general list within striking distance of the lowest level of the year, the average price of the fifty stocks embraced in the averages of THE NEW YORK TIMES standing at $184 when trading ended. This compares with the low of $179.12 reached on June 25. The heaviest selling converged upon the motor shares, but pressure was felt in all parts of the list at various times during the day. The extent of the late rally is indicated by the fact that the combined averages closed $1.41 above the bottom level of the day.

One Optimist's Reasoning.

Taking note of the fact that yesterday's market was the broadest since June 25, one trader saw significance in the fact that it was on that date that the averages of THE NEW YORK TIMES touched the lowest point of the year. It is his theory, or his hope at least, that this foreshadows a recovery from the current levels. The circumstances which made June 25 the turning point also exist now, he contends. The total number of separate issues dealt in yesterday was 818.

***

Oil Stocks Weak.

A long list of oil stocks on both the Stock Exchange and the Curb went into new low ground for the year yesterday. A general cut in crude oil prices is believed imminent, which might mean, according to some in the industry, the breaking up of various proration programs in important flush oil fields. Although this would probably result in a more or less chaotic condition in the industry temporarily, it is contended in some quarters that it would in the long run be to the advantage of the industry, since the proration agreements are creating a more or less artificial situation that will sooner or later have to be cleared up. The cutting of crude oil prices and the breaking up of proration agreements would go a long way toward stopping drilling operations, which, it is said, is necessary before the industry can again return to a stabilized position.

The Other Central Banker.

On the basis of the knowledge that Dr. Hans Luther, head of the Reichsbank, and one other central banker are scheduled to visit this country shortly to confer with Federal Reserve officials, a good deal of excited conjecture has gone on about the prospect of a "conference of central bankers," similar to that which took place in 1927. It now develops that the other central banker is Ivar Rooth, head of the State Bank of Sweden, who is sailing for New York today. The Swedish banker's visit will apparently be over before Dr. Luther leaves Germany and it is officially stated that no other central bankers are expected. Visions of a general conference of central bankers appear, under the circumstances, a bit far-fetched.

Motors Touch New Lows.

One of the most unsettled features of yesterday's trading was the weakness of the leading motor issues, several of which sold at new low levels. The decline was apparently based on reports that earnings of these companies for the third and fourth quarters would prove disappointing and that the Ford Motor Company's Detroit plants had operated this week only three days, compared with four days last week. Among the motor issues which were under severe pressule were Chrysler, General Motors, Auburn, Studebaker and Hudson.

New Highs for Government Issues.

The market for United States Government obligations probably provides as good a mirror of money conditions as could be found anywhere. When money cannot find ready employment it is only natural that government securities should be sought as a refuge. Therefore, it is reasoned, the more money that goes unloaned daily in New York the higher government bond prices should go. Yesterday the active Liberties and Treasuries mounted 1-32 point to 10-32, with the first and fourth Liberty 4¼s and the Treasury 3⅜s of 1943 attaining new peaks for the year. There was also considerable talk in banking circles yesterday of a shift of German funds to this market. The story of the flight of German capital is not a new one, but until yesterday the movement apparently was largely confined to France.

Bank Calls Expected.

Within the next week banks may expect to receive calls for statements of their condition from the State Superintendent of Banks and the Controller of the Currency. State banks were called upon last year to give their positions as of exactly a year ago today, although the national bank call for the third quarter did not come until Oct. 4. Judging from the slack demand for loans now being made upon the banks a substantial drop in the size of the general footings of most bank statements may be expected, while the low money rates which have prevailed are expected to prevent any great increases in profit accounts.

***

The Railroads' Problem.

What the decline in traffic has meant to the railroads was illustrated yesterday by the Pennsylvania's statement. This showed that in August freight revenue declined $10,295,000 and passenger revenue $2,345,000. Operating expenses, however, were cut $7,355,000, so that the decline in net operating income was kept to $6,261,000 despite a cut of $14,144,000 in gross. Had it not been for the efforts of the railroads to help unemployment by maintaining expenditures at normal, the Pennsylvania and other roads would have made better showings in respect to maintaining net despite attrition of gross, it is contended.

MONEY.

Friday, Sept. 26, 1930.

Without any change in quoted rates the undertone of the market remained soft. Time money, which featured Thursday's session by dropping to new lows, was quiet so far as volume business was concerned, only a little four months' funds lending at 2½ per cent, while six months' continued offered at 2¾, without takers. Stock Exchange day loans held to 2 per cent, and outside loans at 1. Approximately $50,000,000 went over unborrowed. Commercial paper and acceptances were steady and unchanged.

$12,417,503 SOUGHT BY MUNICIPALITIES

Next Week's Awards of Bonds Compare With $30,324,146 Average Since Jan. 1.

PRICES CONTINUE TO RISE

Active Buying by Insurance Companies and Savings Banks—Issues for Later Dates.

Light municipal financing continues to be the order of the day. Next week new issues aggregating only $12,417,503 will come up for award, compared with this week's revised total of $17,811,790. The weekly average for the year to date is $30,324,146. Only four issues next week will be for amounts of $1,000,000 or more. These are $2,040,000 Syracuse (N. Y.) various improvement bonds, $1,531,000 Cuyahoga County (Ohio) water supply and sewerage bonds, $1,469,000 Elizabeth (N. J.) 4¼ per cent school bonds and $1,000,000 Seattle (Wash.) water extension bonds.

The week in municipals has been one of constantly rising prices. The demand for bonds is brisk, and the supply of new issues coming into the market is light, with the net result that small issues which ordinarily would attract only a few bidders now receive a full complement of tenders.

Large Issues Sell Slowly.

Despite the active distribution of bonds in the last few days, only a few of the large issues which have been marketed recently have been cleaned out. This is explained in part by the fact that there is a wide spread between the yield prices at which long and short bonds are offered and by the fact that many buyers prefer the shorter maturities.

Insurance companies and savings banks have been active buyers this week. Interdealer trading has been even more active this week than last, and bonds purchased by one dealer from another have almost invariably been reoffered at an advance in price.

With many States and municipalities submitting heavy bond programs to the voters at the November elections, it is likely that many of the bonds so authorized will reach the market before the end of the year. In other cases where large issues have already been authorized, they are being held up until after election day for political reasons.

OTHER MUNICIPAL LOANS.

Montclair, N. J.

Award of a new issue of $1,447,000 town of Montclair (N. J.) bonds, consisting of $791,000 school bonds, due from Oct. 15, 1931, to 1950; $360,000 permanent improvement bonds, due from Oct. 15, 1931, to 1964; $265,000 water bonds, due from Oct. 15, 1932, to 1969, and $31,000 assessment bonds, due from Oct. 15, 1931, to 1937, has been made at a price of 100.41. The bid was for $650,000 of the bonds as 4s and $791,000 as 4¼s, with the bankers taking fewer bonds than the amount offered in lieu of premium.

The award went to a syndicate consisting of the First National Bank, New York; B. J. Van Ingen & Co., H. L. Allen & Co. and Adams & Muller of Newark. Nine other syndicates bid for the bonds at various combinations of interest rates. The last time the town was in the market, on Oct. 23, 1929, it sold 4¾s and 5s.

Mercer County, N. J.

Mercer County, N. J., which has not been in the market with bonds since Dec. 20, 1927, will open bids on Oct. 7 on a new issue of $1,765,000 road, bridge and building bonds, due serially from Nov. 1, 1932, to 1951. Bidders are requested to name the rate of interest at not to exceed 4½ per cent. At the last sale the county awarded an issue of $1,290,000 as 4s at a price of 100.811, equivalent to a 3.91 per cent basis.

Salomon Brothers & Hutzler have received the award of a new issue of $600,000 City of Malden (Mass.) revenue notes, due March 26, 1931. The price paid was a 2.21 per cent basis, plus a premium of $2.

TRACTION SECURITIES GAIN.

Several Local Issues Touch New Highs on Stock Exchange.

Local traction stocks and bonds continued in demand yesterday, several issues going to new highs, although the general trend of the stock market was again downward. The volume of trading was not quite so large as on Thursday. Interborough, Brooklyn-Manhattan and Manhattan modified guaranteed shares all advanced more than a point. Price changes were as follows:

San Francisco Bond Bidders To Ask Ban on New Issue Soon

The decision of the city and county of San Francisco to receive bids on Oct. 6 on $4,000,000 4½ per cent Hetch Hetchy water system bonds, instead of marketing an issue of $14,000,000, will result in bidders on that date asking sixty or ninety day protection against further issuance of bonds, it was reported yesterday. The new issue will mature serially from 1938 to 1977.

The bonded debt of the city and county, as of Sept. 10, aggregated $137,729,400, consisting of $40,000,000 Spring Valley water bonds, $34,000,000 water bonds of 1910, $9,750,000 Hetch Hetchy water bonds of 1925, $8,000,000 Hetch Hetchy water bonds of 1928, $1,800,000 exposition bonds of 1912, and $44,179,000 of various other improvement bonds. The assessed valuation of taxable property for 1930 is reported as $1,741,776,889.

TRI-CITY BORROWING FOR WATER SYSTEM

Paterson, Passaic and Clifton Seek $16,000,000 to Carry Out Purchase Plan.

One of the few instances where three municipalities have joined forces to buy out a water company and will market their separate obligations at approximately the same time to pay for the property, is afforded by the formal announcements of $16,401,000 new financing by the cities of Paterson, Passaic and Clifton, N. J., in amounts of $9,712,000, $4,470,000 and $2,219,000, respectively. These cities will purchase for $14,000,000 such properties of the Passaic Consolidated Water Company as lie within their respective limits and will spend $2,401,000 on improvements. The deal was reported as tentatively agreed upon in July.

The Passaic Consolidated Water Company, which is owned by the New Jersey General Security Company through the Passaic Holding Company, in addition to supplying water to Paterson, Passaic and Clifton, gives service to Montclair, West Orange, Kearny, Harrison, East Newark, Bayonne, Bloomfield, Nutley, Little Falls, Prospect Park Borough and Totowa Borough. The company has an authorized capital of $5,000,000, of which $3,500,000 is outstanding. Total assets are $24,058,366.

Passaic will be in the market on Oct. 7 with an issue of $3,000,000 of bonds, due from July 1, 1932, to 1970, to be sold as 4¼s or 4½s, and with an issue of $1,470,000 of temporary bonds, due from July 1, 1931, to be sold as not exceeding 6s. The city's assessed valuation for 1930 is reported as $84,473,326, and the net bonded debt, including this issue, as $9,032,832.

Clifton will also be in the market on Oct. 7 with an issue of $750,000 of bonds, due from July 1, 1932 to 1970, to be sold as 4¾s or 5s, and an issue of $1,469,000 temporary bonds, due July 1, 1931, to be sold as not exceeding 6s. Clifton's assessed valuation for 1930 amounts to $43,305,729 and the net bonded debt, including this issue, to $7,458,949.

On Oct. 9, the city of Paterson will open bids on issues totaling $9,712,000. Alternate bids will be requested. One proposition calls for an issue of $5,000,000 of bonds, due from July 1, 1932 to 1970, to be sold as 4¼s or 4½s, and an issue of $4,712,000 temporary bonds, due on July 1, 1931, to be sold as not exceeding 6s. The second proposition calls for an issue of $8,000,000 of bonds, due from July 1, 1932 to 1970, to be sold as 4¼s or 4½s, and an issue of $1,712,000 of temporary bonds, due on July 1, 1931, to be sold as not exceeding 6s. The assessed valuation for 1930 is reported as $188,471,346 and the net debt, including this issue, as $17,348,863. On May 8, 1929, an issue of $2,295,000 was awarded as 4½s on a 4.43 to a 4.49 per cent basis.

$133,346,307 BONDS OFFERED THIS WEEK

Total Shows Big Rise From Last Week and Compares With $26,331,000 Year Ago.

ARGENTINE LOAN TOPS LIST

Five Public Utility Issues Put on Market—Municipal Financing Small.

New offerings of bonds and notes this week aggregated $133,346,307, compared with $80,771,000 last week and $142,606,000 two weeks ago. During the corresponding week last year such new financing totaled only $26,331,000. This week's financing comprised eighteen issues, ranging in size from $50,000,000 down to $136,500.

The issue of $50,000,000 Argentine Government 5 per cent notes, due Oct. 1, 1931, constituted the largest single piece of financing. This issue was marketed to refund a like amount of six months' notes, due Oct. 1, 1930, which was marketed last April, and represented the only foreign financing of the week.

Five public utility issues were placed on the market this week, the largest being that of $16,000,000 Continental Gas and Electric Corporation 5s of 1958, priced to yield 5.53 per cent. Two issues were offered by the Chicago District Electric Generating Corporation, formerly the State Line Generating Company, one of $15,000,000 first mortgage 4½s, priced at 95, and the other $8,000,000 5½ per cent debentures, due 1935, priced at par. Both were quickly sold.

New State and municipal financing amounted to only $17,247,307, due to the scarcity of new issues scheduled for award. The largest issue was that of $5,250,000 State of North Carolina short-term notes, which was offered on a 2.25 per cent basis. The issue of $3,884,000 Jersey City (N. J.) 4¼ per cent bonds, due 1931 to 1969, constituted the largest long-term municipal offering of the week.

The long-awaited $12,000,000 Cincinnati Union Terminal Company first 4½s were marketed this week at a price of 102¼. The issue was quickly sold and immediately moved up a point in price when traded on the Stock Exchange. The issue represented the initial bond financing for the Terminal. The only other railroad financing was an issue of $2,820,000 Merchants Despatch equipment trust certificates.

Offerings of bonds by groups for this and last week follow:

	This Week.	Last Week.
Public utility	$51,279,000	$22,500,000
Foreign	50,000,000	15,150,000
State and municipal	17,247,307	9,969,000
Railroad	14,820,000	33,152,000
Total	$133,346,307	$80,771,000

The market for high-grade domestic bonds continued active and strong this week, but second and third grade issues remained dull, so that investment bankers are chiefly confining their new offerings to issues which fall in the first category. The fact that the Argentine Government sold an issue of notes rather than long-term bonds seemed to indicate that the market is not yet in shape for any considerable amount of new foreign financing.

Two Canadian issues may reach the market next week, one an issue of $3,500,000 city of Winnipeg 4½s and an issue of $1,250,000 Simpsons, Ltd., the Canadian department store corporation, first and collateral mortgage 5½s. An issue of similar size of 6½ per cent preferred stock of the corporation will also be marketed.

CHANGES IN EXCHANGE LIST.

LOANS OF $75,370,000 PLANNED BY CHICAGO

The city of Chicago and its various park and drainage boards plan to increase the collective bonded debt by $75,370,000, bringing the total to $465,705,000, according to figures received here yesterday. Bonds already authorized but not issued total $49,200,000, and this amount will be marketed if the State Supreme Court approves of the fiscal plan.

At the November election the voters will pass on bond proposals totaling $26,170,000. Of this amount $3,000,000 would be for the Lincoln Park District, $2,500,000 for the Forest Preserve District and the remainder for the city of Chicago proper. The city's bond program is for bridges, street lights, paving, opening of new streets and for bridge and playground repairs.

The Chicago Sanitary District Commissioners will not ask the voters for additional authorizations in November, although the commissioners indicate that they will require at least $40,000,000 within the next two years to provide for sewage disposal.

HAYDEN CUP TO TRASK MEN.

Harris, Forbes Golf Team Is Second—Reekie Makes a Record.

Teams representing thirty-three Wall Street firms entered the eighth annual golf tournament for the Charles Hayden Trophy, held yesterday at the Oakland Golf Club, Bayside, L. I. The trophy was won by the team representing Spencer Trask & Co., captained by C. Everett Bacon, which turned in a low aggregate score of 318.

The Harris, Forbes & Co. team was second with 322 and the one representing Dillon, Read & Co. third, with 329. Individual honors went to W. M. Reekie, captain of the Bonbright & Co. team, with a low score of 70, the lowest ever made since the trophy was put up. The runner-up was Martin Issler, of J. D. White & Co., with 74.

EASY MONEY LIFTS GOVERNMENT BONDS

Diversion of Surplus Funds Sends Liberty 4¼s and Treasury 3⅜s to Year's Peaks.

CORPORATION ISSUES FIRM

Leading Rails and Utilities Make More New Highs for Year in Exchange Trading.

A strong market for United States Government obligations, a steady to firm tone in domestic corporation issues and easier conditions for foreign loans characterized dealings in bonds yesterday on the Stock Exchange. As a direct result of the large amounts of money going begging in the money market, the diversion of surplus funds into Liberties and Treasuries sent prices of these issues 1-32 point to 10-32 higher yesterday. The first and fourth Liberty 4¼s and the Treasury 3⅜s of 1943 sold at new high marks for the year.

Although several leading railroad and public utility issues made further new highs for 1930, not much progress was made by the domestic group as a whole. New York rapid transit issues were again actively dealt in. Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 6s climbed to a new high price for the year at 101¾, closing at 101⅝, up ⅛ point. Although two of the five active Interborough issues closed fractionally lower, the market was generally firm. Manhattan Railway consolidated 4s of 1990 moved up ¾ point in brisk trading.

Second-grade railroad bonds lost some ground, and to a lesser extent the lower grade public utility liens. Convertible bonds of both groups tended to be easier in sympathy with stocks. Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s of 1960 were marked down ¼ point, and Chicago & North Western convertible 4¾s, series A, of 1949, fell ¾ point. International Telephone and Telegraph convertible 4½s of 1939 moved up ¾.

German Government International 5½s dipped a half point at the close, while German Government 7s were up ¼. German Agricultural Bank bonds all closed lower. German industrial and utility issues were irregular at the end. French bonds were firm in comparatively quiet trading. Kreuger & Toll 5s of 1959, with warrants, were heavily traded, closing ¼ point net lower. South Americans were generally easier.

SAVINGS BANKS BODY ELECTS OSWEGO MAN

F. B. Shepherd, a 'Dark Horse,' Is Made President by State Delegates Meeting at Quebec.

Special to The New York Times.

QUEBEC, Sept. 26.—Frederick B. Shepherd of Oswego, president of the Oswego County Savings Bank, a "dark horse," is the new president of the Savings Banks Association of the State of New York, being unanimously elected to office today at the closing session of the thirty-seventh annual convention.

It was figured that the fight for leadership of the association lay between Judge Richards of Brooklyn and John M. Satterfield of Buffalo, but when Frederick W. White, third vice president and chairman of the nominations committee, stood up and announced that the nomination of Mr. Shepherd was offered to the convention, there was not a single dissenting voice, although the delegates were surprised.

Mr. White said that what was needed was a man with a judicial mind as president to succeed Philip Benson of Brooklyn as chairman, and then proposed Mr. Shepherd.

The new president after he had been installed in office said that if taxation were fought hard enough the savings banks would win out. At the present time, Mr. Shepherd declared, savings banks were contributing 50 per cent more than commercial banks.

He urged concentration on the reform of the State tax.

Other officers elected today were:

First vice president, George D. Whedon, secretary-treasurer Monroe County Savings Bank, Rochester.

Second vice president, Alvin G. Hageman, secretary-treasurer Syracuse Savings Bank, Syracuse.

Third vice president, Frederick W. White, secretary-treasurer Home Savings Bank, Albany.

Fourth vice president, Henry Bruere, vice president Bowery Savings Bank, New York City.

General secretary, Paul W. Albright of New York City.

Assistant secretary, Miss Margaret Doerschuk of New York City.

Treasurer, William M. Campbell, president American Savings Bank, New York City.

The final day's business concluded with the installation in office of the new president and the winding up of all unfinished business, after which the delegates made a trip up the Saguenay River.

MANATI SUGAR ACTS TO AVOID A RECEIVER

Ask Holders to Waive Sinking Fund Rulings and Subordinate Bonds to Bank Credits.

MOVE IS CALLED ONLY HOPE

Company Agrees to Pay No Dividends on Stocks While Sinking Fund Is in Arrears.

In an effort to prevent receivership and reorganization, directors of the Manati Sugar Company have sent out a letter asking holders of first mortgage 7½ per cent bonds to waive the sinking fund provisions of the mortgage and to subordinate their bonds to banking credits up to $2,000,000. The letter urges that the bonds be sent at once to the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, accompanied by signed consents.

The letter specifically states that only by this procedure can receivership and reorganization be avoided. If consent is given by the bondholders, the company will agree to pay no further dividends on preferred and common stock while the sinking fund is in arrears.

The company's bank loans, made to finance operation in the producing season in accordance with the usual practice of Cuban sugar companies, will fall due in December, and arrangements must be made for renewal and any further necessary financing. Directors say they do not believe such arrangements can be made unless bondholders give their consent to the waiver and subordination, and unless the company has assurance that the credits will be renewed.

In the fiscal year that will end on Oct. 31 the company expects to earn the interest on its bonds and on its floating debt, its miscellaneous charges, and approximately $200,000 toward depreciation.

The first mortgage 7½ per cent bonds were issued in 1922 in the amount of $8,000,000, of which 5,502,000 are outstanding, $2,498,000 having been retired through the sinking fund.

NET INCOME DROPS 27.4% ON 44 RAILS

Last Month's Total Put at $44,828,000, Compared With $61,797,000 in August, 1929.

DECLINES ARE LESS SHARP

Pennsylvania Partly Offsets Decreases by Cuts in Expenses in Various Departments.

The first forty-four railroads to report for August showed net operating incomes totaling $44,828,000, against $61,797,000 in August, 1929, a decrease of 27.4 per cent, and against $55,086,000 in August, 1928, a decrease of 27.4 per cent, and net was 27.4 per cent above that of $35,640,000 in July.

These roads had gross income in August of $209,478,000, against $258,590,000 in August, 1929, a decline of 18.9 per cent, and against $244,825,000 in August, 1928, a decrease of 14.4 per cent. August gross was 4.2 per cent higher than July's $200,941,000.

The Pennsylvania reported decreases of $10,295,000 in freight revenue and of $2,345,000 in passenger revenue, which were partly offset by cuts of $2,113,000 in maintenance of way, $2,166,000 in maintenace of equipment and $2,824,000 in transportation expenses. In the eight months, to meet declines of $51,063,000 in freight revenue, $9,411,000 in passenger revenue, $2,799,000 in mail revenue, $1,913,000 in express revenue and $1,112,000 in other transportation revenues, maintenance of way was cut $9,117,000, maintenance of equipment $11,559,000 and transportation expenses $12,551,000.

Decreases in net reported were not so large in percentage as they had been in recent months. Among roads to report were New Haven, Delaware & Hudson, Central of New Jersey, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Milwaukee, Missouri Pacific, Southern and Missouri-Kansas-Texas.

U. S. Steel Distributes Work Among Its 220,591 Employes

"The policy of this corporation, as we have undertaken to develop and define it, and particularly since the recession in business last Fall, is equitably to distribute the work, as nearly as may be possible, among the workers," Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation finance committee, said yesterday.

Mr. Taylor was commenting upon the recent United States Steel report, which showed that the average number of workers in the first half of this year was 220,591, a decrease of 4,389, or 1.9 per cent from the average of 224,980 for the entire year of 1929.

Steel Mills, Bituminous Coal, Building and Cattle Receipts Advance During Month.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Business activity during the week ending Sept. 20, as measured by bank debits outside New York City, showed a gain of 16 per cent over the preceding week, but declined from the corresponding period in 1929, the Department of Commerce said today in its weekly statement on domestic business conditions.

"Wholesale prices as measured by Fisher's Index based on 1926 prices," the department said, "were higher than a week ago, but were lower by 13 per cent when compared with the prices of a year ago.

"The price for middling cotton at New York and red wheat at Kansas City showed fractional changes from last week. Both prices were lower than in 1929.

"Bank loans and discount for the latest reported week recorded a slight gain over a week ago and almost reached the level of the same period last year. The average prices for representative stocks fell off from the level of the preceding period. Bond prices, however, showed greater strength, registering a gain. Bond prices were higher, while the prices for stocks were lower than the same week a year ago. Interest rates for both call and time money were both lower than in either comparative period.

"Bank loans and discounts and bond prices for the week ended Sept. 20, 1930, showed gains when compared with the week of Sept. 22, 1928."

NEWARK BANK BOARDS VOTE FOR A MERGER

Stockholders Will Pass on Union of Lincoln National and Colonial Trust on Oct. 30.

A merger of the Lincoln National Bank and the Colonial Trust Company, both of Newark, was agreed upon yesterday at meetings of directors of both banks. The new institution will be named the Lincoln National Bank, and the head office will remain at the Lincoln's location, 1,005 Broad Street, Newark, while the Colonial's offices at 563 Broad Street will become a branch office.

The agreement will be submitted to stockholders of both banks on Oct. 30. Approval of the consolidation by the Controller of the Currency is expected before the stockholders' meetings.

Representative Franklin W. Fort, former secretary of the Republican National Committee and recently a candidate for the Republican nomination for Senator from New Jersey, is president of the Lincoln National Bank and Samuel I. Kessler, Newark lawyer, Democratic State Committeeman and former chairman of the Democratic committee of Essex County, heads the Colonial.

SUSPENDS TORONTO BROKER

Mining Exchange Also Removes Acme Gas From Trading List.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—G. F. Morrison of the firm of Morrison, Southgate & Co., Ltd., was today suspended from trading on the Standard Mining Exchange. The shares of the Acme Gas and Oil Company were at the same time temporarily withdrawn from the list. It is said that the removal of the stock from the list is only a temporary measure.

The brokers contend that they had been making purchases of the stock for a client who had delivery made at another house. On Thursday the client failed to complete a purchase made that day. The firm, it is expected, will be permitted to trade again soon after the condition is cleared up.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 26 (Canadian Press).—E. P. Rowe, president of Acme Gas, said today the company could not complain over the action of the Standard Exchange in removing the stock from trading. Mr. Rowe admitted that Acme had disposed of a stock interest to Walter W. Davis and associates of New York. The price was not announced. "There have not been any defaults in payment for the treasury stock," he added.

ATTACHES REPORT ON LATIN AMERICA

Argentine Business Prospects Show Signs of Improvement, Washington Is Informed.

DOMINICANS REORGANIZING

Mexico Considers Higher Tariff on Luxury Articles and New Curb on the Export of Gold.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Confidence in Argentina with its new government is reflected in reports of conditions there to the Department of Commerce.

"The further strength in peso exchange," it was said, "and the facility with which local and foreign bankers have expressed thir willingness to advance funds to the government were considered favorable factors indicating widespread confidence in the new administration.

"Money is comparatively cheap and both time and call rates have shown signs of weakening, in spite of the fact that as a result of the year's bad crop credit is stringent. Some dryness has been felt in the Southern districts of the country and, although as yet it is too early to predict the outcome of next year's crop, the general outlook continues to be bright.

"The demand for carded yarn is fair and for mercerized duller, but the outlook of both is fairly good. Underwear mills are somewhat more active than the hosiery mills."

Other reports from Latin America covered the Dominican republic and Mexico. That from the Dominican republic said:

"The hurricane caused only slight damage outside of Santo Domingo. About 30 per cent of buildings in the city proper were damaged, but in the suburbs approximately 85 per cent of properties were affected. Property owners carried very little hurricane insurance.

"Most commercial firms are protecting their stocks and are resuming business although few firms escaped a loss and in many cases stock damages amounted to 20 per cent. Immediate trade will be confined to necessities and construction materials. Reasonable credit extensions should be granted by American exporters to responsible firms in view of the fact that little ready money is available and that outstanding accounts are now largely uncollectable. However, new credits should be granted sparingly especially as regards those firms who were delinquent before the hurricane, who are now probably bankrupt and who are prone to exaggerate their losses.

"Street lighting in Santo Domingo has been partially restored and the streets are being rapidly cleaned. Roofing is being restored and numerous shelters are being built from the wreckage. Vessels are discharging normally although storage facilities are inadequate. Transportation into the interior is very difficult."

The report from Mexico was as follows:

"It is announced that the Federal Government will withdraw 10,000,000 pesos of silver coins from circulation in order to strengthen the position of silver coins, which have been at a discount of more than 8 per cent as against gold. Owing to the reported low stocks of gold in Mexico, steps will be taken to reduce the smuggling of gold out of the country, and mining companies will again be required to reimport gold equal to the gold content of exported ores."

"The Mexican Tariff Commission is studying the possibility of increasing duties on luxury articles in order to reduce imports by approximately 50,000,000 pesos. A preliminary local estimate places the 1930 corn crop at 2,000,000 tons, as compared with 1,500,000 tons for last year."

SUES SUBMARINE BOAT CO.

Electric Boat Brings Action on Bonds in Federal Court at Trenton.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 26.—The Electric Boat Company of New York today filed a claim in the Federal District Court here against the Submarine Boat Company of New York for $695,000, together with interest from Sept. 1, 1929. As a result of the proceedings fifteen steamships of the defendant concern have been attached and are under jurisdiction of the Federal court in New Jersey waters.

In papers filed for the claimant it is alleged the Submarine Boat Company on Dec. 4, 1920, delivered to the Emergency Fleet Corporation fifteen bonds, each amounting to $257,976, payable no later than Dec. 31, 1923. The company's fifteen ships then were mortgaged to secure payment of the principal of the bonds. Subsequently the bonds and mortgages were transferred to the Electric Boat Company.

Since the transaction the Submarine Boat Company has paid to the Electric Boat Company only $305,000, it is charged.

RECEIVER FOR OHIO UTILITY.

Action for Suburban Light and Power Caused by Chase Bank Here.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26 (AP).—A receiver was appointed in Federal court here today for the Suburban Light and Power Company, with principal offices at Alliance, Ohio, after counsel confessed judgment for $1,076,800 in a pending lawsuit.

The judgment and receivership were understood to be new steps in the adjustment of the financial affairs of the Suburban company and of the Utilities Service Company, also of Alliance, which went into receivership on Sept. 18.

Joseph G. Fogg was named receiver for the Suburban company under $25,000 bond. A week ago, Luther Day, another Cleveland attorney, was named receiver for the Utilities Service Company.

$4,500,000 Bonds Planned By Staten Island Edison

The Staten Island Edison Corporation, none of whose securities are now in the hands of the public, is planning to issue $4,500,000 of 4½ per cent fifty-year bonds under an existing mortgage, according to an application filed with the New York Public Service Commission.

The company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the New York State Electric and Gas Corporation, of the Associated Gas and Electric System. It furnishes without competition electric light and power service to the entire borough of Richmond.

33 COUNTRIES SENT US GOLD LAST MONTH

Total Import Was $19,714,221 —France Took $35,309,272 of Our $39,331,864.

The Commerce Department's statement of gold exports and imports of the United States during August, classified by countries of destination and origin, shows that of the month's total gold exports of $39,331,864, all but $4,022,592 went to France, the rest going almost wholly to Canada. Whereas gold exports were made to only three countries during the month, gold imports in varying quantities came from no less than thirty-three separate countries. The month's total importation of $19,714,221 was chiefly made up, however, of $8,000,675 from Japan, $3,180,548 from Hongkong and about $2,000,000 each from Mexico and Uruguay.

The following table gives exports and imports of gold during August, compared with July, 1930, and August, 1929. All exports for the month are included; under imports, only those of countries which took more than $50,000.

SWEDISH BANKER COMING.

Rooth, In Addition to Dr. Luther, Will Confer With Reserve Officials.

The identity of the central banker who, in addition to Dr. Hans Luther, head of the Reichsbank, is scheduled to confer with Federal Reserve officials this Autumn, was disclosed yesterday as Ivar Rooth, chief of the State Bank of Sweden.

Mr. Rooth is understood to be leaving Sweden today and will hold his discussions with officials of the Federal Reserve some time in the second week of October. His visit is not expected to coincide with that of Dr. Luther, who, according to present information, will not start for New York before November.

Gold Coming From Japan.

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 26 (AP).—The Yokohama Specie Bank shipped 5,000,000 yen gold coin (about $2,500,000) aboard the liner Asama Maru, which sailed for San Francisco today. This bank is Japan's official exchange organ.

FRENCH STOCKS DECLINE

Weakness Attributed to Political Situation in Europe—Trading Lags on German Boerse.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The stock market was less active today, continued weakness in Wall Street damping enthusiasm and causing general reaction among the international securities. Apart from British Government funds and motors, most sections were inclined to dullness. Gilt-edge issues kept firm without much further change in prices. Again there was considerable activity in motors, but prices were irregular.

In the industrial group, Hydroelectric was $36⅛, International Nickel $22¾ and Brazilian Traction $35⅛. Textiles displayed dullness at the opening, but prices rallied in the afternoon. Among the rayons Courtaulds was £2 5-32.

Electrical equipment issues were well maintained, General Electric advancing to 47s 9d. Cables and wireless stocks were weak, with the A ordinary down to 24½ and the B ordinary to 12. Radio Corporation was flat at $30⅛.

Oil shares were heavy, following the lead of New York. Royal Dutch was prominent at £29. The price of rubber, after falling to 3 13-16d a pound, rallied to 3⅞; shares were steady. Rhodesians gave way further in the mining group.

Money again was less plentiful in Lombard Street, borrowers paying 1¾ per cent for fresh floating credit. The discount tendency was steadier in sympathy with the treasury bill result. Sterling exchange on New York declined further to $4.85⅞@$4.86.

Depression on Paris Bourse.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—A selling wave hit the Paris Bourse today, forcing prices down in an atmosphere of depression. French rentes were fairly resistent, but lost some ground. The Bank of France led on the downward path. Adolf Hitler's declaration in Leipzig yesterday, combined with the apparent failure of the Franco-Italian naval negotiations and other European political developments, destroyed the confidence of professional traders. Rio Tinto, Citroen Peugeot and the leading oil stocks all closed lower.

Rentes closed as follows: The 3 per cents, 88.25; 1928 4s, 104.40; 1920 amortizable 5s, 137.40; 1928 5s, 103.90; 1920 6s, 103.55; 1927 amortizable 6s, 106.60.

Berlin Quiet and Irregular.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Calm reigned at today's session of the Boerse, which opened with an uneven tendency. Owing, however, to the greatly reduced volume of business no great change in prices took place either way. Trading came to a standstill toward the closing hour and prices sagged.

The money market was slightly tighter. Call loans were 3¼ to 5¾ per cent. The private discount rate was increased to 3¾ per cent.

BANK CLEARINGS OFF 37% FROM YEAR AGO

Weeks' Total for Twenty-two Leading Cities of Nation Put at $8,583,802,000.

DROP OF 41 PER CENT HERE

At Several Centres Decline Is Relatively Larger Than Earlier in Year.

A somewhat smaller volume of payments through the banks is noted in bank clearings for the past week, which continue to show a large loss in comparison with the heavy figures of a year ago. The total for the week at twenty-two leading cities of the United States of $8,583,802,000 was 37.7 per cent below the amount a year ago.

At New York City clearings of $5,854,000,000 were 41.5 per cent under last year's, while the aggregate at leading centres outside of New York of $2,729,802,000 was 27.6 per cent less. There are few signs of improvement in this week's report. The decline at practically all of the larger centres outside of New York continues marked, and at a number of these cities the reduction is now relatively larger than it was earlier in the year. Compared with the clearings for the corresponding week of 1928, losses also are considerable.

Clearings for the week, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., and average daily clearings for the last three months follow:

CURB PRICES WEAK AGAIN.

Declines in Active Issues Are Narrower Than on Day Before.

Stocks were depressed again yesterday on the New York Curb Exchange, although the declines in active issues were narrower than on the day before. The list firmed up somewhat in the late dealings after many stocks had touched the lowest levels of the year.

The most striking declines were in Technicolor, American and Foreign Power warrants, Cosden Oil, Blue Ridge preferred, Columbia Pictures, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Duke Power, Driver Harris new, Electric Bond and Share, Graymur Corporation, Hudson Bay Mining, Seeman Brothers, International Superpower and Dresser Manufacturing A.

Imperial Oil, American Commonwealth Power A, Segal Lock, American Light and Traction new, Ford Motor, Ltd., and Electric Power and Light warrants were firm in active trading.

DECARY HEADS NEW TRUST.

Canadian National Director Elected by Depositor Company of Canada.

E. R. Decary, president of the Title Guarantee and Trust Corporation of Canada and director of the Canadian National Railways, has been elected president of the Depositor Company of Canada, recently incorporated to organize fixed investment trusts. Guy Vanier, vice president of Société Nationale de Fiducia, has been elected vice president.

The company will soon make an offering of Canadian International Trustee Shares, the portfolio of which is composed chiefly of Canadian securities, but including a few outstanding United States issues. The wholesale distribution of the shares will be handled by Trustee Holdings Distributors, Ltd., an affiliate.

MODERATE ADVANCE IN WEEK'S BUSINESS

Trade Reviews Note General Progress, but With Many Cross-Currents Visible.

FALL OUTLOOK IMPROVES

Wholesale Buying Shows Increase and Employment Gains in Seasonal Industries.

More active buying in wholesale and jobbing lines, increased employment in seasonal industries and the promise of cooler weather are emphasized among the favorable factors in the weekly reviews of the commercial agencies. Against these, however, are cited the slackness in retail trade due to unseasonable weather, reduced automobile production and the low price of farm products.

"While there have been numerous cross-currents visible in general business, this especially displayed in lower prices for many staples, and religious holidays and warmer weather have been additional drawbacks, the necessities imposed by the advance of the season have on balance made for a further moderate advance in Fall trade," says Bradstreet's. "This is especially noticeable in wholesale and jobbing lines where buying has had to be done and in small but none the less encouraging accessions to working forces employed in seasonal industries.

"The situation in retail trade is, perhaps, best summed up in the reports reaching the dry-goods trade that cool, snappy weather is much to be desired. That such a change impends seems possible from reports of light snowfalls in Canadian and our own Northwestern grain fields, where the bulk of the wheat threshing seems to have been done. Taken as a whole, the situation may be said to grade as nearer fair than for some months past, but with industrial output and general trade volume still leaving much to be desired as compared with a year ago. Bearing on this latter point it might be well to remember that comparisons for the remainder of the year should tend to favor this year more than for many months past.

Steel Trade Irregular.

"In the iron and steel trade cross-currents seem particularly present when the sight is afforded of bars, structural shapes and black sheets stiffening in price, whereas pig iron has gone off about 50 cents. This is explained by steel trade authorities as being due to an expansion of ordinary general takings of steel, not for automobile or railway account, and as regards pig iron easing, the intimation is that this has aided in causing the placing of some really good-sized orders.

"In the list of favorable features, ight should not be lost of the fact hat raw cotton moved abroad in arger volume in August than in ecent months or than in August a ear ago, but the lower price ruling obs this of some of its comfort, though the fact remains that doestic buying of cotton goods was etter following the fixing of the wer price level.

"In the automobile trade, estimates September output are in confirman of earlier advices that that onth's production will drop below at of August. There is, however, ne evidence in the trade reports t retail sales have improved ghtly. Among the other industries, re are signs of a slight lifting of erations at Southern cotton mills, s tending to confirm reports last ek and this of better buying of ns."

Trend Moderately Better.

. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review business says in part:

Even in a situation which still many confusing and uncertain ents, with accented unsettlement speculative markets, the more nising signs in business are not ured. TELEPHONE BUDGET RAISED.

Company Here Adds $12,951,325, Making $80,687,760 for Year.

Directors of the New York Telephone Company have authorized the expenditure of $12,951,325 for new construction in the State, bringing total appropriations this year to $80,687,760, of which $66,108,510 was for extension of facilities in the metropolitan area.

The new appropriations for Manhattan provide almost $5,000,000 for enlargement of telephone facilities. Other authorizations are for general additions to equipment in the Bronx, Westchester and Long Island. Expenditures were approved also for relocating underground cable along the Boston Post Road previous to repaving in Larchmont and Mamaroneck, construction of underground plants in Tarrytown and Elmsford and additional dial equipment in Westchester and the Bronx.

1929 WOOL OUTPUT OFF SHARPLY IN AUSTRALIA

Decrease of $175,000,000 in Value of Year's Production From Total in 1927.

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 26 (AP).—Australia's wool returns are the worst for some years, and all sections that make up the wool industry are getting together for a big effort to save the situation. Wool production in 1927 was valued at $375,000,000. The 1928 production raised $345,000,000. The 1929 clip will not reach $200,000,000.

Foreign Prices Watched Here.

BOSTON, Sept. 26 (AP).—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say of the wool market tomorrow:

"The market is quieter this week, the contrast being the more marked after the good business of last week. The attention of the trade has been directed at the foreign markets, where prices have been in favor of the buyers quite distinctly, especially at Sydney, Australia, with prices sometimes below importing parity.

"Even in London prices are down close to importing parity both on Merinos and crossbreds, with warp 64s Australian bringing 22 pence clean and New Zealand 50s at 12 to 12½ pence at the sales.

UNEXPLAINED SALES LOWER WHEAT AGAIN

Losses 2 to 2½ Cents, With December at Crop Low and Other Months Near Bottoms.

COOPERATIVE BUYING SEEN

Corn Also Ignores Bullish News and Falls 1⅛ to 2⅜ Cents—Oats and Rye Decline.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Liquidation for no apparent reason continued in the wheat market today, with no disposition by local operators to take the buying side. While there was aggressive buying toward the last, which some observers believed was for the cooperatives, the December dropped to a new low on the crop, and the other deliveries to within a fraction of the bottom. The close was the lowest finish so far, with net losses of 2 to 2½ cents.

No attention was paid to news, either bullish or bearish, and an undercurrent of nervousness among brokers was very apparent. Pit brokers said business the greater part of the day was extremely light, although toward the last some selling by houses with Eastern connections disclosed a lack of support until purchases developed against the bids and buying by houses that frequently act for the cooperatives.

This was the second day the trade had the impression that cooperatives were buying, and in some quarters the belief prevails that the short side is not likely to be profitable for long.

Hedging Falls Off in Winnipeg.

Lack of hedging pressure was reported at Winnipeg, which market closed 2⅜ to 2½ cents lower, with scattered liquidation the main depressing influence. Liverpool closed ½ to ⅞d lower, drought reports from Australia partly offsetting further Russian offerings. Buenos Aires dropped 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents.

Taken as a whole the news was rather more favorable to holders than otherwise. Winnipeg reported around 2,500,000 bushels sold for export in the last two days, including 1,000,000 to Japan, the aggregate being the best in some time. In addition to reports of crop deterioration from Australia, some dry weather talk came from Argentina and reports of heavy feeding of wheat to live stock.

Primary receipts were 1,747,000 bushels, a week ago 1,536,000 and a year ago 1,826,000. Shipments respectively were 1,304,000, 982,000 and 1,054,000 bushels.

Corn Never Tops Thursday Closing.

At no time were corn prices above the finish of the previous day despite wet weather and storms over the greater part of the belt, combined with prospects of frost in North and South Dakota and light frost in parts of Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle. The bulls also had a better shipping demand for cash grain, with sales of 100,000 bushels in their favor, but the market weakened rapidly with wheat and on scattered liquidation. The close was 1⅛ to 2⅜ cents lower, September showing the most strength.

At Kansas City September closed 9¾ cents over December, compared with 4⅜ cents in Chicago, and the near-by month in the Southwestern market is at a premium over Chicago. Country offerings remain small. Charters were made for 240,000 bushels to Eastern ports.

A crop observer who returned here today from a 1,200-mile trip over Illinois and Iowa said that the late grain showed improvement, but he feared damage from the heavy rain and wind storms of Thursday night.

Primary receipts of corn were 475,000 bushels, a week ago 343,000 and a year ago 805,000. Shipments respectively were 242,000, 340,000 and 493,000 bushels.

Oats declined with other grains and closed 1¼ to 1⅜ cents lower, with local longs going out of their holdings. Commission houses were the best buyers.

Rye closed 2 to 2¾ cents lower, with September and March at new low marks for the season. The break in wheat was the main factor.

Prices quoted for the principal grains were as follows:

RAINS LOWER GRAIN GRADES

Yields of Wheat in Canada Are Above Last Year's, Bank Reports.

Some deterioration in Canadian wheat may result from the recent wet weather, according to the weekly crop report of the Bank of Montreal, which says that threshing in the Prairie Provinces is 70 per cent completed. Yields have been better than last year and grades so far have been good. The report says:

"In Ontario threshing is nearing completion under favorable weather conditions. Grain yields, on the whole, are above the average and of good quality. In the Maritime Provinces the weather has been seasonally good. Grain harvesting is practically finished and the crops are a good average.

In British Columbia the weather has been cooler, with a touch of frost reported in the interior. Threshing of grain is completed and the crop is about 90 per cent of average and of good quality."

Farmers Urged to Aid Government.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Sept. 26 (AP).—A plea for greater cooperation between farm groups and the Bureau of Agriculture was made today by Chester Grey, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in an address here before members of the New Jersey County Agents and Club Agents Association.

DROP PUTS COTTON LOWEST IN 15 YEARS

Producing Sections Sell Heavily, With Close at Bottom, 11 to 19 Points Off.

EXPORT FIGURES HOLD UP

Declines in the Markets for Commodities Have Effect on Trading —Foreign Prices Slump.

Prices on the Cotton Exchange continued yesterday to feel the weight of selling from producing sections as well as the unsettling influence of developments in outside markets. With new low records in silk, sugar and wheat, the price of cotton declined 10 to 20 points and ended with a loss of 11 to 19 points on the day.

Persistent selling orders from the South supplied contracts for scale buying orders for trade account, but a large quantity of buying limits accumulated at 11 cents for the May delivery offered resistance at the decline. Closing quotations were the lowest since September, 1915.

Foreign prices lost more ground than in any other day this week, and while spot sales increased to 10,000 bales in Liverpool, quotations were reduced to 5.89d and almost a dollar a bale below previous low levels. Increased hedging operations from this side failed to meet a sufficient volume of trade buying in Liverpool to offset pressure.

Selling orders predominated in the early trading here, nearly all months starting in new low territory for the year. After selling within a few points of 11 cents for the May delivery, fewer hedges came on the market and prices rallied at one time. Weakness in stocks and grain unsettled trading in the afternoon, closing the list at the bottom.

Heavy rains occurred in the central sections and in parts of the western belt, with light frost predicted for exposed places in Oklahoma last night.

Week-end figures again showed exports larger than a year ago, with the total for the season above the million mark and 225,000 ahead of the corresponding date last year. Spinners' takings were only about half of those in the corresponding week last year, and they are to date about 550,000 bales behind those in the same 1929 period. Spinners in every country took less cotton this week than in the week a year ago.

NOTICE OF REDEMPTION OF

Estate of Henry E. Huntington

Sinking Fund Gold Notes Dated as of November 1, 1928

WHEREAS, pursuant to the terms of a certain Indenture dated as of the first day of November, 1928, executed by Caroline H. Holladay and Los Angeles-First National Trust & Savings Bank (now Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles,) a national banking association, as Executrix and Executor respectively, of the Last Will and Testament of Henry E. Huntington, Deceased (hereinafter called the Executors), to Title Insurance and Trust Company, a California corporation, as Trustee, the Executors issued "Estate of Henry E. Huntington Sinking Fund Gold Notes" in an aggregate principal amount of Eleven Million ($11,000,000.00) Dollars; and

WHEREAS, the Executors have exercised the option given them under said Indenture to redeem One Million ($1,000,000.00) Dollars principal amount of said Notes now outstanding and secured thereby on the next interest payment date, to-wit, November 1st, 1930; and

WHEREAS, the undersigned, successor to said Los Angeles-First National Trust & Savings Bank, corporate executor named in said Indenture, pursuant to authority vested in it under the terms thereof, gave written notice to Title Insurance & Trust Company, Trustee named in said Indenture, of the exercise of the option given the Executors to redeem said One Million ($1,000,000.00) Dollars principal amount of the Notes as aforesaid, not less than seventy (70) days prior to the date fixed for such redemption as aforesaid, and thereupon said Trustee selected by lot the serial numbers from the Notes then outstanding under said Indenture and furnished a list containing said serial numbers of the Notes so selected for redemption, all as provided by said Indenture.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Estate of Henry E. Huntington Sinking Fund Gold Notes, bearing the serial numbers hereinafter specified, are hereby called for redemption and will be redeemed on the next semi-annual interest payment date, to-wit, November 1st, 1930, and that on said date there will be due and payable on all of the Notes bearing the serial numbers hereinafter specified at the Corporate Division, Trust Department of Title Insurance and Trust Company, Trustee, 433 South Spring Street, in the City of Los Angeles, State of California, the principal thereof, together with a premium of one and one-half (1½%) per cent of such principal and accrued interest to said date, upon the presentation and surrender of said Notes, together with all coupons appertaining thereto maturing on and after said date; payment of principal, premium and interest on said Notes to be made to the holders thereof, or to the registered owners or assigns, if the same be registered.

ASSAILS SURCHARGE IN LIGHT RATE CASE

Engineer Asserts Coal Clause Is Discriminatory Factor in Proposed Rate Structure.

URGES ITS ELIMINATION

Maltbie Indicates Interest of Commission to Consider the Ruling Out of War Measure.

The elimination of the coal surcharge, now in effect and also included in the proposed rate structure of the New York Edison and three associated companies, will be considered seriously by the Public Service Commission, it was indicated yesterday at the commission's hearing on the proposed rate changes, following vigorous objection to the charge by E. F. Jeffe of E. F. Jeffe, Inc., an engineering firm opposing the application for new rates.

Attacking the surcharge in his cross-examination of Robert B. Grove, secretary of the United Electric Light and Power Company, one of the affiliated utilities, Mr. Jeffe charged discrimination by the companies in using two bases for determining the charge. He held that $5 was used as the base price per long ton of coal in contracts with the Board of Transportation, while $4 was used as the basis for certain other contracts.

When Mr. Grove said he did not consider that the companies discriminated among its customers in the two bases, Chairman Milo R. Maltbie remarked that the commission was "very much interested in the subject of the surcharge," adding that the commission would appreciate any light that any one could throw upon it.

Through the witness Mr. Jeffe traced the origin of the surcharge to the war period. Mr. Grove explained that reductions in the light rates during the war carried reservations that if commodities increased the reduced rates would be restored to a level commensurate with the higher-priced commodities. He said the companies and the commission agreed to meet conditions by the use of the coal clause in the rates.

The coal surcharge was designed to cover increases or decreases in any commodity, he said, because coal was the largest variable factor and served as an automatic adjustment for the base rate of electric current under varying conditions.

Mr. Grove denied that the surcharge was instituted to wipe out reductions in electric-current rates ordered in Mayor Mitchel's administration. Mr. Jeffe held that the charge was a temporary measure to apply to unusual conditions during the war, when there were wide fluctuations in the price of coal, and he moved to have the surcharge eliminated entirely from the rate structure.

Mr. Maltbie's answer to the motion was that the commission would consider the elimination of the charge.

Mr. Jeffe also questioned the difference between city contracts for lighting streets, parks and public places and those for lighting public buildings. Mr. Grove explained that the difference in the rates represented various degrees of service rendered.

Examination into the contracts of the utilities with the Third Avenue Railway System, the New York Central and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads, was postponed at the suggestion of Mr. Maltbie and with the agreement of Mr. Jeffe. Mr. Maltbie said it would be impossible to pass on the contracts without making the railroads a party to the present case. A review of the contracts would also delay the hearings, he said, and the benefits to the general consumer as a result of the examination would be doubtful.

Mr. Maltbie ruled that the examination would be postponed except in so far as any provision in the contracts might be connected directly with the issues in the present case.

The hearing was adjourned to Tuesday at 10:15 A. M.

NAME TEXTILE ARBITRATORS

Council of Trade Representatives Headed by W. D. Hines.

Organization of the general arbitration council was announced yesterday by the Cotton-Textile Institute, Inc. It is composed of the following representatives:

ROBERT LASSITER, American Cotton Manufacturers' Association.
W. P. GALLON, Association of Cotton-Textile Merchants of New York.
M. J. WARNER, chairman of the arbitration committee, Textile Converters' Association.
W. L. PIERCE, president, National Association of Finishers of Cotton Fabrics.
G. I. Seidman, Textile Brokers' Association.
F. A. COLT, Cotton-Textile Institute.

Mr. Hines was elected chairman of the council and Mr. Colt, secretary.

The members of the council agreed that it was highly important to encourage the adjustment of disputes in the industry by conciliation or mediation and to establish facilities for that purpose. A detailed study of the rules for arbitration will be carried out by a committee, which will report its recommendations to a full meeting of the council.

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—The disturbance that was central over Northern Missouri Thursday night has moved northeastward to the Lake Superior region with a further increase in intensity and it has been attended by general rains in the lower Missouri and upper Mississippi Valleys, and the lake region by showers in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee, Arkansas and the gulf and South Atlantic States and by strong shifting winds and gales in the lake region and upper Mississippi Valley.

The disturbance over the Gulf of Alaska has remained almost stationary, but pressure is low and falling west of the Rocky Mountains as far south as the Gulf of California.

Pressure still low but rising slowly over and east of Newfoundland.

High pressure prevails from extreme North Alaska southeastward to the Great Slave Lake region and Northern Hudson Bay and thence southward to the Southern Rocky Mountain region.

The temperature has risen from the Pacific Coast eastward to Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota and it continues abnormally high throughout the Eastern and Southeastern States, but much cooler weather has overspread the upper lake region, the great central valleys and the West Gulf States.

At Washington, D. C., the temperature was 90 degrees, or above for the thirteenth time during the present month, breaking all records for the month of September.

The weather will become much cooler in the upper Ohio Valley, the lower lake region, the Appalachian region and the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States and North Carolina during the next twenty-four to thirty-six hours, and the temperature will continue below normal in the lower Ohio and middle Mississippi Valleys Saturday and throughout the Washington forecast district during Sunday. Except for showers Saturday in Florida, New England and New York, generally fair weather will prevail east of the Mississippi River during Saturday and Sunday.

COUNTRY-WIDE WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Weather Curbs Retail Activity.

Consumer buying of Fall merchandise was retarded notably toward the end of the week by continued warm weather in many sections, reports here yesterday indicated. The decline in sales, however, it was felt, will not offset previous gains earlier in the month, and it continues to be expected that the full September figures will compare well with a year ago. Both retail distribution and the manufacturing trade feel the need of the impetus of cool weather to maintain normal seasonal activity at this time. This is true not only in apparel but home furnishing lines as well.

First Suits Filed Under Tariff.

Two protests, both dealing with questions arising under the new tariff on leather, have been filed at the United States Customs Court, it was learned yesterday. The protests, first to reach the court since the new tariff went into effect last June, have not been docketed as yet, but are expected to come up for trial in the next few weeks. Both cases, it was reported, arose at ports outside of this city. One deals with administrative features of the leather section, while the other is based upon a question of classification.

To Meet on Transit Insurance.

A conference will be held on transit insurance next Tuesday by a special committee on transit insurance of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, it was announced yesterday. The broad transit insurance policy developed by the association eight years ago will be surveyed to determine changes needed to meet present-day conditions. The committee comprises John G. Clark, director of insurance for the association; E. F. Cosgriff, W. T. Grant Company; J. H. Williams, Associated Dry Goods Corporation; Paul S. Riley, Raphael Weill, Inc.; Fred Simpson, Broadway Department Store, and Leonard F. Mongeon, manager of the traffic group of the association.

Await Pick-Up in Toy Orders.

Not a great deal of improvement has been shown in the placing of additional orders for many toy items for holiday delivery. Indications are, it was said in the trade yesterday, that the volume of late business will be large, although some pick-up in orders is expected during the first half of next month. Advance orders on dolls have not been good, and these items are counted on to figure prominently in the late business. Added business in wheel goods, electrical playthings and games is anticipated. Dollar items are stressed in many of the novelties offered.

Muskrat Sells Well at Auction.

The interest of fur buyers attending the Frederick Huth & Co. September fur auction yesterday centred chiefly on medium-size and reject skins in the collections of muskrat and Southern muskrat featuring the day's offerings. The demand for small-size skins in the Southern muskrat collection was brisk, and skins of that nature sold very well. There was less interest in the tops, which sold fairly well, with a high of 72 cents. Other muskrat pelts offered reached a top price of $1.22. Total sales for the day amounted to $600,000.

Shirt Makers Seek Fold Standards.

A meeting will be held shortly between members of the National Association of Shirt Manufacturers and representatives of the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce to discuss uniform sizes in shirt folds, both long and squares, it was announced yesterday. Several meetings of the manufacturers have been held, and the leading ones, including Cluett, Peabody & Co., George P. Ide & Co. and the Manhattan Shirt Company, agree on the desirability of standard shirt folds. Manufacturers and distributors of shirts will be invited to confer with the Bureau of Standards meeting. There is some difference of opinion in the trade as to what sizes should be accepted as standard, but these do not vary more than ⅛ to ¼ of an inch in either length or width.

Good Percale Buying at New Prices.

Although an excellent volume of business in percales at the prices named on Saturday was booked by the leading houses during the past week, they have to contend with all sorts of rumors in the market that goods can be bought at slightly lower levels. These rumors were circulated mostly by buyers and could not be confirmed. The leading printers state that they have firmly maintained their quotations and have refused large orders at prices under the market level. They feel that the market is definitely on the upswing and that if the strength in gray cloth continues, which seems likely according to present indications, further advances in percales will be in order.

Buckwheat Coal Shortage Seen.

Continued warm weather has delayed the normal pick-up in anthracite demand and, with the exception of buckwheat sizes, the volume of tonnage being moved is slight, Saward's Journal will say today. The demand for buckwheat for apartment house use is growing steadily, and a shortage more severe than that experienced last Winter is looked for later in the season. In the bituminous market the trend toward greater activity evident last month has been checked by the failure of general business to expand along the lines expected. Only a few industries are showing gains.

Cotton Mill Activity at Low.

The aggregate number of active spindle hours of the cotton textile industry for August of 5,134,486,143 is a record low for the last eight years, according to the analysis yesterday by the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York of figures published by the Bureau of Census. The analysis also shows a reduction in the aggregate running time of American cotton mills of 2,995,442,000 hours under August, 1929, or 36.84 per cent. The eight-month total for this year was 53,052,946,000 spindle hours, compared with 68,411,876,000 for the similar period in 1929, a drop of 22½ per cent. During August the industry produced approximately 262,400,000 yards less than in August, 1929, and for the first eight months of this year the output was 1,345,442,000 yards below the same period of last year.

Gray Goods Activity Holds Up.

Trading in the gray goods market yesterday continued at the same level as the previous day. A fair volume of cloth was sold, with prices being firmly maintained by mills. In printcloths demand was fairly well scattered over all constructions, with 38½-inch 60-48s reported at 5 cents and 64-60s at 5½ cents. Demand was sustained for 39-inch 68-72s at 6¼ cents and 72-76s at 6¾ cents. A fair amount of 39-inch 80-squares was moved at 7½ cents. Sheetings were quiet, but some goods were sold, with 37-inch 4-yard reported at 5⅞ cents, some mills asking for 6 cents. Thirty-six-inch 5-yard sold at 5 cents and 36-inch 4.70-yard at 5½ cents.

ASSAIL PLAN TO REVISE TRADE PRACTICE RULES

Delegates at Niagara Falls Say Commission's Changes Will Disturb Business.

Special to The New York Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 26.—The American Trade Association adopted resolutions in its convention today assailing the United States Trade Commission's plan to revise or reject certain trade practice rules adopted by industrial groups.

The resolutions say such proposed revision is bound to cause disturbance and concern, as well as to give added instability to the present business situation, and that more than 100 business, trade or industrial groups have spent considerable energy and large sums of money in obtaining the adoption of the conference rules. The rules are said to have had the approval of the commission.

The resolution says the members "submit to the Federal Trade Commission their protest against the proposed revision and rejection of trade practice and conference rules by the method and in the manner it is proposed to revise and reject them, and respectfully urge the Federal Trade Commission to abandon such procedure; to adhere to the policy upon which industries for ten years have been encouraged by it to demand and to adopt the policy of making specific interpretations of such rules if, as and when they are called upon to interpret or adjudicate them in connection with complaints."

At the annual banquet tonight Will Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributers, gave an address on "Self-Regulation in Industry."

BUSINESS NOTES.

Manufacturer-distributer relationships will be the main topic of discussion at the annual convention of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America to be held at the Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City, Oct. 21-22, it was announced yesterday.

An Eastern division of the newly formed Waste Paper Institute will be organized at a meeting to be held at the Astor Hotel on Friday, Oct. 10, it was announced yesterday. The representative dealers and packers, east of Pittsburgh, have been invited to attend, and it is also expected that the leaders of the industry in the Middle West will be present.

On Thursday Sears, Roebuck & Co. will open a tire, accessory and hardware store at 210 South Broadway, Yonkers, it was announced yesterday. The new store is the tenth to be opened by the company in the metropolitan area.

LIVE STOCK IN CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Hogs were in good demand early and 10 to 15 cents higher today, but the buying subsided quickly and the finish was at about the same as the previous day, although some final bids were fully 25 cents under the early high. Medium weight butchers sold to the best advantage. The top was 10 cents higher at $10.70, with the day's average up 5 cents at $9.55. Most sales were at $8.90 to $10.40, with heavyweights $10.10 to $10.70, medium weights $10 to $10.70, lightweights $9.50 to $10.20 and packing sows $8.25 to $9. Packers bought 14,200 and shippers 4,500, with 3,000 left over. Receipts were 16,000, with 6,000 estimated for tomorrow.

Offerings of cattle were small and the market was generally about steady. Best yearlings sold up to $12.80, while heavy kinds sold at $11.75. Most sales of beef cattle were at $9 to $11.75. Receipts were 2,500.

Sheep prices dropped 50 cents, with the best bringing $3.50, and most sales were at $2 to $3.25. Lambs were barely steady, with most sales at $7.50 to $7.75. Receipts were 18,000.

LIVE STOCK AND MEATS.

These prices were reported yesterday in the New York and New Jersey markets by the United States Department of Agriculture:

CATTLE.

Steers scarce, fully steady with Wednesday's advance. Two loads 1,250 to 1,527 pound medium grassers $9.30 to $9.85. Cows scarce, fully steady; common to medium $4.00 to $5.00. Bulls nominal.

VEALERS AND CALVES.

Vealers in light supply, steady. Good to choice $12.00 to $14.50; medium $9.50 to $11.50; cull and common $6.00 to $9.60. Alabama calves and vealers 50 cents to 75 cents lower; common to medium $5.50 to $8.50.

HOGS.

Steady; good to choice 160 to 220 pound weights $10.25 to $10.75.

SHEEP.

Lambs in moderate supply, very slow, around 50 cents lower. Good to choice $8.00 to $8.50, few $8.75; medium $6.00 to $7.50. Ewes weak to 50 cents lower; medium to choice $3.00 to $3.50; cull and common $1.50 to $2.50.

GAIN IN FABRICATING STEEL.

Mahoning Valley Plants Expect More Improvement Next Month.

Special to The New York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 26.—The Sharon Steel Hoop Company will suspend its blast furnace at Lowellville for repairs on Oct. 1, and the stack will resume when the work is completed.

Fabricating interests generally report a pick-up in inquiries.

RECORD SUGAR RECEIPTS.

August Exports by Porto Rico to United States 10,796 Tons.

Receipts of refined sugar in the United States from Porto Rico established a new high record in August. Shipments from the Island to this country during the month aggregated 10,796 tons, which exceeds that of any single month in the history of sugar commerce between Porto Rico and the United States, according to compilations by B. W. Dyer & Co., sugar economists and brokers.

This exceptionally large amount shipped in August brings the total refined shipments in the first eight months of this year to 54,019 long tons, compared with approximately 39,000 tons for the whole twelve months of 1929, it is stated. A comparison by months of shipments in tons of Porto Rico refined sugar to the United States for 1930 and 1929, follows:

	1930	1929
January	5,150	2,232
February	7,421	3,571
March	5,487	6,920
April	8,096	5,397
May	7,421	4,498
June	5,150	3,598
July	4,498	4,048
August	10,796	2,699
Totals	54,019	32,963

The increase in the production of white sugar in Porto Rico is expected further to increase the shipments before the end of the year.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter.

Receipts, 10,905 packages. Trading was very active up to the close on Thursday and the market gained strength. This came to the surface quite markedly Friday morning and an advance of ½ cent was established on all useful grades. Business fair at the higher rates. Some houses were quite short of fancy fresh goods.

AIR MAIL TO UNITE ATLANTA AND WEST

New York Connections Are Provided in Route to Los Angeles, to Open Oct. 15.

SPEED IS HELD ESSENTIAL

Requests for Many Intermediate Stops Are Declined to Insure a Fast Schedule.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Air mail service over the Atlanta-Los Angeles Southern Transcontinental route will begin Oct. 15, W. Irving Glover, Assistant Postmaster General, announced today. West-bound planes will leave Atlanta at 8 o'clock in the morning and arrive at Los Angeles at 7:11 the following evening.

The new route has been set up with a lay-over point at Fort Worth, Texas. This is necessary, Mr. Glover said, because the airway is not lighted, and will probably not be completely lighted before next Summer.

The line east-bound from Los Angeles will provide connection at Fort Worth with the north-bound plane to Kansas City and Chicago. The west-bound plane leaving Atlanta in the morning will connect at Atlanta with the air mail service from Boston, New York, Philadelphia and other Eastern cities to Jackson, Miss.; Shreveport, La.; Fort Worth and Dallas, reaching the latter points in the afternoon.

The schedule over this route as announced today is as follows:

Atlanta and Fort Worth.

P. R. T. RACE BUS CRASHES.

Several Are Hurt on Maryland Road —21 Injured in Virginia Mishap.

NORTHEAST, Md., Sept. 26 (AP).—Several passengers on a Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company bus, bound for the races at Havre de Grace, were injured as the conveyance upset today on a curve just outside this community.

George Jolly of Camden, N. J., was taken to a hospital with injuries which physicians said might be fatal. Another at a hospital was Waverly Weeks of New York.

Between forty and fifty were in the bus. Motorists took the most seriously hurt to hospitals at Havre de Grace and Elkton, Md.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Sept. 26 (AP).—Bus company officials today were investigating the cause of an accident near Hybla Valley, Va., last night where twenty-one persons were injured, two seriously, when a Washington-Richmond bus ran into a tree.

Eleven injured remained in the hospital today. Norman Dove of Alexandria, driver, whose skull was fractured, was in a critical condition, as was Mrs. Wade H. Allen of New York, whose right arm and leg were broken.

Others among the injured were: Arthur Murphy, East Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Courts Baker, Philadelphia, and Harry Howard, New York.

Bus company officials said Dove told them he ran into the tree when the headlights of an approaching automobile blinded him.

ROWE AGREES TO STOCK BAN

First State Financial Corporation Sales Also Enjoined.

A permanent injunction restraining Otis W. Rowe and the First State Financial Corporation, Inc., both of 551 Fifth Avenue, from fraudulent dealings in securities was signed yesterday by Supreme Court Justice James A. Dunne in Brooklyn. The injunction was consented to by the defendants, who refused to admit, however, that they had engaged in fraudulent practices.

Deputy Attorney General Henry B. Staples of the Bureau of Securities charged in his affidavit that Rowe and the corporation, of which he was president, had made misrepresentations in persuading purchasers to buy stock of the American Neon Light Corporation, Inc., and the National Reserve Corporation.

The injunction order included a clause making permanent the appointment as receiver for the First State Financial Corporation of Ernest D. Gardner, under bond of $16,000. The proceedings with regard to the Otis W. Rowe Associates, Inc., were dismissed. According to Assistant Attorney General Watson Washburn, the assets in the hands of the receiver are sufficent to cover claims made by purchasers of stock.

PANTAGES TO GET RETRIAL.

California Court Grants Appeal From Conviction for Assault.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26 (AP).—The Appellate Court granted today the appeal of Alexander Pantages, theatrical producer, from his conviction and prison sentence for assaulting Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, ordering a new trial.

Mr. Pantages, who was sentenced to from one to fifty years in prison, has been at liberty under $100,000 bail.

The court's decision was made upon Mr. Pantages's appeal from the Superior Court's refusal to grant a new trial, the higher court reversing the lower court's findings.

The first reason assigned for ordering a new trial was the Appellate Court's finding of prejudicial error on the part of District Attorney Buron Fitts and his deputy, James Costello. A second cause was set forth as error by the trial court in refusing to allow defense counsel to examine a prosecution witness as to whether a criminal charge had been brought against the witness in Texas.

CUMMING COMMENDS HOOVER'S ACTION ON SON

Surgeon General Says Early Diagnosis of Tuberculosis Aids All Patients.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP).—The public announcement that President Hoover's son is under treatment for tuberculosis was commended today by health authorities, who believe it will result in wider play for science's most effective weapon against the disease, its early diagnosis.

Surgeon General Cumming of the Public Health Service said that although some progress has been made, the attitude of laymen toward frank dealing with the one-time taboo of tuberculosis still seriously impairs the effectiveness of treatment.

"The example of the President, his family and his physician will have a salutary effect," Dr. Cumming said. "It will encourage patients to seek plain advice early; it will lead doctors to make diagnoses as soon as possible.

"We need such an example. For although the intelligent attitude is gaining, it is still true that only a brave doctor dares make such a pronouncement as came from the White House while there is yet time to do most good."

Dr. Cumming observed: "All early cases of tuberculosis get well now under proper care.

"Less than twenty years ago," he continued, "to make a diagnosis of tuberculosis was to write finis on the social, domestic and professional life of the patient, if not to pronounce a simple sentence of death. There arose, consequently, the foolish sentiment of shunning the disease. Symptoms were pooh-poohed, patients were pronounced 'under suspicion' of it, and treatment was hidden and delayed.

"Intelligent persons have quite outgrown these old notions," he added, "but there still persists an unfortunate subservience to them where they do the greatest harm to the cause of eradication."

Dr. Cumming cited the decreases in mortality effected while the country's population increased. There were 153,781 deaths from tuberculosis in 1900, 104,024 in 1923 and about 90,000 last year.

Young Herbert Hoover has been in bed at his father's camp in Virginia for ten days. Because this retreat in the hills is an ideal place for rest, offering comforts but still removed from communities, it is assumed the President's son will remian there through the Fall. Because of the altitude and the pleasant climate, he can rest outdoors much of the day. His complete recovery is predicted.

MOTHERS BESIEGE SCHOOL IN BLAST HOAX

Police and Ambulances Rush to Brooklyn Building in Answer to Fake Phone Alarm.

A high-pitched, tremulous voice identifying the speaker as "Principal Mendelsohn of Public School 167, Schenectady Avenue and Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn," telephoned at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to Brooklyn Police Headquarters to report a "terrible explosion in the cellar of the school." A few minutes later a crowd of hysterical mothers, all available fire apparatus, police emergency wagons and reserves from the Atlantic Avenue, Gates Avenue and Empire Boulevard precincts, ambulances from Swedish and St. Mary's Hospitals, Third Deputy Police Commissioner Leach and other police officers, had gathered at the school.

The police found no evidence of explosion or fire or even a broken window. The patrolmen went through the crowd of women pushing at the iron gates of the school, reassuring them. Three of the mothers had fainted in the excitement. Only one of them required medical attention. Mrs. Doris Greenberg, 30 years old, of 251 Schenectady Avenue, Brooklyn, whose daughter was in the school, was treated for hysteria. She later went home.

The school accommodates 2,500 pupils on regular time, and 500 more on part time. Most of these were at class when the "explosion" was reported. Lieutenant Goldman of the Atlantic Avenue station found that the telephone call for help had been put in from a coin-box in an apartment house at 1,519 Lincoln Place, Brooklyn. Goldman said he was sure the voice had been a man's, but the operator at Brooklyn Headquarters was equally certain the voice had been a woman's.

"This is Principal Mendelsohn," the voice had said. "I am principal of Public School 167. There's a terrible explosion in the cellar of the school. All the windows are broken. Send all available help."

Many mothers in the neighborhood recalled yesterday an explosion last Spring at Schenectady Avenue and Dean Street, a little distance from Public School 167, in which all the windows in an adjacent school were broken and thirty children were injured in the panic that followed. The police continued their search last night for the practical jokester.

RESTRICTS POWER BOARD.

Mitchell Holds It Controls Navigation Only in Tributaries.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP).—Attorney General Mitchell gave the Power Commission today an opinion of the Justice Department that its jurisdiction over hydroelectric projects on non-navigable tributaries of navigable streams was restricted to such features as relate to navigation only.

The decision said:

"The commission is not required to insert in a license any conditions (except the fifty-year limitation upon the terms of the license) which, in its judgment, are not necessary or apropriate to fully utilize the waters of the tributary in the protection or development of navigation on navigable waters into which such tributary empties."

The decision will end the practice of the commission in including in the license for a project on a non-navigable tributary all the conditions of the act applicable to projects in navigable waters.

Traffic Lights Fail on Broadway.

A grounded wire, part of the traffic light system, at Mail Street and Broadway, caused considerable confusion to traffic in Broadway from Fourteenth Street to the Battery yesterday afternoon. The red and green lights showed simultaneously from 12:30 until 1:30 P. M. Policemen regulated traffic manually.

LATEST DEALINGS IN REAL ESTATE FIELD

LEASES FEATURE REALTY DEALINGS

Records Show Changes in Control of Property in and Around the City.

HOUSE IN BOWERY IS SOLD

Ruben Cohen Also Adds to Holdings There by Purchase of a Plot Through to Chrystie Street.

Purchase of a property on the Bowery for investment and various changes of control through leaseholds constituted what little activity there was in Manhattan real estate yesterday. Most trading outside the borough involved business and residential properties in New Jersey.

There was a slight decline in the amount of mortgage financing, the item of chief interest being the recording of a loan for $1,500,000 on the new home of the Union League Club, at Park Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street. The records revealed some consolidation and extension of mortgages.

By the purchase of a five-story brick building, 23 by 129 feet, at 169 Bowery, Ruben Cohen enlarged his investment holdings there. He also bought a six-story apartment house, 23 by 100 feet, at 139 Chrystie Street, backing up the Bowery piece. The latter was acquired from Martin Jonas through Hiram Rinaldo, broker, and Mr. Cohen, by the two purchases, added to his control a plot 23 feet on the Bowery and 23 feet on Chrystie Street, with a depth of 239 feet.

These two parcels adjoin property to the north owned by Mr. Cohen and give him a frontage of 43 feet on the Bowery, near Delancey Street (Schiff Parkway). Part of the plot was occupied by the old Miner's Theatre. Some years ago the purchaser acquired 104-108 Bowery, formerly the National Garden, on which he erected a modern lodging house.

The Haggstrom-Callen Company announced the leasing for five years of the two-story building at 244 West Sixty-fourth Street to Joseph E. Morris, who plans to alter the building for his occupancy. Henry Von Twistern was co-broker in the deal.

The Trebuhs Realty Company (Lee and J. J. Shubert) leased to a client of O'Gara & Co. the three-story stable building at 209 West Fifty-eighth Street for a riding academy.

The lease of the southwest corner of Columbus Avenue and 101st Street, 100 by 100 feet, held by Albert J. Kobler for a ten-year term, has been sold by him to the Ridge Avenue and High Street Corporation, Julius Quattrocchi, president, who gave back to Mr. Kobler a purchase money mortgage on the lease for $10,000, due in one year at 6 per cent.

The five-story building at the southwest corner of King and Macdougal Streets, 40 by 70 feet, has been leased by Etta G. Christie to Carlo Mileo for three years from May 1 of next year at the yearly rental of $5,000, the premises to be occupied as a hotel and restaurant.

The lease of the building at 133 West Forty-fifth Street, held by Henrietta Perskin and Hilda L. Weinstein, has been sold by them to the West Forty-fifth Street Holding Corporation.

For a consideration of $50,000 the Development Leasehold Corporation sold to Foxcroft Realties, Inc., the lease of the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-third Street, 29 by 125 feet, held from D. A. Schulte, Inc., and expiring Jan. 14, 1956, this lease carrying a twenty-nine year renewal privilege.

LAUD BUILDING UNITY.

Empire State Contractors Honor Post & McCord at Luncheon.

More than 100 contractors engaged in erecting the Empire State Building gathered at a luncheon yesterday in the Hotel McAlpin to honor Post & McCord, steel contractors, who have completed their job on New York's tallest structure.

"All who have had a part in this work have abundant reason to be proud of the accomplishment of keeping the building well ahead of schedule and permitting the placing of steel at the record rate of 2,400 tons a week," ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith, president of Empire State, Inc., told the builders.

Anbrey Weymouth of Post & McCord called the work "a noble monument to the spirit of cooperation and teamwork attained in the construction field." Other representatives of the steel contractors; of Starrett Brothers & Eken, the general contractors, and of Shreve, Lamb & Harmon, the architects, spoke briefly.

New Union League Club Home Is Mortgaged for $1,500,000

The new home of the Union League Club, nearing completion at the southwest corner of Park Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street, is mortgaged for $1,500,000, as is shown by instruments just recorded in the Register's office.

The club has given to the Bank for Savings a $1,200,000 mortgage, this being combined with another mortgage for $300,000 held by the bank to make a single lien of $1,500,000 on the property, due Sept. 25, 1935, at 5 per cent.

The building site is 95 by 130 feet. Alfred E. Marling is president of the club.

HOUSE TO COST $1,500,000.

Plans Filed for Phipps Improvement in First Avenue.

Plans of an eighteen-story apartment house with stores for the block front on the east side of First Avenue, between Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Streets, were filed for approval with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings yesterday.

The site recently was acquired by the First Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street Corporation, John F. Phipps, president. It fronts 200.1 feet on the avenue and 79.8 feet on each street.

The house will have accommodations for 265 families. Bullard, Goodwin & Franzheim, the architects, estimate the cost at $1,500,000.

PROPERTY OWNERS ASK 42D ST. ZONE CHANGE

"Two Times" Building Limit Is Sought From Eighth to Tenth Avenue.

Property owners in the district between Eighth and Tenth Avenues on Forty-second Street are attempting to effect a change in the zoning ordinance to put them in the district allowing buildings to go up to twice the width of the street before setbacks The section now is in the "one and one-half times" zone.

Nearly 100 per cent of the realty owners affected have signed petitions asking for the change to a "two times" district, according to the Forty-second Street Property Owners and Merchants Association, which is sponsoring the movement and which will present the petitions to the Board of Estimate next Monday. The property affected extends from a point 100 feet west of Eighth Avenue to 100 feet east of Tenth Avenue.

"Nearly all other blocks along Forty-second Street come under the 'two times' regulation, and there appears to be no logical reason why these four block fronts should not be included," the association said. "Assessed valuations there have risen about 150 per cent in the past ten years and the change would bring to fruition plans for several large new buildings."

PELHAM MANOR BUYS—RENTALS.

LATE BULLETIN.

The rugged appearance of this house, standing on an eminence, on a corner plot, built in the manner of a French chateau, the large rooms (8 rooms, 3 baths) and the clever layout. You must see this house—that's all.

Here is another house deserving your inspection. John McGraw of baseball fame just vacated it; all large rooms, 4 master bedrooms, 3 baths, servants' quarters and bath; large, beautifully landscaped plot, fine location; oil burner; everything of the best except the price. It is very low and easy terms, too. A real bargain.

The rental season is drawing to an end, but we have still a few very good rentals for last minute callers; act quickly.

SHIP SAFETY SURVEY PLANNED BY OWNERS

Studies of Coastal Waters to Be Made in Preparation for Conference at Washington.

PASSING LANES TO BE FIXED

Action by Commerce Department Suggested by Hoover After Massachusetts Bay Crash.

The American Steamship Owners' Association will undertake in the next few weeks a thorough study of the coastal waters of the United States preliminary to the campaign of the Department of Commerce to increase the safety of navigation in the coastal trade, by means of "passing lanes" for ships, it was learned yesterday. H. B. Walker, president of the association, has been named president of a general committee which will supervise the work of a group of five subcommittees consisting of shipping men of practical experience in the trade.

The study will be made prior to a public meeting to be held on Oct. 29 in Washington under the direction of Dickerson N. Hoover, supervising inspector general of the United States Steamboat Inspection Service, to consider the practicability of "safety lanes" for the ships of the coastal trade.

As explained yesterday by R. J. Baker, secretary, the owners' association has divided the coastal waters for study into five groups as follows:

East of a line drawn from Vineyard Sound Lightship to Hen and Chickens Lightship, in the New England waters.

West of that line and extending to Execution Rock.

Coastal waters of the Pacific.

President Hoover recently recommended to Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont that a conference of ship owners be called to work out a plan for establishing safety lanes in the coastal waters. This was a result of a collision on June 10 in Massachusetts Bay of the ships Fairfax and the Pinthis. The conference was called for next Monday but was later postponed one month to permit the shipping men to become better acquainted with the situation.

Mr. Baker said yesterday the association had asked practical shipping men representing lines that operate in the coastal services to report on the waters used by their ships. The personnel of the five committees is now being organized, after which surveys will be made and reports filed with the owners' association.

Each of the sections has its own problems, but the most serious problems are in the waters of New York harbor, Mr. Baker said. The volume of traffic in the harbor, which includes tankers and tugs by the score, is a dangerous element, but the possibility of dividing the waters into lanes for passing is considered a serious detail of management.

The steamship owners' association includes fifty-seven steamship companies and the decision of the Department of Commerce after the Washington meeting will rest largely on the opinion given by it. Other groups, including the Maritime Association and the Towboat Owners' Association, have been asked to aid in making the survey.

PIER HEARINGS PUT OFF.

War Department Grants 30-Day Delay on Extension Plea.

At the request of New Jersey State authorities and with the agreement of the New York City Dock Department, a thirty-day postponement of the public hearing on the proposed change of pierhead lines in the Hudson River was ordered yesterday by the War Department. The hearing, scheduled for Monday by the New York Harbor Line Board of the army, will be held Oct. 29 at the Army Building, 39 Whitehall Street.

Under the terms of the petition filed jointly by the State Board of Commerce and Navigation of New Jersey and the New York City Dock Department, the pierhead lines on the New York side would be advanced between West Thirty-third and Eighty-first Streets to permit the construction of 1,000-foot piers and shortened between West Twenty-third and Thirty-third Streets and West Eighty-first and 121st Streets. The lines would be changed at various points on the New Jersey side to balance these extensions and prevent any dangerous narrowing of the ship channel in the river.

SEA CAPTAIN IS CANDIDATE.

C. P. Maxson Runs for Justice of Peace in Mystic, Conn.

MYSTIC, Conn., Sept. 26 (AP).—Captain Charles Potter Maxson of West Mystic, after weathering storms at sea for nearly a half century, today had hopes of casting anchor in the peaceful haven of a Connecticut justice of the peace office.

Captain Maxson, for ten years commodore of the fleet of the Morgan Line, plying between New York and New Orleans, has submitted his resignation effective Oct. 1 and will seek Republican nomination for justice of the peace at a convention to be held on Oct. 9. He began his career on the sea aboard a fishing ship operating out of New London.

He plans to spend much of his time after his retirement in writing and amateur boat-building.

Cruises to West Indies Announced.

The Swedish-American Line announced yesterday that a series of five cruises to the West Indies would be conducted this Winter by the motor liner Kungsholm, starting about the middle of December. With the exception of the first cruise of seventeen days' duration, each of the trips will last eighteen days and will include stops at San Juan, Porto Rico; La Guayra, Venezuela; Curacoa, Dutch West Indies; Colon, Panama; Kingston, Jamaica, and Havana. The Kungsholm is 608 feet long and of 26,700 gross tons.

Ship Board Urges Load Line Pact.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Ratification of the international load-line convention signed at London July 5, 1930, as a supplement to the convention on safety of life at sea negotiated last year, was recommended to the State Department by the Shipping Board today. The board said the convention offered "the advantages which must result from a system of loading that applies uniformly to the ships of all maritime nations."

CANCEL AGREEMENT TO CANADIAN PORTS

Hawaiian and Vancouver Lines Abandon Service on Coast-to-Coast Shipments.

TWO CARRIERS ADD PORTS

Export and Fabre Lines Authorized by Shipping Board to Extend Mediterranean Service.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—An agreement between the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company and Canadian Government Merchant Marine, Ltd., to cancel an agreement covering shipments from Atlantic coast ports to Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., transshipped at San Francisco, was approved by the Shipping Board today. The service has been discontinued.

Other conference agreements approved by the board today were:

LUCKENBACH STEAMSHIP COMPANY, INC., WITH EXPORT STEAMSHIP CORPORATION—Through shipments of canned goods, canned fish and dried fruit from Pacific coast ports to Marseilles, Casa Blanca, Ceuta, Melilla, Tangier, Algiers, Oran and Tunis, with transshipment at New York, to include Genoa, Leghorn and Naples.

LUCKENBACH STEAMSHIP COMPANY, INC., WITH FABRE LINE—Movement of canned goods, canned fish and dried fruit from Pacific coast ports to include Naples.

CALMAR STEAMSHIP CORPORATION, with LOS ANGELES STEAMSHIP COMPANY—Through rates between North Atlantic ports and San Diego, with transshipment at Los Angeles, to be based on Calmar tariffs on file with the board. Where the through rate is 60 cents or more per 100 pounds the Los Angeles company's properties is to be 25 cents and 17½ cents where the through rate is less, subject to a minimum of 75 cents per shipment. On shipments originating at Atlantic Coast ports the Los Angeles company's proportion is 25 cents per 100 pounds, subject to a minimum of 70 cents per shipment; Calmar to absorb the in-bound wharfage, handling and transfer charges at Los Angeles.

AMERICAN-HAWAIIAN STEAMSHIP COMPANY with YANKEE LINE—Through rates from Pacific Coast to Hamburg and Bremen, via Boston, to be based on direct lines rates, equally divided.

LUCKENBACH GULF STEAMSHIP COMPANY, INC., with STATES STEAMSHIP COMPANY and TACOMA-ORIENTAL STEAMSHIP COMPANY—Through rates from Oriental ports to Gulf ports of call of Luckenbach, with transshipment at Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco or Los Angeles, to be based on direct line rates and apportioned equally, each line to assume half the cost of transshipment. Arrangement is subject to minimum proportion to the intercoastal carrier of $4.50 per ton.

GULF PACIFIC LINE with NIPPON YUSEN KAISHA—Through rates from Oriental ports to Gulf ports, with transshipment at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle or Tacoma, to be those of the Japanese line, apportioned equally, each line to assume half the cost of transshipment. Minimum proportion of $4.50 per ton goes to Gulf Pacific Line.

GULF PACIFIC LINE with LYKES BROTHERS STEAMSHIP COMPANY, INC.—Through rates from Pacific Coast to Porto Rico, with transshipment at Houston, Galveston, Beaumont or Lake Charles, on beans and peas, canned goods and dried fruit are apportioned 60 per cent to the intercoastal line and 40 per cent to Lykes Brothers. On shipments to ports to which arbitrary rates are applicable, Lykes Brothers are to receive the full amount of the arbitrary, plus 40 per cent of the base rates.

LUCKENBACH STEAMSHIP COMPANY, INC., with STATES STEAMSHIP COMPANY and TACOMA-ORIENTAL STEAMSHIP COMPANY—Through rates from Oriental ports to Atlantic Coast ports, with transshipment at Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco or Los Angeles, are based on direct line rates and apportioned equally, subject to minimum proportion of $4.50 per ton to the intercoastal carrier.

GULF PACIFIC LINES with LYKES BROTHERS STEAMSHIP COMPANY, INC.—Through rates from Pacific Coast ports to Santo Domingo and San Pedro de Macoris, with transshipment at Houston, Galveston, Beaumont or Lake Charles, are apportioned 60 per cent to Gulf Pacific and 40 per cent to Lykes Brothers after deduction of arbitrary of 20 cents per 100 pounds to accrue to the on-carrying line with an assessment of $1.40 per 1,000 kilos to cover wharfage and landing charges at destination. Cost of transfer to be assumed by the lines in the ratio of 60 per cent by the intercoastal line and 40 per cent by the on-carrying line. The minimum bill of lading charge is $7.30, $3.80 of which goes to Lykes Brothers and the balance to Gulf Pacific Line, the latter to absorb cost of transshipment.

LINCOLN DIXON NAMED TO TARIFF COMMISSION

Hoover Completes New Board by Renaming Democratic Member of the Old One.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Reorganization of the Tariff Commission, requested under the Smoot-Hawley act, was completed today when Lincoln Dixon of Indiana was appointed by President Hoover to fill the remaining Democratic vacancy.

Mr. Dixon since 1927 had been a member of the old commission, which went out of office Sept. 16. He is the third holdover to be appointed on the reorganized commission.

Announcement of Mr. Dixon's reappointment was made at the White House after a conference between President Hoover and Henry P. Fletcher, the new chairman.

With the addition of Mr. Dixon the new commission is now composed of six members, three Republicans and three Democrats, as provided by the Smoot-Hawley act.

Mr. Dixon, a former member of Congress, was born in Indiana 70 years ago. After leaving the University of Indiana he practiced law and in 1905 was elected to Congress, serving in the House until 1919.

During the Presidential campaign of 1924, Mr. Dixon was in charge of the Democratic headquarters in Chicago. He was appointed to the Tariff Commission by President Coolidge.

55 OF FIDAC GROUP SAIL.

Lipton's Crew of Shamrock V Also on Liner Caronia.

Fifty-five members of Fidac accompanied by three of their wives, sailed last night for Plymouth and Havre on the Caronia. General Sir Ian Hamilton, head of the British delegation, who was accompanied by Lady Hamilton, was in charge of the group. Among them were delegates from England, France, Belgium, Rumania, Poland and Jugoslavia. Another group about the same in number will sail next Wednesday on the Aquitania.

The Fidac group arrived on the Lancastria on Sept. 15 to attend the International Fidac Convention in Chicago.

Ratsey Brothers, noted English yacht sail makers and the crew of Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Shamrock V, also sailed on the Caronia.

Others on the liner were Princess Cantacuzene, Countess de Kerchone, Robert M. McBride, George Ochs Oakes, George Ochs Oakes Jr., and Count de Chanez

EMIL KISS LEFT MUCH TO CHARITY

Banker's Will Gives Library Here Choice of Any One of His Munkascy Paintings.

AMIDO TESTAMENT IS FILED

The will of Emil Kiss, who lived at 404 Riverside Drive and was president of the Harbor State Bank in Astor Place, contains many charitable bequests, it was learned yesterday when the document was filed for probate in Surrogate's Court. Mr. Kiss died Aug. 1.

The estate, containing a collection of gems, a library, a notable gallery of paintings and a wide assortment of personal effects, is valued formally in the petition as "more than $10,000," and an assessment of the value of the provisions made in the will for charity will not be known until the estate has been appraised.

Mr. Kiss directed that the New York Public Library have its choice of any one painting by Munkacsy in his collection. The Museum of Art in Budapest is to choose a painting bythe same artist. The remainder of the collection will then be sold. Half of the proceeds is to go to Mount Sinai Hospital and the other half to a Budapest charitable organization, the Spital der Izraelitischen Koltus Gemeunde.

Both the collection of gems and Mr. Kiss's library are to be sold and the amount of the sale is to be distributed equally between the First Reform Church, 344 East Sixty-ninth Street; the New York Reform Church and the Ehlers Masonic Lodge, No. 953, Free and Accepted Masons.

By the terms of the bill Adolph Kiss, a brother, in Budapest, is to receive one-sixth of the residue; Bertha Fekete, also of Budapest, a sister, receives one-third of the residue and half of the contents of a safe deposit vault in Paris, the nature of which is not made known in the will. Another brother, Alfred Kiss, residing in Paris, will receive the banker's home in that city.

Miss Ferende Braun, a cousin, of 404 Riverside Drive, who is named in the will as an executrix, receives a third interest in a home in Berlin and the paintings and furniture in the Riverside Drive residence. Gustave Hartman, a friend, also an executor, gets a legacy of $20,000 and a portion of the testator's jewelry.

Amido Will Aids Five Charities.

Five charitable institutions will receive equal shares of the residue of the estate of Georgiana M. Amido by the terms of her will, filed for probate yesterday in Surrogate's Court. The testatrix, who lived at 29 West Fifty-eighth Street, died Aug. 12, 1930.

The charities mentioned in the will are the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind, 999 Pelham Parkway, the Bronx; St. Luke's Home for Aged Women, 2,914 Broadway; the Corporation of St. Thomas's Church for the Poor of the Church, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street; the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Amsterdam Avenue and 112th Street, and the Lenox Hill Hospital, Park Avenue and Seventy-seventh Street.

The petition for probate declares the value of the estate to be "in excess of $200,000." Nearly $300,000 in cash bequests are provided for in the will.

J. L. Rhinock Left $2,212,022.

Joseph L. Rhinock, financier, former Representative and former vice president of the Shubert Theatrical Company, who died on Sept. 20, 1926, left a gross estate of $2,212,022 and a net estate of $1,163,585, it was disclosed yesterday in an appraisal filed by the State Tax Commission. His widow, Emma L. Rhinock of New Rochelle, was the sole beneficiary.

Justice Mills's Fortune $580,685.

The estate of former Supreme Court Justice Isaac Newton Mills, who died on July 1, 1929, was appraised yesterday at $612,683 gross and $580,685 net. The widow, Mrs. Cara M. Mills of Mount Vernon gets a life estate in $75,000 and a daughter, Mrs. Nona B. M. Hardy, gets a $50,000 trust fund. After their deaths the trust funds go to three children, who also receive one-third each of the residue, amounting to $131,621 each.

Widow Gets Delatour Estate.

An unusual provision in the will of Dr. Henry B. Delatour, which was filed in the Surrogate's Court in Brooklyn yesterday, bequeathed his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Jeanie A. Delatour of 73 Eighth Avenue, Brooklyn, but directed that it be held in trust for her for sixty days and at the expiration of that time be given to her outright.

Dr. Delatour, Brooklyn physician, who died in France Aug. 23, left an estate estimated by attorneys yesterday as "more than $100,000." During the sixty-day period Mrs. Delatour will receive the income from the entire estate and the principal at the end of that period, but if she dies in the interim, the estate is to be divided among the testator's relatives and three Brooklyn charities.

The charities are St. John's Hospital and the Norwegian Lutheran Deaconesses' Home, which each receive $10,000, and St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal Church, which gets $2,000.

A complete list of wills and estate appraisals will be found on page 31.

BRIEFS ON JUDGE MARTIN IN.

Court Defers Decision on Plea for Secrecy at Stock Hearing.

The legal controversy between Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel for Kings County Judge George W. Martin, and Assistant Attorney General Watson B. Washburn, in charge of the Bureau of Securities, concerning publication of testimony regarding Judge Martin, neared its termination yesterday when briefs were filed in Supreme Court on Mr. Untermyer's application for an order restraining Mr. Washburn from disclosing testimony. Justice Townley is expected to hand down a decision early next week.

It is considered possible that Justice Townley may deny the application on the ground that a writ of prohibition, asked by Mr. Untermyer, cannot be issued against an administrative officer.

Special Assistant United States Attorney General Kenneth M. Spence continued his investigation in preparing for the reconvening on Tuesday of the Federal grand jury which is looking into possible mail frauds in companies with which Judge Martin was connected.

15 Killed, 50 Hurt in Clash in Forest in India; Nationalist Leaders' Arrest Arouses Mob

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOMBAY, Sept. 26.—Fifteen persons were killed and fifty were injured yesterday in a serious clash between a large crowd of Nationalists and police in Chirnar forest, twelve miles from Panvel in the Kolaba district, according to a report received here today. Among the dead are a revenue officer, a forest ranger and three forest guards. The first intimation here of the trouble was the arrival at midnight of a message urgently appealing for medical help, upon which three Nationalist Congress ambulances were sent out. Shooting occurred after Nationalist leaders were arrested, and a revenue officer was shot while endeavoring to pacify the crowd after agreeing to their demand that the handcuffs should be removed from the arrested leaders.

Panvel is twenty-one miles east of Bombay.

BOMBAY, Sept. 26 (AP).—Five persons were injured during the night in clashes between Mohammedans and members of the All-India National Congress.

The Nationalists held a meeting in the Moslem quarter in demonstration against participation in the London round-table conference, and a crowd of hostile Moslems gathered and stoned them.

The assailants became increasingly aggressive as the demonstrators began to disperse. The police charged with their lathis, or staves, but were said not have inflicted any serious injuries.

SLAIN IN THE STREET AT RELIGIOUS FETE

Longshore Foreman Shot and Stabbed in Sight of a Brooklyn Crowd.

Two men were shot to death last night, one in the Red Hook district of Brooklyn, the other on the lower east side of Manhattan, in the midst of revelry attending preparations for the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel. The victim in Brooklyn was Paul Cotroneno, 40 years old, of 140 Luqueer Street, a longshore foreman. The other man was Joseph Bivone, 27, of 446 Forbell Avenue, Brooklyn.

Tony Cassono, 45, of 414 President Street, who was passing the scene of the Brooklyn celebration with his family when the shooting started, was wounded in the left leg.

Cotroneno left his home at 140 Luqueer Street after dinner, and with his brother-in-law, George Jerico, of 230 Union Street, started for the feast scene to watch the stringing of the colored lights. As they turned out of Henry Street into President two men forced their way through the crowd to their side, and when they got close one fired five shots, while the other lunged at Cotroneno with a knife.

Contronено fell and the crowd scattered, men shouting and women screaming. Jerico, horrified, was not touched by the bullets or the knife, but he fainted. Cassono was put in a taxicab and was taken to Long Island College Hospital. The murderers escaped.

Jerico told the detectives that he knew of no reason why Contronено had been shot, except that he had spoken of some labor trouble along the waterfront. Contronено left a wife and three children.

About one hour and a half before the Cotroneno shooting Bivone was found dead in a hallway at 34 Monroe Street with five bullet wounds in his body, and when Patrolmen Shaputa and Coakley, who were less than a block away from the scene and who had heard the shots, arrived powder smoke was still pouring out of the hallway, although no trace of the murderer could be found.

Bivone has a record of three previous convictions and is believed to be a victim of a gang dispute over territory.

Detectives first questioned the only two tenants of the six-story tenement, and while they admitted hearing shots, were unable to shed any light on the motive or the identity of the murderer.

About fifteen feet from the body, which lay crumpled at the foot of the stairs, police found the type of revolver used by policemen. Five shots had been discharged from it. Toward the rear of the house leading to the rear stairs and out through the basement to Hamilton Street there were blood stains, which led the police to believe that the murdered man had inflicted either a knife wound or other bodily injuries on his assailant.

Bivone was well dressed and it was thought that he had been on his way to attend one of the dances in the neighborhood, which is celebrating the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel.

RUSSIA SENDS MORE CANDY.

Exports to Us Rose From $209 to $45,037 in Four Years.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Imports of Russian confections into the United States since 1926 have shown a large increase, according to Department of Commerce statistics obtained today.

From exports to this country in 1926 totaling 801 pounds and valued at $209, Russian candy delivered in this country has increased to 321,118 pounds in 1929 valued at $45,037.

In view of the fact that Russia exported no candy to this country in 1925 the increase was regarded by the department as great, but it was stated in an official quarter that there was hardly a condition of "dumping," despite the low price, as claimed by some domestic producers.

The quantity brought in from Russia during the first six months of 1930 was larger by 19 per cent and equaled almost 77 per cent of the imports from that source during the entire year of 1929.

Candy imports from Austria and the Netherlands declined but it could not be learned if exports from the latter countries were affected by the Russian increase.

With an average value per pound sold of 21.6 cents, American-made candies were undersold by the Russian product which had an average price of 14 cents a pound.

CITY BREVITIES.

The board of directors of the Latin American Club of the U. S. A., Inc., announced yesterday that its dinner dance to raise funds for the victims of the Santo Domingo hurricane, which will be held in the Hotel Vanderbilt, has been postponed from Oct. 2 to Oct. 16.

Oscar Tschirky, who completed thirty-seven years' service with the old Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in May, 1929, and will continue as maitre d'hotel of the new Waldorf-Astoria at Park Avenue and Forty-ninth Street, will celebrate his sixty-fourth birthday today with a family reunion at his 1,000-acre model farm at New Paltz, N. Y.

The fifty-fourth season of the Boys' Club of New York, Tenth Street and Avenue A, will begin on Monday, it was announced yesterday.

VAUGOIN HITS SNAGS IN FORMING CABINET

Austrian Farmers' Party Won't Join—Seipel Is Expected to Be Foreign Minister.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Sept. 26.—It is probable that several days will elapse before a minority Clerical Cabinet is formed, the Farmers' party, which is a dangerous competitor of the Clericals for the peasant votes, having declined to join a Vaugoin Cabinet.

Indeed the dispute over the appointment of Dr. Strafella, a member of the Heimwehr (Fascists), as managing director of the State railways was probably only an excuse to enable the Clericals to expel Vincent Schumy, leader of the Farmers' party, who had incurred the enmity of the Heimwehr as Minister of the Interior, in view of the approaching elections next Spring.

Dr. Wotawa, leader of the Pan-Germans, also declined today to join a Vaugoin Cabinet and described the action of the former Vice Chancellor as perfidious.

The most interesting news today was that former Chancellor Seipel was returning by airplane from Oslo. It is generally said he will become Foreign Minister in Dr. Vaugoin's Cabinet and will be its guiding spirit. It is hoped Dr. Seipel's name will assure confidence abroad.

It is generally believed in Vienna that Dr. Seipel arranged all the details for the overthrow of Dr. Schober, his rival, before going to Oslo. Although he recently retired from politics on the ground of failing health, it is believed Dr. Seipel's retirement—like his journey to Oslo—was really a political expedient. A proposed list of Ministers, with Dr. Vaugoin as Chancellor, was submitted to President Miklas today.

The entire press today praised former Chancellor Schober's achievements during his year of office and regretted his overthrow, especially the way it came about. Alone the Clerical Reichspost expresses pleasure at Dr. Vaugoin's defeat of his chief.

URGES MORE POLICE TESTS.

Dr. Wildman Favors Biennial Physical Examination for Firemen, Too.

A physical examination for policemen and firemen every two years while they are in service was urged yesterday afternoon at the police, fire and civil service surgeons convention which is being held at the Hotel New Yorker, by Dr. Arthur Wildman of the New York Municipal Civil Service.

He said that the civil service found few perfect specimens in line for promotion and explained that the usual procedure when a man up for promotion had a physical defect was for him to go back to his departmental surgeon who certified that it had come to him in the line of duty.

Dr. H. L. Reis, New York Fire Department surgeon, urged that the 30 per cent physical and 70 per cent mental requirements in force here for men applying for positions as policemen and firemen should be reversed. Dr. John J. White, another city Fire Department surgeon, concurred in this view. Dr. Daniel J. Donovan, chief surgeon of the New York Police Department, also said he believed that physical fitness should come first.

SPAIN'S LIBERALS REUNITE.

Party Is Headed, However, by Men Who Served Dictatorship.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, Sept. 26.—Premier Berenguer has approved reorganization of the Liberal party, with Santiago Alba as the head and Count Romanones and other politicians whose names are, to the people, synonymous with the old dictatorship, as prominent members. Señor Berenguer said last night: "It seems fit and proper to see these old politicians reuniting."

It seems likely that this strongest monarchical party may govern Spain after the elections, and many persons who had hoped for a change will be disappointed. The move, therefore, has stirred considerable criticism.

Alvarez Delvayo, president of the Foreign Press Association, will protest tomorrow to the Duke of Alba, Minister of State, against the slowing up in transmission of certain press messages in order to prevent their reaching newspapers abroad in time for publication, it is said, and against the stopping completely of at least one message. Censorship has been placed on the telephones to Vigo, where a general strike is feared.

ARGENTINE EXCHANGE OFF.

Slump of Gold Peso Laid to Heavy Dollar Buying to Pay Interest Here.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 26.—Argentine exchange suffered a sharp setback today, closing at 123.85 gold pesos for $100, compared with 122.90 yesterday, making the paper peso worth 35.1 cents in American money, compared with a quotation of 35.8 cents yesterday.

Contrary to recent unfavorable tendencies, today's decline is regarded as no reflection against the country's economic situation, but as due to heavy purchases of dollar exchange by the Bank of the Nation for the account of the provisional government to meet loan interest payments of $1,600,000 in the New York market next Wednesday. Well-informed American bankers here interviewed by your correspondent today expect a reaction in favor of the peso as soon as the government bank has covered its requirements, and they predict a substantial improvement in Argentine exchange over the next ninety days.

SAYS STATE NEEDS $70,000,000 ASYLUMS

URGES FIVE-YEAR PROGRAM

Lieutenant Governor's Speech Is Read at Port Chester Owing to Death of Brother-in-Law.

Special to The New York Times.

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 26.—To eliminate overcrowding of State mental welfare institutions in the next five years the State of New York will have to spend between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000, according to a message prepared by Lieutenant Governor Herbert Lehman for delivery tonight at a meeting of the Port Chester Democratic Club.

Mr. Lehman canceled his speaking engagement at 6 o'clock to night in a communication to Major William A. Darcey, president of the Democratic Club, in which the Lieutenant Governor spoke of the death today of his brother-in-law, Morris Fatman, in Atlantic City. He declared he was leaving immediately for Atlantic City to be with his sister.

Mr. Lehman's address was read by John W. Ryan, member of the Port Chester Board of Education and first vice president of the Democratic Club.

It was stated in the address that the State of New York maintained about 45,000 persons in its mental welfare institutions at a cost of about $400 each per year. He urged provision of adequate facilities to meet the continual crowding in these institutions and added that it was cheaper in the long run to properly provide for the needy and criminal.

"There is today a great overcrowding," Mr. Lehman wrote, "and the State in order to relieve the situation will have to provide additional hospital facilities to take care of the large present surplus or that which is constantly accumulating. To provide for the overcrowding which now promises to develop by 1935, will cost between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000. New construction facilities cost about $4,000 per bed."

Mr. Lehman declared that adequate care of the needy paid for itself, declaring that for each 1,000 patients the State can discharge as cured or can parole to their homes 1,000 persons are restored to productivity in the world; it will mean a saving to the State in new hospital facilities, which cost about $4,000,000 for each 1,000 patients; and, thirdly, there will be a saving of $400 per patient for support.

Mr. Lehman urged sympathy in dealing with criminal cases. He said it must not be overlooked that criminals serving terms in State institutions usually return once again to become a part of the community, and rather than be browbeaten they should be prepared to return to society better fitted for it than when they left for prison.

"Business, economic and humanitarian considerations go hand in hand in almost every question engaging the attention and the consideration of the State and its government," he declared.

Herbert McKennis, Democratic candidate for Commissioner of Public Welfare in Westchester County, spoke urging Port Chester, the largest village in the State, to adopt a city charter. A special committee has been appointed by the village board to prepare a report on the feasibility of adopting a city form of government.

SEYMOUR RESIGNS OVER NORRIS ROW

But Republican Committee Official Denies Part in Grocer's Campaign.

GOOD OF PARTY STRESSED

Nebraska Man Says He Quits of Own Volition—Capital Is Not Surprised.

DENVER, Sept. 26 (AP).—Victor Seymour of Lincoln, Neb., newly appointed assistant vice chairman of the Republican National Senatorial Campaign Committee, in charge of Western regional headquarters here, today telegraphed Vice Chairman Frederick Steiwer at Pendleton, Ore., that he was resigning his post.

He emphasized that he was "absolutely innocent of any wrong act" in connection with the Norris Senatorial controversy in Nebraska.

He said that he was tendering his resignation because publicity attending the hearings of the Nye committee in Nebraska on the candidacies of Senator George W. Norris and George W. Norris, Broken Bow grocer, might be used by the opposition unfavorably against the committee.

To newspapermen Mr. Seymour said: "I am doing this of my own volition and without having consulted anyone. I think I owe it to the party."

The telegram read:

"From press reports my name has been drawn into a controversy in Nebraska arising previous to the recent primary campaign in that State in a way which may be used by the opposition unfavorably against your committee. While I am absolutely innocent of any wrong act and my motives have been honest and prompted only by a desire to do what I thought would be for the best interest of the people as a whole, yet I realize that the publicity which has been given the matter may be used by political enemies unfavorably against the party.

"Republicans generally throughout the entire territory included in the Western division are ready and willing to give you and the committee as well as all Republican nominees their hearty, loyal and active support.

"I have always been loyal to our party and its nominees and shall continue to be, and am too good a Republican to stand even inferentially in the way of success of the ticket. I ame therefore tendering to you herewith my resignation as your assistant in the conduct of the campaign, same to receive consideration at your convenience."

Washington Not Surprised.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The resignation of Victor Seymour caused no surprise here.

Robert H. Lucas, chairman of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee, it was learned, made an investigation yesterday of the charges that Mr. Seymour had been active in arranging the candidacy of the grocer.

He found, it was said tnight, that Mr. Seymour had been employed by Senator Steiwer, whose headquarters are in Denver, and that Mr. Seymour's employment by the vice chairman began less than two weeks ago. It was therefore contended that, if Mr. Seymour had any connection with the candidacy of the second Norris, it was before he was connected with the Senatorial committee.

With Senator Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senatorial committee, in the West and Senator Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Republican National Committee, on his way to Massachusetts, there was no comment tonight in high Republican circles on the resignation.

KEYSTONE TAXICABS

Introduce... A NEW STANDARD OF PERSONAL TRANSPORTATION

At Lowest Rates

There are today one hundred and ten Keystone Cabs on the Streets of New York City. As fast as additional cabs can be turned out by the factory this number will be augmented until the company's goal, 1200 cabs, is reached.

The CABS RIDE SMOOTHLY AND HAVE NEW SAFETY FEATURES . . . .

Accustomed as New Yorkers are to luxury, they will nevertheless be pleasantly surprised at these new KEYSTONE Taxicabs. Distinguished in appearance, these cabs are readily recognized by their Keystone-shaped head-lights, side lamps and rate-sign, by their color scheme of two tones of gray and blue and a red encircling band, and by the Keystone name and emblem on the door. Perfect comfort is provided by the use of Lovejoy double acting shock-absorbers that cradle the passengers against bumps. The highest degree of safety is assured by powerful hydraulic four-wheel brakes and by the use of shatter-proof glass to protect the passengers. All brakes are examined and adjusted, if necessary, before the car goes out of the garage.

The DRIVERS CAREFULLY SELECTED FOR CHARACTER, COURTESY AND DRIVING ABILITY

The drivers are carefully selected for character, courtesy, and driving ability. First, we demand a thoroughly clean record in every way. Next, tested driving ability under all kinds of conditions. Third, natural courtesy. When you drive in a Keystone Cab, you are entrusting your safety to a driver whose responsibility is certified. He is anxious to render the best possible service because he has the best driver's job in the taxi field.

The COMPANY RESPONSIBLE AND HEADED BY BUSINESS MEN OF HIGHEST REPUTATION

Furnishing personal transportation is as much a public service as furnishing telephone or lighting facilities. With this thought in mind, a group of business men of highest reputation, headed by Mr. David A. Brown, formerly Chairman of the Board, Broadway National Bank and Trust Co. have undertaken the operation of the Keystone Transportation Co., Inc. They have chosen, as explained above, cabs and drivers of the highest type. With such a background it is easily apparent that Keystone Cabs can and do furnish safe, reliable and responsible taxicab transportation, the standards of which approximate the highest ideals of public service.
